NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the last day for registration shall be Monday, October 6, 1975, at any time between the hours of 8:00 o'clock A.M. and 8:00 o'clock P.M. Persons registering after 8:00 o'clock P.M. local time on said day will not be eligible to vote at the Special Election on November 4, 1975.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the Township at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the special election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Said Special Election is being held for the purpose of voting upon the following propositions:

"Fixed Allocations"

"Shall the Township of St. James, Charlevoix County, Michigan, borrow the principal sum of not to exceed Forty-Thousand ($40,000.00) Dollars and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of defraying the cost of repairing and improving the airport and to levy a tax, annually, for the repayment of said bonds."

☐ YES ☐ NO

"Confirming a Grant of Franchise to Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc."

QUALIFICATION OF QUALIFIED ELECTORS, as provided by law, are:
(a) A citizen of the United States
(b) At least 18 years of age
(c) A resident of the State of Michigan for at least 30 days
(d) A resident of the Township on or before the 30th day prior to the next election.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P.A. 1954.)

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

DNR

callers do not want to identify themselves, that was fine, too. Dahl said.

Dahl emphasized the Hot Line is only for DNR law violations. Opolka said they expected callers to report such violations as intoxicnted hunting, commercialization of fishing (eg sportsmen selling their catch), snagging, elk and deer pouching and shiuing.

Littering

The Hot Line's log to date, Opolka reported, shows littering has been a major complaint.

DNR expects that to change within the next few weeks as the seasons begin.

Dahl said that callers should try to identify the law breaker by getting his automobile license plate number, if he wasn't known by name.

Frank Dufon, District Law Supervisur, Gaylord, said poaching and snagging are the area's biggest problems. He emphasized that in the Charlevoix area there are no situations where any snagged or foul hooked fish could legally be kept. Despite the fact that some downstate streams had been opened for "liberalized" fishing (e.g. salmon snagging), all snagging is illegal here.

Speaking of DNR game law's generally, Dahl said he thought DNR law's should be simplified so that the main consideration be "biological." In other words, only activities that would hurm the future of the game or fish should be illegal.

about their problems. In terms of costs, this is the first time we have not had the use of a private boat with sleeping facilities at no cost to us. This is the first year the county has had to pay for lodging of all Planning Commission members making the trip.

Mouthly Meeting

"As to the number of meetings we hold. Ever since 1967 or 1968 the Planning Commission has been meeting once a month. If we didn't have matters to consider we wouldn't meet that often. The Planning Commission is involving itself only in matters that the State or Federal governments are asking it to be involved in and those things it is asked to do by the Board of Commissioners. It was originally charged to work only on planning matters.

"In response to the last question, we are sending a letter to the Clerk and to the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners requesting time on the Board's monthly agenda in order to keep them appraised of our activities. We are also re-instating the monthly status report to all members of the Board of Commissioners, the press and other interested citizens."

FAITH WILL PROVIDE YOU WITH STRENGTH

For some time, we have been regaled with dire predictions of recession, depression and other ominous terms that depict a general worsening of our economic situation, all of which must cause many of us to wonder if our own source of life's basic needs might soon be in jeopardy. The lancy words would indeed appear to farecast a grim future when translated into terms of next week's groceries or next month's rent. Throughout history, in time of trouble man has always turned to religion as a last resort even when it should have been his first. There is no better time than now to ga to your Church and pray to God for His ever-present help and guidance.

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these ihings shall be added unto you."

Northern Michigan Indians Establish Fishing Rules

By TOM DAMMANN

PETOSKEY – The state's largest organized group of non-reservation Indians is drafting its own set of rules to govern fishing and hunting by Indians in the Great Lakes and in Michigan's inland lakes and rivers.

This is being done in accordance with the Indian assertion that fishing and hunting rights are guaranteed in a number of treaties formulated in the 19th and 18th Centuries between the Federal government and the Chippewa-Ottawa Tribes, according to Robert Dominie and Mrs. Waunetta Dominic, President and Secretary, respectively of the Northern Michigan Ottawa Association.

The Indians retained the hunting and fishing rights when they ceded land to the Federal government, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic explain.

"The state has no right to impose its hunting and fishing regulations on Indians, because these rights are guaranteed in treaties which are the law of the land according to the U.S. Constitution," Mrs. Dominic repeated in an interview this week.

"The treaties were not made with separate bands, like the Soo or Grand River Bands, but with the Tribes," she emphasized.

She pointed out that this argument is at the core of several score test cases pending in state courts and in one before the U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids.

Court Decision

The State Supreme Court has agreed to hear one of the cases appealed to it from the State Court of Appeals by both the Indians involved and the Office of Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, representing the State Deportment of Natural Resources (DNR). In this case the Appeals Court sustained the treaty-given rights of Albert Le Blanc, a leader in the Upper Peninsula (UP) Bay Mills Indian Reservation.

Briefs on the appeal have already been filed and it is expected the Supreme Court soon will announce a date for hearing oral arguments.

In the case before Federal District Court Judge Nuel Fox in Grand Rapids, the U.S. Department of Justice, acting in behalf of the Bay Mills Indian Community, has sued to enjoin the State from enforcing its fishing and hunting rights.

At several pre-trial hearings late last year and early this year Judge Fox granted permission to the Federally funded Upper Peninsula Legal Services (which represents Bay Mills Indians in other litigation) and Native American Rights Fund (NARF) Boulder, Colo., to intervene on the side of the Indians.

Ford Funds

NARF funded by the Ford and other foundations, has only recently involved itself with Great Lakes area Indian rights, having concentrated its efforts heretofore in behalf of Southwest Indians, notably the Navajos.

Attorneys for the Indians are amending the complaint to expand the territory covered in the suit to include the const line on Lake Michigan from Grand Haven through the Straits of Mackinac, to Alpena, on Lake Huron, and from the Escanaba River along the north shore of Lake Michigan through the Straits, up the St. Mary's River into Whitefish Bay and along the south shore of Lake Superior to the Chocolay River near Marquette These are the waters coverd in the treaty of 1836, the treaty in question.

Action in this suit otherwise seems to be held back pending the State Supreme Court's ruling on the Le Blanc appeal.

In a telephone interview this week, George Dahl, the DNR's Chief Law Enforeement Office repeated earlier statements by spokespersons for Attorney General Kelley, that if the State Supreme Court rules in favor of the Indians, the State will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. Attorneys for the Indians also say they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court in the event of a decision against the Indians.

In any case, attorneys for both sides agree that the ultimate goal is to get the matter before the U.S. Supreme Court for a definitive decision, which they concede may require several years of tortuous litigation.

In the face of this delay, the Northern Michigan Ottawa Association decided to make its own rules and was encouraged to do so by DNR officials, "even George Dahl, himself," Mrs. Dominic said this week.

Tribal Council

Suggestions were accepted from members of the Association, codified and adopted by the Executive Board on Tribal Council meeting in Lansing on August 19. They are in a document entitled "Ottawa-Chippewn Tribal Fishing Regulations."

Additional rules and penalties will be included after discussion at the board's next meeting early next month. Mrs. Dominic said. At that time, hunting regulations will also be discussed. These are tentative adoptions of rules employed by the L'Anse Reservation Indians in the Upper Peninsula, amended to fit the needs of non-reservation Indians.

"The important thing is that the only rights any Indian has for fishing and hunting are given to him by the tribe," Mrs. Dominic explains. "To be a member of the tribe a person must be at least one quarter Chippewo or Ottawa."

Identification cards will be given those who meet this requirement and will be needed to obtain a tribal fishing or hunting license.

Penalties for violating the tribal regulations might involve suspension of a license for 30 days for the first offense, six months for a second offense and two years for a third offense, Mrs. Dominic suggested.

No License

"Without a license an Indian will be treated by the DNR in the courts like any white man," she said. "If the DNR will cooperate with us on this we can keep control of the situation, until the U.S. Supreme Court decides the question."

Asked what he thought, Dahl labeled the action as "very commendable."

"But I connot accept the Indian argument as right and since the matter is before the courts, it would be premature for me to comment," Dahl concluded.

The regulations cover the two categories of fishermen, commercial and non-commercial. In the main they follow DNR rules with certain exceptions. In all cases the tribe is the supreme authority, setting limitations on the number of commercial fishermen, designating what fish may be taken, where, when and to whom they may he sold, for example.

The rules require that commercial fishermen must contribute a certain percentage of their returns to a tribal fund, specifically established for conservation purposes.

County Cancels Election

by FRAN MARTIN

A resolution to call a special election on Nov. 4 to vote on a Separate Tax Limitation issue was rescinded by the Charlevoix Board of Commissioners at a special meeting called Monday night for this purpose.

The board had voted (14-0 with one member absent) to call a special election to vote on the Separate Tax Limitation millage Issue after being petitioned by the Charlevoix County Tax Allocation board to bring the issue before the voters of the county.

The Allocation Board had proposed in its petition that in the Separate Tax Limitation millage rate the County receive 4.9 mills; the townships, 1.0 mill; Intermediate School District, 0.2 mill and the school districts, 8.9 mills. The Board of Commissioners, at its Sept. 10 meeting, adopted the resolution establishing Nov. 4 as the date for special election because two cities and three townships in the county were holding elections at that time.

The board voted Monday to rescind its action of Sept. 10 after being advised in a letter from Harvey C. Varnum, County Prosecutor, that he had been informed by the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office that the election must be held at the time of a scheduled General Election. He was given this opinion when he sought one in behalf of the Board of Commissioners. Upon receiving the opinion in a communication from Varnum on Friday, Harry Griffin, chairman of the board, called the special meeting Monday night.

After hearing the opinion, the board, by a vote of 12-0 with three members absent, voted to rescind the action of Sept. 10

Only comment was one by Oscar Ward, Charlevoix second ward commissioner, who said "someone didn't do their homework." Griffin answered that the resolution had been adopted after the board had interpreted the statute without legal advice and acted in good faith.

The only other action taken at the meeting was the acceptance of a bid for maintenance of radio equipment at the Sheriff's Department. The bid of the Motorola Company in the amount of $175.10 per month, being the lowest, was accepted.

City Can Expect 20% Electric Hike

Charlevoix Electric rates are expected to jump at least 20 percent within the next month.

Charlevoix City Council is considering the move in light of a 30.7 percent hike in the city's wholesale rate by Consumers Power Company.

The city learned several weeks ago that the Federal Power Commission has granted Consumers Power a 30.7 percent rate increase effective September 30.

Council is expected to decide on u definite rate increase following a meeting in Lansing later this week with the Michigan Power Rate Payers Association, a group of Michigan municipalities who buy wholesale power.

In other action Monday, Council agreed to pay for one-third of the street paving at the Catholic Cemetery despite objections from several councilmen.

Councilman Ralph McRae objected to paying approximately $2,850 for the paving project until it could be determined who owns the property.

He said the county register of deeds has been unable to determine if the cemetery is still owned by St. Mary's Church or the City of Charlevoix.

In earlier interviews, both Mayor Ed Hansen and Acting Administrator Robert Wexstaff have said they thought it belonged to the city since it has been handling the sale of plots.

In other business, council:

–Turned down a motion to appoint Lyle King as city clerk on a lack of majority vote. Selph, McRae and Wood voted against the motion because they said there had not been given enough time to consider the motion.

–Agreed to pay Charlevoix Township $4,441 for water used last summer.

Deadlines Hurt Railroads

TRAVERSE CITY – Michigan stands to lose nearly $9 million in federal subsidies and its entire northern rail network unless the state picks up its snail's pace, according to a national rail planner.

V. Malanaphy, a private consultant from Washington, D.C., told the Northwest Michigan Regionol Planning and Development Commission that the state could lose the funding if it doesn't meet a December 15 deadline.

Under the Rail Reorganization Act of 1973, states affected by proposed rail abandonment may submit plans for subsidizing lines scheduled to be dropped.

However, both the consultant and Richard Beagle, assistant director of the commission, question whether the state will be able to make its deadline.

The regionol planners say the federal matching funds are vital to Northwestern Michigan, which stands to lose its entire rail service.

The regional planning group has also been conducting its own survey of area industry in hopes of influencing the state plan for rail service.

However, Beagle said the commission has been facing two major problems with the survey.

After Governor Milliken's recent announcement that the North would not lose service, area industry has not been responding to the survey.

Beagle said another factor has been that some rail users have been saying they don't need the rails or are tired of being survey and are refusing to fill out the forms.

LAZY FALL days have been greeting Northern Michigan with its array of color and cooler temperatures. Next week the Charlevoix Courier will offer its reader a local color tour map and guide. (Photo by Sara Dammann)

Death Stalks Area Mushroom Hunters

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Mushroom stalkers, excited by the unusuol abundance of the fungi, should take warning from the tragedies that hoppened in Northern Michigan.

Last week two people died from mushroom poisoning.

At least one other person is so seriously ill she is not expected to live, according to authorities.

Mushrooms, which always flourish in fall, are up to unusuul abundance. One hunter says, "This is best hunting in one hundred years."

There in lies the problem accerding to mycologists (mushroom experts).

Mrs. Marilynn Smith of Petoskey, a loeul mushroom expert, snys "There are thousands of species of mushrooms. Of these, no more than 15 to 20 speeies are considered good safe eating."

Mrs. Smith has been in communication with Clark Ovrebo, a doctoral candidate studying with U of M's famed mushroom expert Dr. Alexander Smith.

They report that the recent deaths have been caused by Amanita Verna und Amanita Virosa, known as the "destroying angels".

Plentiful Mushrooms

These Amanitas are plentiful in Northern Michigan's woods right now.

Fifty percent of those who eat either of these will die, according to experts. .

Ninety to ninety-five percent of all mushroom deaths are due to one of these Amanitas.

The Ann Arbor Team are at a loss to explain what the poison victims thought they were picking.

Reputedly, one of those who died, was a "self-styled expert."

Yet, Dr. Smith and his colleagues cannot imagine what edible mushroom looks enough like a "destroying angel" to have caused the lethal error.

One area hunter suggests a method of at least staying alive is to thoroughly know Amanitas.

However, even that is not so simple–there are so many kinds of Amanitas.

Perhaps the most beautiful mushroom in the woods is the Amanita Muscharia.

Amanita Muscharia is a brightly colored, usually orange-capped with white polka dots.

Death Not Frequent

Eating it will make you extremely sick. Death isn't frequent, but a possibility, especially if you have a weak heart or kidney trouble.

One mysterious aspect of Amanita Muscharia is that in uther climates such as Mexico and Tibet, this mushroom is used for its hallucinogenic qualities. Here is simply makes people very sick.

The major problem in dealing with mushroom poisoning is knowing exactly which mushroom caused the poisoning.

Mrs. Smith says there are methods of studying stomach contents of a victim in order to microscopeially identify the mushroom by its spoors.

Treatment for mushrooms poisoning varies with the mushroom.

According to the Regional Poison Center at Little Traverse Hospital, there are "six basic groups of poisonous compounds and syndrome," in mushrooms.

The most lethal are "destroying angels" and a few other types.

Symptoms may not appear for six to 20 hours. They include extreme abdominal pain, profuse vomiting, distorted vision, degenerative changes in kidney, liver and cardiac musculature.

The source goes on to say "a coma follows in two to 10 days. If not fatal, a permanent liver damage may exist."

There are five other specific types of mushroom poisoning, the symptoms for some seemingly the same, but the treatment for each is different.

Treatmeats

Because the treatments vury, the poison center mycologists all emphasize, anyone suspecting mushroom poisoning rush the victim to the Poison Center and bring samples of the mushrooms if at all possible.

The same resources warn people not to be foolish.

A poison center physician snys, "The fact that the symptoms might be delayed should be emphasized. We've had people come in with vomiting who ate a mushroom two or three days before and don't realize they have been poisoned."

With warnings aside, mycologists agree, this a boon year for mushrooms.

For those who really know how to distinguish safe from poisonous, it is a terrific year for mushrooms.

Among the edible mushrooms ready to be picked now are "Puff Balls", aeknowledged as one of the safer to identify.

"Slippery Jacks," a member of the bolete, is another delicious and safe mushroom; but there are many similar, but dangerous.

Cantharellus, "Chantrelles," are popular gourmet mushrooms which can be identified by someone who has studied its characteristics carefully.

Wild Mushrooms

There are wild relatives of the domestic mushroom, Agaricus, at least 100 species of Agaricus locally. Out of this, only four or five species

I think you were right in last week's paper about Senator Davis not coming North. I haven't seen him since the election and think he should be spending more time up here listening to our problems. He's our representative, not Lansing's.

Football Spirit

The Charlevoix Rayders should be commended for the fine job they have done so far this season. I hope they continue. The marching band shouldn't be forgotten either. Those kids stand up to any college band and have added a great deal to Charlevoix games. They've obviously worked hard and deserve a word of thanks.

Charlevoix Chamber

I was glad to see that Mrs. Merta was named director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. She has already demonstrated that she can handle the job and obviously knows it better than anyone else in town. I wish her luck and hope that downtown businessmen continue their support

Alice Street

What's happened to Alice Street? Are we going to give it away or not? Council should make up its mind soon.

Catholic Cemetery

I can't understand the problem with the city paving the Catholic Cemetery. Our church gave the property to the city many years ago. We are willing to pay for most of the paving of a new road and are asking the city to pay for only a small portion of the work. I think there are just too many people trying to cause problems. There shouldn't be o question because the city has been maintaining the property for years.

Animal Shelter

I just want to thank the Charlevoix County Humane Society for the work they are doing at the animal shelter. I just visited the place recently and couldn't believe how professional they are handling the operation. The building is being well taken care of and is something we can all be proud of. I hope everyone gets a chance to visit the property and see what is being done. I think it is also wonderful that both the newspapers and radio are cooperating with getting information out on dogs the shelter has.

State Senator Robert Davis Plans 'Town Meeting'

By KEN WINTER

State Senator Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) is expected to be in Charlevoix this week for a "town meeting" while barnstorming his Northern Michigan district.

The GOP leader said he would meet with any interested person on Wednesday (Sept. 24) at 7:30 p.m. in the Charlevoix County Courthouse.

Davis keynoted a Saturday morning breakfast for GOP leaders last weekend on Mackinac Island and urged some 1,000 delegates to join him on October 15 for a citizen's rally on the capitol steps on welfare reform.

"This legislature has been talking about reform of our welfare system every year that I have been here," he told those attending the three-day conference that ended Sunday.

"It is now time to take action and Senate Republicans are launching a total effort to force the Democratic majority in both the House and Senate to move."

Although no party policies were adopted last weekend, Republicans used the social event to test their appeal for the Republican Senate nomination.

Northern Michigan's chances of having a second U.S. Senator come from its ranks grew slimmer this weekend when U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe announced he wasn't interested in the job.

Ruppe Drops Out

Ruppe's withdrawal leaves Rep. Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor emerging as an early front-runner in the opinion of those who attended the GOP Conference here last weekend.

The Senate race has started shaping up a year early because Senator Philip Hart said he was retiring.

Ruppe said in a statement Friday that he was bowing out because the race would involve a grent sacrifice by his family.

The Houghton Republican added, however, that the lure of the Senate "has great appeal...and is a magnificent challenge."

Ruppe's withdrawal letter leaves former U.S. Rep. Robert Huber of Troy as Esch's major challenger.

Michigan House of Representatitves GOP leader Dennis Cawthorne of Manistee remains the only other Northern Michigan candidate who has announced interest in the nomination.

Consensus Candidate

Gov. Milliken told reporters in a press conference here Saturday that he will not be a candidate himself.

Milliken and other GOP leaders here said that despite obvious preference for Esch they would not attempt to create a "consensus" candidate. That backfired in 1970 when Lenore Romney barely survived a primnry over Robert Huber of Troy before losing to Hart.

Other prospective Republican candidates besides Esch and Huber include Ann Arbor businessmnn Denne Raker, a regent of the University of Michigan and Lewis A. Ingmnn of Grand Rapids, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission in Washington.

While Republicans were testing their strength last weekend, Secretary of State Richard Austin has been busy surveying his party for a possible Democratic nomination.

Other potential Democratic contenders appear to be Rep. James O'Hara of Utica and U.S. Rep. Donald Riegle of Flint.

Austin's candidacy is expected to eliminate Attorney General Frank J. Kelley as a candidate.

U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin, Lt. Gov. James Damman and former Gov. George Romney were among prominent Republicans who gathered for the weekend event.

DOG LIFE. The Charlevoix Humane Society is looking for someone interested in two Schnauzer / Beagle mixed puppies. Holding the pups are Joan Sorenson and Laura Barrett, volunteers at the Charlevoix Animal Shelter located next to the Sheriff's department. The female puppies may be seen at the shelter any weekday from one to 5 p.m.

Lake Level Going Down

A continuing trend toward lower water levels of Lake Michigan (including Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix) is predicted for the remainder of the year by the Lake Survey Center of the National Ocean Survey division of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The lake level is still considerably higher than average but lower than the same time last year.

Information provided by the Survey Center reveals that previous extreme high levels were recorded in 1876 and 1951. Extreme low levels were recorded in 1926, 1933, and 1934.

JOHN AND PEARL Rowe are a major attraction to those visiting the North Country. The couple's organic gardening have caught the eye of many. (Photo by Sara Dammann)

Organic Garden Attracts Visitors

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

John and Pearl Rowe moved to Charlevoix some 10 years ago, from Livonia.

They had searched most of Michigan, for two years, for the sort of home and garden they eventually found on Park Avenue near the Charlevoix Hospital.

Gardening on a small, but commercial level was their goal.

"We've always had gardens. Began with Victory Gardens," Mrs. Rowe explains.

"I was Manager of Griswold Sporting Goods Company in Detroit. They had five stores. I was there for 37 years. I had ulcers and decided it wasn't worth it. I quit," John recalls.

Mrs. Rowe had "retired" some years earlier, from her own millinery business. I taught millnery (hat making) for 23 years at the downtown Detroit YWCA, and I had my own shop in the Empire Building, 'Pearl Rowe's Millinery'."

"Maybe that explains my love for flowering arranging," she muses with a chuckle.

Polish Prediction

Some of Mrs. Rowe's ability to predict the weather she attributes to old Polish sayings--a part of her heritage.

She was born outside Warsaw. Her 86 year old mother, who brought her to this country when she was five lives with the Rowes and still helps in the garden.

John who claims English ancestory, was born in Detroit.

"But I can say, 'Give me a kiss,'" in Polish," he hastens to explain.

Their garden, which is state licensed, has been called the "Cleanest and most beautiful in the state," by one inspector.

It hosts just about all types of flowering shrubs, and an endless variety of annuals and perennials.

Fruits

Vegetables, starting with rhubarb, peas and asparagus, continue through the season with everything imaginable: parsley to dill, six varieties of squash, onions broccoli, lettuce, corn, and tomatoes and on and on. Fruits include raspberries ("three varieties for continual crop") grapes and some peach trees.

Needless to say, the Rowe's basements is a well-organized storehouse for their personal harvest, canned and frozen, and in the case of fruits -- homemade wine ("for personal consumption only," John emphasizes.)

"The wine cellar has included cherry, grape, currant, apple and strawberry of different vintages.

"But the best was our tutti-frutti," Mrs. Rowe explodes in a waterfall of giggles.

"Through a mistake, we left the deep freeze unplugged and found it floating in defrosted fruit. John wanted jelly. I said,"We'd have jelly from here to Charlevoix." So we made wine.

"It was cherry, grape, currant, rhubarb, gooseberry, raspberry, strawberry, everything--tutti frutti" her laugh becomes uncontrollable. "It was beautiful."

John sighs, "Our problem is getting our wine aged long enough. It is so good."

In Local Garden

The Pearls Add a Touch of Love

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

As Pearl Rowe weighs vegetables on the scales in her backyard, she invarlably trades gardening secrets and weather prognostleations with her customers.

If John is on hand -- not out in their carefully planted 2½-acres of vegetables and flowers ("Doing the hard work," Mrs. Rowe says) -- he'll spice the conversation with his gardening insights and opinions.

John's usual quip when pressed about the quuity of their garden is, "Just a lot of (expletive deleted) work."

He laughs.

Mrs. Rowe titters and begs him to take the question seriously.

In a rush of enthusiasn, the couple's answers run together.

Orgaale Gardening

Anyone spending a moment with the Rowes becomes infected by their delight in life. John and Pearl, both 68, approach everything with a sort of joyful determination. As they talk they laugh and throw secret grins in each other's direction. They warmly involve a listener in their talk.

"It's completely organic," Mrs. Rowe assures.

"We put in a well a few years ago," John says. "We must water a lot. We can't depend on the weather."

Mrs. Rowe: "It's organic because we believe in it."

She pauses, "Well, the food tastes better." Her eyes sparkle.

John: "We mulch and fertilize in one operation."

Every bit of organic garbage from their home goes into the garden. But they don't keep a conpost plie. They get manure from the Driggett's horse barns.

"Our garden's too big to do a compost heap," John states.

"We work hard for four months," Mrs. Rowe says. "From preparing to plunt to putting the garden to bed for winter."

The majority of the Rowe's vegetable customers are summer resorters.

"Local people generally have their own gardens," Mrs. Rowe points out.

Sell Flowers

"But we sell flowers to mnny year-round people, weddings, standing order with a few families, and some restaurants, the Weathervane and Tres Bon."

Because they sell to the summer trade, their garden must be planted eurly, their rhubarb, peas and tiny new potatoes ready for the first cottagers.

"They come in June and we gotta' have something to show 'em," John says matter of factly.

That's why, John adds, they use a lot of fertilizer und put in the well.

"It's a short season. If you don't start with a good early punch to it, you don't get crops while the people are still here," he concludes.

Huge Tomato

Mrs. Rose holds up some huge tomatoes. "Ours were almost finished while neighbors' were still green. Fertilizer and water," she smiles again.

"Trial and error," the Rowes say hus been their teacher.

They read the gardening journals, but find them repetitive.

"If one thing doesn't work, we try something different next year," Mrs. Rowe says.

The Rowes follow all the prescribed good gardening procedures: mulching, fertilizing, weedling, rotating crops and so on.

With the end of the season, the job is to "put the garden to bed."

Asked for advice for other gurdeners, John replies:

"First of all, get all the weeds out now," or they'll take over by Spring."

"Everything fights for moisture," Mrs. Rowe puts in.

"Next we trim plants (flowering plants) and divide clumps."

John continues, "In the vegetable part we plow everything under.

"Then we mulch carrots with leaves about a foot thick, and stake the rows so we can find them all winter."

Blood Drive Coming Oct. 1

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Charlevoix on Wednesday, Oct. 1, according to Mrs. David Fowler, general chairman for the one-day event.

The visit of the Bloodmobile had been set ahead from Oct. 22 so workers are busy calling donors and making arrangements for the collection of a record quota of 150 units of blood, Mrs. Fowler said.

The collection site will be the United Methodist church on State st. one block west of the business district. Donors may visit the Bloodmobile between 1:00 and 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 1.

Donors may call Mrs. Fowler at 547-9314 for appointments which are not necessary because walk-ins will be welcome.

Appointments, however, will be less time-consuming for those who have only a given length of time to visit.

John gets 30 to 40 pick up loads ("about a ton euch") of fertilizer. He fertilizes now.

Mulch Leaves

He mulches their raspberries with ten truck loads of leaves.

Every fall some local weather-watchers call on Mrs. Rowe for her well-known and generally accurate predictions.

She says, "I get them from looking at a garden. Watching the way things pproduce. Seeing the way birds come and go."

Based on the early harvests and amount of apples, nuts and such, she predicts:

"We're going to have an early and long, but not severe winter.

"Perhaps there'll bc a lot of snow, but there won't be much sub-zero weather."

As if to hedge her bets, Mrs. Rowe reminded her visitor how she'd predicted the visitor's pregnuney.

Mrs. Rowe said, "Boy." The visitor had a girl.

Director Discusses Hospital Needs

At Annual Meeting

By FRAN MARTIN

The growing needs of the Charlevoix Area Hospital were emphasized when Richard Krueger, hospital administrator, addressed the annual meeting of the Hospital Association recently.

Krueger's annual report on the operation of the hospital for the past year had shown its growth in various areas and pointed up his suggestion of needs that must be planned for future expansion.

Space for expansion is the primary need, he said, especially in the outpatient care and waiting area; the respiratory therapy department which needs a separate area; storage areas for medical supplies and equipment; expansion of the Medical Records department where as many as four or five people are working in an area designed for two; food storage and refrigerution space; an area for conducting in-service training for hospital personnel and the need of a Medical Library and expansion of a medical staff meeting area.

He went on to say that as the activities of the hospital increases, pressures are put on all departments for more space to perform the work. To back up his statement he gave the following examples: laboratory procedures had increased 77 percent from June 1,1971, until June 1, 1975; x-ray procedures, 86 percent; and emergency room cases, 185 percent over the same period.

Looking to the future, Krueger said the Board of directors had engaged an architect to initiate plans for future remodeling and expansion.

New equipment purchased with donations which totaled $20,000 and which ranged in contributions of amounts from $1.00 to several hundred included a fetal monitor, treatment light for newborns, 16 mm projector for educational purposes, microscope for the laboratory, emergency room patient cart, E.K.G. equipment, Gemeo suction marchine, laprosscope, patient bed and room furniture and stuck chairs for meetings. These contributions included sizeable donations by service clubs, March of Dimes and the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

In conclusion he expressed his appreciation for the fine job done by the members of the health care team and all those who have supported the hospital in so many ways. "It takes a team effort to do the job" he ndded.

A report on the expansion of the medical staff revealed that during the past year six men have joined the staff including those specializing in family practice, general surgery, two in internal medicine and two in orthopedic surgery. A seventh, Dr. William Moser is expected to join the staff in November. His specialties are gynocology and obstetries.

Remodeling and construction during the past year included air conditioning and ventilation which was done at a cost of approximately $330,000; construction of a new professional building with space for six physicians, $200,000 and enlargement of the Emergency Room area by creating an examination and treatment room where the morgue was once located.

The financial report showed operating revenue was up 23 percent from $1,682,000 in 1974

Charlevoix Prepares for Homecoming

It's homecoming time at the Charlevoix High School according to Heidi Dove, president of the Student Council, which is in charge of the special event this year.

Miss Dove has already named committees to assist with the homecoming festivities scheduled for Thursday and Friday, October 2 and 3.

The homecoming game on Friday will feature the Charlevoix Rayders and the Rogers City Hurons at Kipke field at 8 p.m.

The traditional snake dance followed by a bonfire and pep rally at Kipke field will open the festivities.

Miss Dove, who is serving as general chairman, said that queen candidates are being placed in nomination and will be announced following the election scheduled for later in the month.

The Homecoming queen will be announced and receive her crown during the pep rally at Kipke field Thursday night.

Serving as co-chairman of the homecoming is Carol Streeter, vice president of the Student Council.

Committee chairmen who will assist with the preparations for the two-day event include Wally Drenth and Steve Hufford, bonfire; John Cinnamon and Kim Gould, flowers and crowns; Corrinne Ranger and Juneen Boat, pep rally speaker; Kuy Currey and Sue Winchester, escorts; Debbie Krueger and Charlene Way, drivers; Louise Culdwell and Debbie Tollas, window whitewash; Mark Martin and Todd Williams, master of ceremony; Debbie Fochtman and Kip Greene, Zonk prize.

In the interim, classes are working on the preparation of floats that will appear in the homecoming parade preceding the Charlevoix-Rogers City game Friday night.

Miss Gayle Kaczinski of the high school faculty is Student Council advisor.

Editorials/Opinions

Federal Revenue Sharing Should Be Looked At

While politicians are out on their soap boxes crying that the economy is improving, their constituents are at home looking at empty pocketbooks.

And one of the largest drains on the local taxpayer is being urged by Governors and local officials to continue–federal revenue sharing.

While general revenue sharing accounts for only 12 percent of federal aid received by state and local governments, it has meant that many local communities have been able to have things they normally wouldn't have.

The question is whether or not this practice of wetting local appetites to spend tax dollars is a wise move.

There is little doubt that general revenue sharing--adopted in 1972--will be extended beyond its 1976 termination, probably for five years.

We think this is a poor move and would rather see the local taxpayer realize a break without seeing his money shipped off to Washington and then sprinkled back through revenue sharing projects.

However, a congressman who votes to deprive the nation's governors and mayors of $6.2 billion annually is probably committing politieal suicide.

Congressional debate will center basieally on the issue of federal versus local control.

Aecording to the General Aecounting Office, there are 975 federal assistance programs passing out $51.7 billion to state and local governments, mostly for specific projects.

General revenue sharing is the biggest exception. There are few federal strings attached, and those few can be easily circumvented.

For example, it doesn't take a financial genius in a municipal controller's offiee to substitute revenue sharing funds for local tax dollars and use the local money for a purpose prohibited under the Revenue Sharing Act.

University of Michigan researchers said Ann Arbor used revenue sharing dollars to start paying off a debt and grant pay raises to city employees. The act prohibits the use of revenue sharing funds to pay off a debt but Ann Arbor got around that by reporting that most of the federal dollars went for public safety. This freed local tax dollars to pay off the debt, the U-M researehers said.

Some congressmen are perturbed that many local units of government use revenue sharing funds to reduce taxes or forestall tax increases. But revenue sharing was not devised as a program for distributing federal dollars on a needs basis and, therefore, a municipality that didn't really need the money would naturally lower loeal taxes.

However, we have seen that this is indeed not the case. Instead of reducing local tax dollars, the program has encouraged local government to become more involved in projects they would normally not undertake.

As is true with most federal programs, a community becomes involved and eventually finds there are no funds available after several years. The community is then faced with the question of whether or not they should continue the program from its own tax base or drop it.

Good case in example is the Region 10 detective program that has vitally improved Northern Michigan law enforcement. Now loeal boards of commissioners are confronted with the question of whether they can substain the program through its budget.

The fact that states and municipalities are not accurately reporting how the funds are used could strengthen the hand of thosc in Congress who want more federal strings attached to revenue sharing.

Governors and local offieials are urging Congress to renew revenue sharing by year's end so that they can better project budgets for fiscal 1976. But, most see little chance of that happening.

There is no question that revenue sharing will be extended, the problem now appears to be on how to change the formula to put it more on a needs basis.

We would rather see the program eliminated until local economies are stronger.

Fibrosis Needs Help

September is Cystic Fibrosis month in Charlevoix and across the nation.

Over 70 dedicated volunteers in Charlevoix County are going door to door in each of the communities, bringing with them a vital health message and seeking generous support for the essential programs of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

In 1955, the odds against a child born with C / F were not good. There was relatively little knowledge about this genetie disease, known as "cystic fibrosis of the pancrease."

In 1975 cystic fibrosis, although not conquered, is better understood, more effectively treated and under attack by countless volunteers, doctors and researchers.

Hopefully, it will not take another 20 years of progress before C / F is really conquered.

Watchdog Group Forming

Sir:

An idea whose time has come is the formatlon of Keep Charlevoix-the-Beautiful, an environmental watchdog organization.

In talking to ut least a dozen people about it these comments were heard in addition to the already widely-known ones about air and water pollution; "We need an ordinance banning leaf burning in the fall" "Something should be done about foot-high weeds." What about atomic energy?" "I'm concerned about protecting our shoreline." "Pennants and circus-color signs cheapen Charlevoix." "Designate Route 31 between Charlevoix and Petoskey a scenic drive." "What can we do about the litter problem?"

(The answer to that last comment is get rid of it quickly. Surveys show that the presence of litter encourages more litter.)

- The problems which brought some 30 people together in August was their concern about the rotten eggs odor which emits periodically from the Medusa plant. But this sampling indicates there is enough concern about other environmental degradation in Charlevoix-the-Beautiful that the organization will become an important function in the community. Raising the public consciousness about environmental threats right here at home should be the first order of business.

The Old Timer

Charlevoix's First Newspaper

In the spring of 1869 a young man, just turned 21 years of age, walked from Northport to Charlevoix to establish a newspaper to be known as the Sentinel.

On April 24, 1869 the first issue was published. He continued with the sentinel until his death in 1917. At that time, his daughter Florence Smith Adams and her husband Ira Adams took over publication until 1936. After that the Sentinel was discontinued. The young man and our first editor was Willard A. Smith.

–Old Timer

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

Several months ago when I was on one of my periodic "Harry Truman kicks", I read that Mr. Truman once said he was greatly influenced by the book "Lives of Illustrious Men" by Plutarch, the Greek historian who lived the first century after Christ.

To tell you the truth, I was a little surprised that Mr. Truman had read Plutarch, being an unschooled diamond-in-the-rouge, and ali that. Of course, it's easy to forget that Mr. Truman went to high school in the days when Plutarch probably was included in the public school curriculum, along with Greek and Latin.

But for Mr. Truman to remember "Plutarch's Lives" so favorably so many years later, I suspect that he did not read Plutarch as a student. He probably checked Plutarch out of the Independence Public Library on his own and pondered him long after dark by the light of an oil lamp on the Truman farm.

I suppose what really bothered me about Mr. Truman's Plutarch remark was the fact that although I have had more formal schooling than my favorite president, including a number of years of Latin, I had never been introduced to Plutarch. And I wondered what Mr. Truman had found in Plutarch that he hadn't found elsewhere.

I can't remember the quotation exactly, but Mr. Truman said something like: "Those old boys knew what they were talking about."

To remedy my own defieiency regarding Plutarch, I checked out the first of three volumes of his "Illustrious Men" from the Charlevoix Public Library last week – a brittle, gilt-edged little book that has been alternately collecting dust and illuminating the minds of Charlevoixans for 90 years.

Although the book is not dated, inside the back cover is pasted a little sheet of paper labeled "Rules for the government of the Charlevoix Township Library Adopted December 21, 1885." (The Township library became the city library when Charlevoix became a city in 1905, and library responsibility was later transferred to the schools where it now rests.)

I had no sooner opened the book when I wished the library had a newer copy. The type is so small it almost requires a magnifying glass to read the chapter headings. And if Mr. Truman spent a great deal of time reading such small type it is little wonder his eyes were so bad.

However, you can't tell a book by its cover – or it's type. In the past week I have struggled through only one section of Plutarch – "Pericles" — and I think I know what Mr. Truman was talking about.

For one thing, politics hasn't changed a great deal in the 2,500 years since Pericles held sway over Athens during Greece's "Golden Age." Plutarch discusses huw Pericles made his choice of political parties (Republicun or Democrat: Conservative or Liberal), choosing the liberal side of the coin. Being high born and well-heeled he could have gone the other way, but he choose the same course as FDR, Adlai Stevenson, Soapy Williams, Averell Hnrriman and John F. Kennedy, opting for a brond power-base among the rabble.

Plutarch waxes quite chatty at times in discussing Pericles, pointing out that the man who was responsible for building most of the public monuments that we associate today with the Golden Age of Greece was almost a freak physically. He was born with an elongated skull which he never grew into. Sculptors who made statues of him were so embarrassed that they always outfitted him with a helmet.

Pericles managed to keep pence at home by keeping everyone busy. Public works which hitherto would have expected to occupy the lifetimes of several men were accomplished in a few short years.

Although Athens didn't have a blueprint for control of all the Greek city states, Pericles did conduct a number of campaigns throughout his reign, mainly to keep the troublemakers busy outside the country. He also maintained garrisons throughout the eastern Mediterranean with much the same thought in mind.

Pericles also entertained a rather narrow view that n man's accomplishments counted for nil unless they were in the field of politics. He had no patience with a full grown man wasting his time singing or playing the lute.

I wonder if that's why Harry Truman was always so reluctant to sit down at the piano, although he could play quite well?

With only Pericles behind me, I have a much broader view of Mr. Trumnn, the President.

And I can't help wondering what Mr. Plutarch would have had to say about "Give-'em-Hell Harry."

Erma Bombeck

I got the idea the other morning when I shook the blankets and my college son fell out of them. It was 11 a.m.

"Aren't you going to get up?" I suggested.

"What do you want from me?" he mumbled. "Five days a week, I get up at the break of noon, drag out to the campus, break my brain over books, come home, and watch a little TV to unwind."

The schedule sounded like three weeks in the Bahamas.

At noon, when he wandered out into the kitchen, he said, "What's for breakfast?"

I reached into my slacks pocket and unfolded my schedule. "Let's see ... noon on Friday. . . sorry, I don't have a kitchen lab ut noon. This period I've got 'TV Unwind.' Pass me my lunch tray."

"What schedule?" he asked.

"Everyone around here has a schedule but me," I said. "Things are going to change. After this semester I'll have one breakfast at 8 o'clock. After that you'll have to get it on campus."

"You have flipped," he said storming from the room.

Minutes later, he returned with a pair of new jeans. "Could you shrink these before I leave at two?"

I checeked the schedule. "Don't have laundry on my schedule this term. Couldn't work it in. I'm only carrying 96 hours. Last semester I carried 127, which left only 41 for my major, sleep."

"Okay," he grinned, "I'll play your little game. Could I use your car today or don't you want to give up your parking space?"

I unfolded the schedule again. "No, I've got a field trip to the Beauty Shop at 2:30. I missed last week and it was an important session, touch up roots."

"And after that?"

"A class at the bank in financing, a session in marketing at the grocery store, then home for nutrition. That's it. No Saturday classes. I'm free until Monday at 8 a.m."

I opened the refrigerator and began tu go for seconds on my lunch tray. My son slammed the door. "Ah ah, no fair crainming. You either know it or you don't."

No wonder the childbirth classes were cancelled due to lack of interest.

A Brush with Crime

Reputedly, my closest brush with organized crime occurred on a ferry boat to Mackinac Island in June of 1974. My wife and I sat across from Anthony (Tony Jack) Giacalone and his wife. He's the guy Jimmie Hoffa was reportedly going to lunch with the day Hoffa disappeared.

"How do you know she's his wife?" my wife whispered. "Maybe she's his moll."

"Don't believe everything you read in the yellow press," I cautioned her. "Remember, the newspapers always say Giacalone is a REPUTED leader in the Mafia. This means they can't prove it and don't want to risk a lawsuit."

"I'll bet he hates newspapermen," she said.

"Why don't you jump overboard on the port side," I said. "That would attract Tony Jack's attention while I stroll innocently to the starboard and throw away this stupid badge that says I'm here to attend a convention of the Michigan Press Association."

She looked at the huge hole I'd ripped in my shirt, removing the badge. "It's too late," she said, "I know he saw it. I can tell by the way he is smiling at us. Richard Widmark smiled like that in 'Kiss of Death.'"

"I'm not a bit worried," I said. "Widmark didn't smile, he giggled."

On the island dock, there was one horse drawn carriage hended for the Grand Hotel. We shared it with the Giacalones. I stood near Tony Jack while n room clerk said he couldn't find the Giacalone reservation. Tony Jack insisted the reservation had been made. The clerk said no. I saw Tony Jack's hand move swiftly toward the left inside of his jacket...

Tony Jack pulled out confirmation of his reservation. The mix-up was quickly resolved. The reservation had been misfiled beeause some dummy had spelled Giacalone with a J. I climbed back out of my garment bag and whispered to another clerk that I was with the Press convention. He said I had a big hole in my shirt.

In the dining room that night, I amused some friends with my theory of why Giacalone was on Mackinac Island. Ferry service stops at midnight and there is no way off the island until 7 a.m. "This place is a perfect alibi for any crime committed on the mainland after midnight. That's why Tony Jack caused a stir at the check-in desk. He probably misspelled his name on purpose when he made the original reservation. He wants people to remember him so he can prove he was marooned here while a big caper was going down in Detroit at 2 a.m. Someday I will probably be called as a witness to testify before n grand jury. If they ask why I was weiring a garment bag on the night In question, I'll take the fifth."

At this point my wife kicked my foot and furtively pointed behind me. I didn't need to turn around. Suddenly I knew she was telling me Giacalone was sitting at the next table.

"Is he giggling?" I whispered.

"Reputedly," she said.

I took my dessert to my room and ate it in the garment bag, reportedly.

Merta Named Chamber Head

Mrs. Jacquie Merta, who has been associated with the Charlevoix Chamber of Comunerce for approximately five years, was named to the post of Chamber Manager at a recent meeting of the directurs.

She succeeds Vincent Olaeh who resigned in mid-July. She had served as acting manager since his departure.

Mrs. Merta was amoug 12 applicants for the position. The list was cut to two before Mrs. Merta was named.

Meet Charlevoix

Meet Jean Seymour

Jean Seymour is Presideal of the Board of the Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery, where many area toddlers have their first experieace in being away from "Mommy". This week the Courier talks with Mrs. Seymour about the Nursery School.

COURIER: What is the purpose of the Nursery School and who may send their children to it?

SEYMOUR: Our main objective is to give the child a feeling of being able to do things for himself, to build an image of himself as a person. This is not academic training. We teach children how to play together and how to get along with others. We try to develop their motor skills by games, puzzles, painting and drawing and other methods. Kindergarten teachers tell us that children who have been in Nursery School, or who watch Sesame Street daily, get along better when they enter kindergarten.

The Nursery School is open to all three- and four-year-olds in the area. It is not a sitting service for wealthy women who want to get rid of their children.

COURIER: What facilities do you have to achieve your objectives?

SEYMOUR: We meet in the lower level of the library. There we have all kinds of play equipment including a "kitchen", an "office", a work bench area, an art table, a science table and a "quiet" area for looking at books and pictures. We even have some gerbils for the children to watch.

We also take field trips. On Hallowe'en the children walk through the business section of town in their costumes and receive treats from the merchants. We go to an orchard to pick apples. We go to an animal hospital to see the animals. We visit the Sundew. We go to the post office where the children mail a letter they have written. We visit the police and fire departments. These are just some of the things we do.

COURIER: Who are your teachers and teacher assistants?

SEYMOUR: We have two licensed teachers, Dorothy Miller and Nancy Taylor. For each class we also have two mothers who assist the teachers. They are called "working" mothers and are the basis ul our cooperative arrangement. Every mother on the cooperative plan takes turns working. This averages out to about once n month. Mothers also help on field trips. Since we are members of the Michigan Counell of Cooperative Nurseries and the Northern Michigan Council, we must abide by their regulations. Among other things, the regulations say that on field trips there must not be more than five children in an automobile plus a driver and another adult.

COURIER: Tell us about the cooperative "working" mother plan.

SEYMOUR: We really have three plans. The first one is the full cooperative plan where mothers work about once a munth, participate on committees and do whatever is necessary to keep the school going. The partial cooperative plan is for mothers who cannot give time to the school but can serve on eonmittees and assist in other ways. We also have a private membership for parents who cunnot assist in any way.

COURIER: How many classes do you have, and what are the tuition charges?

SEYMOUR: We have one morning class for three-year-olds and one morning class for four-year-olds. These classes meet twice a week. We also have one afternoon class for both three- and four-year-olds. The fee for children going two days a week on the full cooperative plan is 10 u month. The fee for children going three days a week on this plan is $15 a month. The fees for both partial cooperative and private memberships are higher. The Nursery School is six years old and we have not raised our fees since we started.

COURIER: Do you have any vacancies at this time?

SEYMOUR: No, right now we are at our idcal capacity. However, we do have a waiting list and anyone wishing to enroll n child should put his name on the list. Lynn Salmonson is membership chairman and will take these names. Her phone number is 547-6027 or 547-2601.

COURIER: Who are the other members of the Nursery School Board?

SEYMOUR: Helen Ferahee is vice-president; Ethel Grunch is secretary; Carol Hackett is treasurer; Lynn Salmonson is membership chairman; and Karen Joy is voting delegate.

Red Rayders Dump Chiefs for Third Season Win

Charlevoix's Red Rayders battled a fine Cheboygan squad to a 15-8 victory this past Friday evening. Once again, conditions were rainy as the Red Rayders presented the fans with a hard-fought, well-balanced performance.

Unlike the first two victories, the opposing team drew first blood. This came in the second quarter, on the Chief's third possession.

Prior to the Cheboygan score, the two squads exchanged punts before Charlevoix put together a 69 yard drive to the Cheboygan 15 yard line. This offensive thrust ended when Bob Alger attempted a field goal from the 22 yard line. Alger's effort was short of the mark and the Chiefs took over on their own 20 yard line.

Nine plays later the talented Cheboygan senior, Kelly Clark, dived over from the 1 yard line for the Cheboygan tally. Featured in the 80 yard march were runs by Clark of 47, 12 and 10 yards.

Following the touchdown, junior quarterback Jim Corrigan faked a hand-off into the line and corried the ball across the endline for the two point conversion. For the first time in 1975, the Charlevoix eleven found themselves behind, 8-0.

The Red Rayders showed the character and determination typical of a Dan Carey coached squad, when they took the ensuing kickoff 65 yards in five plays to get on the scoreboard.

Mike Way began the scoring march when he returned the Cheboygan kickoff to the Charlevoix 35 yard line. After Randy Williams slanted off tackle for a short gain, Way faked to Williams and rolled around left end for 38 yards. A fine pass reception by senior Matt Doan brought the Rayders down to the Cheboygan 16 yard line, where, after a short gain by Alger, Way pitched a touchdown into the hands of Steve Michaels. Michaels made his fine grab under pressure.

With the entire coaching staff yelling for tuneout, the point after attempt kick was made by Alger, and with 1:02 remaining in the first half, the Red Rayders found themselves on the short end of a 8-7 football game.

In the third quarter, the two squads exchanged punts, with Charlevoix taking over on their own 38 yard line. This began a fine sustained drive, culminating in a 1 yard dive by Halfback Williams for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

The scoring drive involved eighteen plays, and was a fine example of basic football. Throughout the drive, the longest gain was a Way to Scott Ross pass for 12 yards. The remainder of the offensive thrust was made on short gains by Williams, Alger, Way, and Terry Drew.

With 11:56 remaining, Charlevoix punched the ball in from the 1 yard line, and a Way to Ross pass was good for the two point conversion. Charlevoix led early in the fourth quarter, 15-8.

With the one touchdown advantage, the pressure was on the Red Rayder defense. As in the prior two football games, they showed their mettle by causing two fumbles, stopping a fake punt, and never allowing the Chiefs to penetrate beyond the 50 yard line for the remainder of the game.

On the final Charlevoix possession, following a fumble recovery by Co-Captain Kirk Lieberman, Williams took a pitch out and scampered 38 yards for what appeared to be the third Charlevoix tally. A clipping penalty brought the ball back, and the game ended one play later.

An unfortunate event marred the fine Red Rayder performance. This came following the last Charlevoix touchdown, when Drew tackled Cheboygan's Clark. The Charlevoix senior was injured on the play, and could be out for the season. The versatile Drew plays both ways for the Red Rayder squad.

Courier Sports

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team is in the midst of a Michigan Huron Shores League schedule plus a number of non-league meets with area schools.

The Chrrlevoix high school Junior Varsity football team opened its 1975 season Thursday by shutting out Cheboygan 14-0 at Kipke field.

This week the young Rayders will host Grayling at Kipke field at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

In last week's game it was taking advantage of the breaks and fine defensive play that resulted in the 14-0 win over Cheboygan.

The first period was scoreless as both tennis, playing their first games of the season, felt each other out.

Charlevoix got its first break of the goine when Kip Greene blocked o punt on the Cheboygan 20 yard line with Bob Warner falling on the ball as it rolled into the end zone. Quarterback Tom Left made the score 8-0 as he swept left end for a two-point conversion.

The young Rayders' final tally came in the third period when Greg Krueger found a hole in the line and went for 42 yards and the touchdown. The conversion attempt was short and the final score stood at 14-0.

Rings are a handy way in the men's fashion game. They really show the diversification of his life style and the ease with which he now turns to accessories for personal expression. Ring molds to match bracelets keep up with this fashion timing: a diamond studded initial on two narrow bands of gold is one stunning example. For others, the fashion conscious man matches metals and designs, many of the pairs are his-or-hers wearable, so fringe benefits are clearly attached to this latest fashion "now."

Golfers Start Season

The Charlevoix High School golf team opened its season last week with a win over St. Ignace in a Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet and a non-loop victory over Harbor Springs.

On Sept. 29, Charlevoix will host Boyne City and this week Charlevoix was at Grayling with Gaylord as a third team on Monday.

At St. Ignace Pat Paul was the medalist with a 39 as the Rayders held their total to 167 compared to 179 for the Saints. Art Ranger's score was 40 and Mike Custer and Jack Tillen, 44 each. Dan MacDonald was low for the Saints with a score of 42.

In the meet with Harbor Springs here, Charlevoix tallied 163 to 167 for Harbor Springs.

Chris Hanna of Charlevoix and Ed Kelbel of Harbor Springs with scores of 40 tied for medalist honors.

Flag Football

Flag football last week saw the Falcons shut out the Packers 34-0 and the Eagles edge the Steelers 15-6 in the Junior league and Cowboys and the Bengals play to a 12-12 tie and the Vikings trampled the Lions 30-0 in the Peewee league.

This week the Packers and Eagles will meet at 11:30 a.m.; the Patriots and the Steelers at 12:45 p.m. and the Raiders and Falcons at 2 p.m. in the Junior League. The Peewees will begin play at 9 a.m. when the Bengals meet the Vikings and at 10:15 a.m. when the Lions clash with the Cowboys.

Eagles 15 Steelers 8

Passes from Jack Carlson to Jack Cross for eight and 15 yards, a safety by Cross and a conversion by Morgan gave the Eagles their win over to Steelers.

A 20 yard pass from Joe Sladek to Nick Anderson gave the Steelers their single tally.

Falcons 34 Packers 0

Gerrard Doan ran the ball in one yard for the Falcon's first TD and passed twice to Jeff

Oldsmobile 1976.
An Olds for everybody. And good mileage in every size.

Take a look at the beautiful new 1976 Oldsmobiles in your dealer showroom. They're impressive.

Then take a look at the 1976 EPA Mileage Guide test figures for Oldsmobile. They're impressive, too.

They show that good gas mileage runs in our family. Remember these mileage figures are estimates. Naturally the actual mileage you get will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition, and available equipment.

From sporty Starfire supercoupes to full-size, front wheel drive Toronados, there's good gas mileage in every size Olds.

That's quite a feat considering the array of sizes and models that Olds is offering this year. With this kind of selection, there's bound to be an Olds to fit your lifestyle and pocketbook. And every Olds, whether small, mid-size or full-size is built to be right for the times.

This year Oldsmobile is offering an available five-speed overdrive transmission on Starfire, Omega and Cutlass models. (You may be used to thinking of five-speed as strictly a performance feature, but the fifth gear gives you overdrive efficiency.)

We invite you to make a total comparison. Good gas mileage, traditional Oldsmobile engineering, construction, dependability and solid comfort. You'll find each Olds packed with value because it's built with the care and attention to detail that's a tradition at Oldsmobile. Can we build one for you?

THE 98 REGENCY. Proof that the world of luxury doesn't have to ignore a concern for gas economy.

DELTA 88 ROYALE. All the solid dependability of a family-sized Olds. Yet the 88 gets good gas mileage for a car of its size.

STARFIRE. Who says you can't get good gas mileage in a sporty car? Check out Starfire, Starfire SX and the available Starfire GT option.—Oldsmobile's supercoupes.

1976 Oldsmobile
Can we build one for you?

CUTLASS S. Restyled front end and sides. The new look is bolder, sportier. All this ... and surprising gas economy, too.

CUTLASS SUPREME BROUGHAM. The fine mid-sized car to have an interior inspired by the famous 98 Regency. The gas mileage is pretty inspiring too.

OMEGA BROUGHAM. Quite possibly the most luxurious compact ever built. But its impressive gas mileage reminds you it's an economy car, too.

See and drive the new 1976 Oldsmobiles at your Olds dealer. GM

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ISSUE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS BY THE TOWNSHIP OF HAYES, MICHIGAN AND RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

TO ALL ELECTORS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HAYES, MICHIGAN:

TAKE NOTICE that the Township Board of the Township of Hayes, intends to issue Industrial Development Revenue Bonds of the Township in a principal amount not exceeding One Million ($1,000,000.00) Dollars maturing up to twenty years from issuance and bearing interest at not more than 10 percent per annum, or such higher rate as may be permitted by law, for the purpose of financing the cost of acquiring and constructing all or part of an existing industrial building and additions to be constructed thereto, and site and machinery and equipment therefor (collectively the "Project"), as defined in Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended, and costs incidental to the issuance of said bonds. The Project will be leased to Lexalite Corporation, a Michigan corporation. Upon payment of said bonds (or provision therefor being made) Lexalite Corporation shall have the right to purchase the Project for a nominal consideration.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT

Said bonds will be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Said bonds and the principal and interest thereon will not be a general obligation of the Township of Hayes and will in no event be payable from any tax revenues or other general funds of the Township of Hayes, but will be payable solely and only from payments to be received from Lexalite Corporation, and other revenues, if any, derived from the Project. Payment of principal of and interest on said bonds will be guaranteed by Lexalite Industries, Inc., a Delaware corporation.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

This notice is given to and for the benefit of the electors of the Township of Hayes, in order to inform them that said bonds will be issued without submitting the question of their issuance to the electors of the Township, unless within 45 days from the publication of this notice, a petition signed by not less than 5 percent of the registered electors of the Township requesting a referendum upon the question of the issuance of said bonds, is filed with the Township Clerk of the Township, in which event the bonds will not be issued unless and until approved by a majority of the electors of the Township voting thereon at a general or special election.

THIS NOTICE is given by order of the Township Board of the Township of Hayes, Michigan, pursuant to the requirements of Section 12 of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended. Further information with respect to the Project, the revenue bonds to be issued and the right of referendum may be obtained from the undersigned.

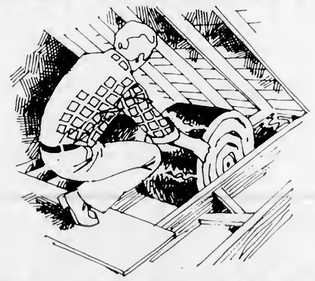
Save money in your attic this winter.



Insulate!

At the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated is again offering a low-cost home ceiling insulation program designed to conserve Natural Gas and hold down heating costs.

Last year, nearly 42,400 Michigan Consolidated customers installed ceiling insulation, saving over one billion cubic feet of Natural Gas, and cut their home heating costs by up to 17%.

These results were gratifying indeed. Enough Natural Gas was conserved to heat over 7,600 additional homes this winter.

If you still haven't taken advantage of this easy, low-cost program, now's the time to act. Many homeowners can install insulation themselves for about $125. Our free handbook tells you how. Get your copy at any Michigan Consolidated Business Office, most building supply outlets or write or call us.

Or, we can have the job done for you by one of our participating subcontractors and add the cost to your monthly gas bills. The cost? About $250 for homes with less than 1,000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost ceiling insulation program? You'll be cutting your heating costs up to 17% and helping our country conserve its Natural Gas supplies, too.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY

For Benefit Performance

Shriners Coming to Charlevoix

By SIGNMUND ROMBERG

If you enjoy music and wish to support a worthy cause, the Regional shrlners organization will be presenting the Shrine Saladin Concert Bnnd in concert Saturday, September 27 at 8:00 p.m. in the gym. Funds raised through the concert will be used for the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital.

Area students involved in band activities will be admitted free. All other admissions will be $2.00.

As well as an enjoyable evening of music, the highlight of the program should be the involvement of high school students in the program. Each school in the region has been invited to select one member of their band to perform a number with the Shriners group. Those schools who will be able to participate range from Bellaire and Elk Rapids to schools north of Pellston. At this time the Charlevoix student has not been selected.

The program, directed by George D. Davis, will include a variety of numbers to suit all tastes. Some of the numbers on the program will be "Light Cavalry Overture by Suppe-Fillmore, "Cabaret" by Kander and Ebb, "The Entertainer" by Scott Joplin and "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

Adding to the program will be performances by Kathleen Coe, soprano and Norman . Bradley, Baritone who will sing as soloist as well as presenting a duet of "Will You Remember".

Student Council Holds Meeting

By HEIDI DOVE

The first student council meeting of the 1975-76 school was held recently. The meeting was called to order at 9:05 in Room 31. The first thing on the agenda was deciding on the theme of Homecoming. The theme will be the Bicentennial Celebration. Committees were assigned for the Homecoming program. Class presidents will be meeting with their class to choose the Individual themes for their floats. The Homecoming Dance will be handled through the Junior and Senior classes, and will be held after the game until 1:00 a m.

The completion of the handbook was brought up by Heidi Dove. She hoped it would be out by the end of the month, as all of the information hadn't been collected and updated.

The possibility of a Pep Club being organized again was discussed and will be brought up at a later meeting.

New Faces at CHS

By LINDA SMITH and KIP CINNAMON

Charlevoix High School has its usual quota of new faces this year. Along with the new teachers there are several student teachers as well, this semester.

Mr. Gary Hice, a native of Ann Arbor, is the Study Hall Supervisor. When asked about Charlevoix, he said, "I've only been here a short time but I like it very much."

Mr. Steven 'Stark Steven' Stargardt teaches vocal music in both the high school and Middle School.

He is a native of Cincinnati, Ohio and was a music major at the University of Cincinnati. He thinks the school system is great and he loves Charlevoix. When asked what he thought of the student body, he said, "I haven't met her yet."

Mrs. Mary Lou Smith is the new Home Ec. instructor and cheerleading advisor. She says, "the Home Ec. department needs revising and I hope to adopt some new ideas." A grad of Western Michigan University, she is originally from Grand Rapids. Mrs. Smith taught at Linden, Indian River, and Fowlerville before coming to Charlevoix.

A new teacher to the high school, but certainly not to the system and community is Mr. Gary Stutzman.

Four student teachers from Central Michigan University have also arrived for part of the first semester.

Mr. Mike Moraska of Norway, Michigan is teaching with Nelson Green in the Government Department. Mr. Moraska said he really likes the students and says he has a good feeling about the atmosphere of the school.

Ms. Nancy Thurston, a native of Boyne City is teaching in the English department. Ms. Thurston likes the way the school is run, the attendance policy, and the fact CHS has many subjects.

Ms. Kim Dennis originally from Sault Ste. Marie, will graduate from CMU in May. Ms. Dennis is under the direction of Mrs. Mudge in the library. She also thinks CHS needs more spirit and togetherness as a whole. She is very interested in working with the Pep Club as well as the cheerleaders.

Mr. Gary Webber is student teaching with Mr. Murray in the art department. He is from Iron River and is a CMU graduate. "I like the art department and the CHS teaching staff. The kids attitudes are positive. I thought I might run into a bunch of hoods, but so far I am impressed." Mr. Webber also works in the afternoons at the Middle School with one afternoon class.

Being an avid Rayder fan—we can only say: Alright Mr. Webber!

Flocks of wild geese were heard going over last Wednesday evening. Must be they were fleeing before the snow we had.

We appreciate the sun after having rain, nearly every day since Aug. 21st. Several trees in the village are all dressed up in colored leaves already.

Mrs. Dessie Farrell and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farrell attended the wedding of the formers sisters granddaughter in Whitehall on Saturday.

Gordon and Shirley Kooistra from Panama, showed slides and gave a talk of their work with the Wycliffe Bible translators in Panama, Sunday evening at the Christian Reformed Church. Shirley is the granddaughter of Mrs. Grace Murray, of Echo District, who is a member of the Ellsworth Church. The Kooistra's have a son, David who was born in Nigeria a little over a year ago.

Visiting with Grace Klooster last week was her friend from Grand Rapids, Pauline Westra.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruis and daughter Amy were weekend guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick (Clara) Van Til of Lansing spent the weekend with her brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Fred Belhuis.

Mrs. Hattie Kuiper and Mrs. Elsie Timmer were hostess to a birthday party for their friends Mary Balch and Hazel Edson at the home of Mary Balch on Park and Center Sts. The Hobby Club members were invited to the party.

Lt. Col. Walter Burch and wife Edna and 6 year old daughter from El Paso, Texas have been visiting her parents after a 3 year absence. Saturday evening was a special day as the 5 boys, William, Walter, Ronald, James and Jack and their wives and children came to share a reunion dinner at the Christian Reformed Church fellowship room. There were 24 family members around the table. Sunday morning Mr. Kooyer and the 6 children sang a beautiful specul number with Mrs. Kooyer at the piano at the morning church service in the Christian Reformed Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter John Drenth were in Grand Rapids last weekend visiting their daughter Marcia & husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hastings spent the weekend visiting their children Tom and Margaret Newhouse und children in Kalamazoo.

Anne Osterbaan returned Thursday from a visit with her sister Margie Oosterbaan in Wyoming and her children. Mrs. A. Osterbaans' daughter, Beatric George came from Nashville, Tenn. and a family reunion was held at the home of Melvin and Esther Witeveen und 5 children in West Olive. Other children were Bernard and Tressa Lyzinga from Wyoming, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Osterbaan and 3 children from Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Osterbaan and 3 children from Grandville also a granddaughter & husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Gritter and their son, Mrs. O's great grandson Mark Geoffrey from Elmhurst, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard VanderArk took Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanderArk to Niagara Falls for a visit last week. Pete reports they couldn't leave the farm for a trip to Niagara Falls, when they were married, so they appreciated a trip even though its was 39 years after.

Mrs. Betty Moore and her sister Mrs. Carl Petrie and their parents Mr. and Mrs. William Petter returned Sunday from a 3 weeks trip to Torrance, Calif. Enroute they attended the marriage of a relative Jeanne Coakly a granddaughter of the Petters. Coming back through the South, they visited Debbie Sourcville a daughter of Mrs. Moore in Houston, Texas, going north to Natches Trace Parkway, where they learned the Indians had a trail some 500 years before the white man came to Mississippi.

Cobra 19, the big voice in a small package

CB Radio

If you've ever heard a Cobra 21, you know it's hard to believe all that talk-power is legal. Cobra found the way to make their radios really talk—and still obey the rules. Now you can talk just as loud and far with a smaller package. Cobra 19 is thin and narrow enough to mount conveniently in any car—even the latest subcompacts—Cobra 19 has other features you'd expect like plug-in mike and external speaker jack.

Board Approves Band Trip

By FRAN MARTIN
The Charlevoix Board of Education gave its approval Monday for the Charlevoix High School marching band trip to appear at a Green Bay Packer football game on Nov. 30.
The board voted to underwrite the transportation costs of the trip to Peshtigo where the Rayder Marching Band will stay with Peshtigo students before joining them for the trip to Green Bay which will be underwritten with funds made available to Peshtigo by the Packer organization.
Earlier, the Band Boosters had planned to finance the trip but had expended their funds for other purposes to benefit the band program. The group will finance a trip to Manistique in mid-October for a practice session with the Peshtigo band in preparation for their joint appearance on Nov. 30.
Policies regarding petty cash accounts in principals offices and purchases from employees unless on a competitive bid basis to discourage a 'conflict of interest' situation were presented for discussion. Action on the policies will be taken at a later date.
The board voted to allow two cents per student for a legal feasibility study on the problem of the uneven reduction of catagorical State Aid during the 1974-75 school year. In taking this action, the board is joining other school districts in the state which lost catagorical State Aid, i.e., monies for transportation, vocational education and special education. It is the contention of the Charlevoix board and those of several other schools that the reduction was not evenly made and that their schools lost more, proportionately, then the majority of schools in the state. The action is being taken in an effort to recoup a portion of the funds. The Charlevoix district lost approximately $11,000.
In the only other action taken, the board accepted the bid for Fleet Insurance submitted by Farm Bureau, the only bidder. Mox Novak, president of the board, suggested that, heneeforth, bid information be made available to all prospective bidders by Aug. 1.
Thomas Caldwell, Mrs. Patricia Taylor and William Grimm, representing the Intermediate District School Board, appeared to convey the need for the monies being requested in the Oct. 6 special election to underwrite the cost of constructing buildings for the handicapped in East Jordan and Petoskey.
Nov. 10 is the tentative date set for the budget meeting.

The Lions held the Vikings scoreless for a quarter before they broke loose to score on a 10 yard run by Dave Batdorff for a 6-0 halftime lead.
The Vikings broke the game wide open as the second half got underway as Batdorff scored again, this time on a 10 yard run; Craig Klooster went over from the 15 yard line plus a safety and Dan Batdorff a conversion.
The final period saw the Vikings scoring a safety early in the period before Klooster scored on a one yard run and Bill Taylor added a conversion.

Bengals 12 Cowboys 12
The Bengals took an early lead in this game as Chris Putman scored from 12 yards out.
The lead continued until the second half when Todd Oaylong crashed over from the 24 yard line to knot the score. The Bengals, however, came back with a 28 yard scoring play by Brent Cole to recover the advantage.
It wasn't until late in the game that Daylong scored again, this time on an eight yard run, to tie the score 12-12 at the final gun.

Mushrooms

are edible.
"Shaggy Mane," is generally one of the more simple for hunters to find, however if it begins to decompose it will at the very least taste terrible.
The "Oyster Mushroom" has been plentiful this year. Like other favorite edible mushrooms, Mrs. Smith says, "It is only safe if you know it.
Mycologists generally urge would-be mushroom hunters to:
–Know well the mushroom you want and know its dangerous look alikes.
–Only pick what you know well.
–Never mix species in your basket or in cooking.
–Don't trust any so-called tests for distinguishing safe from poisonous.
Perhaps from the most telling remarks about mushrooming comes from Mrs. Smith:
"The more I see and the more I learn, the more fearful I get. I see how close some of these species are to others."
Despite the dangers, it's still a lovely year mushrooming.

Obituary

ELMER J. MEGGISON
News of the death of a former local resident, Elmer J. Meggison, 79, at Phoenix, Ariz., on Sept. 14 has been received here.
Funeral services and interment was in Phoenix where he had lived since 1961.
Born in Marion township May 27, 1896, Mr. Meggison served in U.S. Army during World War I. After his return he was employed in an industrial plant in Flint until entering the insurance business from which he retired about 1960. In November, 1961, he moved to Phoenix to live.
Surviving are his wife, Lillian, a daughter, Mrs. Ramona B. Day of Phoenix; four grandchildren and four sisters, Mrs. Oliver (Carrie) Huston and Mrs. Alvin (Erma) Joslyn of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Carl (Gladys Campbell and Mrs. Walter (Bernice) Williams of Detroit.

Mrs. Raymond Boak
Funeral services for Mrs. Raymond (Josephine) Boak, 73, who died unexpectedly Sunday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital several hours after she had been admitted via ambulance, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Austin Regler will officiate. Interment will be at Brookside cemetery.
Born in Charlevoix Dec. 15, 1901, the former Josephine Trimble had always resided here. On June 5, 1955, she was married to Mr. Boak. She was a member of the United Methodist church and its circle, the Farm Bureau and the Hayes township Extension Club.
She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Valda Wilson of Ferndale; two sons, Harold Hamlin of Walloon Lake and Vernard Hamlin of Oscoda; 15 grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren and a brother, Clayton Trimble of Charlevoix. A daughter, Mrs. Florine Winegarden, preceded her in death on Sept. 4, 1975.
The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor her memory contribute in her name to the Memorial Fund of the United Methodist Church.
Friends may call at the Winchester Funeral Home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Kenneth Prevost
Funeral services for Mrs. Kenneth R. Prevost, 64, who died Friday night at her home at Lakeview Village, Boyne City, were held Tuesday at the First Baptist church here. The Rev. Hugh A. Cowan officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.
The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.
The former Anna Mae Raub was born in Big Rapids July 12, 1911. She was graduated from Olivet College and Wayne State University, receiving an M.A. Degree from the latter. She taught at the Henry Ford Elementary School in Dearborn for 37 years before retiring nnd moving to northern Michigan. She was a pianist and organist and for many years taught piano. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Michigan Education Association. On Oct. 9, 1954, she was married to Mr. Prevost.
Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. James (Gail) Goodman of Findlay, Ohio, and a granddaughter, Tanya.

SEE AUTUMN'S BEAUTY THROUGH EYES OF FAITH

The climax in our orbit of the sun
Is when at last the summer days are done;
When shades of green give way to autumn's gold,
The richest of the seasons will unfold.
The leaves become arrayed in brilliant hue,
Before their turn to disappear from view
In breezy descending spirals through the air,
Propelled by winds that strip the branches bare
Through eyes of faith you'll see this all displayed,
The wonders of this world that God has made
Are never more alive than in the fall,
Through Church, you will appreciate them all — Gloria Nowak

Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God.

BULLETIN

Human Services asks for help

Disabled Boyne City woman needs some assistance to help repair her roof. Volunteer labor and / or materials would be appreciated.

Volunteers are needed to assist residents of Adult Foster Care Homes play Bingo. Games will be played at the Presbyterian Church, Boyne City, every other Monday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Volunteers are needed to visit Homebound Elderly Persons in the Charlevoix and East Jordan areas. Anyone willing to spend a few hours a week in this endeavor would be making a valuable contribution.

Nurses and persons to assist with clerical duties are needed as Volunteers to work at Blood Pressure Clinics throughout the County. Volunteer time required would average 3 days a month.

Space is needed to store furniture and clothing for emergency assistance. A vacant building or large room would be more than suitable. Would like to use space for at least 12 months.

Ferry Road Nears Completion

Ferry Road

By KEN WINTER

Marion Township residents won't have to put up with the Ferry Road construction project much longer, according to the Charlevoix Road Commission.

Director-Englneer Irv Sturm says the project should be completed early this month.

The 1½-mile improvement project between Barnard and Black Roads has been drawing mixed reviews from area residents and local government officials, primarily because of what they say is a potential soil erosion hazard.

However, Sturm says state-approved funds are expected to be coming within the next few weeks, which will allow the road commission to gravel the roads, as well as seed and mulch the banks.

Residents were concerned that when the project was completed that barren road banks would eventually erode and block the road.

The project is the first in a series of road improvements to be made during the next few years so that there will eventually be a east-west road between U.S. 31 and M-66.

Mrs. Sara McCracken, who lives near the project, says that all the roads in that area are bad and couldn't understand what was going on.

Not Happy

"I don't really know why they are widening the road, but they made a mess of it," she said.

"I know a few other roads that could have been worked on instead, like Marion Center Road."

Mrs. McCracken said she wasn't very happy with the road commission.

But while the project received a poor review from Mrs. McCracken, Al Solomon said no one had anything to complain about.

"Before you couldn't get through there ony time it rained. It was a swamp," he continued.

"If they didn't cut back like they did, they probably wouldn't have been able to plow it."

Solomon said he was glad to see the project because it would give the township a east-west road.

Mrs. Doris Johnson, Marion Township treasurer, said that she didn't think people had too many complaints about the project.

She said her only concern was that the township residents realize that it was a county and not a township road project being paid for by the county.

"I've been getting a lot of criticism about spending township money on Ferry Road, but it hasn't been township funds that have been spent."

Others said their only concern was with soil erosion danger caused by the road banks left barren.

While many township residents have expressed concern recently, similar rumbling could be heard at the county building.

Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner Ron Geer claims he has never received notification from the county road commission about the project.

Under the state's new Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Act, public agencies are required to notify local enforcement agencies when major earth changes are being made.

However, the road commission says the former building inspector, who preceded Geer as the local enforcement agent, had been notified on several occasions.

Geer says he is partially to blame for the condition of the road because he didn't issue a stop work order when he first realized the road improvement had started.

He said temporary soil erosion measures should have been taken with use of sond bags, straw or a filter barrier.

Others questioned whether the road commission should have been able to cut the road banks at such a deep angle.

"It shouldn't have been allowed to happen," said one official.

Five Queen Candidates Named

Charlevoix Prepares for Homecoming

By FRAN MARTIN

The student body at the Charlevoix High School will be faced with a momentous decision this week....the selection of the 1975 Homecoming Queen.

The choice will not be an easy one for they must choose only one from among the five candidates, all strong contenders for the title presently held by Sue Fowler.

Candidates for the title are Lynn Bradley, Sue Kane, Carol Streeter, Denise Wasoski und Shelly Wood.

All five have three things in common....their beauty, all are seniors and oll are 17 years of age. From there on you find five distinct personalities....ench with its own charm.

Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bradley. She is 5' 5½" inches tall and has brown hair and brown eyes. She is a member of the Marching Band flag corps, has played with the band for four years, class Vice President as a sophomore, and a cheerleader for three years. After graduation, she plans to go to college but hasn't chosen a field at this time.

Sue has been a member of the band for three years. She plans to enter the medical field but at this time hasn't decided in what capaeity. She is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kane and William Kane. She is 5' 7½", has blonde hair and hazel eyes.

Carol is 5' 5", has light brown hair and blue eyes. She is presently serving as Vice President of the Student

Alice Street

Why can't we receive a direct answer to problem of Alice Street. It looks like the city fathers are hoping we will forget the issue and they can give away more of our public property. Please eitizens don't give up on this issue.

Park Avenue

The Park Avenue property owned by Mr. Taylor of the Belvedere Resort is an eyesore. It may not be a dumping ground, but it might as well be. Old motor bikes, stoves, cars, cupboards and so forth are ever present. There must be a law against such a mess. Locally, it is called Taylor's ghetto. That should make Mr. Taylor very proud. Even slums are cleaned up sometime. Why can't the counell clean up this unsightly mess?

Prison Escape

I don't think it's fair that the sheriff of this county will not let any of the prisoners in his jail have visitors until they either find the escapee or if someone squeels. I don't think it's fair and I want everyone else to know just what is going on.

Museum Project

I hope everyone gives their support to the Charlevoix Historical Society when they start asking for money to build o local museum. Charlevoix has a lot of history to offer and I can think of no better way than to show it through a local inuseum. It is something that our younger generation will be able to enjoy for many years to come. I know there are many residents in this community who have things they would like to give to the city, if the city had a place to put them. The museum would be an answer to all our problems.

Senator Davis Calls for Welfare Reform

State Senator Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) continued his appeal Wednesday for massive welfare reform.

The Senate GOP leader urged all local citizens to partieipate in a state-wide petition drive asking the Michigan Legislature to consider one of the most comprehensive reform bills in the nation.

Davis talked to some 60 Charlevoix County residents in an "old fashion town hall meeting" held last week at the Charlevoix County Courthouse.

The Charlevoix stop was one of many the Northern Michigan Republican was making during a two-week barnstorming of his district.

"We're trying to conduct a witch hunt," Davis said.

But, he said that everyone is aware of people who are collecting welfare checks and shouldn't be.

"We think it's time to take some action," he said.

Under proposed legislation, Davis said the state could save a minimum of $50 million a year under the broad sweeping moves that are being proposed.

Davis said the Michigan Townships Association and the State Chamber of Commerce have taken up the issue and are circulating petitions across the state to urge action be taken on welfare reform.

Representative Ostling Plans Breakfast

State Rep. Ralph Ostling (R-Roseommon) will hold n special dutch-trent legislative breakfast Wednesday (October 1) at 7:30 a.m. in Charlevoix.

The breakfast, which will be held at Leutheuser's, is open to the general public.

Ostling said he wants to provide an opportunity for local citizens to ask questions they may have about state legislation.

The Northern Michigan representative, whose district includes Charlevoix, said State Senator Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) is also expected to attend.

Hayes Township Approves Industrial Bond

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Hayes Township has clenred the way for 'Lexalite Corporation to moke a $1 million expansion by agreeing to issue an Industrial Revenue Bond.

Unless the electors of Hayes Township call for a referendum, by way of petition, with at least 26 signatures, before November 8, 1975, the bonds will be issued.

Lexalite, an international corporation with headquarters in Hayes Township, is the largest manufacturer of its type in the nation, according to its president Josh Barnes.

Its products, plastics for the lighting industry, include globes, refractors, traffic signal lenses, and optical components.

Barnes said the million dollar expansion will enable the corporation to meet new contract obligations and will mean some 40 new Jobs for the area.

The corporation owns about six acres of land and 800 feet of Lake Michigan beach front, Barnes said.

The law, of which Lexalite and Hayes Township are taking advantage, was passed in 1963 by the State of Michigan, to permit "a county, city, incorporated village, township or port district, to issue industrial revenue bonds to finance up to 100 percent of the cost of industrial buildings..."

Intent of Law

The intent of the law is to enable a political entity, such as a township, to encourage industrialization. This could be either by attracting new industry to build or encouraging expansion of existing industry, by giving the township's name for the issuance of tax free bonds.

Because these bonds will be tax free they will be more attractive to potential investors than regular taxable corporate bonds, Barnes hopes.

An advantage for Lexalite is that they can scll the bonds for a lower interest rnte. Tax free bonds, with their low interest rates, are highly competitive with taxable corporate bonds with interest rates several points higher.

Tax free bonds are particularly attractive to financial institutions or individuals with high taxable incomes. Barnes hopes Lexalite's bonds will be bought as one package by a financial institution.

The advantage to the township, as the Trustees and Barnes explained, is this

Courier Takes Top Honors

The Charlevoix Courier was one of four northern Michigan newspapers which took top honors in the 1975 Michigan Press Association Weekly Newspaper Contest.

The Courier swept up four awards, including Feature Story of the Year.

Editor Ken Winter received first place feature prize for his profile feature on a teenaged girl who left Charlevoix for a new start in life.

The Courier received another first place for its use of photos in the newspaper.

Other state honors included third place for news reporting and honorable mention for best editorial page.

This year the Courier has earned five awards. Earlier it received a Blue Ribbon designation from the National Editorial Foundation for editorial excellenee nnd community servlee.

The Charlevoix County Press in Boyne City received a first place in News Reporting and Best Editorial Page; second place in Sports Coverage and third place for an Original Personal Column by Mike Ready.

The Antrim County News in Bellaire received a General excellence plaque, while the Otsego County Herald Times in Gaylord earned third place for use of pictures and third place for Advertising Idea of the Year.

40 MPG HIGHWAY
28 MPG CITY
EPA RATING

That's with the standard 1.4-litre engine and 4-speed manual transmission. The mileage you get, of course, will be strongly influenced by how and where you drive.

- Chevette is international in design and heritage, incorporating engineering concepts proved around the world.
- Its wheelbase is about the same as a VW Rabbit's.
- It has more front-seat head room than a Datsun B-210, more front-seat leg room than a Toyota Corolla.
- Its turning circle is one of the shortest in the world.
- It can carry cargo up to four feet wide.
- It is well insulated against noise.
- It is protected by 17 anti-corrosion methods.
- It is basically a metric car.
- It comes with a clear, simple self-service booklet.
- It has a standard 1.4-litre engine. A 1.6-litre engine is available (except Scooter).

Prices start at $2899

2-seat Scooter (not shown)	$2899

The Sport (not shown)	$3175
The Rally (not shown)	$3349
The Woody (not shown)	$3404

Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices including dealer new vehicle preparation charge. Destination charge, available equipment, state and local taxes are additional.

Other Chevrolet values for 1976.

Vega

Built to take it. Vega for 1976: An extensive anti-corrosion program. New hydraulic valve lifters, for quieter engine performance. A new torque-arm rear suspension. And Vega offers a tough Dura-Built 140-cu.-in. 4-cyl. engine guarantee.

Impala

One of America's most popular full-size cars. That's the result of giving America good value for the dollar. This year, the Impala series includes the new value of the thrifty Impala S—Chevrolet's lowest priced full-size car.

Nova/Concours

America's favorite compact car. Our basic compact, '76 Nova, makes even more sense than the 3 million Novas that preceded it. And Concours, the brand-new model featured here, is our highly practical approach to compact luxury.

Chevelle

Enough car for practically anything. It offers room for six at a sensible price. This year, more than ever, its deft blending of mid-size economies, plus room for the average family, makes Chevelle a size whose time has come.

There's much more to see at your Chevy dealer's. Caprice, Monza, Monte Carlo, Camaro, Corvette, Chevrolet wagons—something for everyone in 1976.

What's a Principal?

"What's a principal?"

Six-year-old Corey Harrington sat squarely in his seat and wrinkled his face when he heard the question.

"I don't know that," he replied. Then Corey paused several seconds and scratched his head.

"He makes pennies disappear."

The reporter interviewing Corey asked if he was getting the word magician mixed up with principal.

"Nope, the principal comes in our classroom and makes pennies disappear."

Corey was one of several first graders interviewed last week by the Courier to see how they view a principal.

Principals have long been considered authoritative figures. How the young mind assesses them may be due to parental influences, personal observations or filmed characterizations.

Miss Sue Smith allowed a reporter to visit her classroom for student impressions of what a principal is.

"Sometimes he comes in and looks at our work to see if it is done right," Corey continued about what a principal does.

"He does his work in his office."

The first grader said he wasn't afraid of the principal and thought he was a friend.

Six-year-old Jackie Potter looked at the principal in a little different way.

"When kids are bad sometimes, he's supposed to spank him," she said.

"Sometimes he comes to people's rooms and tells the teachers something."

Jackie says that the principal gets a little mad when people are bad.

Jackie's classmate, Phil Martin, said he wasn't sure what a principal does.

Lori Cole, on the other hand, says the principal runs the school.

"My grandpa told me that," the six-year-old girl said proudly. "I know our principal because he comes every day and talks to the teacher."

Mike Thompson, another six-year-old, says his Dad knows the principal.

"He usually comes in our room," he added about the principal.

Kim Crawford says the principal is the boss of the school.

"He can do tricks."

"My Dad makes a penny disappear, too."

Kim says the principal walks around the school and talks to everyone.

"He has a happy face," she added.

Health Costs Less Here

How much are Charlevoix County residents paying per year for health care? How does that compare with what others are paying?

Because of inflationary pressures, the cost of medical and dental services, hospital care, prescription drugs and the like have gone up sharply in recent years.

The direct burden of these costs on the individual pocketbook has been carried, to a large extent, by private health insurance and by such Government programs as Medicare.

All in all, according to the latest figures, two-thirds of the bills are now being taken care of in that fashion.

Which leaves the one-third that must be footed by the patients themselves. These out-of-pocket costs have zoomed recently.

Details on the cost of medical care in the various sections of the country have just been released by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In Charlevoix County's regional area, it appears, out-of-pocket costs in the past fiscal year, excluding premiums paid for health insurance, came to an estimated $131 per capita.

Elsewhere throughout the United States the average was $149 per capita.

The figures apply to the population as a whole and include those who had no expenses and those who had very large ones.

Costs were higher in some parts of the country than in others, were higher for the white population and were higher for those with big incomes.

For the elderly, as would be expected, the health bill was especially high. Their out-of-pocket expenses averaged $415 per capita, as compared with $117 for those under age 65.

A breakdown of the $149 national average shows $34 of it going to doctors, $25 to dentists, $20 to hospitals, $39 for drugs and sundries and $31 for nursing home care and miscellaneons.

The total amount spent by Charlevoix County residents in the year, based upon the regional averaue, was approximately $2,206,000, it is estimated.

HEW reports that the overall henlth bill in the United States reached $104.2 billion, as against $94.2 billion in 1973.

89 Take Adult Ed

Some 89 persons are enrolled in the Adult Education classes being offered by the Charlevoix Public Schools according to Roy Fortin, assistant principal, who is in charge of the program.

Forty-nine people are enrolled in the five classes being offered for high school completion and another 40 in the enrichment classes.

The high school completion courses include Preparation for G.E.D. taught on Monday and Wednesday at 7 p.m. by Dan Kaczynski; Special Basic Education, 6 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Pam Smith; Basic Education and English, 7 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday, Plas Presnell; Typing, 7 p.m. Monday and Wednesdny, Barry Anderson; Consumer Math, 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, James Jensen.

Three enrichment classes are being taught this term. They are Macranc, 7 p.m. Monday, taught by Mrs. Gayle Kacynski; Beginning Photogrnphy, 7 p.m. Thursday, Terry Salmonson; Community Chorus, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Francis Tollas.

Beautifully landscaped and wooded lot with a great view of Lake Charlevoix, this house is well constructed and has had excellent care. Large and bright kitchen, formal dining room and living room. Basement has been transformed into large recreation room with bar, third bedroom or study, with ½ bath, utility room.

Ferry Road Should Have Been Caught

The sorry condition of Marion Township's Ferry road is something that should never have been allowed to take place in Charlevoix County.

The road which lies southeast of Charlevoix is now uncompleted and an open invitation for massive soil erosion.

The story of how the road ended up in its present barren state is an interesting one.

It started nearly a year ago, when the Charlevoix Road Commission decided to improve the stretch of road between Barnard and Black Roads.

The intent was apparently to make the road more accessible throughout the year. Until this time, no one could travel on the road in the winter or following a rain storm because of the poor conditions.

So with the improvement being made, Marion Township residents will now have an east-west road that will eventually be able to be used throughout the year.

But while the road seems to be a definite improvement for surface transportation in that area, there appears to be a question on the method in which it was handled.

Because the program involved state and federal funding, the road commission now finds itself in an embarrassing situation.

With the basic grade work now completed, the county has to now stand by and watch the road banks wash away in the rain because it has not received the final approval of funding to finish the project.

While the state is expected to act on the remaining portion of the funds within the next few weeks, the county is in a situation where it cannot move until such action is taken.

We cannot blame the road commission for the delay, but we can question the lack of temporary erosion control measures taken.

To the best of our knowledge, no measures were taken to temporarily prevent erosion from taking place at the project site.

We think the present situation could have been partially prevented if the Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner had been doing his job and making sure those measures were taken.

Under the state's Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act of 1972, local enforcement agencies are responsible for protecting local land.

In this particular case, the Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner has been assigned with the task of seeing that proper soil erosion control measures are taken.

In several interviews, the county official acknowledged that he was aware of the project and yet nothing was done.

When confronted with the problem this week, the drain commissioner said he had never been officially notified that the project had taken place.

Yet only two months ago, the county official had seen the project when taking a Courier newspaper reporter on a tour of the countryside to inspect drain problems.

In defense of the Road Commission, it should be mentioned that they had been in contact with the local enforcement agency about making the improvements.

The drain commissioner has constantly complained that he is overworked and underpaid.

In fact earlier this year the county official said he would only maintain Wednesday office hours.

Charlevoix County doesn't need this type of attitude in its county government and suggest that if the drain commissioner doesn't like his job that he resign.

Charlevoix County is in a very critical state with the oncoming rush of new development.

It is vital that this development, done either by public or private concerns, be checked for the betterment of our community.

We strongly urge that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners reassess the handling of the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Act in this county.

If indeed our county drain commissioner is overtaxed, as he constantly indicates, then perhaps some of the burden should be relieved.

This would be a good area, where perhaps another county department should be considered for administering the program.

In our opinion, it would be better to have the program not administered at all than to have it done only halfway.

When a person runs for an elected county position, he is doing so by his choice. If he feels too overburdened by the demands of public office, then he has an obligation to either seek a remedy or step down for someone else to fill his position.

Looks at Workmen's Comp

A recent Workmen's Compensation decision by the Michigan Supreme Court has manufacturers in that state hraced for what they believe will be a rash of new claimants.

Three weeks ago the court rules that a compensation claimant filing for benefits because of psychiatric illness need no longer prove a cause and effect relationship between his job and a condition for eligibility.

Under the new ruling, a claimant need only establish that he was psychiatrically disabled because his employment "aggravated", accelerated, or combined with, some internal weakness or disease.

The court also ruled that the state's Workmen's Compensation Bureau should judge the case involving psychiatric stress on a "subjective" basis - or from the claimant's point of view - as opposed to an "objective" basis whereby each case would be judged on how it related to other such cases in severity.

Mr. George Van Peursam, President of the Michigan Manufacturers Assn., points out that there are two potential consequences of the ruling.

First, he points out, echoing the views of all Michigan employers, is the decision that this will open the floodgates for many related lawsuits.

Second, he points out, that fear by employers of pre-existent psychiatric conditions might render a large segment of the work force "unemployment".

Since there is a new bill before the Michigan Legislature that would raise Workmen's Compensation Benefits, it is believed that many attorneys will find such cases more lucrative even than medical malpractice cases.

If the new law goes through, the highest salary people will be eligible for Workmen's compensation benefits of almost $23,000.00 yearly.

Should such a type case drag on for three years, an attorney would have $69,000 on which to base such a case at 30 percent legal fee.

Employers of Michigan, for their own protection against such suits, will tighten up their pre-employment examinations to include psychiatric screening of possible risks. Such stringent psychiatric tests, would be flunked by many people of ability who deviate from an arbitrary personality norm.

Don't just read this, get off your butt and write, phone and talk to everyone in our State Government. Do it now, or else you will pay very heavy for all this later.

A copy of this is being sent to Senator Robert Davis and our Governor, write your letter now.

Sincerely yours,
Gerald "Gerry" Smith
President

Attn: George Plumm, Commander

Dear Mr. Plumm:

I believe I can speak on behalf of the four families who wrote to you earlier this summer in complaint of conditions concerning the rentals of the American Legion facility on East Garfield, when I say that we sincerely appreciate the concerned effort made by yourself and other Legion members to correct an unpleasant situation. I would also like to include those people who rented the Legion for one purpose or another, as their concern for holding down the noise during the late hours was obvious.

While I still do not feel a total apology is necessary, I do regret that you were not given an opportunity to respond to the original letter prior to its being published in two newspapers locally. Because of that, a copy of this letter will be sent to the same newspapers requesting publication, in order for everyone to know that the American Legion of Charlevoix does care for its residential neighbors, and did an excellent job of re-establishing good relations with them.

We sincerely thank you.

Clockwise

A Vow of Silence Broken

By BOB CLOCK

When the Charlevoix Charter Commission was organized last April, one of my colleagues on the commission was a little apprehensive about my dual role of newspaper reporter and public official. After all, a member of the news media serving on any public body would have a louder voice than anyone else if he used the media to promulgate only his own ideas.

So I have written next to nothing about the Charter Commission in six months and it's killing me, because I think we have one of the most exciting charters in Michigan on the drawing board right now.

Although we have yet to put word one down on paper, the skeleton of the charter is growing with every meeting. Perhaps I am too optimistic, but I believe the hardest work – the hardest decisions – are behind us. Now all we have to do is flesh out our skeleton and trot him out for the approval of our fellow townsmen.

And, believe it or not, that should happen sometime next spring, according to our present schedule. Election is tentatively scheduled for June 14, and if the charter is adopted, it will go into effect Jan. 1, 1977, with city representatives elected the preceding November.

I think it is safe to say that the charter we present to the voters of Charlevoix will be something that none of us even dreamed possible just a few months ago. We all went into the commission with preconceived notions about what was wrong with Charlevoix government and what we'd like to see changed. Yet some of the concepts we wanted to alter actually can be the strong points of city government if they are handled properly.

Take the ward system, for example. I, for one, went into the charter commission firmly convinced that the ward system had to go. No other instrument in Charlevoix city government has done more to factionalize the people than the ward system.

Although the Clocks didn't know a ward from a beach ball when we moved to Charlevoix, we soon found out that we had moved into the wrong ward. People in the First Ward are snooty. People in the First Ward get governmental favors without paying for them. People in the First Ward rule the city. And so forth.

By my stand against the ward system was weakened considerably when Mayor Ed Hansen spoke to the commission one night, pointing out that the ward, as the lowest unit of government, must be preserved because here is where it all begins. I was swayed, but not convinced.

Then Irom Petoskey City Manager Richard Gorman we learned how the ward system works in our neighboring city to the north, with full-blown ward conventions, political speech-making and eyeball to eyeball confrontation with the candidates who want to represent us in city hall.

It is at the ward conventions that candidates are choosen to run for city office. No petitions are needed, but disgruntled losers can still petition to get on the ballot if they choose. The ward convention usually eliminates costly city primary elections, while giving citizens a chance to examine candidates at close range.

In September, members of the charter commission linned out and attended all four of Petoskey's ward conventions. Even those of us who drew wards which will have no political contests this fall came back impressed. Two nights later, a few of us returned to Petoskey for the city convention, to see our ward delegates in action.

We returned home almost speechless. The system works so well, is so basically American in concept and is so practical from an economic standpoint, we could not understand why more small communities have not gone the same route. (Mr. Gorman tells us that ward conventions are quite common in the East, which is steeped in the town-meeting democracy of colonial days.)

So the ward convention is something to look for when the new city charter makes its bow next spring.

I apologize to my fellow commissioners for breaking my vow of silence. But I'm thoroughly excited about the work we're doing and I think you will be, too, when it all comes out.

Erma Bombeck

At the end of August as we said goodbye to our college-bound son at the airport, I took him aside and said, "This is it, big guy. For the first time in your life you are on your own. You are free. Free to accept your own responsibility for your own actions. Free to budget your own time. Free to make your own mistakes. You owe Daddy and me nothing. From this moment on you are captain of your own destiny."

"What are you doing?" he asked as I slipped a string around his neck.

"This is a mitten string, and it has a pencil attached to each end. If you don't write us at least once a week, I'm filing a missing persons report!"

A few days ago my husband asked, "How long has it been since we've gotten a letter from What's-his-name?"

"Your son?"

"That's the one."

"Forty-four days and I'm worried. I really am."

"Face it. He hates to write letters."

"It's your fault. You've been a teacher too long. I remember the letter he wrote from camp one summer. You corrected the spelling, gave him a C and sent it back."

"That's not true. It was a D."

Now, you readers may draw any conclusion you like, but I contend a mother is more realistic about her children than fathers. Below is an example.

Mother: "I think he hasn't written because he is cracking the books day and night. He is too consumptive and weak to hold a pencil."

Father: "He's partying."

Mother: "Perhaps he dropped his Bible on his foot and can't get to the post office to mail a letter."

Father: "His room has been condemned and him with it."

Mother: "Maybe he witnessed a murder and has to lay low."

Father: "He probably had less than 35 cents in his pocket and got picked up on the campus for vagrancy."

Mother: "He probably loaned out all of his personalized stationery."

Father: "He probably forgot our name and doesn't know how to spell 'occupant.' "

Mother: "I know something dreadful has happened to him or he would write."

Father: "I got it. He broke his mitten string."

Mother: "Now that's the most sensible thing you've said so far."

Don't Settle for Tie

For a few terror-filled moments, I feared the worst.

The pressure from the opposing line was tremendous and unyielding. I could feel my legs begin to give. (Naturally. Hadn't Joe Namath and Gordie Howe and Mickey Mantle all warned: "The legs are the first to go"?) It appeared I would surely be crushed underfoot, perhaps even killed to death.

One question kept burning through my mind: What was I doing here? I didn't have to play this bloody game. What was I trying to prove? I could have stayed home and everyone would have understood. I had nothing to be ashamed of. I'd given my best years to football. Why not set aside and let the younger man take my place?

At that moment my head was twisted toward the rear and I spied a younger man along the sidelines, doing nothing more important than washing his hands. "Hey, why don't you take my place?" I hollered at him.

"Nuts to you," he said.

They don't make 'em like they used to.

A teammate noticed my discouragement. "Keep fighting," he said. "Remember, we are in the right and they are wrong. All the signs prove it. So God must be on our side."

"I wish He would push a little harder," I said.

But I couldn't deny the righteousness of our battle. As my teammate said, all the signs proved it. This was halftime of the Michigan State-Ohio State game. Our team was trying to light its way out of the men's john opposite the 21st section of Spartan Stadium. The signs over the door said "EXIT" and "OUT".

Our stupid opposition had ignored the signs. In their eagerness to urinate, they had refused to stand in the long line outside the "IN" door. Instead they were trying to enter through the "OUT" door. And they had run hard up against our freshly drained team which was eager to get back for the 2nd-half kickoff.

It was a tug of war without a rope. The vortex was in a short corridor just inside the exit. First our side would surge forward a few feet. Then the opposition would push us back to where we were. Our team kept screaming out its righteousness: "READ THE SIGNS - TURN AROUND - OBEY THE LAW OR WE'LL HAVE YOU INVESTIGATED BY THE NCAA."

But it was no use. Even if they wanted to, the players in the middle of the crush couldn't retreat. Their teammates in the rear kept urging - and pushing - them on. It was a tie. And then I had an inspiration...

"Remember MSU and Notre Dame in 1968," I said to my teammates. "Are we going to fall on the ball and settle for a tie like the Irish did? Or are we going to go all out to win in true Spartan fashion?"

There was a tremendous surge - and the enemy broke through our lines. They made it to the urinals, knocking most of my team into the sinks. We lost.

I immediately called a press conference to announce that this had been my last game. I was asked if I'd learned any valuable lessons from my final defeat.

I said yes, I'd learned Notre Dame never would have fallen on the football if they'd had to go to the bathroom.

Meet Charlevoix

Fire Chief John Curtis

Fire Chief John Curtis has headed the Charlevoix Fire Department for some 20 years. While at the helm, the life-long Charlevoix resident has seen Charlevoix grow and with the growth has come new fire hazards.

The Courier asks Chief Curtis to review some of the ways to prevent home fires, as well as explain the unique department he heads.

Curtis is a Charlevoix High School graduate. He and his wife Elinor, have four children.

COURIER: Could you tell us about the operation of your department?

CURTIS: The Charlevoix Fire Department is composed of 17 volunteers and three paid full-time firemen. There's always someone on duty at the station. We cover the City of Charlevoix, and the townships of Norwood, Hayes and a part of Eveline.

COURIER: Because the majority of your men are volunteers, do they have to go through any special training?

CURTIS: At the present time, all new men take a fire fighters training course. This course is handled under the State of Michigan through Michigan Fire Fighters Council. The men taking the course have to study all basics of fire fighting, everything from hose lay outs, ropes, rescue work and so forth.

COURIER: What kind of equipment do you have to fight fires with?

CURTIS: We have three pumpers and a tanker truck. Two pumpers are kept at the station. The tanker truck and the reserve pumper are kept at the street garage. The fire department also operates two emergency units. And in order to operate the two ambulances, our men have to be licensed through the State of Michigan.

COURIER: With fall coming up, are there any special fire prevention precautions that should be taken by Charlevoix residents?

CURTIS: The main thing is to make sure your furnace is in good shape and that your combustibles that you don't need are removed. The best thing to do is to maintain good housekeeping practices around the house.

COURIER: If someone wanted to get their house checked-out for fire hazards, are there any services available in the area?

CURTIS: The Charlevoix Fire Department would be glad to do it, but it would be strictly on their request. While we can't check fire extinguishers, we can look at them. We don't have facilities at the present time to check them, but they can be taken several places around town. Residents can look at the tag on the extinguisher to see the last time it was charged.

COURIER: Does the fire department have adequate space here at the present station or do you feel the station needs to be enlarged?

CURTIS: No, we need more room. I think it is in the process of being taken care of by city hall.

COURIER: Do you think the present city hall location is best?

CURTIS: Under the present conditions it is in a good location. The fire hall is centrally located in the community and makes it easy to get to a fire in any part of the city.

COURIER: Many people have asked what would happen if the bridge was up and there was a fire on the other side?

CURTIS: Well, it's happened a few times that it hasn't been a problem. It exists, but it has never been a problem. If there was ever such a situation, the bridge tender would lower the bridge as soon as he could.

Sex Charge Dismissed

A claim brought against the Charlevoix County Sheriff, Philo Sumner, by Mrs. Gertrude Sandahl alleging her sex was a factor in her discharge last December has been dismissed by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The order of dismissal, signed by John A. Ferris, director of compliance, states "the commission has found insufficient grounds on which to issue a charge."

Mrs. Sandahl, who was hired as a cook at the Sheriff's department under the CETA program in October, 1974, was discharged in December, 1974, when there were no prisoners. At that time, a catering service was contracted to supply meals when necessary.

Rayders Down Grayling Vikings, 31-13

Charlevoix's Red Rayders took on a hard-hitting Grayling Vikings squad this past Friday, and emerged victorious, 31-13. The win was not without problems, however, as Quarterback Mike Way was lost for the season. His replacement, Bob Alger was also injured. Coach Don Carey and his staff will have some rebuilding to do to get the Red Rayders ready for their future opponents.

Scoring began in the contest when the Vikings returned the Charlevoix kickoff to their own 39 yard line. With the help of a personal foul against the Red Rayders, 11 plays later Will Roach scampered 11 yards for the Grayling score. The point after attempt kick was left of the goal post, and, with 7:13 remaining in the first quarter, Charlevoix found themselves trailing 6-0.

Eight plays later, the Red Rayders scored the tying touchdown. Action started in this series after Randy Williams returned the Grayling kickoff to Charlevoix's 36 yard line. Two first downs later, Quarterback Way rolled around left end un his way to the end zone. On the 13 yard line he was knocked out of bounds and had to be carried to the Charlevoix bench. A knee injury was diagnosed, and, the talented Junior is knocked out for the remainder of the season.

On the next play following the injury, Williams carried the final 13 yards for the Red Rayder tally. Alger's point after kick was good, and with 4:55 remaining in the first quarter, Charlevoix led, 7-6.

Charlevoix gained possession again in the first quarter following an attempted field gual by Grayling. The 35 yard kick was left of the mark, and the Red Rayders took over with 44 seconds remaining on their own 20 yard line.

The second Charlevoix possession was a picture of hard-nosed, grind-it-out, high school football. Quarterback Alger directed the attack, with hand-offs to Doug Smith and Williams, mixed with passes to End Matt Doan. Fifteen plays after taking over, the Alger to Doan combination clicked for a three yard touchdown pass. The point after kick was blocked, and with 7:42 remaining in the second quarter Charlevoix led 13-6.

A little more than a minute later, Charlevoix was handed a scoring opportunity on the Grayling 30 yard line when they recovered a Viking fumble. They were prevented from scoring by a fine defensive stand. Alger's punt following the Red Rayder inability to obtain a first down, went out of bounds on the Grayling 1 yard line.

Seven plays later the Charlevoix eleven was again handed a scoring opportunity, as Doan jumped on a loose ball on the Grayling 26 yard line.

Alger wasted little time in converting this into a score for the Red Rayders. After keeping the ball for 7 yards, he handed to Williams who scooted for 9 more and a first down on the 10 yard line. The next play was a short pass to Williams, who caught the ball on the 8 and made a nice run from there for the score. The conversion attempt was an incomplete pass from a fake kick, and with 1:01 remaining in the first half, Charlevoix led, 19-6.

The half ended when defensive halfback Ed Russell intercepted a Grayling pass on the Charlevoix 42 yard line.

Following an exchange of punts in the third quarter, the squads exchanged interceptions. The Grayling pickoff came on an Alger pass, and was made at the Charlevoix 24 yard line. Three plays later, Bud Klooster nabbed an errant Viking toss on the Charlevoix 22 yard line.

Ten plays later, the Red Rayders tallied their fourth touchdown of the evening on a 2 yard run by Smith. The scoring march included fine runs of 11, 20, and 9 yards by Williams, and runs of 11 and 19 yards by Smith, to set up the score. The point after was an incompleted pass, and with 31

Girls Lose First Game

The Charlevoix Girls Basketball team saw their skein of 30 wins in Michigan Conference play snapped last week when they were downed by St. Ignace by a score of 45-40.

This week the Rayderettes will host Rogers City here at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and play at Cheboygan at the same time Tuesday.

The Charlevoix team got off to a slow start at St. Ignace, trailing 12-8 at the quarter and 25-15 at the halftime. At one time they trailed by as much as 15 points as the second half got underway before closing the gap to 37-24 going unto the final period. They outscored the Saints 16-8 in the final quarter but too late to pull the victory out.

Barb LaTour had a scoring 29 points for the Saints.

Heidi Dove was top scorer for Charlevoix with 9 points.

The Charlevoix JV team lost by a score of 23-21.

Earlier in the week Charlevoix had defeated Central Lake 56-31 in a non-league game.

Heidi Dove had scored 18 points and Maureen Cudd 13 as Charlevoix led Central Lake 12-9; 24-21 and 36-24 by quarters.

Julie Vincent and Sue Jurache had six points each for Central Lake.

Rayder Golfers Take Two

The Charlevoix Golf Team took both a triangular match at Grayling recently and later played Harbor Springs to a tie in a non-league meeting.

Charlevoix posted a total of 171 points; Grayling, 181, and Gaylord, 225 in a Michigan-Huron Conference meet at Grayling.

Art Ranger was the medalist with a 40 followed by Pat Paul with a 42; Jack Tillen, a 43 and Mike Custer, 46.

In a return match with Harbor Springs, the two teams played to a 170 tie.

A Charlevoix player, however, was the medalist, Pat Paul with a score of 40. Ranger and Custer posted scores of 43 each and Tillen a 44.

Ed Kelbel was top scorer for Harbor Springs with a score of 41.

The Rayder team hosted Boyne City here Monday and will be at Cheboygan with Petoskey Thursday to round out the league schedule. The Conference meet will be at the Michewye course at Gaylord Oct. 6.

Flag Football Teams Have Busy Week

Flag football this week found the Eagles defeating the Packers 21-6; the Steelers winning over the Patriots 31-19 and the Raiders edging the Falcons 13-6 in Junior League action.

In the Peewee league the Bengals edged the Vikings 19-13 and the Cowboys downed the Lions 6-0.

This week flag football games will be played around the annual punt, kick and pass contest and thus will not follow the regular schedule, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, said.

Eagles 21 Packers 6

The Eagles did all their scoring in the first half before the Packers finally got on the scoreboard in the third period.

Jeff Greene scored from five yards out and Jack Carlson added the conversion on a pass to Mark Morgan to give the victors their first seven points. Two passes accounted for the next two scoring plays, the first a 12 yard pass from Scott Morgan to Carlson with Carlson adding the conversion and the second a 20 yard pitch from Carlson to Jack Cross. Morgan on a pass from Carlson went in for the conversion to give the Eagles a 21-0 margin.

As the second half got underway, Scott Kelly went in from the one yard line for the Packers single tally.

Steelers 31 Patriots 19

The game between the Steelers and the Patriots was pretty even until the Steelers broke through to score three TD's in the third period and another in the final period for the win.

Nick Anderson scored four of the Steelers runs, the first on a 31 yard pass from Ross Carey, the second on a 31 yard run, the third on a 10 yard pass from Joe Sladek and the fourth on a 28 yard run. Ross Carey scored the team's only other TD on a 39 yard run and then added his own conversion.

The Patriots scored two of their three touchdowns on pass plays from Jeff Daylong to Steve Daylong for 21 and four yards respectively. Jeff Daylong scored the third on a 10 yard run and then ran his own conversion point in.

Raiders 13 Falcons 6

The Raiders did all their scoring in the first half on runs of two and four yards by Kirk Heckendorn scored in the first and second quarters. He also added on conversion.

Jeff Peters scored the Falcons single TD on a 25 yard run in the third period.

Peewee League

Bengals 19 Vikings 13

Brent Cole was the scoring ace, accounting for the Bengals scoring plays on runs of 25 and 28 yards in the first period and two yards plus a conversion in the final period to give his team the victory.

Dave Batdorff scored on a 12 yard run in the first period and Craig Klooster from seven yards out plus a conversion in the last period.

Cowboys 6 Lions 0

A last minute 11 yard pass from Todd Daylong to Mike Martin gave the Cowboys their winning margin over the Lions who had held them scoreless until late in the game.

In a postponed game played Thursday night, the Raiders downed the Patriots 28-15.

The Raiders led the Patriots 13-9 at halftime on a 16 yard TD run by Jeff Drury and a 22 yard pass from Curt Heckendorn to Dave Cole with Heckendorn scoring the conversion. The Patriots had scored on a safety by Mike Loper and a 28 yard pass play from Jeff Daylong to Steve Daylong with Jeff scoring the conversion.

However, when the second half got underway, the Raiders broke the game wide open, scoring on runs of five and 15 yards by Heckendorn, a safety by Mike Crowder and a conversion by Jeff Drury.

The Raider defense held as the Patriots were limited to a 10-yard passing play by the Daylong brothers.

LET FAITH PUT REAL MEANING INTO YOUR LIFE

Religion lets you know your life is worth
The span of years you'll dwell upon this earth.
It teaches you the proper way to live.
And demonstrates a finer way to give:
By turning you from selfishness and greed
To real concern for someone else's need.
You'll learn that joy in simple things is found.
And beauty in God's wonders all around;
And then, if you will go to Church and pray
For guidance you can follow day by day;
You'll know, before your life on earth is done,
You gave your very best for everyone.

Obituary

Frederick Dittmer

Funeral services for Frederick G. Dittmer, 90, retired printer who died Thursday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility, were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. James Plackner of the Bethany Lutheran church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Nordhausen, Germany, June 17, 1995, Mr. Dittmer came to this country at the age of 13 years and lived in Pennsylvania briefly before going to Ohio. A printer by trade, he was employed in this capacity in Akron, Ohio, until he retired in 1950 and came to northern Michigan a short time later. On Feb. 23, 1952, he was married to the former Mrs. Frances Schrader who preceded him in death on Feb. 16, 1967. While here he was employed as a printer at the Charlevoix Courier and the East Jordan Herald. He was a veteran of World War I. He had been a member of the International Typographical Union for 40 years.

In recent years he had lived with Mr. and Mrs. John Cross, Jr.

He has no immediate survivors.

Roy Whitlow

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Roy Witlow, 79, who died Saturday at his home in South Arm township, will be held at the Hastings Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Daniel Minor of the United Methodist church of East Jordan will officiate. Interment will be in Sunset Hill cemetery in East Jordan.

Mr. Witlow was born July 24, 1896, and was a veteran of World War I. On Sept. 4, 1924, he was married to the former Letha Jewel at Flint. He was employed at General Motors in Flint until coming to Charlevoix county in 1947. He was a member of the United Methodist church in East Jordan.

He is survived by his wife; a foster son, Earl Morrison of Denham, La., and two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Estes of Oakridge, Tenn., and Mrs. Alva Estes of Ontario, Calif.

Mrs. Ida Ladwig

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Ladwig, 62, who died Wednesday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey, were held Friday at the Hastings Funeral Home. Pastor Jerry John of the Seventh Day Adventist church in Petoskey and the Rev. Larry Brosseit of the Atwood Reformed church officiated. Burial was in the Atwood cemetery.

Born in Rising Sun, Ind., Jan. 5, 1913, the former Ida Baxter was married to John Ladwig in 1932 at Rising Sun where they lived until moving to Cincinnati in 1956. Mr. Ladwig preceded her in death in 1966. She was associated with National Lead of Ohio until her retirement earlier this year when she moved north to live with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Flood. Prior to moving to Ellsworth, she had spent five summers here.

She is survived by twu daughters, Mrs. (Nancy) Flood and Julia Ladwig of Ellsworth; a son, Jack of Cincinnati; four grandchildren and a brother, Russell Baxter of Rising Sun.

Harvey Essenberg

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Harvey Essenberg, 68, retired teacher who died unexpectedly Sunday at his Banks Township home, were held Thursday at the Atwood Reformed Church. The Rev. Larry Brossiet officiated. Interment was in the Atwood Cemetery.

Born at Atwood Aug. 24, 1907, Essenberg graduated from the Central Lake High School and Central Michigan University and had taught for 38 years prior to his retirement in 1969. He had taught a total of 13 years at Falmouth, Atwood, Mapleville and Mitchell and 25 years at Bellaire. For the past 12 years he had served as sexton at the Atwood Cemetery. He was a member of the Atwood Reformed Church and the Michigan Education Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Effie DeYoung whom he married Sept. 1, 1934; a son, Kenneth, of Ellsworth; a daughter, Sharon, at home; three grandchildren; five brothers, Gerrit and Lewis of Ellsworth; Henry of Sparta and Jacob and Julius of Grand Rapids and three sisters, Mrs. Rose Brinkman and Mrs. Grace Bieberle of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Jennie Wynsma of Ellsworth.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Curtis Mower

Funeral services for a former well-known Ironton resident, Curtis V. Mower, 68, who died Wednesday at his Grosse Pointe home, were held Friday at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Grosse Pointe Farms. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

A native of London, Ontario, he was a graduate of the University of Michigan. At the time of his death he was vice president of Mutschler Kitchens, Inc. He was a member of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and the Detroit Boat Club. He had been a summer resident at Ironton for many years.

Surviving are his wife, Shirley S.; three daughters, Mrs. Wayne Wiswedel, Mrs. David Courtney and Mrs. Jon B. Grandelot; seven grandchildren and two sisters.

Cross Country Team Has Two Victories

The Charlevoix Cross Country Team under the guidance of Gary Hice is scheduled to participate at Petoskey Tuesday after splitting a triangular meet with Gaylord and Grayling at Grayling last week.

In the meet at Grayling, the Rayders lost to Gaylord 25-32 and edged Grayling 27-28. In this sport the winner is the team with the lowest score.

Wally Drenth of Charlevoix covered the course in 17:14 to take first place honors and set a new course record. Pete Van uk of grayling was second with a time of 17:31.

Mark Russell placed sixth with a time of 18:18; Ken Paul, eighth, with a time of 18:53; Steve Berlage, 14th, 19:24 and Jeff Drenth, 15th, 19:26.

The Charlevoix team will travel to Elk Rapids on Saturday, Oct. 4, to take part in the Elk Rapids Invitational meet.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES
(SPECIAL MEETING) SEPTEMBER 15, 1975
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met in special session on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Timms, Plumm, McRae, Wood, and Whitley, Absent: Alderman Selph.

Motion was offered by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Timms to adopt a Resolution for Airport Fees and Charges to permanent and non-permanent aircraft, private or commercial. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Plumm, and McRae. Nays: Aldermen Wood and Whitley. Absent: Alderman Selph.

Council adjourned.

Lyle S. King, Acting City Clerk

RESOLUTION
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX,
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MICHIGAN

BE IT RESOLVED that in accordance with Section 2-1220, Article IV of Ordinance No. 344 pertaining to airports, the following fees and charges he effective immediately with reference to the following services and activities.

1. Overnight tie down and or parking for non-permanently based aircraft shall pay a fee of $1.50 (One and 50/100) Dollars per night, $8.00 (Eight) Dollars per week, $24.00 (Twenty Four) Dollars per month. All permanently based aircraft shall pay a fee of $12.00 (Twelve) Dollars per month.

2. All regularly established air taxi and or charter operators who land at or are expected to land at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport for commercial terminal purposes 20 (twenty) or more times per year shall pay an annual fee of $3,600.00 (Three Thousand Six Hundred) Dollars, payable at the rate of $300.00 (Three Hundred) Dollars per month in advance. Such liability for the annual fee may be terminated by the commercial operator upon 30 (thirty) days notice provided, however, that in case of such termination by said operator he shall be ineligible for a one year period following termination to use the airport for any commercial purpose whatsoever unless he shall pay in full to the City the balance of the annual fee that would have accrued but for his termination. It is the intent of this provision to encourage year round commercial activities at the airport rather than seasonal commercial activity. It is also a condition that said commercial operator negotiate with the City to establish mutually agreeable terms and conditions relative to the use by the operator of the airport and its related facilities.

It's Apple Cider Time

There's a twinge of Fall in the air and once again it's apple cider time.

Out on Barnard Road in Chnrlevoix County Mr. and Mrs. David Rosenthal are busy grinding and pressing apples from their orchard to make the drink that is a favorite of young and old alike.

According to Mrs. Rosenthal, the best cider is made from a combination of several different varieties of apples such as Delicious, Snow and MacIntosh. The Rosenthal's grow over 20 different varieties so there is always a choice for cider-making.

Depending upon the variety used, a bushel of apples will yield three-and-a-half to four gallons of cider. This year is a good apple year and the Rosenthals will make a lnt of cider - perhaps as much as 1,000 gallons.

Cider is nothing more than pure fresh apple juice. Mrs. Rosenthal says they do not put any preservative in thelrs unless the customer requests it. Without a preservative cider will turn "hard", which is how some people like to drink it, and eventually it will become vinegar.

Asked the difference between cider and apple juice that is sold in grocery stores, Mrs. Rosenthal explained that apple juice is processed, heated, before it is bottled.

Most cider is sold in plastic bottles these days and it can be frozen for year-round use in the plastic buttles. Mrs. Rosenthal says many of their customers bring their own bottles when buying cider and receive a discount on the price.

The old story about cider being full of worms doesn't hold with the Rosenthal's cider. They spray their orchard up to 28 times a year and Government inspectors come around at least six times during the season, unannounced, to check the apples being made into cider.

While most people like to drink cider and munch a donut at the same time, it can be combined with uther ingredients to make festive punches, gelatine salad, even cake.

For those wishing to try a few recipes, the Courier presents the following:

SPICED CIDER

1 tsp. whole allspice, two 2" sticks cinnamon, 12 while clnves, two quarts cider, two-thirds cup brown sugar, ground nutmeg.

Tie allspice, cinnamon and cloves together in cheesecloth. In large saucepan combine cider and hrown sugar and heat. Add spice bag; simmer 10 minutes, or until cider is spicy enough to suit laste. Remuve bag.

Serve piping hot in mugs with dash of nutmeg in each. Spiced cider may also be chilled and served cold. Serves seven or eight.

CIDER WASSAIL BOWL

One gal. apple cider, one cup brown sugar, one 6-oz. can frozen orange juice, one 6-oz. can frozen lemonade, one tbs. whole cloves, one tbs. whole allspice, one tsp. ground nutmeg, cinnamon sticks.

In large kettle combine cider, brown sugar and undiluted orange juice and lemonade. Tie cloves and allspice in cheesecloth; add to cider, along with nutmeg. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Remove and discard bag. Serve hot, in punch cups, with cinnamon stick in each. Serves 20.

CIDER EGGNOG

One egg, beaten, two tsp. sugar or honey, one cup rich milk, one-half tsp. vanilla, dash of nutmeg, one tumbler of cider.

Beat the egg and sugar together; then beat in the milk and vanilla. Serve cold in tall glasses with springling of nutmeg. Other flavorings may be used in place uf vanilla - fruit juice, chocolate, wine, hrandy, rum or whiskey. Serves one.

CIDER GELATINE SALAD

One tbs. gelatine, two tbs. cold water, two tbs. lemnn juice, one-fourth cup sugar, one and three-fourths cups hot cider, one and one-half cups diced apples, one-half cup diced celery.

Soften the gelatine in the combined cold water and lemon juice. Dissolve the sugar in the hot cider, add the softened gelatine and stir until this, too, is dissolved. Chill, and when beginning tu thicken, stir in the apples and celery. Turn into previously wet individual molds and chill. Serve on lettuce, topping with mayonnaise and a sprinkling of chopped nuts. Serves six.

Rosenthal shows cider press.

CIDER CAKE

Three cups sifted all-purpose flour, one-half tsp. baking soda, one-fourth tsp. salt, one-half tsp. nutmeg, one-half cup soft butter, one and one-half cups sugar, two eggs, well beaten, one-half cup cider.

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and nutmeg. Set aside. Work butter and sugar together as thoroughly as posible (mixture is never really smooth) and beat in the eggs. Stir in flour mixture and cider, alternating them and beginning and ending with flour. Spoon into a greased loaf pan and bake in a pre-heated 350 degree oven for about one hour, or until tooth pick in the center comes out dry. To serve, cut in thin slices.

While cider may seem as American as apple pie, and the above recipes make it seem more so, it was being made in Normandy in the 13th century and is mentioned in the chronicles of Charlemagne.

Two Youth Choirs Started

Plans for the organization of two junior choirs in the community have been announced by Mrs. Robert Tollas.

Purpose of the project is to encourage the use of junior choir music in the local churches.

Though the program is being sponsored by the First Congregational and the United Methodist churches, students of all local churches are encouraged to participate so they may take back to their own churches the knowledge they are gaining.

Middle School age students will meet at the United Methodist Church after school on Wednesday and, after a snack, will sing from 4 to 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Austin Regler and Mrs. Tollas will be in charge of this program.

Youngsters in the first through the fifth grade in the K-5 Elementary school will meet at the United Methodist church at 11 a.m. Saturday. Parents are asked to come and register their children. Mrs. Marvin Stevens will be in charge of this group.

It is hoped that the young choirs will be able to sing at the Union Thanksgiving Service in November, Mrs. Tollas said.

Retreat Takes Registration

Final plans are being made for the fourth annual women's retreat to be held at Petoskey High School on October 10 and 11.

The main speaker will be Jill Renich, mother of four, founder and president of Winning Women.

The radio personality and author, will speak from everyday life experiences using the theme, "Let Go and Let God."

Other session speakers include Janet Price of Detroit, speaking on physical and spiritual blindness; Dorothy Lehman of Bloomfield Hills, discussing lonliness; and Jean Murphy of Livonia, who will offer some practical ideas about devotions.

The retreat begins Friday at 5:45 p.m., with registration in the foyer of the Petoskey High School.

The outing is sponsored by the Neighborhood Bible Study groups in Petoskey, representing some 12 different church denominations.

Reservations must be made before October 8. Write Win-Some Women, Box 503, Petoskey or call Marge McVay at 547-4265.

Ohle Plans Local Talk

William H. Ohle, newly elected trustee of the Historical Society of Michigan, will address the Charlevoix Area Historical Society Tuesday, Oct. 7.

Recently awarded the state organization's 1975 Award of Merit, Ohle will talk to the group on the history of Horton Bay.

His family has been identified with the Horton Bay area since early settlement days. Ohle recently documented some uf this history in his new book, "One Hundred Years of Horton Bay."

An expert collector of Great Lakes and Northern Michigan Americana, Ohle recently donated his lifelong collection of rare and valuable books on the early history of the Great Lakes region to the Petoskey Public Library.

The collection covers a wide expanse of early Michigan history and consists of more than 700 volumes of rare books, atlases and maps, some more than 200 years old.

A preliminary site plan for the proposed Historical Museum will he discussed.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the First State Bank of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Swanson

Meggison-Swanson Wedding Held

The United Methodist Church was the scene recently of the wedding of Barbara K. Meggison and Kevin L. Swanson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Meggison and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Swanson.

The Rev. Austin Regier officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more than 200 guests. Leslie Payne, at the piano, played a program of traditional music, the wedding march and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a gown of white satin fashioned with a jewel neckline, long sleeves and an A-line skirt accented with a lace trim. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of garden flowers in autumn shades.

Mrs. Bruce Meggison assisted her sister-in-law as matron of honor and Mrs. Robert Holtzman and Mrs. Ralph Doan, Jr., were bridesmaids. They wore identical Victorian gowns of pine green crepe accented with off white lace and off-white picture hats with matching ribbons. They carried baskets of fall flowers.

Krista Marie Meggison and Daniel B. Meggison, niece and newphew of the bride, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

Edward Whitley assisted the bridegroom as best man and Enos Bacon, Jr., and David Swanson, Brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Bruce Meggison and Thomas Meggison, brothers of the bride, and Robert Holtzman seated the guests.

Mrs. Meggison selected a full length green knit dress and gold accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Swanson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light green gown and floral print jacket.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed at the American Legion Post home. Assisting were Julie Supernaw and Mrs. Terry Blissett who served the cake baked by Mrs. Larry Swanson, Sue Haertter and Mrs. Jerry Pease, the punch and Mrs. Anton Mutz and Mrs. Gerrit Potter who assisted in the kitchen. Mary Beth Keie was in charge of the guest book.

The couple has returned here to live following a northern Michigan wedding trip.

Wedding guests were present from Louisiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Horse Auction Doesn't Go As Planned

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

There was only one problem with Northern Michigan's First Annual Horse Auction held here recently.

Only eight of twenty horses consigned to the auction were sold.

And it wasn't as if the horses weren't of high quality. There were many Registered Quarter Horses and Appaloosas, but people apparently weren't ready to spend the money owners felt their horses were worth.

Registered Quarter Horses, Registered Appaloosas, ponies, Walking Horses, even a Belgian Draft horse, and just plain riding horses were offered.

Most of the onlookers, many of whom were in the horse business, blamed the lack of bidding activity on several factors: the newness of the auction concept for selling top horses; the economy; the coming of winter and consequent feed bills; and not enough promotion for the auction itself.

A spokesperson for the organizers, Sandy Creek Farms and Cedar Valley Farms of Charlevoix, said, the problem was "it is common at auctions to buy wholesale and to sell retail," thus the low bids offered on horses which should sell for at least $400.

Prize Horse

Mathew Riihimaa of Sandy Creek Farms, led a prize Quarter horse filly in front of the crowd.

Despite auctioneer Jim Brannan's repeated efforts, the highest bid was $400.

Riihimaa led the filly out of the circle. He could not accept less than $500 he said.

The situation was repeated many times.

"It will take time and education to attract the type of buyer who will bring up the prices," Riihamaa said, philosophically.

Riihimaa, who breeds, buys, sells and raises Registered Quarter Horses, explained why a bid less than $500 would be unacceptable for another colt. The top bid, which he'd refused was $200.

"I went out to Pennsylvania and paid $1000 for this colt's mother," he said as he led the young horse away.

Tusco Heath, another prominent horseman, who has a horse farm in Bay Shore, observed:

"There are some good horses here, but this isn't a good time to sell horses.

"It will cost $250 to $300 just to care for a horse through the winter."

Horse Ceats

Heath agreed with Riihimaa's analysis that area horsemen need to be educated about the value of a good horse.

"They are used to $200 horses, he said. "But any horse is worth 30 cents a pound butchered; so a 1000 pound horse is at least worth $300."

Heath projected, "In a few years you won't be able to even get a trail horse for less than $500.

"This auction is not a true test for the area. It's just a preliminary affair," Heath concluded.

Other observers made similar remarks, predicting that future auctions will attract individual buyers as opposed to wholesalers, who will appreciate the quality of the horses and bid appropriately.

The auction was described by its organizers as a "community affair–everyone pitched in."

Organizers include: Jim Driggett, Charlevoix; Mrs. Jean Michael, Charlevoix; Mrs. E. Reibel, Charlevoix; Mr. and Mrs. Don Fitch, East Jordan; Jerry Billmler of Tower Finance, "who was ready to assist with loans"; and Don Hawkins, owner of the arena where the auction was held.

Plans are being made now for a Spring sale, which the organizers agree is a more auspicious time to sell horses.

SUPERINTENDENT'S PROGRESS REPORT

Charlevoix High School is accredited by the University of Michigan and the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. We will be visited for accreditation review by the University of Michigan during October of 1975. We will be visited by a team of representatives of North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges during the 1976-77 school year for accreditation review.

The General Fund balance sheet and Statement of Revenues and Expenditures indicates that the General Fund of the Charlevoix Public Schools is financially sound. The General Fund balance as of 6/30/75 was $5,690.09 which is the difference between assets and liabilities. This General Fund balance is insufficient to meet the financial obligation of the school district until the property taxes become due on December 31, 1975; therefore, it is necessary to borrow money against the anticipated taxes and state aid to operate the school district between the dates of July 1, 1975, and December 31, 1975. The amount of money necessary to be borrowed for these purposes has been reduced due to the cooperation of the Township of Norwood and the City of Charlevoix by assessing for collection one-half of the operating taxes for collection during the summer months. This has resulted in considerable savings to the school district.

The enrollment of the school district has increased by 14 students between 1974-75 and 1975-76 fourth Friday count days. This year the increase of enrollment is reduced over the increase of previous years; however, we are continuing to hold our own and to show an upward trend in enrollment.

The board of education presented to the voters two bond issues designed to update facilities and to relieve overcrowding that exists in the high school. These bond issues failed at the polls on September 12, 1974, and April 21, 1975. As we look toward the future, we realize that we have a problem of antiquated facilities in the middle school which need to be improved or replaced. We have a serious overcrowded condition at the high school which currently enrolls 608 in a building which was designed for approximately 475 students. This will be a problem to the school district during the review for accreditation by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges in 1976-77.

The board of eeducation has appreciated the support that the community has given to the school program. The school district responded to the needs of the school by approving an increase in the operating levy of 2.75 mills at the polls April 21, 1975. This demonstrates the support that our community has for quality education in the Charlevoix Schools. The improved programs of reading and math in education's efforts to improve education for each individual child. The emphasis on parent-teacher conferences in the district is an attempt to insure a positive communication designed to benefit the child in the classroom in continuous and open process between parents and school faculty. We trust that the continued interest and cooperation of the board and the community will allow the board of education to continue to provide our students with an excellent opportunity to be prepared for tomorrow.

James A. McKimmy

Starting the week of October 6, Davis said he would be speaking in nine different southern Michigan cities to drum up support.

"We think it is time the Legislature take action," he said.

Davis met for nearly 90 minutes with local residents giving them a legislative update and fielding a variety of questions.

Besides the welform reform issue, Davis said the Legislature would be directing a lot of its attention towards workmen's compensation.

seconds remaining in the third quarter, Charlevoix led 25-6.

Alger was injured on the ensuing kickoff after making a fine tackle on the 27 yard line. His reoccurring shoulder injury took the scrappy senior out of the ballgame near the end of the third quarter.

The Vikings' quarterback Alan Johnston punched over from the 4 yard line for the score following a fine 73 yard drive. This march featured a Johnston to Crain Hinkle pass for 39 yards to the Charlevoix 7 yard line. The touchdown was saved on this play by a come-from-behind tackle by Klooster. The point after attempt kick was good and with 8:16 remaining in the football game, Charlevoix led 25-13.

Alger returned to the Charlevoix lineup for six plays, when he was injured again and replaced by Senior Casey Culbertson. On this series, Culbertson was unable to pick up the first down, and Grayling took over on their own 12 yard line.

The notably strong Charlevoix defense held after giving up one first duwn, and, with less than a minute remaining in the football game, the Red Rayders took over on the Grayling 13 yard line.

This time Culbertson directed Charlevoix to the final tally of the evening. Two short gains by Smith were followed by a fine 10 yard scamper by Williams for his third touchdown. The conversion attempt was stopped, and the game ended Charlevoix 31, Grayling 13.

Statistically, the Vikings paralleled the victorious Charlevoix eleven. Both squads had fifteen first downs, with Charlevoix taking the edge in total yardage. The difference in the game was the two pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries made by the Charlevoix defense. Once again the squad put on a fine display led by John Cinnamon, Kirk Lieberman, Russell, Alger, Klooster, and Tom Jones.

The loss of Way and the reoccurring injury to Alger's shoulder could hurt the Red Rayders for the remainder of the season. Coach Carey undoubtedly has fine back up players, and the remaining league contests should provide an ample testing ground.

was passed.

"We need the jobs," Sneathen said. "Industrialization will give us jobs and raise our taxbase."

Barnes said about $700,000 of the million dollar expansion would be taxeable.

procedure encourages industrialization, therefore incrensing employment and the township's tax base.

Hayes Township's Attorney, Wayne Richard Smith, assured the Trustees that neither the township nor its citizens would have any responsibility, financiul or otherwise, in regard to these bonds.

No Petitioes

In other words, Smith said, if the bonds are issued, sold and later Lexalite could not meet its payments, no one would be liable except Lexalite itself.

At this writing, no one has questioned the resolution nor indicated any intention of circulting a petition against it.

Under the law, the petition must have signatures "of not less than 5 percent of the registered electors of the township", in order to coll for a referendum. Hayes has 518 registered voters, thus 26 signatures are required.

A few people interviewed, mentioned concern that a "preecdence" was being established. They worried about Hayes Township encouraging "Industriulizuti-on," suggesting that land vnlues could be better enhanced if land was preserved for tourism and residential growth.

Chairman of Hayes Township Zoning Board, Lilian Bergmann, said that the area in which Lexalite would be expanding is already zoned "Industrial" by the township, thus Lexalite's expunsion plans are within the zoning laws.

Township Zoning Administrator John Ferguson reported that he had been contacted a year ago concerning the zoning by someone from Lexalite. "I told them the zoning ordinance requires they stay at least 50 feet away from Lake Michigan."

Lee Sneathen, Jr., Township Supervisor, told an interviewer he felt the resolution was good for the township.

No Risk

According to Sneathen, Barnes and an attorney brought the resolution to the Board of Trustees, who in turn had their lawyer study it.

Once the township lawyer, Richard Smith, assured the board that there wns no financial risk, the resolution

BEAUTIFUL LIVING

A BEAUTIFUL BI-

Enjoy Fall—Take Our Color Tour

By PEG OHLE

It was a beautiful afternoon and the leaves were beginning to turn into hues of red and orange and yellow and green.

Such an afternoon calls for a ride around the countryside to breathe in the autumn air and to reveal in the changing colors of trees and bushes and ground.

The trip turned out to be an experience in driving on sand, gravel und black-top roads, up and down hill, through woods and along lakes.

We started south from Charlevoix on the Marion Center Road and were soon greeted by a hill of maples in the background to the left. They looked as if they were guarding the surrounding fields.

When we came to Ferry Road (4.5 miles) we turned west. The road is being repaired and feels like a washboard but it is a rock hunter's dream. We traveled across Ferry Road to Black Road, where Ferry jogs just a bit, then on to Barnard Road (1.9 miles). We followed Barnard Road through the fertile farm country to Highway 31 (3.8 miles), and crossed the highway to Norwood Road.

Soon we saw the little maple covered cemetery on our right, deeply shadowed in the afternoon sun. We drove around the village of Norwood, again marveling at its neatness. At the top of the bluff we crossed the stop street and headed south. One mile later we turned right to the Old Dixie Highway. Shortly we had a great view of Lake Michigan with Old Mission Peninsula in the background.

Old Dixie

The Old Dixie Highway runs through stands of aspen and evergreens and fields covered with sumac and brakes. There is also a long stretch of planted maple trees along the highway and we wondered who planted them and how many years ago.

We traveled to the end of Old Dixie Highway at Lore Road (6.8 miles) and turned left a short distance to Highway 31. Federal highways are not good for color tours, so 1.3 miles later we turned left on M-88 and then less than half a mile farther, we turned right (south) on east Torch Lake Road.

This road runs close to the shore of Torch Lake for quite a distance and the deep blue of the lake formed a beautiful background for the colorful trees surrounding it.

After driving 10.5 miles on East Torch Lake Road we turned left (east) on County Highway 620, Bellaire Road. This road runs along the 45th parallel, halfway between the equator and the north pole. It is a beautifully hilly road with a wide expanse of colorful scenery on both sides.

We drove through the quaint little town of Bellaire and took a look at the old courthouse building. At the edge of town (4.4 miles) we turned left (north) on Drenzy Road, really a jog (1.3 miles) of Highway 620. Here we found more serene pastoral scenes and color all around. We stopped to look at an old stone building, either a school or a church, which was as sound as it was built many, many years ago.

We drove along Highway 620 for 6.8 miles, when we reached Highway 66. Turning south for 1.4 miles we again reached 620 and turned left toward Alba.

Our destination now was Deadman's Hill, a beautiful sight at any time of the year, but especially beautiful in the fall. Deadman's Hill Road is six miles north of Alba on Highway 131 (this Federal Highway can't be ducked - it's the only way to get to Deadman's Hill).

The hill is two miles from the highway, and from it there is a panoramic view of the Jordan River Valley. It is part of the State Park system and there are picnic benches for those who want to eat while taking in the scenery. A plaque also tells the story of a lumberman who fell to his death on the hill, thus giving it its name.

Returning to Highway 31 we drove 1.8 miles north to the Jor River Valley Scenic Road. This is a narrow sand road that winds through woods resplendent in color. This is an easy road to get lost on, but at 6.7 miles we made a sharp turn to the right-Marsh Road, although at that corner there is no sign. Soon we came to a crossroads where we had a choice of going either left or straight. We kept on going straight and after 3.9 miles were at Highway 32.

It was time to be heading toward home so we turned left and started toward East Jordan. Although Highway 32 is a busy road, it is a colorful one with wide expanses of woods and fields.

After driving a few miles we came upon an old stone church which is still being used for services. In the midst of modern traffic it stands as a quiet reminder of less hurried days.

Jordan River

In East Jordan we crossed the bridge under which the Jordan River joins Lake Charlevoix. Swans were swimming placidly in the sunshine apparently unaware of the changing scenery around them.

At the southwest corner of East Jordan we turned on to Highway 66 (just 10 miles from where we had joined Highway 32) and headed north on a trip around Lake Charlevoix. The Charlevoix-Boyne City Road all the way to Boyne City is especially good, and the one from Boyne City to Charlevoix along the south side of the lake and across the Ironton Ferry provides water on one side for quite a distance and colorful trees everywhere.

We arrived back in Charlevoix after being on the road for slightly more than three hours. It had been a rewarding trip and had taken us into some parts of the countryside we had not seen before.

Perhaps you would like to take this trip, or at least part of it. For those not quite so venturesome there are other, shorter, color tours. For easy driving and a variety of color and landscape we recommend

City Electric Rates Jump 20 Percent

Charlevoix electric rates are going up 20 percent after action taken Monday by the Charlevoix City Council.

Councilmen made the move after getting a 30.7 percent hike in the city's wholesale rate by Consumers Power.

Utility users will see the hike reflected in their fuel cost adjustment charge which is going up from 4 mills to 11.5 mills.

Mayor Ed Hansen said the fuel cost charge would be changed so that the city would not have to spend $2,000 to reprogram its computer billing system.

Under the new rate, which goes into effect immediately, a 700 kilowatt hour (KWH) user would pay a basic rate of $8.98, but his fuel cost charge would now be $5.25 instead of the present $2.80.

Charlevoix is already fighting the wholesale power increase granted by Federal Power Commission to Consumers, but city officials expect it will be some time before anything happens.

The city is protesting the hike through the Michigan Power Rate Payers Association, a group of Michigan municipalities who buy wholesale power.

In other major action, Council established the city's first Shade Tree Commission under an ordinance it adopted Monday night.

The board sweeping ordinance requires that anyone planting a tree or shrub on any public way or street will have to obtain a permit from the city.

The ordinance also gives the city the power to remove and replant any trees it deems necessary.

Named to the commission were Thomas D. Pointner,

THE RODNEY PITTMAN home in Charlevoix township was gutted by fire in a mid-day blaze on Wednesday.

Cause of the fire was believed to be an overhealed stovepipe leading from a basement stove according to Jack Stebe, captain of the Charlevoix township fire department.

The couple, who said they had been gone from the house only a short time, returned to find the interior ablaze. Firemen cut through the roof of the one-story three bedroom house to get to the source of the fire. All furnishings and possessions were lost in the fire. The exterior was being covered with aluminum siding at the time of the fire. (Photo by Sherry Martin)

3 Arrested on Drug Charges

Local and State Police arrested three men this weekend and confiscated $105,000 worth of Phenecyclidine (PCP), a horse tranquilizer.

According to City Police Jack Mol, two of the men James M. Smith, 20, of Charlevoix and Robert A. Michalak, 21, of 448 Ewers, Detroit, were being held in Charlevoix County awaiting arraignment Wednesday charged with delivery of a controlled substance.

A third man, Claude J. Doughtry, 21, 6665 Clayton Street, Detroit, was being held in Wayne County jail pending arraignment on the same charge.

Mol said the arrests were made in downtown Detroit, but wouldn't specify further.

He said Doughtry was released on bond within two hours after the arrest was made.

The two in Charlevoix County jail had not been released on bond that was set at $10,000.

Smith, one of the two in Charlevoix, is in the United States Air Force and stationed at Bay Shore.

The arrests followed several weeks investigation by Charlevoix City Police and Michigan State Police's Narcotics squad, Mol said.

Charlevoix Awarded Lighthouse

A raging academic war over territory that was once part of a strange religious empire ruled over by a king with 13 wives is over.

The focus of the fight among a consortium of Michigan community colleges and Charlevoix School District was the old light house that stands at the south end of Beaver Island.

Charlevoix Public Schools learned this week that it will be given the deed to the property to be used as an outdoor education program.

The lighthouse had been up for grabs for nearly a year since it had been declared surplus by U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Surplus Division.

Until recently, the lonely bright beacon flashed accrossed across the island that back in the 1800's was this country's only empire and home of Manitou County.

Mormon James Strang had set up his monarchy and maintained an island kingdom for nearly 10 years before being assassinated in 1856 by fellow Mormons and mainlanders who hated him and his polygynous practices.

Manitou County was one of three that had been organized in the 1890's and was eventually absorbed in Leelanau and Charlevoix Counties.

The lighthouse that stands on a bluff at the south end of the island and that was until recently equipped with a powerful fog-horn, was erected in 1851 and rebuilt in 1891.

It was the guardian of the channel between Beaver Island and North Fox Island, according to a former keeper of the light.

Below the white-brick towering lighthouse is an old two-story wooden house surrounded by a wooden picket fence.

Originally, there were six contenders out for the 61-acre site that also includes five small buildings.

But for one reason or another, a Chicago hospital and several educational groups pulled out of the running, leaving only Charlevoix Public Schools and a consortium of Southern Michigan community colleges.

However, the consortium, which had been headed by Jackson Community College, indicated they no longer had interest.

Supt. James McKinny of Charlevoix Public Schools says his district plans to use the property for summer outdoor and environmental education programs.

The 1,758 student school district plans to offer a week-long pilot camping program next summer for local youngsters.

McKinny said an expanded program is also being looked at.

The property is valued at $58,000.

At Charlevoix's Homecoming

Sue Kane Named 1975 Queen

Sue Kane, a blonde Charlevoix high school senior, was named to reign over the 1975 Homecoming festivities Thursday and Friday.

Queen Sue received her crown at a formal coronation ceremony during the halftime of the Charlevoix-Rogers City game. The 1974 Queen, Sue Fowler, had come from her studies at the University of Michigan to officiate at the ceremony.

Team captains, Kirk Lieberman and Bob Alger, presented her with roses and a game ball.

Queen Sue and her court, Lynn Bradley, Denise Wasoski, Carol Streeter and Shelly Wood along with Sue Fowler had ridden in the Homecoming parade prior to the game and were taken around the field in open cars before the formal coronation ceremony.

The Charlevoix High School Marching Band directed by Gary Stutzman dedicated a portion of its program to the Queen and her court and the remainder to the forthcoming Bicentennial observance.

The Homecoming Dance followed at the K-S gymnasium.

The Senior float, using the theme "I cannot tell a lie....the Rayders will win" was the winning float. It depicted a Rayder chopping down the Rogers City tree.

One of the largest crowds to attend a football game in Charlevoix turned out for Friday's game and homecoming festivities.

The Rayders dropped the game to Rogers City by a score of 8-6.

On Thursday night, the outcome of the student election was announced revealing that Sue Kane had been named Homecoming Queen from among the five candidates.

This announcement climaxed the Pep rally that opened with a snake dance behind the high school band, a bonfire and an informal program at which Mrs. Gene Steele, of the Charlevoix Historical Society, spoke briefly on the Bicentennial and Terry Edger of Station WVOY was master of ceremony.

Former Friend

It's interesting to hear that Senator Davis is calling so well for reform, when one of his former Republican Colleagues, ex-Senator Pittinger (?) has been hired as a $90 a day consultant for the Social Service Dept. I guess old Republicans never die, they just get appointments.

Rough Road

We have had bad road conditions for many years on Adams Lake. Eighty percent of the time we can't get through because the roads are under water, sometimes up to one foot. It seems that the only good roads, and these are black top, are in front of the supervisor's house. The rest are gravel and in poor shape. We don't like the bills we have during the summer months for car alignments due to the pot hole condition of the roads.

Energy Saver

Kudos to the Charlevoix Fire Department for a recent savings of energy, in their use of sirens. Since the noon and curfew soundings does not signal emergency, the cutdown on how long the sirens are sounded represents a savings to all of us in the community. Keep up the good work, city fire department.

Says Thanks

The student council of Charlevoix High School would like to extend our appreciation and thanks for the use of their convertible cars in the Homecoming activities Friday night, Oct. 3. Thanks to: Bo Boss, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss, Jim Boss, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Geer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tillin, Mick Way.

Thank you again,

Student Council Representatives

Norwood Adopts New Zoning Ordinance

Norwood Township is the latest township to adopt a new, revised zoning ordinance.

The ordinance, a copy of which accompanies this week's Courier, is unique in that it was written after a complete land use plan for the township was prepared over an eight-month period.

The zoning ordinance follows the basic considerations," goals and objectives, and the planning principles set forth in the land use plan to insure a logical and desired growth pattern within the township.

Since Norwood Township is largely agricultural, the land use plan called for large lot requirements for residential purposes in the agricultural zones of the township. The zoning ordinance restricts building of homes in agricultural zones to lots of three acres or more. Most townships limit such building to one or two acre plots.

Norwood Township also has several sensitive environmental areas, including wetlands, drumlins, and lakes and streams. The zoning ordinance, as a result of the land use plan, provides for the protection of these areas.

Further commercial and industrial developments along Highway U.S. 31, Ferry Road, Barnard Road and Norwood Road are discouraged. The historic and quaint village of Norwood is protected by discouraging commiercial, industrial and high density residential uses.

Since approximately 2,950 acres in Norwood Township will be incorporated into the Fishermen's Island State Park, the land use plan encourages the Department of Natural Resources to develop adequate buffer strips along the boundaries of the park.

CHARLEVOIX MAYOR Ed Hansen cuts the ribbon during special ceremonies held by the Beaver Island Boat Company Friday.

New Boat Office Dedicated

New Beaver Island Boat Co. facilities were officially opened recently when company and city officials gathered at the municipal dock for a ribbon cutting ceremony.

On hand for the event were Fred Annand of Lansing, president of the boat company, Clyde Fogg of Holland, D. Archer LaFreniere, Bud McDonough and Edward Ladd of St. James and Lawrence McDonough, of Charlevoix, business manager. Representing the city were Mayor Edward P. Hansen and Acting Administrator Robert Wexstaff.

The new facility includes a 14 x 28 ft. additon to the existing 16 x 28 ft. structure. The addition will house the boat company offices as well as a waiting room and toilet facilities. The original structure will continue to serve as a warehouse.

"The addition gives us very much needed space. With traffic to the island growing, we need space for passengers to await the arrival of the boats and for the business office. With the increased population on the island, especially in the summer, there was need for additional warehouse space. The addition almost doubled the size of what we had and should serve the purpose" McDonough, whose office is located in the building, said.

The addition, which has an attractive stucco finish, was constructed at a cost of $12,000 to the Beaver Island Boat Co. which will be reimbursed at the rate of $1,000 per year by the city.

The Beaver Island Boat Co. operates two boats between the port of St. James on Beaver Island and the mainland at Charlevoix during the summer months and the 95-ft. steel-hulled Beaver Islander from April until June and September until the end of the year. The South Shore is operated only during the summer.

Hansen Becomes Semi-Finalist

Heidi I. Hansen, Charlevoix High School senior, has been named a Semi-finalist in the 1976 National Merit Scholarship program, Charles A. Bentley, head counselor has announced.

She is among 15,000 students including 704 in the state of Michigan who will continue in the competition for about 3,800 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring.

As a semi-finalist, she must now advance to finalist standing by meeting a number of requirements that include being fully endorsed and recommended for scholarship consideration by her secondary school principal, presenting school records that substantiate high academic standing and confirming her high PSAT/NMSQT scores with equivalent scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT).

Heidi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Hansen, is presently serving as vice president of the Senior class and, during the 197475 school year was president of the class. She works an average of 25 hours per week in the culinary department at the Charlevoix Area Hospital and at a local gift shop, a routine she has followed since her freshman year. She plans to attend college but has not, at this point, decided where or what her major might be.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD Chris Avery of Marion Township was one of 16 Charlevoix High School Students who gave blood at the Charlevoix Blood Drive held last Wednesday.

High School Gives Blood

Senior Chris Avery had to give his blood to get out of school last week.

And that's exactly how Avery and 15 of his classmates legally played hooky—they gave blood.

The tall, lean 17-year-old was one of many who responded last week to an emergency call for blood in Charlevoix.

Unlike others, Avery had never donated blood to the American Red Cross and wasn't really sure what was going to happen in the basement of the Charlevoix Methodist Church.

But even not knowing, Avery decided to bite the bullet to see what it was all about.

Kids had been talking about making donations at school after they heard the request over their school's public address system several weeks ago.

The Marion Township resident said even his government class had talked about it.

"Someone said that when you give blood that whenever you need it, you won't be charged a high price," he said.

"I started thinking about it and didn't think it was such a bad idea."

But when it came down to the moment of truth, Avery, along with 15 others, found themselves the only ones willing to go over and donate blood.

"I was a little nervous," he explained about going over to the blood drive center set up in the church basement.

"I wasn't sure how it was going to feel."

However, after a few seconds under the needle, Avery said he relaxed and didn't feel any pain at all.

Avery said he even felt pretty good after it was all over because he knew his blood donation would help someone.

Charlevoix Blood Drive Chairman Mrs. David Fowler said she thought the drive was successful.

Local residents donated 105 pints of blood, even with 22 people being deferred because they either had colds or were on some type of medication.

There were 23 first time donors.

Unfortunately, there were 35 people who made appointments and didn't show up.

Local officials said they were pleased with the turnout because it was only six weeks ago that an emergency drive had been held in Charlevoix for Kathy Lee, the Coast Guardman's wife who was going to have open heart surgery and needed blood.

Army Corps Checks Closer

Dock Permits Required

Boat owners are finding themselves without docks under a major crackdown by the Army Corps of Engineers.

A Corps spokesman said they've been conducting an intensive surveillance for unauthorized structures in the Great Lakes.

To build or maintain a structure in navigatable waters, the owner must have a permit from both the Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of Natural Resources.

If he doesn't the Corps says he can be expecting a notice from them to either take it down or suffer the consequences, which could be a year in jail and $2,500 fine if found guilty in court.

The permit requirement is nothing new. In fact its been around since 1899.

The creation of any obstruction not affirmatively authorized by Congress to the navigable capacity of any of the waters of the United States is prohibited, according to the United States Code.

This includes anything from a wharf to a jetty on any navigable river or water of the United States.

While the law has been in effect for many years, the Corps said it hasn't been dealing with private docks on an intense basis until recently

They say the switch has been a result of newer environmental laws and increased public demand that something be done.

A department spokesman said the U.S. Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 has had a large impact and has given the Corps more clout in dealing with those dredging and filling in federal waterways.

He added that the private citizen may not have been quite as aware of the federal enforcement because the Corps had been dealing primarily with contractors.

Within the last 14 months, 20 people have been convicted of violating the federal law with another 300 people being notified that they had an "illegal" or unauthorized structure.

The department spokesman said that those interested in the federal regulation may write the Army Corps of Engineers, Box 629, Grand Haven, for more information.

PBB Issue Not Over With

Unless Michigan Farm Bureau Services and the Michigan Chemical Company establish another insurance pool to cover farmers' losses from PBB poisoning by next week, Governor Milliken says he will seek legislation they won't like.

"If they have not been able to resolve that problem and provide for the relief that farmers need and deserve, I am going to be prepared to come back with a bill that will not be good news," Milliken said in a news conference.

Among the possibilities for such legislation would be to require the companies to pay the interest on long-term loans to affected farmers. Another possibility is to make the state a party to the dispute and allow the attorney general to take the companies to court.

Approximately 700 farmers have unsettled claims against the Farm Bureau and Michigan Chemical for loss of farm stock as the result of mixing PBB (polybrominated biphenyl), a fire retardant, with animal feed. The PBB was manufactured by the Michigan Chemical Company and distributed thrugh Farm Bureau Services.

Recently Governor Milliken vetoed a bill that would have made available low cost loans to farmers to help them rebuild their herds and clean up contaminated areas. The Governor said he vetoed the bill because no funds were available to pay the cost of these loans.

Farm Bureau Services and Michigan Chemical set up a $15 million insurance fund some time ago to start settling claims. It was exhausted after approximately 360 claims were paid.

Despite these financial problems, Farm Bureau Services recently sent out a news release headed "Interest and Dividends Paid." The news release reads in part:

"Over 15,700 investors and stockholders recently were recipients of $963,000, which represents Farm Bureau Services, Inc. and Farmers Petroleum Cooperative, Inc. annual payment of interest on debentures and dividends on dividend bearing stock.

"Of this total amount, $187,500 as paid by Farmers Petroleum to its 3,400 stock and debenture holders and $775,000 was maded by Farm Bureau Services to their stock and debenture holders."

Charlevoix County Area Receives Large Amount of Federal Funds

To what extent do Charlevoix County residents look to Washington and to their state and local governments for their wherewithal? What proportion of their income comes from such sources?

Locally and everywhere else across the country, according to recent studies, people are getting a larger part of their income from government than ever before.

It is estimated that 24 cents out of every dollar received by Charlevoix County residents comes to them in the form of government checks covering wages and social benefits.

Washington provides 12 cents of it and the state and local governments, 12 cents.

The ratio runs considerably higher in some areas of the nation, for various reasons, than in others. It is highest, 62 percent, in the District of Columbia, due to the large number of Federal employees there. It is lowest in Connecticut, 22 percent.

Nationally, 29 percent of income now comes from government sources, compared with 24 percent in 1971.

The figures are based upon state-by-state analyses, made by the Department of Labor, the Tax Foundation and others.

In Charlevoix County, the figures indicate, approximately $15,984,000 of net personal income came via government checks in the past year.

Included in this total were wages and salaries to public employees, pensions, unemployment insurance, social security, food stamps, welfare payments, health benefits and the like.

Overall, more than $365 billion a year is being paid out to individuals by Federal and local governments in wages and social benefits. With one out of every five jobholders now on a government payroll, close to half that sum is for wages and salaries.

The rest is going to retired and disabled men and women, to veterans, to the unemployed and to others in need.

It is estimated that about 1/7th of all income in the United States represents social benefits to persons in these groups.

The Tax Foundation and others are disturbed by the rising role of government in the lives of people through these mandated and "relatively uncontrollable" commitments.

In Charlevoix

Ostling Holds Breakfast Meeting

Small business owners are already feeling the pinch of what State Rep. Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) thinks is going to continue–unfavorable legislation.

In fact, the Northern Michigan Republican jokingly says he's not looking forward to returning to legislative session next week.

Ostling unloaded his woes before a handful of Charlevoix residents last Wednesday during a "dutch-treat" legislative breakfast held here.

"We're sometimes coming up with legislation that won't be in the best interest of the area," he said.

Ostling said one case in example is the new Business Privilege Tax that recently replaced eight existing taxes.

While State Senator Robert Davis told Charlevoix residents several weeks ago that he was optimistic about the new tax, Ostling didn't express the same feelings last week.

The new law offers tax breaks to large manufacturing firms, retailers with substantial inventories and merchanized farms, such as dairy farms, according to several legislative analysts.

But industries such as construction, professional and personal services, repair services and retailers with low inventories will be getting hit hard with higher taxes.

Ostling said Wednesday that the new tax was enacted to keep present industry in Michigan and at the same time entice new business into the state, as well as increase employment.

However, several local industrialists indicated the new tax is causing smaller industry to automate and create higher unemployment.

The new tax, which is similar to the Business Activities Tax employed in Michigan from 1953 to 1967, is expected to bring the state $180 million more a year in revenue.

Ostling addressed himself to a variety of other legislative topics in his update of local residents.

On the proposed rail abandonment question that will virtually wipe out local service, Ostling said it is now up to Congress.

Within the month, Congress will act on a federal proposal to reorganize rail service in 17 Northeastern states.

Ostling said the Michigan Legislature has passed several bills that will allow the state to buy abandoned rail beds, but that the final action on rail status will be up to Congress.

"I'm frustrated and confused as to what we are going to do," he said.

"I'm blaming the entire Congress for not dealing with our special area."

For farmers who were hit by PBB, Ostling said the Governor's office was presently working on a new program to provide them assistance.

He said the Governor had

earlier vetoed legislation for low-interest loans because no method had been established to provide funding.

Zoning Summaries Done

The Charlevoix County Planning Department has prepared a summary of zoning ordinances for all 15 townships within the county.

Copies of the summary are being furnished to township officials, members of the Board of Commissioners and real estate people.

Other persons desiring a copy of the summary may obtain one from the Planning Department in the County Building.

Planning Commission Important to Area

There was only one problem with what Charlevoix County Planning Commission Chairman Walter Thorsen said last week about some of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, he didn't say enough.

The Planning Commission came under fire last month for its yearly trip taken to Beaver Island, as well as meeting for what was alleged to be too frequent and unnecessary.

Thorsen rapped County Commissioner Oscar Ward for what he said were uncalled remarks by some of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

Neither Ward or County Commissioner Clayton Smith, who made many of the remarks last month, apparently are aware of what the planning group has done for this county during the last 13 or 14 years.

Both the Planning Director and Commission have been the source of negative comment on many occasions for programs they have either done or undertaken, however in almost every instance they have benefitted this county.

Perhaps the hardest fought campaign and perhaps one of the least appreciated was the drive for county-wide zoning in 1973.

While the movement eventually went down in a referendum vote, the move towards zoning has led to some type of local zoning program in every township in Charlevoix County.

Zoning isn't a cure-all for every land use problem, but it gives local residents enough clout to protect their areas from gross misuses of land.

But even more interesting, it was the effort and time spent by this planning group in local townships that has enabled them to have these ordinances.

Last year the Planning Commission decided to develop the solid waste management plan for the County themselves instead of having the county hire an outside engineer. By doing so, it saved the county $16,000.

These are only a few of the many tasks the County Planning Commission has undertaken during the last few years.

Time and time again, we have emphasized the importance of Charlevoix County to continuing its practice of using and enforcing good land use principals to keep the character of this beautiful North Country.

In our opinion, the Charlevoix County Planning Commission has worked toward this end.

The Planning Commission, like any other agency, has made mistakes. But the benefits this commission has brought to residents of the county far outweigh any detriments that might have occurred.

Ward, who is the county board of commissioners liaison with the planning commission, said he was surprised when the planning commission was attacked.

He said there apparently is a lack of communication between the county board and planning commission.

If there was or is a breakdown, we partially blame Ward. It is his responsibility to see that the county board is informed and if he is in doubt himself, he should find out.

And as far as Commissioner Clayton Smith being concerned about the County Planning Commission meeting too often, we throw the question back to Mr. Smith.

Just what constitutes meeting too often? We are interested in knowing his criteria.

While activities taken on by the Charlevoix County Planning Commission are not always popular ones, we think its role is vital.

High Costs

Detroit television personality and newspaper columnist Lou Gordon is taking on a battle that deserves our interest and action.

He recently delivered almost 7,000 letters and postcards to high ranking state officials with messages of concern about a proposed plan to charge telephone users 20 cents for each information call after the first three per month.

Robert Otstot, chief of the communications sections of the Public Service Commission, insists that letters sent to Gordon objecting to the move were only a reaction from Gordon followers.

Otstot claims that if the rest of the people of this state knew that their residential phone bills would be reduced 30 to 35 cents per month if the information charges were approved that they wouldn't be upset.

Gordon explained to Otstot that if one lived in Detroit (area 313) and wanted to avoid using information, he would need 30 telephone books and that each month more and more people were unlisting their phone numbers.

Gordon raises some questions that we think deserve serious consideration by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

They're questions we wonder how Northern Michigan telephone users would react to if they were confronted with.

Is 20 cents for each information call too much?

Letters to the editor

Disagrees with Story

My Dear Mr. Editor:

Your recent posture with foot in mouth prompts a factual response to your recent scurrilous editorial of Sept. 30th.

I feel the following introductory applicable here.

HOW TO DEAL WITH GOSSIP

Don't listen to gossip.
But if you do,
Never believe
What you're listening to.
But if you believe it,
In part or whole,
Repeat it not
To a living soul.
But if you repeat it –
If worst comes to worst
And you have to tell somebody –
Tell me first!

–Suzanne Douglas

For openers this message is not intended as an apology for individuals or commissions. Apologies, if any; are due from your dept. for confusing rather than enlighting the public. It should not be necessary for me or anyone else to remind you that you have a far higher obligation than offering destorted opinion with hopes of emerging on the favorable side of the profit column.

The disruptive earth changes on Ferry Road between Barnard & Black roads just may serve a valuable lesson to us all as to what happens when mother nature's laws are ignored.

Public Act 347 passed by the 76th session of the Michigan State Legislature in 1972 better known as the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act was well intended to prevent these catastrophies, whether instituted by the individual builder or public agency.

This law passed in 1972 was supposed to become law in all countries by April 1, 1974; however Charlevoix County for various reasons too numerous to mention here did not adopt this for implementation until July 9, 1975, when the County Building Inspection Dept. was assigned as enforcing agent und Mr. Ronald Geer was hired as enforcement official but responsible to the Building Inspector. This position is entirely unrelated to the office of Drain Commissioner in that the office of Drain Commissioner is an elected position and the enforcement of the Mud Act is appointive – however both jobs can have similar problems requiring experience and expertise in their solution.

My personal belief is that this is a much needed regulation (Act 347) which in the future will be more appreciated, but like all good laws must have public acceptance and cooperation. (Ask any police chief if law enforcement is easy)

Our present enforcement official, like the County Road Commission and the Charlevoix County Soil & Water Conservation District, as well as the Board of Commissioners and the public, I am sure, all have a huge interest in the project but the Charlevoix County Road Commission is classified under somewhat special provisions of the law and is known as a "public Agency" which places it somewhat out of reach but on their own good behavior.

This project was started in 1974, well before the county even had an enforcing official, but it has not to this point been a problem of the Drain Commissioner.

I hope that I have clarified the picture somewhat and of course nothing has been mentioned here that is not available at the County Clerk's office. Better yet, Mr. Editor, why do you not take your feet down off the desk and come over "where the action is". The Board of Commissioners meetings are open to the public – yes, even irresponsible scribes.

Sincerely
Oscar W. Ward

The Song Has Ended

Why are folks so reluctant to sing at public gatherings?

I suppose psychiatrists could come up with a dozen or more perfectly good reasons, including shyness, fear of ridicule and a decline of voice-power generally across the land.

These are some of the things I thought about at the Charlevoix-Rogers City football game last Friday when the audience was asked to stand and sing the Charlevoix Alma Mater.

Well, sir, not a mouth moved. The hundreds of persons in the stands and lining the fence were literally struck dumb by the simple request that they sing the Alma Mater.

Several gum-chewers in the crowd even stopped chewing, lest someone think they had decided to sing. Two older women did start to sing when the song began, but they clammed up when they realized theirs were the only voices to be heard on the entire field.

The same thing happened when the band broke into its unusual rendition of the National Anthem.

Now I'll be the first to admit that the National Anthem isn't the easiest song in the world to sing. To do it justice one should really have professional voice training and questionable sexual interests.

But still it is our National Anthem, and you'd think a few of us would give it a whirl, out of patriotism if nothing else. But not a mouth opened at Kipke Field Friday night. Not one sound was uttered. We might as well have been Russians or Chinese for all the attention we paid to our own National Anthem.

The average American's attitude is frankly puzzling. The people of other nations love to get together and shake their fists in unison, chant national slogans and even sing a few bars. But not us.

Some of our reluctance to sing in public may be due to the fact that very little of the music America has produced during the past generation is meant to be sung. I am not going to launch a tirade against Rock 'n' Roll, but you'll have to admit that rock tunes aren't the kind you go about whistling or humming, much less singing.

We have music to eat by, music to dance to, music to put you to sleep, music to wake you up and music to make love by. But we don't have any music to sing.

I am beginning to suspect that many of our young people don't really know the words to the Alma Mater and the Star Spangled Banner. When I was in school, we had assemblies at least once a week at which we were required to sing our hearts out and we learned the words to literally hundreds of songs, including the National Anthem and our Alma Mater.

We also sang around the piano at home and, when we grew older, we sang whole evenings away at sing-along taverns.

Sometimes we didn't sound all that red-hot, but it was fun.

But singing is not among the sounds of America today.

If there is a generation gap in the United States, I think it can be laid largely to the fact that we no longer sing together.

My kids think it is strange that I know all the words to every one of the songs Lawrence Welk and his crew perform on TV every Saturday night. I think it is strange that they don't.

But I really don't know how to bridge the gap.

Do you?

Erma Bombeck

I've never been really sure what the American Dream was until I read a survey on it the other day.

It seems people between the ages of 14 and 25 feel they will have achieved ultimate bliss when they acquire (in this order):

1. A home of their own.
2. A savings account of at least $5,000 and life insurance totaling at least $50,000.
3. A college education.
4. A new car.
5. An air-conditioned home.
6. Opportunities for travel abroad.
7. A stereo.
8. A Master's degree.
9. A color TV set.
10. A dishwasher.

My personal dream changes daily. There was a time when I envied those who traveled. Now I want to be able to afford staying at home. And the old pressure on a daughter to "Marry a Doctor" has been amended (due to malpractice insurance and the high cost of dedication). I am now advising my daughter to "Marry a Game Show Contestant" – preferably one on "High Rollers" or the "$10,000 Pyramid".

Maybe when you are 14-25, happiness is synonymous with possessions. At my age (whatever that is) it's the little things that constitute the American Dream:

1. A doctor who will see me when I am sick. I never seem to be able to make my illness come out even with my appointment.
2. Someone who doesn't understand a word Henry Kissinger says and will come and sit with me sometimes.
3. A universal spray can that will hold everything from whipped cream and deodorant to starch and hair spray.
4. A recording that has the courtesy to say, "You're welcome" when I say "Thank you."
5. A letter sweater for kids who excel academically.
6. A realistic Christmas savings that you could withdraw from in March if you had to.
7. A septic tank with an original way of telling you it was going bad.
8. A dishwasher – maybe two of them – who didn't slap one another and yell, "I'm telling!"

Shoot A President

By JIM FITZGERALD

It is not necessary that everyone who owns a gun should use it to shoot at a President. The National Shooting Sports Foundation (NSSF) is distributing a 12-page booklet titled "How To Organize a News Media Shoot."

As a working member of the news media, I was shook when this booklet hit my desk. On the cover, along with the threatening title, is a cartoon of an editor. You can tell because he has a pencil behind his ear and wears an eyeshade over a dumb look. There are spent shells scattered around his feet.

Immediately I realized I should never have written that column about the grave danger of rampaging deer attacking innocent women in the A & P checkout line. I never should have suggested that only brave hunters could prevent the loss of our constitutional rights and a government take-over by pheasants.

I thought the booklet was urging gunmen to seek improved news coverage of blood sports by taking an editor to lunch and force-feeding him shotgun shells for dessert. But I was wrong. After reading a few pages, I realized the NSSF doesn't really want to shoot at me. Rather, it wants to put me on the trigger end and teach me the joys of sighting a target and whopping a bullet through it.

The booklet is meant for gun clubs. It urges them to invite editors to come out and shoot skeet. "Participation in a News Media Shoot will mark the first time that many editors have ever handled a sporting firearm. This introduction has proven to be a thoroughly enjoyable, even exciting experience for many editors, and some can hardly wait to try it again," the NSSF says.

There was a time, I'll admit, when I thought a skeet was an exotic bird shot freshly unsacked at only the snootiest hunting preserves. But I'm not that dumb anymore. A couple of years ago I went to a hunt club for lunch and mentioned I'd never tried skeet. What I had in mind was an open-faced sandwich but I ended up out on the range, surrounded by horse-laughing outdoorsmen, shooting a borrowed gun at clay targets that some invisible hireling threw out of a backhouse. The skeet won and my shoulder was sore for 3 months.

So the NSSF greatly underestimates this editor's experience with sporting firearms. But the booklet is more on target when it says: "For many editors, their only exposore to guns is what they read in wire stories and other accounts of guns used in crime. Understandably, they can develop a rather one-sided and unfavorable view of shooting."

True. Everytime I hear something about a gun, it's bad. President Ford had to duck again, or a grocer has his face shot off, or an Arab killed a Jew, or a wife made herself a widow with one loud bang. And I'm depressed to learn 11,573 hunters were waiting nearby when 356 pheasant were freed on the opening day of Michigan's put-and-take season. Each hunter took home a feather, strapped to a fender, and the skies were safe once more.

There is no denying my view of shooting has been unfavorable. But the NSSF booklet promises light at the end of the barrel. It encourages gun clubs to "put an editor in your shoes" by inviting him to shoot skeet with a cocktail hour to follow. There is not one mention of shooting anything that breathes, just clay. Nor are there any foolish suggestions that a suitable substitute might be fruit punch.

This is what I call a highly civilized attitude. No one cares when a skeet is shot. What we must do to prevent national tragedy is elect a clay President. This would not only avoid bloodshed, it would free hundreds of Secret Servicemen for more productive employment.

Maybe they could throw the skeet out of those backhouses.

...Jay Oliver

Although he modestly denies it, Jay Oliver is generally considered the leader of the Indian community in the Charlevoix area. This week the Courier talks with him about his life and interests.

COURIER: What is your Indian background?

OLIVER: My mother was a pure bred Ottawa and my father was of Scottish descent. My mother was born in 1897 on Susan Lake not far from the Greensky Hill church. There was an Indian village on the east side of Susan Lake. When my mother was eight years-old she was sent by the government to an Indian school in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, where she spent five years and completed the eighth grade. During that time she did not come home to see any members of her family.

My grandmother's family on my mother's side was named Shaquahjah, which means "Chicago". They spent their winters in Chicago and each summer came north to the Charlevoix area to plant and harvest their crops. Lake Michigan was their waterway between the two places. Later on, the government changed the family name to "Willis".

COURIER: What about your Scottish ancestors?

OLIVER: My grandfather was a Scottish immigrant who was registered at Mackinaw Island in 1850. He was later registered at St. James on Beaver Island in 1850, when my father was ten years old. My mother and father were married in Charlevoix in 1910.

COURIER: Do you carry on any Indian traditions?

OLIVER: I learned the Ottawa and Ojibway languages from my mother and grandmother and can translate and interpret them. I have interpreted in court for Indians who can't express themselves in English. I am lay leader and treasurer of the Greensky Hill United Methodist Church.

COURIER: Tell us something about the Greensky Hill Church.

OLIVER: The church is named for Peter Greensky, an Indian missionary who had attended a Protestant mission school near Sault Ste. Marie. He selected the site for the church. Susan Lake is named for Peter's wife, Susan. The present church was built in 1833 and before that services were held for about ten years in a crude bark building. We have about 18 active members and meet year around. The church is listed as a State Historical Site and is a Registered National Shrine.

COURIER: You have a Harvest Dinner on the church grounds each year. How did it go this year?

OLIVER: Despite the weather, it was a great success. We served about 300 meals and took in $846 which we turned in to the ladies' treasury. They did all the cooking. People came from all over the area. One of the biggest groups was 40 from Bay View.

COURIER: Have you lived in Charlevoix all your life?

OLIVER: I was born in Charlevoix in 1912 and graduated from Charlevoix High School. I served in the Army during World War II for three years, two of which were spent in North Africa and the Middle East. I was in Persia for 18 months and spent time in Palestine and Egypt. I was in the medical Department of the Army. After the war I decided I wanted to become an accountant and went back to school and got a certificate from the Michigan Veterans School at Western State University. I worked in various places for 12 years then decided that accounting was not for me and came back to Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Hospital was new then and after walking around it I decided I would like to work there. I enrolled in their "earn and learn" nurses training program and am still there. I am the only male attenant in the nursing department and work primarily with male patients.

COURIER: Do you participate in any outside activities?

OLIVER: I am a member of the Charlevoix Charter Commission and the Charlevoix Historical Society, although I don't get to many of the Society's meetings.

COURIER: Do you have a family?

OLIVER: Yes, I married an Indiana girl, Della Heath, who was doing missionary work around the East Jordan area. We have two adopted sons, Danny, 18, a senior at Charlevoix High School, and Edward, 15, a freshman. They both are of part Indian extraction. We have also had two foster children who were wards of the court.

Camp Daggett Asks for Funds

Camp Daggett, the summer camp for local boys and girls, is asking for financial support to build a new sanitary facility for girls and the remodeling of the existing facility for boys.

The facilities are necessary so that the camp can change to a co-educational plan of camping for the 1976 season.

Camp Daggett's low fee is based upon the cost of food and supervision and does not cover the cost of maintenance and new construction.

Camp Daggett is an approved non-profit organization and all donations are tax deductible. They may be sent to the camp at Post Office Box 129, Petoskey, Michigan, 49770.

Commissioners to Meet for 2 Days

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will hold a two-day meeting next week, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among items on the agenda for Tuesday are reports from the County Planning Commission and the Department of Social Services, the opening bids for fuel oil for the county building and for publication of County Commission proceedings for 1976, and a report from the Committee on Apportionment of Taxes.

On Wednesday at 11 a.m. there will be a public hearing on the 1976 budget and its adoption. There will also be an election for two members to the Board of Canvassers and one member to the Social Services Board.

Chairman Harry Griffin will appoint persons to fill seats on the Veterans' Affairs committee, the Planning Commission, Parks and Recreation Committee, Charlevoix County Library Board, Act 258 Board, the Building Authority and the Commission on Aging.

Voters Can Register at 2 Places

An additional way for the public to register to vote became effective October 1. As of that date Michigan residents may register at all Secretary of State offices. Previously, registration could be made only with city or township clerks.

Persons who are not registered, who don't know if they are currently registered and persons who have moved since last registering may all use the new system.

Information about the new procedure will be mailed to all Michigan drivers when their license renewal reminders are sent out 90 days before expiration.

All city and township clerks are still taking registrations.

Locally, the Secretary of State's office is located on Highway 31 south of Charlevoix, phone 547-9421.

Health Department Gives Reminder

Don't Forget Your Immunizations

October is Immunization Action Month, proclaimed by the Department of Health, Education & Welfare.

During the month this Federal agency, in cooperation with organized medicine and the local District Health Department is alerting the public to the dangers of childhood diseases and urging them to make sure their children are fully vaccinated.

In the past decade, the concern of parents and physicians over such diseases as polio and measles has declined steadily. Health officials say apathy has set in because epidemics were prevented and people believed that the danger was over. Parents have become less diligent about making sure that their children are protected.

Because of the drop in immunizations, the diseases have begun to reappear. Each year, children suffer from polio, measles and other childhood diseases - diseases that can easily be prevented by vaccination.

Dr. Robert S. Linke, Medical Director for the District Health Department recommends the following immunization schedule:

Three months of age: First DPT (diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus) and first TOPV (trivalent oral polio vaccine).

Five months of age: Second DPT and second TOPV.

Seven months of age: Third DPT and third TOPV.

Twelve months of age: Mumps, measles and rubella (German measles) vaccines.

Eighteen months of age: Fourth DPT and fourth TOPV.

Prior to entering school: Booster doses of DPT and TOPV as well as a tuberculin test.

After entering school children should have diptheria and tetanus shots every seven to ten years, the ninth grade in school.

Free clinics are scheduled by the District Health Department in the Annex of the Charlevoix County Building every second Monday of the month from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. If you are not sure that your children are fully protected against polio, measles, rubella and other diseases, check with your doctor or the Health Department office, phone 547-6523.

Civil Defense Plans Workshop

Civil Defense officials met recently with department heads and representatives of various agencies in Charlevoix County to make plans for a workshop to be held here in mid-November.

Philip Wheeler, of Michigan Tech, Civil Defense coordinator for this area outlined primary and support duties of such agencies as police, fire, highway, health, welfare, institutions, Red Cross and others, explaining how each would fit into an overall picture in the event of a disaster.

"You have to plan, you have to be prepared because at the time of a disaster you must act. That is why this planning period is so important" he told those present. He went on to say that every agency has an important role to play.

"Without you to carry your load, no matter how small it might seem to you, there is a gap to be filled. That, again, is why I emphasize the need for cooperation".

Sgt. Dean VanNatter of the Emergency Services Division of the State Police and Sgt. Kenneth Sleder of Traverse City, coordinator for the 18 counties of the State Police Seventh District, echoed Wheeler's comments as they emphasized the need to be prepared, the need of knowledge shared and the need of a plan.

It is to develop this plan that the November meeting will be called. A Civil Defense exercise where the plan will be tried is scheduled for early spring. "Only then can we know our weaknesses and strengths" Wheeler said.

Mrs. Alice Tunison, Charlevoix County Civil Defense Director, chaired the meeting attended by agencies from East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY Sheriff Deputies took top team honors in a county-wide law enforcement competition shool recently at the Sportsmen's Park in East Jordan. Deputies receiving honors were Dale Boehm, Harold Thomure and Dennis Christensen.

Shriners Hold Successful Concert

The Northwest Shrine Club, composed of Shriners from Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet and Kalkaska Counties, recently sponsored a band concert in Charlevoix.

During the intermission, club president Russell Wheeler presented a check for $2,000 for use by the Shriners Burns and Crippled Children's Hospitals throughout the country.

The Northwest Shrine Club, together with the Traverse City Shrine Club, will hold a crippled children's clinic November 5 in Traverse City at the Bethany Lutheran Church for the evaluation of children who need treatment. Interested persons should contact a local Shriner for further information.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES — SEPTEMBER 22, 1975 — 8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Whitley, Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, and Wood. Absent: None.

The Minutes of September 8, 1975 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was made by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Timms to dispense with the approval of the Special Council meeting of September 15, 1975 until the Airport Resolution draft by the City Attorney has been reviewed.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Resolution was offered by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Wood to accept the lot splits of lots 1, 4, 5, & 6 of Block 12 of the Original Plat of the Village of Charlevoix, presented and documented by Drew Young to split lots formerly of the Earl Young Estate into parcels A, B, C, D, E, & F with description of each parcel attached to the request. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Council selected Lyle S. King to attend the Michigan Public Employer Labor Relations Convention in Bellaire, Michigan on October 1-3 as a delegate from the City of Charlevoix.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood, ans supported by Alderman Plumm to adopt a Resolution as follows.

RESOLUTION

RESOLUTION ASKING THAT FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING BE EXTENDED BY ACTION IN 1975

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix that the extension of General Federal Revenue Sharing is of paramount importance to the continuation of the development and operation of the City, and

WHEREAS, the timing of determining such extension is vital to the preparing of the City's 1976-1977 Budget, in order to make an intelligent approach to such budget preparation, and

WHEREAS, the City Council approves the General Revenue Sharing as a means of more equitable distribution of Federal tax monies to local units of government,

THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Charlevoix City Council urges the United States Congress and the United States Senate to act on General Federal Revenue Sharing Extension in 1975.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Whitley, Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

A shade tree program was discussed at length as to how we can save our beautiful trees, and how to remove and re-plant the trees that are beyond saving. New fast growing trees with deep root systems which would not break up sidewalks, streets and curbs, and also would not damage our water and sewer lines. A proposal is to be drawn up and presented to the Council at the next regular meeting.

The Minutes of the September 15, 1975 Special Meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book after presentation of the Airport Resolution which was not available at the opening of the meeting.

Consumer's Power Company's increase of 30.7 percent wholesale rate was discussed at length and it was decided that Committee should investigate this and adopt a level rate to be charged to our customers; this would be a rate that they could live with, and which would be in line.

A Committee meeting was scheduled for Monday, October 13, 1975 to arrive at some proposal on bid estimates and other important things which come up often.

Motion was made by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Timms to appoint Lyle S. King as City Clerk for the City of Charlevoix. The motion was blocked by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Timms, and Plumm. Nays: Aldermen Selph, McRae, and Wood. Absent: None

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $227,845.31 including add-on bills of: $4441.76 for Charlevoix Township water supplied the City when our channel crossing was broken; $3373.26 to Tri-City Asphalt; $558.20 to Carlton Ikens, and $2100.00 to Lake Construction Company find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Voc Ed Plays Vital Occupation Role

Even with new government programs of assistance, many students are finding it impossible to finance college.

College costs are expected to rise six to 12 percent this year, making a four-year private university education now cost a hefty $4,391 in tuition, board and room a year.

Public universities now carry a price tag of $2,679 for one year of attendance.

And when you consider rising living expenses, a four-year degree may cost over $30,000.

Is there an alternative? One increasingly popular solution to the high cost of college is the "no frills" vocational education offered in many high schools.

Vocational education offers the benefits of postsecondary education without the high costs of college. It concentrates training in a specialized career such as computer programming, commercial piloting, advertising or even wastewater technology.

In Charlevoix alone, some 30 percent of the students are involved in vocational education in one way or another. Twin Valley (East Jordan and Boyne City) has 19.4 percent.

While a large number of students are taking vocational education coursework, local educators are still trying to figure out how they can meet local needs.

In a meeting last year in Lansing, local leaders learned that the chances of Charlevoix County getting an area vocational education center are slim, if not impossible.

Under current state policy, Petoskey has the area center designation and unless Charlevoix County can come up with a larger student population base it looks doubtful a second center could be built.

While many students are using the Petoskey Facility, many are complaining that outlying school districts, such as Ellsworth and Central Lake, cannot take advantage of the program because it is too far to travel.

"The schools now are improving their offerings on an individual basis," says Sue Shepherd, Char-Em Vocational Education and Career Education Director.

Twin Valley, for example, has already submitted applications for four new programs for next year, including the addition of secretarial and home economics programs.

Charlevoix Public Schools offer almost a dozen courses ranging from building trades to food management.

"Local schools are not standing still," says Ms. Shepherd.

"They're not developing a wait and see attitude."

However, the area vocational education director does say that a common vocational education center would improve course offerings because of the large population base.

She says when you get into smaller districts, it is almost impossible to offer many programs.

Purchasing equipment offers still another problem, smaller districts can't afford it.

Ms. Shepherd says the concept of vocational education has been receiving better reviews from both students and educators than it did several years ago.

"A lot of kids can't afford to go to college," she says.

"Students themselves are taking a more realistic look at the future and realize vocational education can be a worthwhile venture.

The swing in the direction of vocational education has been increasing steadily over the past decade. Between 1965 and 1974 enrollments in public vocational programs rose by 659 percent – over six times the increase for the traditional academic sector, according to Dr. William Pierce of the U.S. Office of Education.

"Jobs are at the root of the trend," he says.

"Vocational education means bread and butter. Today, people are looking for education which leads to jobs. For example, college graduates have discovered there aren't enough jobs out there-now they're in school taking welding, or auto repair, or any other job-oriented course."

Those interested in vocational education careers should contact their local high school counselor.

In addition, the Char-Em Intermediate District has a trailer that travels through local districts. The trailer contains materials that a student can use to acquaint himself with potential careers.

Charlevoix Social Security Income Going Up

The amount of money that is entering Charlevoix County each month via the social security route is large and is growing larger. It has become an important element in the local economy.

Its growth is due to changes made in the social security law in the last few years, affecting the number of beneficiaries and the size of their checks.

According to the official figures covering the past year, retirement and disability payments are now going to 3,350 persons in the area, as compared with 2,983 three years ago.

The majority of them are retired workers. Most of the others are disabled workers, widows or dependent children.

The facts and figures, with a breakdown for each county in the United States, are contained in the annual report of the Social Security Administration.

It shows that more than $60 billion was paid out in the past year to the nearly 31 million people who were eligible to receive benefits.

In Charlevoix County, payments for the year averaged $1,977 per recipient, considerably more than the $1,376 paid them three years ago.

The amount of cash flowing into the local area was increased primarily during the past year by the 11 percent boost in benefits that went into effect.

That is expected to be the final adjustment of the kind. Hereafter any escalations are to be related to increases in the cost of living, as determined by the Consumer Price Index. The first application of it came in July, when higher prices resulted in an autontic hike of 8 percent.

The government report shows that overall payments to Charlevoix County residents during 1974 totaled $6,624,000 a marked increase over the $4,104,000 that went to them three years ago.

The rise, 61 percent, tops the East North Central States rise of 59 percent and the 60 percent in the State of Michigan.

As for contributions to the pension fund, the payroll tax continues at 5.85 percent for workers and for employers. It is being applied, however, on earnings up to $14,100, rather than on $13,200, as was the case last year.

ERBER AUTO'S Punt, Pass and Kick program was held last weekend at Charlevoix Kipke Field. First place winners include Jack Carlson, Jeff Delong, Dave Milligan, Todd DeLong, Brent Cole, Mike Roebuck and John Stump of Erber Auto. The winners of the local Ford Motor Competition will be traveling to Grayling for regional competition this weekend.

Tiller Otis

Otis Climbs Mountain

Mildred "Tiller" Otis of Charlevoix recently served as a student leader at a pre-college orientation for Kalamazoo College freshmen, held at Killarney Provincial Park in Ontario.

Some 50 students lived in the wilderness, spent two weeks canoe tripping, backpacking and rock climbing, studying the flora and fauna of the area and feeling and learning all manner of survival.

The freshmen students were assigned to faculty members and student leaders as they journeyed through the primitive conditions in the 84,000 acre park in three separate groups. Then, as an introduction to the Georgian Bay waters, each group spent an additional week aboard the brigantine, Playfair.

While these 50 freshmen students were getting their orientation in the wilderness, another 400 freshmen had their orientation in Kalamazoo.

Babysitter Should Know What To Do

You wouldn't choose "Lady Luck" to be your banker - so don't choose her to be your babysitter.

These guardians of your children and your home should meet certain criteria, and it is up to you to be sure they do.

Babysitters should be fire conscious. Your babysitter should be aware that children cause many fires and are the chief victims of fire in this nation (along with people over 68).

Your babysitter should know:

–That children enjoy playing with matches and cigarette lighters.

–The general layout of the house and two exits that can be used in case of a fire.

–The telephone number of the fire department.

–That if trapped on the second floor the door MUST be closed, blankets placed along the bottom of the door, and a window opened.

–That the babysitter is not a firefighter and that the best thing to do in case of a fire is to get the children out and make sure they don't go back into the burning house.

–That if a child's clothes should catch on fire, the quickest way to smother the flames is to cover the child with a blanket or rug and roll the victim on the floor.

Babysitters should not take the time to investigate if they smell smoke, or gas. Their number one responsibility is to get all the children out and then use the nearest fire alarm box or neighbor's telephone.

Red Rayders Fumble their Way to First Loss

In Friday evening's football contest, Charlevoix's Red Rayders fumbled their way to an 8-6 Homecoming loss to the Rogers City Hurons. Three of the four blunders came while the home eleven was within scoring range.

Charlevoix took the opening kickoff, and, after picking up one first down, they handed the ball to the visiting eleven. The enthused Huron squad penetrated to the Charlevoix 23 yard line, when Matt Doan intercepted a wayward Rogers City pass.

The Rayders took over on their own 24 yard line. Following a Randy Williams run of 15 yards, a Doug Smith run of 9 yards, and a fine Bob Alger to Doan pass for 25 yards, Charlevoix found themselves knocking on the Huron's goal line. This set the stage for the first Rayder miscue. The Charlevoix fumble gave Rogers City the football on the Huron 12 yard line.

Rogers City set in motion a fine sustained drive, and, after ten plays, they fumbled to the Red Rayders on the 10 yard line.

Williams then returned the favor, and fumbled on the first run from scrimmage. Rogers City picked up the loose ball on the Rayder 10 yard line.

Four plays later, Rogers City scored from the 3 yard line. The conversion attempt was good, and, with 2:10 left in the first half, the home eleven found themselves trailing 8-0.

To begin the second half, Charlevoix kicked off to Rogers City. The Hurons' offense stalled after four plays, and Rogers City punted to Charlevoix. Bud Klooster returned the punt to the Charlevoix 35 yard line, where the Red Rayders once again began a drive into Huron territory.

After picking up two first downs, Quarterback Alger threw a pass to Doan for what appeared to be a Red Rayder touchdown. Typical of the evening's play, the Rayders fumbled to Rogers City.

The Hurons were unable to move the football, and relinquished the ball to the Red Rayders.

On this series, Charlevoix penetrated to the Huron 1 yard line. This offensive series featured a fine 14 yard Alger to Steve Michaels pass, and an equally fine toss from Alger to Doan to the 1 yard line. On the next play, the fourth Charlevoix fumble gave the ball to Rogers City.

Charlevoix's defense stopped Rogers City after three downs, and, to begin the fourth quarter, the Hurons punted to Klooster on the Huron's 49 yard line.

Six plays later, Alger kept the ball on a Quarterback option, and ran 8 yards for a Red Rayder touchdown. The all important 2 point conversion attempt failed, and with time running out, Charlevoix was behind 8-6.

The teams exchanged possessions, and, with the clock running against the home eleven, they took over on their own 16 yard line. Thus began a series of plays which kept the fans on their feet until the end of the ballgame.

Using handoffs to Smith and Williams, a fine Alger to Scott Boss pass, and a razzle-dazzle handoff to Williams with a pass back to Alger, the Rayders were able to penetrate into Huron territory before the clock ran out, halting the last ditch effort.

The visitors from Rogers City played fired-up football in downing the Red Rayders this past Friday evening. This loss puts Charlevoix in a four way tie for second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, and sets the stage for a crucial meeting with the St. Ignace Saints this coming Friday evening.

Golfers Split Match

The Charlevoix Golf Team will close out its regular season this week, participating in the Michigan-Huron Conference meet at the Michawye course at Gaylord on Monday and the regional meet on Oct. 10.

Last week, the Rayder golfers posted a win over Boyne City but lost in a four-way game at Cheboygan on Thursday.

Tom Fowler was the first medalist as the Rayders chalked up a total score of 168 over Boyne City with 183. All four Rayder players carded 42's in the match. They were Pat Paul, Art Ranger and Joe Early.

At Cheboygan Thursday, Charlevoix came in with the highest score in the meet, 188. Harbor Springs won with a 171 total while Petoskey had 173 and Cheboygan 183.

Ed Kelbel of Harbor Springs was medalist with a score of 37.

Charlevoix players had the following scores: Tom Tillen, 45; Ranger, 46; Mike Custer, 48, and Paul, 50.

Dog Show Planned

The Grand Traverse Kennel Club will hold its Annual Fall Dog Show on Sunday, October 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Cherryland Middle School in Elk Rapids.

It is an All-Breed show, sanctioned by the American Kennel Club.

J.V. Loses to Rogers City

It was a strong defensive game all the way as Charlevoix JV's lost to Rogers City JV's by a score of 8-6 at Rogers City Thursday night.

Charlevoix scored first early in the second period on a two-yard quarterback sneak by Tom Left. The conversion pass was short as the young Rayders took a 6-0 lead.

Later in the same period the Huron quarterback went around left end from five yards out to score and then passed to the left end for the two-point conversion and the victory.

Coach Hal Evans commended Jim Elzinga, Kip Greene, Darrin VanLoo and Ron Poirier for their fine defensive play.

Charlevoix will host St. Ignace at Kipke field Thursday.

Girls Basketball Team Win 2 Games

The Charlevoix Girls Basketball team chalked up two wins during the past week, a 53-20 win over Rogers City in Michigan-Huron Shores league play and a 42-40 victory over Elk Rapids in a non-loop game.

The team will travel to Cheboygan Tuesday and host Grayling here next Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Three Charlevoix players hit in double figures, Mo Cudd with 14, Denise Boss with 13 and Heidi Dove with 12 as Rayderettes led Rogers City 16-2, 41-8 and 51-16 by quarters before winning by a margin of 53-20.

The Charlevoix JV's dropped its game by a score of 42-20.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix took a slim 8-7 lead over Elk Rapids but found themselves trailing 24-20 at halftime before going ahead 33-32 as the game went into the final period.

Dove paced the game with 22 points. Lundy had 14 for Elk Rapids.

The Charlevoix JV's also won 35-31.

Charlevoix now has a 1-1 record in league play and a 3-1 record in season play.

PARTICIPANTS IN Erber Auto's Punt, Pass and Kick competition included Todd Delong, Chris Putman, Tom Egler, Brent Cole, Dave Tollas, Keith Potter, Mike Roebuck, Doug Milligan and Thaddeus Morgan with John Stump of Erber Auto. The competition was held last weekend at Kipke Field.

Marsh

Bradley

Bourke

Three regulars, a newcomer and a player up from JV ranks are among the Charlevoix Rayders being featured this week.

The regulars are Bob Alger, Jim Marsh and Ed Bourke, the newcomer is Joe Healey and the former JV player is Bucky Bradley.

Alger, co-captain with Kirk Lieberman, is serving his third year as a Varsity quarterback after one year on the JV team. A senior, he is 5'11", weighs 175 pounds and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alger.

Healey is a junior and a transfer from Berkley High School. He has played JV ball and is presently a linebacker with the Varsity squad. He is 5'9" and weighs 170 pounds. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Healey.

Bradley is a junior and is playing his first year of Varsity football after playing with the JV squad. He stands 6'0" tall, weighs 170 pounds and plays end. He is the son of Mr and Mrs. John Bradley.

Middle guard Marsh is completing four years of football including two with the JV's and two on the Varsity squad. A senior, he is 5'8" and weighs 215 pounds. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Marsh Sr.

Bourke is a junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Bourke. He has had two years with the Junior Varsity and is now playing guard with the Varsity. He is 5'11" and weighs 160 pounds.

Raiders Take Loop Leadership

The Raiders of the Junior League moved into the loop lead last week after edging the Eagles 25-19 while elsewhere the Falcons defeated the Patriots 38-15 and the Steelers downed the Packers 37-6 to take over third place in the standings.

This week the Packers and the Raiders will clash at 11:30 a.m.; the Eagles and the Patriots at 12:45 p.m. and the Steelers and the Falcons at 2 p.m.

In the Peewee league, the Vikings and the Lions will ploy at 9 and the Cowboys and the Bengals at 10:15 a.m.

Raiders 25 Eagles 19

In the battle for the league lead, the Eagles took a 7-0 first period lead on a 10-yard run by Scott Morgan and a conversion by Jeff Greene. However, as the second quarter got underway, the Raiders snapped back with two quick counters, both on passes, the first a 25 yarder from Curt Heekendorn to Dave Cole and the second from Gary Drury to Heckendorn for 18 yards to give them the lead for the first time. Morgan was to score twice more on runs of 18 and six yards but it was not enough to overcome the Raiders who added TD's on a 17-yard pass from Gary Drury to Heckendorn who also scored the conversion and a two-yard plunge by Jeff Drury.

The Eagles dropped to second place in league standings after losing 25-19.

Falcons 38 Patriots 15

A Gerrard Doan to Jeff Peters passing combination accounted for three Falcon touchdowns as the pair connected on passes of 35, 25 and 10 yards Doon also scored twice on short yardage and Peters added another on a 25 yard run.

The Patroits scored in the first and last periods on passes of 20 and 30 yards from Jeff to Steve Daylong and a safety in the final period.

Cross Country Place 5th

The Charlevoix Rayder harriers placed fifth among 16 teams in the Elk Rapids Invitational Cross Country meet on Saturday.

This will be a busy week for the team as it travels to the Soo Invitational at 4 p.m. Wednesday; the freshmen and sophomores participate in the Petuskey Invitational for underclassmen at 11:45 a.m. Saturday and the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet at Rogers City at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14.

Charlevoix placed fifth behind Clare which took first; Pine River, second; Benzie Central, third and Boyne City, fourth, at Elk Rapids on Saturday.

Charlevoix's Wally Drenth had his team's best time, 18:15, which ranked fourth in the meet. Other Rayder harriers, their times and places follow: Freshman Mark Russell, 17th, with a time uf 19:14; Freshman Jeff Drenth, 26th, 20:08; Ken Paul, 27th, 20:20, and Steve Berlage, 35th 21:40.

Earlier in the week, the Rayders had split a meet at Petoskey, winning over St. Ignace 21-31 and losing to Petoskey 21-38.

Ken Lindholm of Petoskey posted the best time in the meet, 17:27.

Drenth place second with a time of 17:47; Russell, 7th, 18:36; Ken Paul, 8th 18:41; Jeff Drenth, 14th 19:41; Berlage, 17th 20:35.

Baton Workshop Planned

Baton twirling classes will be offered through the Charlevoix Recreation Department beginning Oct. 14 according to Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

Tuesday, Oct. 7, is the deadline for registering for classes that will begin a week later. Registrations will be accepted at the American Legion hall from 3 to 4 p.m.

The classes, which will be available to girls four years through high school, will be taught by the Sharyn Mariage School of Baton. Special mini-majorette classes with special teaching methods are open to pre-schoolers, Ms. Mariage said. Students completing one full season of instruction are eligible to become members of the Parade Youth Corps, Sharyn's Silver Starlettes, who last summer participated in 18 parades.

Information regarding fees and other expenses may be obtained by calling 582-9142.

WHAT NEXT, YOU ASK? KIDS' WEDDING RINGS

John Reusch

Children in the Netherlands have adopted a new fad which could produce two immediate results: drive their parents nuts and sell more rings.

According to news reports, the fad is one that "helps keep our parents together," in the words of a precocious 12-year-old Amsterdam lass named Audrey Vanderling.

"We wear the ring as long as family relations at home are loving. If our parents argue, we switch the ring from one hand to the other. If they separate, we stop wearing the ring until they come back together again."

Ms. Vanderling says the rings are having such a good effect on family relations that "even the boys are wearing them now."

Basketball Clinic Set

Independent basketball for the 1975-76 season will be the topic at an organizational meeting called for Monday, Oct. 13, by Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director.

The meeting will be held at the city hall at 7 p.m.

Players and coaches from the Charlevoix and Ellsworth school districts are invited to attend to discuss the program for the forthcoming months. Boss said that among the issues to be discussed was the formation of a league or leagues.

Beaver Islander Gets Birthday Fanfair

By BOB CLOCK

ST. JAMES--When Mrs. Annoru (Noni) Gallagher of Beaver Islnnd celebrated her 95th birthday recently she was pleased to receive o letter of congratulations from Guv. William Milliken.

And it tickled her when a second missile arrived signed by President Ford.

But Mrs. Gallogher, a lifelong Democrat, could hove done hand-stands when a third birthday greeting arrived from one of her favorite politicians--Democratic Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Sen. Mansfield was alerted to Mrs. Gnllagher's milestone birthday by Washington Post columnist David Broder, a frequent visitor to the Island. Broder's mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Collar, has been a summer resident on the island for more than 60 years.

"After talking to David Broder, who has told me what a remarkable woman you are, I hope you won't mind if I write you a letter of congratulations for your many contributions to our country--unsung, unsought but well deserved," Sen. Mansfield wrote.

"As one Irishman to another, I want to commend you for compiling an oral history of the Irish fishing community which began in Beaver Island so many decades ago. I also want you to know that I am highly flattered by the kind words you have had to say about me and to assure you that I appreciate them more than I can say.

"To you, Noni, on your 95th birthday, I wish you the best of everything in the years ahead, and I want to assure you that it is on honor for me to consider you as a friend and I will try to live up to your expectations, but only as far as the Senate is concerned.

"With best personal wishes am, sincerely, Mike Mansfield."

The former Noni Slocum wes born at Sand Bay on Beaver Island Sept. 1, 1880, and spent her early girlhood on the island. As a young woman she moved to Chicngo where she worked as housekeeper for a monsiegneur in the Catholic Church and several of his assistants.

Summers she returned to Charlevoix where she was head hostess at the former Belvedere Club hotel.

In 1930 she married Patrick Gallagher and returned to Beaver Island to make her home.

Mrs. Gallagher lives in a trim, white Victorian cottage in the village within earshot of the boat whistles on Paradise Bay. An aromatic pine woods stands sentinel at her back door.

The focal point of her spic-and-span kitchen is an ancient wood-burning range on which she cooks her meals when days turn brisk.

During the winter, Mrs. Gallagher lives on Petoskey-rd. in Charlevoix with her good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooper.

MRS. NONI Gallagher (right) of St. James celebrated her 95th birthday Sept. 1. Here she picnics with her good friend, Mrs. Frances Hooper of Charlevoix. (Photo by Robert Hooper)

Island Caper Planned

There will be a memorial gathering on Oct. 11 when the thenth annual Beaver Island Caper is held at the Knights of Columbus Hall ot 5820 Clyde Park ave. SW in Wyoming according to Mrs. Brian Gallagher.

The event will begin at 8 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m. A $5.00 donation will entitle you to an evening of entertainment and daneing, a buffet lunch, door prizes plus beer, mix and lice.

Anyone wishing additonal information may contact Mrs. Gallagher at 941 Arlebdll SW. Grand Rapids.

Sheryl Alspaugh Marries David Marshall Here

Sheryl Marie Alspaugh and David Scott Marshall, MM Sn., U.S. Navy, exchanged their wedding vows Sunday afternoon at the Norwood United Methodist church.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Mnry Lou Alspaugh of Charlevoix and James Alspaugh of Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Marshall of Charlevoix.

The Rev. Daniel Minor, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. Arrangements of yellow mums graced the altar for the ceremony. Lynda Slate, at the organ, played a progrom of traditional music and the wedding march.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a Victorian gown of white satin for her wedding. Made by her mother, it featured a high neckline, leg o' mutton sleeves and an A-bne skirt. Her short veil of bridal illusiun was edged in Aleneon lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and yellow roses.

Her sister, Jacalyn Sue Alspaugh, as her only attendant, wore a Victorian gown similar to the bride's in a pastel floral print and carried a miniature bouquet of yellow and white daisies and yellow rosebuds.

James W. Marshall assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Alspaugh selected a black and white print gown and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Marshall, mother of the bridegroom, wore a rose silk worsted two piece dress and matching accessories.

A reception, hosted by the parents of the bridegroom, followed at the Hampton Road home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Lois Vassoff.

After a wedding trip through western Michigan, the couple will be at home at Great Lakes, Ill., where the bridegroom will be attending "A" School for Machinist Mates.

Both Mr and Mrs. Marshall are graduates of the Charlevoix High School. The bridegroom also graduated from the three-year East Jordan Tool and Die program.

Wedding guests were present from Ann Arbor, Detroit, Traverse City, and Bellaire.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall

Luncheon Planned

The Charlevoix Band Boosters will sponsor a Salad Luncheon at the American Legion Post Home Wednesday, Oct. 8.

Serving will begin at 11:30 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m.

The benefit luncheon is to raise funds to underwrite the Marching Band trip to Manistique for a practice session with the Peshtigo, Wis., Marching Band on Saturday, Oct. 11.

Donations are $1.75 for adults and $1.00 for children through the Middle School.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

In the matter of the Petition of the Charlevoix County Road Commission for condemnation of private property for Highway known as "Camp Ten Road", in the Township of Hudson, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan

HOFFMAN & HOFFMAN
By: Robert L. Hoffman (P15646)
Attorneys for Petitioner

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION

At a session of said Court held in the County Building in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, on this 24th day of September, 1975.

PRESENT: Honorable John T. Murphy
Acting Circuit Judge

The above matter having come before this Court upon the filing of a Petition by the Charlevoix County Road Commissions as "Camp Ten Road" in and through the Township of Hudson, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as a limited access highway, as more particularly described in said Petition, stating that the private property described in said Petition, is necessary to be taken for said public improvement and praying for a hearing thereon to determine the date upon which the Petitioner may take possession of such private property and the date for the impaneling of a jury to determine the just compensation for the taking of such property, now,

On the motion of HOFFMAN & HOFFMAN, Attorneys for Petitioner, Charlevoix County Road Commission,

IT IS ORDERED that the description of the property and names of the parties in interest as set forth in the Petition filed in this cause are incorporated by reference as part of this Order and that personal service of both Order and Petition shall be made upon each party in interest in accordance with the provisions of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended, and Act 220 of the Public Acts of 1971, as amended.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that where personal service cannot be made in accordance with the provisions of Act 206 of Public Acts of 1967, as amended, and Act 220 of the Public Acts of 1971, as amended, a copy of the Order including a copy of the description of the property and parties in interst contained in the Petition be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in this county, at least once in each week for three successive weeks prior to the date of the hearing as hereinafter set forth.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that on the 31st day of October, 1975, at 9:00 a.m., there will be a hearing in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in the City of Charlevoix, before the Honorable Martin B. Breigner, Circuit Judge, in his Courtroom at Charlevoix, Michigan, for the following purposes:

1. To enter defaults on all parties in interest not appearing at said hearing and direct payment to them of the amount of the estimated just compensation as set forth in the Declaration of Taking filed in this Court and cause;

2. To fix the date on which the Petitioner may enter the property and take physical possession thereof;

3. To enter an order for the payment of the estimated just compensation placed on deposit with the Charlevoix County Clerk, County Building, Charlevoix, Michigan.

4. To set a date certain for the impaneling of a jury and trial as to the parcel on which compensation is being contested.

Obituary

Mrs. Victor Harland

Mrs. Victor (Marjorie) Harland, 53, sister of G. William Lusk, died Wednesday at Monson Medical Center in Traverse City following an illness of several months.

Born in Charlevoix June 27, 1922, the former Marjorie Lusk was graduated from Berkley high school in Berkley. Later she was married to Mr. Harland at Ypsilanti. They resided in southern Michigan where she worked as a legal secretary until moving to Traverse City in 1960. She had served as appointment secretary in the 13th Judicial District since then. She was a member of the Michigan Association of Legal Secretaries.

Surviving are her husband; one brother, George William Lusk of Charlevoix; one niece and one nephew.

She had donated her body to the Michigan State University School of Medicine.

Anyone wishing to honor her memory may contribute in her name to the American Cancer Society of the Community Church of God in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gallagher

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND--Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Galagher, 93, were held Friday at Holy Cross Church with the Rev. Fr. Herbert Graf, O.F.M., and Msgr. Victory Gallagher of Alpena officiating. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mrs. Gallagher died Tuesday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey where she had been a patient for several days.

The Rosary was recited at Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix and at the family home here prior to the service.

The former Elizabeth Green was born to Dan and Bridgett Green at St. James Aug. 11, 1882. On Aug. 11, 1907, she was married to Andrew Gallagher who preceded her in death Oct. 11, 1939. She had always resided here except for the past 35 winters which she spent in Charlevoix. She was a lifelong resident of Holy Cross church and attended St. Mary's church when in Charlevoix.

She is survived by two sons, John of Charlevoix and Daniel of Coco Beach, Fla.; three daughters, Mrs. J.C. (Mary) McDonald of Charlevoix with whom she lived during the winter months, Mrs. Gregg (Margorette) Smith of Boyne City and Mrs. Warren R. (Elizabeth) Wilnot of Westminster, Calif.; 16 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren and a brother, Edward Green of Charlevoix.

Michele Bostic

Michele Jane Bostic, infant daughter of Debra Bostic, died late Monday at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City where she was taken immediately following her birth at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Sunday.

Burial was in Brookside cemetery on Wednesday, Oct. 1.

Rowley Willnms

Funeral services for Rowley Williams, 81, retired Marion township farmer, were held Thursday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Austin Regier officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Williams died unexpectedly Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard Stephens of Hamilton where he and Mrs. Williams had been living in recent months.

Born in Cheboygan Jan. 7, 1894, Mr. Williams came here as a young man and, on June 27, 1916, was married to the former Florence Withers. They always made their home in Marion township. He was a member of the United Methodist church and Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A.M.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. (Geraldine) Stephens of Hamilton and Mrs. James (Darlene) Hisey of Wayne; five grandchddren and 12 great-grandchildren; six sisters, Mrs. Nina Goodwin of Clearwater, Fla., Mrs. Revella Rupert of Au Gres, Mrs. Dora Pope of Battle Creek, Mrs. Grethel Amidon of Sparta, Mrs. Mildred McKee of Seattle, Wash., and Rena Williams of California

The family requests that anyone wishing to honor his memory do so by contributing in his name to the United Methodist church.

Roy Whitlow

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Roy Whitlow, 79, were held Tuesday afternoon September 30 from the Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth with Rev. Dan Minor officiating. Burial followed in Sunset Hill Cemetery in East Jordan.

Mr. Whitlow died at his South Arm Township home south of East Jordan following an illness of several years.

Born in Milburn, Kentucky, July 24, 1896, Mr. Whitlow served in the U.S. Army in the European theater of operations in WWI. He left the service in 1920 and moved to Flint where he met and married Miss Letha Jewel in 1926. He worked at General Motors for twenty-five years before moving to East Jordan in 1947, and farmed until his retirement nbout eight years ago. He was a member of the East Jordan United Methodist Church.

Beside his wife Letha, he is survived by one foster son, Earl Morrison of Denham, La., and two sisters, Mrs. Alva Estes of Ontario, Calif., and Mrs. Gertrude Estes of Oakridge, Cal.

Local

Frances Durance and Mrs. Ethel Pearsall recently hosted a farewell party for Sylvia Lockyer, who will leave to spend the winter in southern Michigan, and for Lillian Moore, who will spend the winter in Largo, Fla. The following attended the party: Pearl Partridge, Mathilda Ikens, Belle O'Brien, and Rosella Priest.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Saunders of Fraser are parents of a son, born Sept. 27. Grandparents are, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Belleville and the late Mr. Saunders. His great-grandmother is, Mrs. Lillian Moore.

Frances Durance, accompanied by Lucille Heavener of Blue Lake, spent the weekend in Brighton, where they attended an A.Y.P. Meeting, and also visited in Romeo with Miss Durance's sister, Genieve Baumgartner.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boss of Garden Grove, Calif., arrived to spend a month here with their son, Terry Boss, her mother Mrs. William West and Mr. West.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Hayes have returned from a three weeks trip to London, England where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson and daughter. They also went on a motor trip through Europe.

DISCOVER A NEW WORLD OF THE SPIRIT THROUGH FAITH

Like Christopher Columbus, each of us must embark upon the perilous voyage of life, fraught with uncertainty of direction or purpose; sometimes tossed by storms, often becalmed to a standstill. But. like the adventurer of old, we can be guided to the attainment of a goal far superior in benefit to ourselves and others than the mistaken one for which we had originally set sail; if faith be the rudder that keeps our ship of life on its true course despite wind and wave. Let your Church be the port of embarkation for your own voyage to the joyful discovery of a new way of life through faith.

"The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea."--Psalms 93:4

ZONING ORDINANCE NORWOOD TOWNSHIP CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MICHIGAN

Introductory Statement

An Ordinance to provide for the establishment of zone districts for Norwood Township so that the proper use of land and natural resources shall be encouraged and regulated and within which districts the location, the size of, the uses that may be made of, the minimum open spaces, sanitary, safety, light and protective measures that shall be required for, and the maximum number of families that may be housed in dwellings, buildings and structures, that may hereafter be erected, altered or moved; to provide for the administration hereon; to provide for appeals and for the organization and procedures of the Board of Appeals.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Norwood Township of Charlevoix County, State of Michigan, as follows:

ARTICLE I PREAMBLE

Section 1.1–Title

This Ordinance shall be known as the "Norwood Township Zoning Ordinance", and will be referred to herein as "this Ordinance".

Section 1.2–Purpose

The purpose of this Ordinance is:

a) Improve the public health, safety, morals and general welfare;

b) Promote the use of lands and natural resources of the township in accordance with their character and adaptability and in turn, limit their improper use;

c) Provide for the orderly development of the township;

d) Reduce hazards to life and property;

e) Lessen congestion on the public roads and streets;

f) Provide, in the interests of health and safety, the minimum standards under which certain buildings and structures may hereafter be erected and used;

g) Facilitate the development of an adequate system of transportation, education, recreation, sewage disposal, safe and adequate water supply and other public requirements;

h) Conserve life, property and natural resources and the expenditure of funds for public improvements and service to conform with the most advantageous uses of land, resources and properties.

Section 1.3–Authority

This Ordinance is ordained and enacted into law pursuant to the provisions and in accordance with the State of Michigan, Township Rural Zoning Act, Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended.

ARTICLE II DISTRICTS

Section 2.1–Kinds of Districts

For the purpose of this Ordinance, all of the unincorporated area of Norwood Township is hereby divided into the following Zoning Districts, the location of which Districts is shown on the accompanying Zoning Map of Norwood Township:

a) Single Family Residential District, R-1

b) Single and Two Family Residential District

c) Mobile Home Park Residential District, R-3

d) Multiple Family Residential District, R-4

e) Commercial District, C

f) Industrial District, I

g) Agricultural District, A

h) Conservation Reserve District, CR

Section 2.2–Zoning Map of Norwood Township

The Zoning Map of Norwood Township and all information and proper notations shown thereon are hereby made a part of this Ordinance. Unless otherwise provided, the boundary lines of all zoning districts shall be interpreted as following along section lines or the division of sections such as quarter and eighth lines; or the shoreline of water bodies; or the boundaries of incorporated areas, recorded plats or subdivisions; or property lines of legal record on the date of enactment of this Ordinance, or any extension of said lines.

ARTICLE III ZONING DISTRICT REGULATIONS

Section 3.1–"R-1", Single Family Residential District, Lake and Stream

a) Purpose–The purpose of this district and its accompanying regulations is to provide for a stable and sound residential environment on lots of sufficient area to accommodate the safe and healthful use of on-site water and waste disposal systems. This zone district is intended to encourage the proper development of lands along the shores of Lake Michigan, Harwood Lake, and McGeach, Inwood, and Whiskey Creeks, to avoid pollution of these waterbodies and to preserve the natural resources of the township.

b) Use Regulations–Land and/or buildings in the "R-1" Zoning District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) One (1) single family dwelling on each lot.

2) Parks, playgrounds, and other recreation facilities, owned and operated by a governmental agency or a non-profit neighborhood group.

3) Docks, boat landings and similar structures are permitted as accessory structures subject to the regulations provided in this Ordinance and subject to regulations enforced by the State of Michigan.

4) Other accessory uses customarily incidental to the preceding listed permitted uses including, but not limited to, off-street parking and loading spaces, as required by Article VI, and signs, as regulated by Article V of this Ordinance.

c) Height Regulations–No building shall exceed thirty (30) feet or two and one half (2½) stories in height, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations–No building or structure shall be hereafter erected, altered or enlarged unless the following yards and lot areas are provided and maintained in connection with such alteration, construction or enlargement:

1) Front Yard–There shall be a front yard of not less than thirty five (35) feet.

2) Side Yard–There shall be a side yard of not less than fifteen (15) feet on each side of any dwelling or garage, excepting the street side of a corner lot on which not less than a thirty five (35) foot side yard shall be maintained.

3) Rear Yard–There shall be a rear yard of not less than fifty (50) feet.

4) Lot Area–The minimum lot area for use in this zoning district shall be twenty thousand (20,000) square feet and a minimum width of one hundred (100) feet at the building line.

e) Floor Area Regulations–Each year-round single family and seasonal dwelling shall have a minimum of eight hundred sixty (860) square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements and utility areas if a one (1) story building, one thousand (1,000) square feet if a one and one-half (1½) story building, or one thousand two hundred (1,200) square feet if more than one and one-half (1½) story

f) Other Development Regulations

1) Docks, boat landings and similar structures shall comply with the side yard requirements of the "R-1" Zoning District and shall not be longer than is required to reach water depth of six (6) feet at normal low water.

2) The developer or builder shall be required, where possible, to ensure that new or altered structures in this zoning district will not be damaged by flooding or flood hazards and that excessive soil erosion, adverse changes in the natural drainage courses, or unnecessary destruction of natural features will be avoided, or remedies will be provided.

Section 3.2–"R-2", Single and Two family Residential District

a) Purpose–The purpose of this district and its accompanying regulations is to provide for a stable and sound residential environment on lots of sufficient area to accommodate the safe and healthful use of on-site water and waste disposal systems.

b) Use Regulations–Land and/or buildings in the "R-2" Zoning District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) One (1) single family dwelling on each lot

2) One (1) two family dwelling on each lot

3) Public schools, fifty (50) foot side yards and rear yard are required if the property abuts any residentially zoned lots.

4) Parks and playgrounds, libraries, fire stations, community centers and other public buildings owned and operated by a governmental agency or a non-profit neighborhood group.

5) Special uses that may be authorized in this district include the following; provided that an application is submitted for a special use permit and is approved in accordance with the procedures, provisions and standards of Article IX of this Ordinance.

+ Home Occupations
+ Professional Offices
+ Religious Institutions
+ Cemeteries
+ Hospitals and other institutions for human care
+ Public Utility Buildings

c) Height Regulations- No buildings shall exceed thirty (30) feet or two and one-half (2½) stories in height, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations- No building or structure shall hereafter be erected, altered or enlarged unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, erection, alteration or enlargement.

1) Front Yard- There shall be a front yard of not less than twenty five (25) feet.

2) Side Yard:- There shall be a side yard of not less than fifteen (15) feet on each side of any dwelling or garage, except on the street side at a corner lot where a twenty-five (25) foot side yard shall be provided and maintained.

3) Rear Yard- There shall be a rear yard of not less than thirty five (35) feet.

4) Lot Area--The minimum lot area for uses in this zoning district shall be fifteen thousand (15,000) square feet with a minimum width of nine hundred (100) feet at the front lot line. If lands proposed for subdivision are zoned "R 2", and the developer does not propose to provide the subdivision with a minimum of ten (10) percent of the gross acreage within for community parks, the minimum lot area for the subdivision shall be twenty thousand (20,000) square feet with a minimum width of one hundred (100) feet at the front lot line.

e) Floor Area Regulations- Each dwelling unit in this zoning district shall have a minimum of seven hundred eighty (780) square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements and utility areas if a one (1) story building, one thousand (1,000) square feet if a building of one and one half (1½) story, or one thousand two hundred (1,200) square feet if a building of more than one and one-half (1½) story a) Purpose The purpose of this district and its accompanying regulations is to provide for a stable and sound environment for mobile home residential development at a medium high density. This zone district will be established only upon approval of an application from the owner of the property proposed for a mobile home park. Establishment of this zone district shall follow the provisions of Article XI, Section 11.4 of this Ordinance. There is no intention to promote by these regulations, a zoning district of lower quality and desirability than in the "R-1" Zone District, although a higher density is permitted.

b) Use Regulations- Land and/or buildings in the "R-3" Zoning District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) Mobile home parks provided that all state regulations governing mobile home parks and the following requirements are met:

+ Each park shall be in single ownership and shall contain a minimum land area of ten (10) acres.

+ All mobile home parks must maintain a one hundred (100) foot landscape setback from any public street that borders the park boundaries, and one hundred (100) foot minimum landscaped rear and side yards shall be provided and maintained adjacent to any adjoining properties.

+ All public and private utilities shall be installed underground.

+ Each park shall have a minimum of two (2) access streets entering a public arterial or collector street with no ingress or egress to or from a local street.

+ All streets within a mobile home park shall be blacktopped or paved with the provision of a forty (40) foot right of way for a one (1) way street and fifth (50) foot right-of-way for a two (2) way street, with a minimum roadway of twenty (20) feet, exclusive of parking facilities.

+ All property in any mobile home park shall be graded so as to be well drained, and a means of conveying storm water away from structures and streets shall be provided.

+ Off-street parking shall be provided.

+ At least ten (10) percent of the park area shall be retained for recreation purposes.

+ Health Department approval of the proposed park must be obtained and evidence of such approval must be submitted with the application for a zoning permit.

+ Buildings housing laundry facilities, offices, rest room or shower facilities, a pool, or for the sale of retail goods for the exclusive use of the residents of the park may be permitted as an accessory use.

+ Sites for travel trailers or camping accommodations may be provided within a mobile home park for temporary stays not to exceed fourteen (14) days. These sites shall be provided with at least common rest rooms, showers, laundry facilities and water supply. Provision shall be made for the sanitary disposal of sewage into the public system on the premises.

+ A development plan shall be submitted for each mobile home park in accordance with Article IV, Section 4.18 of this Ordinance.

c) Height Regulations- No building shall exceed thirty (30) feet or two and one-half (2½) stories in height, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations--No building or structure shall be hereafter erected, altered or enlarged or mobile home located in this zoning district unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure, or enlargement.

1) Front Yard--There shall be a minimum front yard of twenty (20) feet.

2) Side Yards--There shall be a minimum side yard of ten (10) feet on each side of the building except ing the street side of the corner lot where a twenty (20) foot side yard shall be required.

3) Rear Yard- There shall be a minimum rear yard of twenty (20) feet.

4) Lot Area--There shall be a minimum lot area of five thousand (5,000) square feet with a minimum width of fifty (50) feet.

e) Floor Area Regulations--Each dwelling unit in this zoning district shall have a minimum of seven hundred twenty (720) square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garage, basements and utility areas.

Section 3.4--"R-4", Multiple Family Residential district

a) Purpose--This zoning district is provided to encourage the development of a sound and stable environment for multiple family dwelling units. This zone district will be established only upon approval of an application from the owner of the property proposed for a pre-planned apartment, garden apartment or condominium apartment complex. Establishment of this zone district shall follow the provisions of Article XI, Section 11.4 of this Ordinance.

b) Use Regulations- Land and/or buildings in the "R-4" Zoning District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) Multiple family dwellings as defined herein.

2) Two (2) family dwelling units.

3) Playgrounds, parks, tot lots, open spaces and other recreational uses, either enclosed or in the open, for the use of occupants only.

4) Accessory uses customarily incidental to the preceding listed permitted uses including, but not limited to, off street parking and loading spaces, as required by Article VI, and signs, as regulated in Article V of this Ordinance.

c) Height Regulations - No building shall exceed thirty (30) feet or three (3) stories in height, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations No building or structure shall be hereafter erected, altered or enlarged, unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such construction, alteration or enlargement for multiple family residential development.

f) Front Yard Where it is the intention of the developer to utilize the front yard area for parking, there shall be a setback from the right-of-way of each street on which the "R 4" Zoning District abuts of at least seventy five (75) feet; the front twenty five (25) feet of which shall be landscaped. Where the front yard setback area is not used for parking, there shall be a setback from the right-of way of all streets on which the "R 4" Zoning Districts abuts of forty (40) feet; the total of which shall be landscaped.

2) Side and Rear Yards There shall be minimum side yards and rear yards of thirty (30) feet, except where the subject property abuts any agricultural or single family zoning district in which case side yards and rear yards shall be forty (40) feet.

e) Density Regulations No land shall hereafter be used in this zone district unless the following density regulations are followed and maintained.

1) Not more than four (4) dwelling units per gross acre shall be permitted in this zone district.

2) There shall be a minimum of fifty (50) percent of the gross area of the proposed "R-4" Zone District maintained as open space or non-profit recreational uses.

3) In the process of determining the usable gross acreage in a particular "R-4" project, the developer shall not consider the following:

+ Lands having a slope greater than 20 percent (twenty (20) feet of vertical fall in one hundred (100) lineal feet.)

+ Lands having a ground water table four (4) feet or less from the surface.

+ Lands covered by water.

+ Lands currently being utilized as a powerline or gasline right-of-way, or dedicated as some other type of right-of-way.

1) Floor Space Regulations - Dwelling units in this zone district shall have an average floor area of seven hundred fifty (750) square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, patios, garages, basements, and utility areas at first floor level. If the developer proposes a mixture of units having differing floor plans, the minimum first floor area shall be six hundred (600) square feet.

g) Other Development Regulations

1) The horizontal distance measured in feet between parallel or nearly parallel elements of buildings forming courts and courtyards shall be not less than twice the height of the taller building measured in feet.

2) Not less than two (2) off-street parking spaces shall be required for each dwelling unit. Such parking shall be so placed as not to interfere with any recreation or service area and shall not be less than twenty-five (25) feet from any property lines or street right-of way lines.

3) All areas provided for use by vehicles shall be surfaced with bituminous asphalt, concrete or similar materials.

4) Areas for loading and unloading delivery trucks and other vehicles and for refuse collection service, fuel and other services shall be provided and shall be adequate in size and shall be so arranged that they may be used without blockage or interference with the use of access ways or automobile parking facilities.

5) Provisions shall be made for safe and efficient ingress and egress to the public streets and highways servicing the "R-4" Zoning District without undue congestion or interference with normal traffic flow.

6) All buildings within the zoning district shall be served by a public sanitary sewage disposal system and public water supply system. All utility lines (power, telephone, water, gas, cable TV) serving the "R 4" Zoning District shall be placed underground.

7) The developer shall be required, where possible, to preserve or incorporate natural features such as woods, streams and open spaces which add to the overall development of the area.

8) The developer shall be encouraged to give consideration to the provision of community areas, laundry facilities, playground and tot lots, and other services necessary for the comfort and convenience of "R-4" residents.

9) A development plan shall be submitted for each multiple family development or other permitted use in the "R-4" Zoning District in accordance with Article IV, Section 4.18 of this Ordinance, and said plan shall indicate or illustrate how the requirements of this section are being met.

Section 3.5 - "C", Commercial District

a) Purpose - This zone district is intended to provide areas in the township for commercial land uses.

b) Use Regulations - Land and/or buildings in the "C" Zone District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) Book, Stationery, gift, florist or souvenir shop.

2) Bowling alley, including associated restaurant and/or tavern.

3) Grocery stores, package take-out stores.

4) Lodge halls, private clubs, veteran's clubs.

5) Motels, autotels, hotels and cabins.

6) Professional offices.

7) Restaurants and taverns.

8) Golf courses, country clubs, tennis clubs, and other associated resorts or athletic clubs, provided fifty (50) foot landscaped side and rear yards are provided.

9) Other uses that may be developed within this zone district which do not need to comply with Article IV, Section 4.20, being the "Shorelands Protection Strip" Section, are as follows:

+ Boat houses and wet or dry boat storage.

+ Boat motor or related marine repair establishments.

+ Excursion or sight-seeing boats.

+ Marinas.

9) Other similar uses provided that such uses shall be found to be similar to the preceding listed permitted uses by the Township Zoning Board. The Township Zoning Board shall make its determination of whether or not a proposed use is "similar" only after a public hearing has been held with notice of said hearing published in a newspaper of general circulation at least fifteen (15) days prior to the date of the hearing.

10) Accessory uses customarily incidental to the preceding listed permitted uses including, but not limited to, off-street parking and loading spaces, as required by Article VI, and signs, as regulated by Article V of this Ordinance.

11) Special uses that may be authorized in this district include the following: providing that an application is submitted for a special use permit and is approved in accordance with the procedures, provisions and standards of Article IX of this Ordinance.

+ Automobile service and repair shops, provided all operations are conducted within a completely enclosed structure.

+ Contractors (plumbing, heating, electrical), provided all operations and storage are conducted within a completely enclosed structure.

+ Cottage maintenance service, provided incidental equipment such as fertilizers, tools, and supplies are kept within a completely enclosed structure.

+ Nursery, flower, plant or garden shops, provided all incidental equipment and supplies, tools and containers, are kept within a completely enclosed structure.

c) Height Regulations - No building, shall exceed thirty (30) feet or two and one-half (2½) stories, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations No building or structure shall hereafter be erected altered or enlarged unless the following yards and lot areas are provided and maintained in connection with such alteration, construction or enlargement.

1) Front Yard There shall be a front yard of not less than twenty-five (25) feet, provided that where established buildings on adjacent lots vary from this minimum, a new building shall be constructed with a front yard of not less depth than the average front yards for those buildings located on each side of the proposed building and provided that this provision shall not be interpreted to require a front yard of more than forty (40) feet nor less than fifteen (15) feet.

2) Side Yard - There shall be a side yard of not less than twenty five (25) feet on each side of any building except ing the street side of a corner lot or where the side of a lot in the "C" Zoning District abuts a lot in any residential district in which case a fifty (50) foot side yard shall be required and maintained.

3) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than thirty-five (35) feet.

4) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zoning district shall be one (1) acre with a minimum width of one hundred fifty (150) feet at the front lot line.

e) Floor Area Requirements There shall be no minimum floor area requirement in this zoning district.

f) Other Oevelopment Regulations

f) Docks, boat landings and similar structures shall comply with the side yard requirements of the "C" Zoning District and shall not be longer than is required to reach a water depth of ten (10) feet at normal low water.

2) The developer or builder shall be required, where possible, to ensure that new or altered structures in this zoning district will not be damaged by flooding or flood hazards and that excessive soil erosion, adverse changes in the natural drainage courses, or unnecessary destruction of natural features will be avoided, or remedies will be provided.

3) All business shall be conducted in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect adjoining properties.

4) A greenbelt, as required by Article IV, Section 4.18, shall be submitted for uses in this zoning district.

Section 3.6 - "I", Industrial District

a) Purpose - This zone is intended to accommodate the industrial needs of the entire community in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect any adjoining properties.

b) Use Regulations - Land and/or buildings in the "I" Industrial Zone District may be used for any of the following uses only:

1) Assembly and repair of electrical appliances, instruments and devices.

2) Lumber supply and building materials, sales and storage yards, including equipment storage yards.

3) Machine shops, blacksmith shops, and tool and die shops.

4) Public service installations, including public utility buildings and structures for gas, water and electrical service, telephone exchanges, transformer stations, substations, power generating plants including the storage of equipment and vehicles.

5) Sales, service and repair of farm machinery, trailers and heavy equipment.

6) Shops for sheet metal and woodworking.

7) Off-street parking and loading spaces as required by Article VI and signs as regulated by Article V of this Ordinance.

8) Accessory uses, customarily incidental to the preceding listed permitted uses, including, but not limited to, restaurant or cafeteria facilities for employees and office facilities.

9) Other uses provided that such uses shall be found to be compatible by the Township Zoning Board. The Township Zoning Board shall make its determination of whether or not a proposed use is compatible only after a public hearing has been held with notice of said hearings published in a newspaper of general circulation at least fifteen (15) days prior to the date of the hearing.

c) Height Regulations - No building shall exceed thirty (30) feet in height.

d) Area Regulations - No building or structure shall hereafter be erected, altered or enlarged unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building erection, alteration or enlargement.

1) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of fifty (50) feet.

2) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard of fifty (50) feet in this zoning district. Where an industrial district abuts a residential or agricultural zone on the side, there shall be maintained a one hundred (100) foot side yard on such side.

3) Rear Yard There shall be a minimum rear yard of fifty (50) feet in this district except that where such uses abut a residential or agricultural zone, a minimum rear yard of one hundred (100) feet shall be provided.

4) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be two (2) acres with a minimum width of one hundred fifty (150) feet.

e) Floor Area Regulations - There shall be no minimum floor area requirements in this zone.

f) Other Development Regulations

f) All uses shall be conducted within a completely enclosed building or within an area enclosed on all sides by a solid non-combustible fence or wall at least six (6) feet in height. All business shall be conducted in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect adjoining properties.

2) A greenbelt, as required by Article IV, Section 4.19, of this Ordinance shall be provided.

3) A development plan, in accordance with Article IV, Section 4.18, shall be submitted for uses in this zoning district.

Section 3.7 - "A", Agricultural District

a) Purpose - This zoning district is intended for large tracts used for farming or which are idle. It is not intended for any use except agricultural, low density, single family residential use and other specialized rural uses requiring large tracts of land. This restriction is necessary to provide maximum property protection for rural and open space land uses.

b) Use Regulations Land and/or buildings in the "A", Agricultural District may be used for the following purposes only:

(1) Any use permitted in the "R 2" Zone.

2) Farms for both general and specialized farming, together with farm dwellings and buildings and other installations useful to such farms.

3) Golf courses, country clubs, riding stable and publicly owned recreation areas

4) Non-intensive recreation facilities such as snowmobile trails, archery and rifle, skeet or gun range, and hunting and fishing preserves or clubs, provided that commercial activities such as bars, hotel and/or lodge accommodation, retail stores, service establishments are not permitted.

5) Roadside stands for the sale of products raised on the lot or parcel, provided that off-street parking shall be provided and no hazardous traffic condition shall result from such activity.

6) Special uses that may be authorized in this zoning district include the following uses provided that an application is submitted for a special use permit and approved in accordance with the procedures, provisions and standards of Article IX of this Ordinance.

+ Sewage treatment facilities and sanitary landfills, provided all applicable regulations of the State of Michigan are followed.

+ Commercial natural resource extraction or relocation, including sand and gravel, but specifically excepting cases where land grades are changed in connection with the erection or construction of any roads, and other land improvements in which case such operations shall be permitted without a special use permit.

+ Airports and their associated facilities.

+ Junkyards and salvage yards, provided a minimum six (6) foot high solid fence is constructed surrounding the property proposed for use as a junkyard or salvage yard.

+ Camps, clubs, campgrounds, commercial activities may be conducted on the premises for the exclusive use of the residents of the camp, club or campground.

+ Veterinary, dog kennels, animal hospitals, and related facilities.

7) Accessory uses customarily incidental to the preceding listed permitted uses including, but not limited to, off-street parking and loading spaces as required by Article VI and signs as regulated by Article V of this Ordinance.

c) Height Regulations - No residential building shall exceed thirty (30) feet or two and one-half (2½) stories in height, whichever is less.

d) Area Regulations - No buildings or structures may hereafter be erected, altered or enlarged unless the following yards and lot areas are provided and maintained in connection with such building erection, alteration or enlargement.

1) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than fifty (50) feet.

2) Side Yard - Setbacks from adjacent side boundary lines shall be as follows:

Residential buildings - twenty five (25) feet.

Other buildings - sixty (60) feet.

3) Rear Yard There shall be a distance of not less than one hundred (100) feet from the rear boundary line.

4) Lot Area The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be three (3) acres with a minimum lot width of three hundred (300) feet.

e) Floor Area Regulations - Each dwelling unit in this zone district shall have a minimum floor area of seven hundred twenty (720) square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements and utility areas if a one (1) story building, or one thousand two hundred (1,200) square feet if a building of more than one (1) story.

Section 3.8 - "CR", Conservation Reserve District

a) Purpose - The purpose of this district and its regulations is to preserve state and township public, park, forest, and recreation areas.

b) Use Regulations Land and/or buildings in the "CR" Conservation Reserve District may be used for the following purposes only:

1) Parks, forests, open space and recreation areas owned by a governmental agency.

2) Docks, launch ramps and associated parking areas.

3) Uses similar to the preceding which tend to preserve in substance the scenic character of the area.

c) Other Regulations - There shall be no yard, lot area, height or floor area regulations in this zoning district.

ARTICLE IV
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 4.1 - Purpose

General provisions apply to all districts except as noted herein. Where requirements of a general provision and a district regulation differ, the more restrictive requirement shall prevail.

Section 4.2 - Application of Regulations

Zoning affects every structure and use, and extends vertically. Except as hereinafter provided:

a) No building or structure shall hereafter be erected, altered or moved, nor shall any building or premises hereafter be used for any purpose other than permitted in the district in which said building or premises are located.

b) No building shall hereafter be erected or altered to exceed the height limitations, or occupy a greater percentage of lot area, or intrude upon the required front yard, side yard or rear yard, inner or outer courts, or accommodate or house a greater number of families, or provide less space per dwelling unit than is specified for the district in which such building is located.

c) No lot area and no yard, court, parking area or other required space shall be so divided, altered, reduced or diminished as to make said area or dimension less than the minimum required under this Ordinance, except where such reduction has been brought about by expansion or acquisition of public right-of-ways for street, road or highway. If a required area is already less than the minimum required under this Ordinance, said area or dimension shall not be further divided or reduced.

Section 4.3 - Lot-Building Relationship

Hereafter, every building erected, altered or moved shall be located on a lot of record as defined herein, and except in the case of an approved multiple dwelling development, there shall be no more than one (1) principal building and its permitted accessory structures located on each lot in any residential district.

In the Agricultural District (A) two (2) dwellings may be located on a lot or record, provided there is adequate acreage per dwelling unit to fulfill the requirements of Section 3.7 d) 4), and further, provided that the dwelling units shall be separated by a minimum of fifty (50) feet.

Section 4.4 - Accessory Buildings

a) Authorized accessory buildings may be erected as part of the principal building or may be connected to the principal building by a roofed porch, patio, breezeway or similar structure or may be completely detached from the principal building.

b) Where an accessory building is attached to the side or front of a principal building, such accessory building shall be considered part of the principal building for purposes of determing yard dimensions.

c) No detached accessory building shall be located nearer to a side or rear lot line than the permitted distance the principal building on the same lot.

d) No accessory building shall project into any front yard.

e) An accessory building shall not occupy more than thirty (30) percent of any rear yard.

f) Garages may be constructed within ten (10) feet of any rear lot line.

Section 4.5 - Accessory Buildings as Dwellings

No building on the same lot as a principal building shall be used for dwelling purposes except for watchmen, caretakers or other domestic employees whose employment functions are directly related to the function of the principal building; providing that all other applicable requirements of this Ordinance are satisfied.

Section 4.6 - Temporary Buildings

Temporary buildings for use incidental to construction work, and all debris, shall be removed within thirty (30) days after the completion or abandonment of the work. No structure shall be used for temporary dwelling purposes that does not comply with the requirements of this Ordinance or any applicable building codes, provided the Zoning Board of Appeals may allow variances on the size of temporary dwelling units. No garage or other accessory building, travel trailer, basement, tent, barn, partial or temporary structure, whether of a fixed or portable construction, shall be erected or moved onto a lot and used for any dwelling purposes unless authorized by the issuance of a permit by the Zoning Administrator.

Section 4.7 - Moving of Buildings

The moving of a building to a different location shall be considered the same as erection of a new building, and all provisions, regulations or requirements relative to the erection of a new building shall be applicable thereto.

Section 4.8 - Razing of Buildings

No building shall be razed until permission has been obtained from the Zoning Administrator. Said permission shall be conditioned on the applicant completing the razing within such reasonable time period as shall be prescribed and complying with such regulations as to health and safety as the Building Inspector may prescribe including filling of excavations and proper termination of utility connections.

Section 4.9 - Yard Encroachments

The yard requirements of all zones are subject to the following permitted encroachments.

a) Terraces, patios and similar structures may project into a yard as required herein, provided that such structure he unroofed and without walls or other continuous enclosures, except that porches and other appurtenances shall be considered an integral part of the building to which they are attached and shall be subject to all yard requirements thereof.

b) Chimneys, flues, cornices, eaves, gutters and similar features may project into any required yard a maximum of twenty-four (24) inches.

c) Unenclosed and unroofed fire escapes, outside stairways and balconies may project into a required yard a maximum of five (5) feet.

Section 4.10 - Intersection Visibility

On any corner lot in any district requiring front and side yards, no fence, wall, screen, hedge, sign or other structure or planting shall obstruct vision between the heights of three (3) and ten (10) feet within the triangular area formed by the intersecting street right-of-way lines and a straight line intersecting them at points which are on said right-of-way lines and thirty (30) feet distant from their point of intersection. Such heights of clear vision areas shall be measured from the elevation of the street centerlines at the point of intersection. No fence, wall, screen, hedge, sign or other structure or planting shall obstruct vision from a driveway between the heights of three (3) feet and ten (10) feet measured above the elevation of the street centerline, within ten (10) feet of any front property line.

Section 4.11 - Through Lots

In any district, a through lot, as herein defined, shall have a front yard, as hereinafter provided for its particular district on all frontages along each street lot line.

Section 4.12 - Essential Services

Essential services, as defined herein, shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law, public policy and specific zoning regulations in any district, it being the intention otherwise to exempt such erection, construction, alteration and maintenance from the application of this Ordinance when not in conflict with Article I of this Ordinance. When in conflict, the Board of Appeals shall have the power to determine reasonable conditions under which such facilities shall be erected.

Section 4.13 - Required Water Supply and Sewage Disposal Facilities

Every building hereafter erected, altered or moved upon any premises and used in whole or in part for dwellings (year round or seasonal), recreational, business, commercial or industrial purposes, including churches, schools and other buildings in which persons customarily congregate, shall be provided with a safe and sanitary water supply system and with means for collecting and disposing of all human excreta and of all water carried domestic, commercial, industrial and other wastes that may adversely affect health conditions. The written approval of such facilities by the District Department of Health, shall be filed with an application for a zoning permit.

Section 4.14 - Street Closures

Whenever any street, alley or other public right of way, or railroad right-of way, is vacated by official action of the appropriate agency or the Township Board, the zoning district adjoining each side of such right of way shall be automatically extended to the center of such vacation, and all areas included in the vacation shall then and thenceforth be subject to all appropriate regulations of the extended districts.

Section 4.15 - Grades

No premises shall be filled or graded so as to discharge surface runoff on abutting premises in such a manner that will cause inconvenience or damage to adjacent properties. When property is developed adjacent to existing properties previously developed, existing grades shall have priority.

Section 4.16 - Removal of Soil, Sand or Other Material

The removal of soil, sand, topsoil or other material from the land is not permitted in any zone except under a temporary permit from the Zoning Board which may be denied or issued in appropriate cases upon the filing of an application accompanied by a suitable agreement or bond that such removal will not cause stagnant water to collect, or that no material shall be taken from any part of a lot within two hundred (200) feet of any road or trail travelled by the general public, nor within two hundred (200) feet of an adjacent lot line, or leave the surface of the land, at the expiration of such permit, in an unstable condition or unfit for the growing of turf or for other land uses permitted in the zone in which such removal occurs. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit normal excavation or grading incidental to the construction or alteration of buildings.

Section 4.17 - Mobile Homes, Motor Homes, and Travel Trailers

a) No person shall park or cause to be parked any mobile home, motor home, or travel trailer overnight on any street, alley, highway or other public place, provided that in case of accident or emergency, any member of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department may permit such parking at such place and upon such conditions as are then specified by such member of the Sheriff's Department.

b) No person shall park or cause to be parked any mobile home, motor home, or travel trailer on any site, lot, field, or tract of land not specifically licensed as a mobile home park or travel trailer park, except as otherwise provided herein.

c) One (1) travel trailer or motor home may be parked on the lot of any occupied dwelling unit in the township for fifteen (15) days or less in any thirty (30) day period, provided:

1) The travel trailer or motor home shall carry current state license plates.

2) The travel trailer or motor home is so parked on the lot so that no portion of the travel trailer or motor home is within the front yard area of the lot or parcel of land.

3) The travel trailer or motor home is not connected to water and sewer services currently being utilized by the dwelling.

4) Wheels and tires are not removed at any time except for the purposes of repair.

d) Any owner or occupant of a dwelling may keep, for dead storage only, one (1) travel trailer or one (1) motor home on the premises, provided

1) The travel trailer or motor home is not used for any purposes.

2) The travel trailer or motor home is locked at all times and not used for storing materials of any kind other than the furnishings and personal items common to a travel trailer or motor home.

3) The travel trailer or motor home does not have the wheels or tires removed except for the purposes of repair.

4) The travel trailer or motor home is not elevated, blocked or stabilized in any manner other than with jacks designed for that purpose.

Section 4.18 - Development Plan Requirements

No building shall be erected or structurally altered nor shall any grading take place on any lot or parcel in zoning districts where a development plan is required unless a development plan is submitted to the Zoning Board and the Zoning Administrator and approved by the Zoning Board. Three (3) copies of the development plan drawn to scale shall be filed with the Zoning Administrator and shall contain the following information

a) Total area in the development project.

b) Location, shape, area and dimension of the lot, lots or acreage to be used.

c) Present zoning of the subject property and adjacent property.

d) All public and private right of ways and easement lines located on and adjacent to the subject property which are proposed to be continued, created, relocated or abandoned.

e) Location and total number of curb cuts, driveways, off-street parking spaces and loading spaces.

f) Proposed exterior building dimensions (horizontal and vertical), gross floor area, number of floors and proposed uses.

g) Location and dimensions of all existing and proposed structures, walks, malls, open areas, walls, fences, screen plantings and/or other landscaping.

h) Existing and proposed sewer, water and other utility lines plus location and type of sewage treatment facility and water source.

i) Required setbacks of the zoning districts.

j) Area at subject property to be covered by buildings.

k) Location, size, height and orientation of all signs.

l) All major environmental features, such as major stands of vegetation, swamplands, rock outcroppings, slopes of 20 percent or more gradient, and/or other features.

m) Development plans for residential projects (multiple family developments and mobile home parks) shall include the following additional information:

1) Minimum floor area of dwelling units.

2) Total number of units proposed.

3) Number of bedrooms per unit in multiple family developments.

4) Areas to be used for open space and/or recreation.

n) Such other information regarding the development area that may be required to determine conformance with this Ordinance.

Section 4.19 - Greenbelts

A greenbelt, as defined herein, shall be required for any commercial or industrial use that abuts a residential use on either the side yard or rear yard. In all instances, this may be provided as part of the side or rear yard requirements. If waived in writing by adjacent residential property owners, the greenbelt may be omitted or a fence substituted for the greenbelt if, after public hearing and notice, the Zoning Board finds that there would be no adverse effects upon the neighboring property resulting from the waive or omission.

Section 4.20 - Shoreland Protection Strip

No building or structure shall be erected closer than fifty (50) feet from the shoreline of any lake or streams within Norwood Township. Contained within the fifty (50) foot protection strip shall be a band of land thirty five (35) feet wide bordering the land maintained in trees and shrubs in their natural state. Trees and shrubs may be pruned however, to afford a view of

Section 4.21 - Restoration of Unsafe Buildings

Nothing in this Ordinance shall prevent the strengthening or restoring of a safe condition of any part of any building or structure declared unsafe by the Building Inspector.

Section 4.22 - Continued Conformance with Regulations

The maintenance of yards, open spaces, lot areas, height and bulk limitations, fences, walls, clear vision areas, parking and loading spaces, and all other requirements, including the proper maintenance and repair of screening arrangements, for a building or use specified within this Ordinance shall be a continuing obligation of the owner of such building or property on which such building or property or use is located.

ARTICLE V
SIGN REGULATIONS

Section 5.0 - Purpose and Scope

The regulations set forth herein shall apply and govern signs in all zoning districts. No sign shall hereafter be erected, moved or structurally altered unless it is in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance and unless a permit is obtained for such use.

Section 5.1 - General Regulations

Notwithstanding any part of this Ordinance to the contrary, the following regulations shall apply to the erection of all signs.

a) No sign shall project over a public right-of-way except in cases where signs are affixed to a structure that is built on the property line of a lot. Said sign shall not project more than six (6) inches beyond the face of the wall to which it is attached.

b) Signs not exceeding four (4) square feet in area may be utilized for traffic regulation or direction.

c) No sign shall be erected upon the inside of the curve of a street which may cause an interference of sight distance in the opinion of the Zoning Administrator.

d) No sign shall be so placed as to interfere with visibility or effectiveness at any access point or intersection.

e) No sign shall contain, include or be illuminated by a flashing light.

f) All illumination, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Appeals, shall not have the source of light visible beyond the property lines of the parcel upon which the sign is located.

g) If any provisions of any other ordinance, statute or law of Charlevoix County or the State of Michigan impose greater restrictions than herein set forth, then the provisions of such ordinance or statute shall control.

Section 5.2 - Classes of Signs

The following classes of signs are permitted in the following zoning districts. Where requirements of a specific zone district and a general regulation differ, the specific shall prevail.

a) District: R-1, R-2, C-1, A-1, CR + Sign Type: On premise sign advertising a public or quasi-public use. Such signs shall not exceed twelve (12) square feet in area, with one (1) dimension not greater than four (4) feet. There shall be no more than one (1) sign for each street upon which the property faces.

b) District: R-1, R-2, R-3, R-4, A-1 + Sign Type: A freestanding sign advertising a recorded subdivision or development. Such sign shall not exceed thirty two (32) square feet in area and, if illuminated, the light source shall not be visible from adjacent properties. Signs shall be placed no closer than ten (10) feet from a street right-of-way.

c) District: R-2, +Sign Type: On-premise sign advertising the permitted professional or office use. Such sign shall not exceed three (3) square feet, and if illuminated, the light source may not be visible from adjacent properties. There shall be no more than one (1) such sign for each permitted use.

d) District: C-1, 1 +Sign Type: Freestanding directory signs advertising businesses, activities conducted, an area of interest, or a service available on the premises. Such signs shall not exceed thirty-two (32) square feet, and there shall be no more than one (1) sign for each street upon which the property faces.

e) District: C-1, 1 +Sign Type: Directory signs affixed to, or painted on a building advertising businesses or activities conducted, an area of interest, or a service available on the premises. The total area of such signs shall not exceed thirty-two (32) square feet. In addition, the signs shall not exceed the maximum height limitations permitted in the zoning district. Where a sign projects more than three (3) inches from the face of the building, it shall be at least ten (10) feet above the ground at its lowest level,

f) Signs advertising a general brand or product, an area of interest, a business conducted, or a service available, generally referred to as billboards, shall be prohibited in Norwood Township.

Section 5.3 - Sign Permit Required For Erection of Signs

No sign shall be erected, moved or structurally altered until a sign permit has been issued for such sign by the Zoning Administrator and all required fees have been paid.

a) If any sign is removed and a new sign erected in its place, a permit shall be obtained.

b) If any sign is removed for maintenance or change of advertising copy and replaced on the same supports, a new permit will not be necessary if the size or type of sign is not changed.

c) If any sign is removed from one location and erected at a new location, a new permit shall be obtained.

d) The following signs shall be permitted without obtaining a permit in any zone; however, this exemption shall not relieve the owner or agent from complying with the applicable provisions and regulations set forth in this section.

1) One (1) non-illuminated sign advertising and sale or lease of the lot or building on which the sign is placed. Such sign shall not exceed eight (8) square feet in area, and no more than one (1) such sign for each lot or building is permitted.

2) Signs not over twenty (20) square feet in area with a maximum feet of eight (8) feet which denotes the person firm, architect, engineer, contractor or agency where construction work is being performed. Such sign shall be removed by the owner or agent within ten (10) calendar days after completion of the project.

3) Non-illuminated sign advertising a customary home occupation or professional service not to exceed two (2) square feet and attached flat against a building wall. No more than one (1) such sign for each business or service is permitted.

4) Signs inside a building.

5) Temporary non-illuminated signs advertising sales, bazaars and other events provided such signs shall not exceed eight (8) square feet and shall be removed after a period not to exceed sixty (60) days.

6) Nameplates not to exceed two (2) square feet, each identifying owners of property.

Section 5.4 - Application and Fees for Sign Permits.

Application for a sign permit shall be made and submitted to the Zoning Administrator on appropriate forms furnished by the Administrator. There shall be no fee required for a sign permit.

Section 5.5 - Maintenance of Signs

The maintenance of signs shall be a continuing obligation of the owner of said signs. Failure to comply with the above shall constitute a nuisance per se.

ARTICLE VI
OFF-STREET PARKING AND LOADING SPACE REQUIREMENTS

Section 6.0 - Discription and Purposes

To permit and regulate the parking and loading of automotive vehicles in all zones.

Section 6.1 - General Regulations and Definitions

The following regulations and definitions shall apply in all zoning districts.

a) A plan of the proposed parking and loading areas shall be submitted to the Zoning Administrator for all new commercial, industrial, multiple family, and mobile home park users.

b) A minimum area of two hundred (200) square feet, measured by a minimum width of ten (10) feet and a minimum depth of twenty (20) feet, shall be provided for each vehicle parking space, exclusive of aisles and access.

c) "Gross floor area" is the sum of the gross horizontal areas of the several floors of a building or buildings, measured from the exterior faces of exterior walls or from the center line of walls separating two buildings

d) The Board of Appeals may, without proof of unnecessary hardship, grant any applicant a variance on the requirements of this Article if the Board finds from the evidence presented that the intended use of a proposed building does not require parking or loading facilities to the degree specified herein. However, the Board shall require that adequate open areas be retained around such a building to permit development of the required parking or loading areas should the use of the building change at a later date.

Section 6.2 - Parking Requirements

Hereafter, no building shall be erected or altered and no land used unless there is provided adequate off-street parking spaces in accordance with the following schedule.

Uses	Requirements
Residential Uses	two (2) spaces per dwelling unit
Commercial, Service and Office Uses	three (3) square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area
Industrial uses	one (1) square foot of parking

In the case of a use not specifically mentioned, the requirements of off-street parking facilities shall be the same as for the most similar use listed.

Section 6.3 - Loading Space Requirements

For every building, or addition to an existing building, hereafter erected to be occupied by a use allowed in any commercial or industrial zone district or other similar use requiring the receipt or distribution, in vehicles, of materials or merchandise, there shall be provided and maintained on the same premises with such building or addition off-street loading spaces in relation to floor area as follows:

a) Up to twenty thousand (20,000) square feet - one (1) space.

b) Twenty thousand (20,000) to fifty thousand (50,000) square feet - two (2) spaces.

c) Fifty thousand (50,000) to one hundred thousand (100,000) square feet three (3) spaces.

d) One (1) additional space for each additional one hundred thousand (100,000) square feet or fraction thereof,

Each such loading space shall be at least ten (10) feet in width, fifty (50) feet in length, and fourteen (14) feet in height. No such space shall be located closer than fifty (50) feet to any lot in any residential or agricultural district unless wholly within a completely enclosed building or enclosed on all sides by a wall, which shall not encroach on any sidewalk or right-of-way.

ARTICLE VII
NONCONFORMING USES, LOTS AND STRUCTURES

Section 7.0 - Continuance of Use

The lawful use of any premises existing at the time of the adoption of this Ordinance may be continued although such use does not conform to the provisions hereof, but if such nonconformity use is discontinued, the future use of said premises shall be in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance.

a) If a structure or use is nonconforming because of height, floor area, parking or loading space provisions of this Ordinance, it may be extended, enlarged, altered, remodeled or modernized to comply with these provisions. Once in compliance, no structure or use shall again become non-conforming in these categories.

b) An existing nonconforming structure or building may be altered or remodeled within the interior dimensions of the building, provided no exterior structural alterations are made except those that may be required by the building inspector.

Section 7.1 - Restoration and Repair

Such repairs and maintenance work as are required to keep a nonconforming building or structure in a sound condition may be made. In the event any nonconforming building or structure shall be damaged by fire, wind, an act of God, or a criminal act, it may be rebuilt or restored provided the cost thereof shall not exceed seventy-five (75) percent of the true cash value at the time of the occurrence; said determination to be made by the Zoning Board.

The Zoning Board of Appeals may grant a variance from this requirement, provided the variance is granted upon a finding:

a) that such rebuilding or restoration will not substantially extend the probable duration of such nonconforming use, or ;

b) that circumstances are such that the land occupied by such nonconforming use cannot be advantageously used for a use permitted in the zone.

Section 7.2 - Change of Nonconforming Use

Whenever a zoning district shall be changed, any then existing nonconforming use in such changed district may be continued, provided all other regulations governing the use are complied with. Whenever a nonconforming use of a building or premises has been changed to a conforming use, such use shall not thereafter be changed to a nonconforming use.

Section 7.3 - Nonconforming Use Discontinued

In the event that any nonconforming use is discontinued for a period of one (1) year, any subsequent use shall conform to the uses permitted in the district in which the premises are located.

Section 7.4 - Repair of Nonconforming Buildings

Nothing in this Ordinance shall prevent the repair, reinforcement or reconstruction of a nonconforming building, or part thereof, rendered necessary by wear and tear, deterioration or depreciation, provided the cost of such work shall not exceed fifty (50) percent of the true cash value of such building at the time such work is done; nor shall any provision of this Ordinance prevent compliance with the provisions of any building code in effect in the township.

Section 7.5 - Nonconforming Lots of Record

Lots of record that are nonconforming because of lack of the required number of acres or minimum number of square feet shall be allowed to be built on, and variances shall be allowed for required setback and yard sizes, provided that an adequate potable water supply and proper and safe sewage disposal facilities can be provided.

ARTICLE VIII

ARTICLE IX
SPECIAL USE PERMITS

Section 9.0 - Permit Required for Certain Uses

a) Purpose Certain Land use activities entitled "Special Uses" may be authorized in the various zoning districts but only if adequate safeguards are provided to ensure the protection of the public health, safety and general welfare. The special uses that may be authorized are listed in the "Use Regulations" section of each zoning district.

b) Special uses may be authorized by the Township Zoning Board by the issuance of a special use permit provided:

1) The proposed use is one listed as a special use for the district in which said use is located

2) The provisions of this Article are complied with.

3) The standards for the particular use as stated in the provisions for that district in which said use is located are fulfilled, and the standards or other requirements of this Ordinance are met.

Section 9.1 - Procedure

a) Applications for special use permits authorized in this Ordinance shall be submitted to the Zoning Administrator on a form supplied for such purposes. Applications shall be accompanied by the payment of the fee specified in Section 11.5. When the application is for public sanitary landfills, commercial and industrial sanitary landfills, or natural resource extraction operations the application shall also include a topographic map showing existing contour lines at an interval not greater than five (5) feet and proposed contour lines at the same interval.

b) An application for a special use permit shall be processed in the following manner:

1) The Zoning Administrator shall forward the application and supporting data to the Township Zoning Board.

2) The Township Zoning Board shall review the proposed development as presented in the application and in terms of the specifications established in this Ordinance.

3) After adequate review and study of any application, the Township Zoning Board shall hold a public hearing or hearings when the following requirements are met: A notice of the purpose, time and place of such hearing shall appear in at least one (1) newspaper of general circulation within the township no less than fifteen (15) days prior to the date of said hearing

4) The Township Zoning Board, after public hearing procedures, may issue a special use permit subject to the final approval of the Norwood Township Board. A copy of the decisions of both, with any conditions or reasons for rejection, if it be so, shall be sent promptly to the Zoning Administrator and to the applicants.

Section 9.2 - Basis of Determination

The Township Zoning Board shall review the proposed special use in terms of the standards stated within this Ordinance and shall find adequate evidence that such use in the proposed location

a) Will be designed, constructed, operated and maintained so as to be harmonious with the existing or intended character of the general vicinity and that such a use will not change the essential character of the area in which it is proposed to be located

b) Will not be hazardous or disturbing to existing or future nearby uses.

c) Will be equal to or an improvement in relation to property in the immediate vicinity and to the township as a whole.

d) Will be served adequately by essential public services and facilities or that the persons responsible for the establishment of the proposed use will provide adequately any such service or facility.

e) Will not create excessive additional public costs and will not be detrimental to the economic welfare of the township

f) Will be consistent with the intent and purpose of this Ordinance

Section 9.3 - Conditions and Safeguards

The Township Zoning Board may impose such additional conditions and safeguards deemed necessary for the general welfare, for the protection of individual property rights on nearby parcels, and for insuring that the purposes of this Ordinance and the general spirit and purpose of the district in which the special use is proposed will be observed. Special use permits may be issued for specific time periods as determined by the Township Zoning Board

ARTICLE X
ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

Section 10.0 - Purpose

In order that the objectives of this Ordinance may be fully and equitably achieved, that a means shall be provided for competent interpretation of this Ordinance, that adequate but controlled flexibility be provided in the application of this Ordinance, that the health, safety and welfare of the public be secured, and that justice be done, there is hereby established a Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

Section 10.1 - Creation, Membership

The Norwood Township Board shall appoint a Township Zoning Board of Appeals to consist of three (3) members. The first member of such board of appeals shall be the chairman of the Township Zoning Board, the second member shall be a member of the Township Board; and the third member shall be selected and appointed by the Township Board. No elected officer of the township nor any employee of the Township Board may serve simultaneously as the third member of or as an employee of the Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

The Township Board may provide that the Township Board of Appeals shall have five (5) members. The additional members shall be selected and appointed by the Township Board from among the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the Township. Any additional members shall not be employees of the Township Board. The member who is a member of the Township Board appointed by the Township Board shall not serve as Chairman of the Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board for non-performance of duty or misconduct in office upon written charges and after public hearing.

Section 10.2 - Rules of Procedure

a) The Board shall adopt rules and regulations to ensure proper conduct of its meetings. Copies of such regulations shall be made available to the public at the office of the township clerk.

b) Meetings of the Board shall be open to the public and shall be held at the call of the Chairman and at such times as the Board may determine.

c) The Board shall act by resolution. The concurring vote of a majority of the members of said board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision or determination of the Zoning Administrator or to decide in favor of the applicant any matter upon which the Board is required to pass under this Ordinance or to grant variances from the requirements of this Ordinance.

d) Records - Minutes shall be recorded of all proceedings which shall contain evidence and data relevant to every case considered together with the votes of the members and the final disposition of each case. The grounds of every determination shall be stated. Such minutes shall accompany and be attached to the standard forms required of persons appealing as part of the Zoning Board of Appeals' permanent records. Such minutes shall become a public record and as such be filed in the Office of the Township Clerk. A copy of the decision shall be sent promptly to the applicant and the Zoning Administrator.

e) Secretary and Counsel - The township clerk shall be responsible for acting as the secretary, or of providing secretarial services for the Zoning Board of Appeals, and all records of the Board's action shall be taken and recorded under his direction. The Township attorney may be requested to attend any meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Section 10.3 - Appeals

a) Appeals to the Zoning Board of Appeals may be taken by any property owner, any person aggrieved, or by an officer or board of the Township.

b) Time Limit - Any appeal from a ruling of the Zoning Administrator shall be made within thrity (30) days after receipt of the ruling. The person making the appeal must file with the Zoning Administrator a signed notice of appeal specifying the grounds for the appeal. The Zoning Administrator shall immediately transmit to the Zoning Board of Appeals all the papers concerning the case being appealed.

c) Hearings - When a notice of appeal has been filed in proper form with the Zoning Board of Appeals, the secretary shall place the request for appeal upon the calendar for hearing and shall cause notices stating the time, place and object of the hearing to be served personally or by mail addressed to the parties making the request for appeal, at least five (5) days prior to the date of the scheduled hearing. The Zoning Board of Appeals may recess such hearing from time to time; and, if the time and place of the continued hearings be publicly announced at the adjournment, no further notice shall be required.

d) Decisions - The Zoning Board of Appeals shall return a decision upon each case within sixty (60) days after a request or appeal has been filed with the Board unless additional time is agreed upon with the parties concerned. Decisions made by the Zoning Board of Appeals will be forwarded, in writing, to the appealing party and the Zoning Administrator.

e) Representation - Any party may appear in person or by agent or by attorney at a hearing considering his request or appeal.

Section 10.4 - Duties and Powers of the Zoning Board of Appeals

The Township Zoning Board of Appeals shall have the following specified duties and powers:

a) Review - Shall hear and decide appeals from any review, any order, requirement, decision or determination made by the Zoning Administrator in the administration of this Ordinance.

b) Interpretation - Shall have the power to:

1) Hear and decide upon appeals for the interpretation of the provisions of this Ordinance;

2) Determine the precise location of the boundary lines between zoning districts when there is dissatisfaction with a decision on such subject made by the Zoning Administrator;

3) Determine the off-street parking and loading space requirements of any use which is not mentioned in Article VI, Section 6.2 or 6.3, either by classifying it with one of the groups listed in that section or by an analysis of the specific need.

c) Variances - The Zoning Board of Appeals shall have the power to authorize, upon appeal, specific variances from such dimensional requirements as lot area and width regulations, building height and square foot regulations, yard width and depth regulations, and such requirements as off-street and loading space as specified in this Ordinance when all the basic conditions listed below are specified.

1) Will not be contrary to the public interest or to the spirit and intent of this Ordinance;

2) Shall not permit the establishment within a zoning district of any use which is not permitted by right within that district;

3) Will not cause any adverse effect to property in the vicinity or in the zoning district or the township;

4) Relates only to property that is under control of the applicant;

5) Affects only property subject to exceptional or extraordinary circumstances or conditions that do not generally apply to other property or uses in the vicinity, and have not resulted from any act of the applicant.

d) In addition to the foregoing conditions, the following rules shall be applied in the granting of variances.

1) In granting a variance, the Zoning Board of Appeals may specify, in writing to the applicant such conditions in connection with the granting that will, in its judgment, secure substantially, the objectives of the regulations or provisions to which such variance applies. The breach of any such condition shall automatically invalidate the permit granted.

2) No application for a variance which has been denied wholly or in part by the Zoning Board of Appeal shall be submitted for a period of one (1) year from the date of the last denial, except on grounds of newly discovered evidence or proof of changed conditions found upon inspection by the Board of Appeals to be valid.

3) Each variance granted shall become null and void unless the provisions of the variance have been utilized by the applicant within six (6) months after the granting of the variance.

Section 10.5 - Stay of Proceeding

An appeal stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from unless the Zoning Administrator certifies to the Zoning Board of Appeals after the notice of the appeal shall have been filed with him that, for reasons of facts stated in the certificate, a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order, which may be granted by the Zoning Board of Appeals, or on application, by the Circuit Court on notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

ARTICLE XI
ZONING ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT

Section 11.0 - Administration

The provisions of this Ordinance shall be administered by the Norwood Township Board in accordance with the State of Michigan, Township Rural Zoning Act, Act 184, of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended. The Norwood Township Board shall employ a Zoning Administrator to act as its officer and except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, the Zoning Administrator shall administer and enforce this Ordinance including the receiving and processing of applications for zoning permits, special use permits, sign permits, appeals for variances or other matters the Zoning Board of Appeals or Township Zoning Board is required to decide. The Administrator shall also be responsible for the inspection of premises, the issuance of zoning permits and institution of proceedings for the enforcement of the provisions of this Zoning Ordinance.

Section 11.1 - Zoning Permits

It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for any building or structure or to commence the erection, addition, alteration or repair of any building, structure or parking area or repair or move any building or structure; and no land use shall be commenced until a zoning permit has been secured from the Zoning Administrator. Except upon a written order of the Township Zoning Board of Appeals, no such zoning permit or certificate of occupancy shall be issued for any building where the construction, addition, alteration or use thereof would be in violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance.

Exempted from the requirement of Section 11.1 are ordinary farm buildings used in an agricultural pursuit (other than those used or intended for human habitation) such as barns, sheds, outbuildings, silos, grain storage facilities, pens, fences, and corrals, except where the construction of the above intringes on the required front, side or rear yard. If an infringement is proposed, an application for review by the Zoning Board of Appeals shall be filed.

Also exempted from the permit requirements are exterior alterations and ordinary maintenance repairs made on all dwellings and their related outbuildings whose total cost, including estimated reasonable labor costs, does not exceed one thousand (1,000) dollars in any one twelve (12) month period.

Section 11.2 - Zoning Permit Application

Application for a zoning permit shall be filed in writing with the Zoning Administrator, signed by the person, firm, co partnership or corporation requesting the same or by the duly authorized agent of such person, firm, co-partnership or corporation. There shall be submitted with all applications for zoning permits one (1) copy of a plot plan, giving accurate dimensions on either a scale drawing or rough sketch. Drawings shall be required on all structures and shall contain the following information.

a) Existing and intended use of the structure.

b) Lines and dimensions of the lots to be used.

c) Location upon the lot of all existing and proposed structures and any streets bordering the property.

d) Evidence that all required federal, state and county licenses or permits have been acquired or that applications have been filed for same.

e) Other information with respect to the proposed structure, use, lot and adjoining property as may be required by the Zoning Administrator.

The written approval of the water supply and sewage disposal facilities, as obtained from the District Health Department, and as required in Article IV, Section 4.13 of this Ordinance, shall be accompanied by one copy of both plans and specifications, which shall be filed and retained by the office of the Zoning Administrator.

In cases of minor alterations, the Zoning Administrator may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance.

Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance shall be displayed face out, within twenty four (24) hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises, facing the nearest street and shall be continuously so displayed until all work is completed.

Section 11.3 - Certificate of Occupancy

It shall be unlawful to use or permit the use of any structure or premises hereafter altered, extended or erected, until the Zoning Administrator shall have made an inspection of the premises and shall have approved the same for occupancy in writing.

Section 11.4 - Amendments

Amendments or supplements to this Zoning Ordinance may be made from time to time in the manner provided by law.

a) The regulations and provisions stated in the text of this Ordinance and the boundaries of zoning districts shown on the zoning map may be amended, supplemented or changed by ordinance of the Norwood Township Board.

b) Proposals for amendments, supplements or changes may be initiated by the Norwood Township Board on its own motion, by the Township Zoning Board or by petition of one (1) or more owners of property to be affected by the proposed amendment.

c) The procedure to be followed for initiating and processing an amendment shall be as follows:

1) Each petition by one (1) or more persons for an amendment shall be submitted by application to the Zoning Administrator on a standard form provided and shall be accompanied by the fee prescribed in Section 11.5 to cover administrative and publication costs.

2) The Township Zoning Board shall consider each proposal for amendment in terms of its own judgment on particular factors related to the individual proposal and in terms of the most likely effect on the community's physical development. The Township Zoning Board may recommend any additions or modifications to the original amendment proposal.

3) After deliberation on any proposal, the Township Zoning Board shall conduct at least one (1) public hearing, notice of the time and place of which shall be given by two (2) publications in a newspaper of general circulation in the township, the first to be printed not more than thirty (30) days nor less than twenty (20) days and the second not more than eight (8) days before the date of such hearing. Not less than twenty (20) days notice of the time and place of such hearing shall also be given by certified mail to each public utility company that has registered its name and mailing address with the Township Zoning Board and to each railroad within the zone affected. The notices shall include the places and times at which the tentative text and any map of the zoning amendment may be examined.

4) If an individual property is proposed for rezoning, the property shall be conspicuously posted. The Township Zoning Board shall also give a notice thereof to the owner of the property in question, to all persons to whom any real property within three hundred (300) feet of the premises in question is assessed and the occupants of all single and two family dwellings within three hundred (300) feet. The notice shall be delivered personally or by mail to the respective owners and tenants at the address given in the last assessment roll. If the tenant's name is not known, the term occupant may be used. If the notice is delivered by mail, an affidavit of mailing shall be filed with the zoning board prior to the hearing. The notice shall be made at least eight (8) days prior to the hearing stating the time, place, date and purpose of the hearing.

5) Following such hearing, the township zoning board shall consider the testimony taken at the public hearing and its own findings, and shall make a determination as to its recommendation. This recommendation shall then be submitted to the Charlevoix County Planning Commission. The approval of the Planning Commission shall be conclusively presumed unless the Commission shall, within thirty (30) days of its receipt, have notified the township clerk of its disapproval.

6) After receipt of the County Planning Commission recommendation, the Township Zoning Board shall transmit the proposed amendment to the Township Board. If the Township Board shall deem any amendments, changes, additions, or departures, it shall refer the amendment to the Zoning Board for a report. After receiving the report, the Township Board shall grant a hearing on any proposed amendment to any property owner who by certified mail addressed to the Clerk of the Board requests to be so heard and shall request the Zoning Board to attend any such hearing. Thereafter at any regular meeting or at any special meeting called therefor the Township Board may ordain and enact into law the proposed amendment to the Norwood Township Zoning Ordinance.

7) No application for a rezoning which has been denied by the Township Board shall be resubmitted for a period of one (1) year from the date of the last denial, except on grounds of newly discovered evidence or proof of changed conditions found upon inspection by the Township Board to be valid.

d) The Township Board shall have the power to revoke or cancel any change of zone affected for any failure or neglect to comply with any provisions of this Ordinance, or in case any false statement or misrepresentation is made in any petition, application, specification, plan or sketch submitted or filed pertaining to rezoning proceedings, or for failure to carry out any provisions of such application, petition, specification, plan or sketch or conditions or provisions on which such amendment was granted.

Section 11.5 - Filing Fees

Applications and petitions filed pursuant to the provisions of this Ordinance shall be accompanied by the filing fees hereinafter specified except where otherwise noted.

a) For each zoning permit, a fee of ten (10) dollars shall accompany the application.

b) For each petition for an appeal from a decision of the Zoning Administrator to the Board of Appeals or petition or application to the Board of Appeals for a variance, a fee of ten (10) dollars shall accompany the petition or application.

c) For each petition for an amendment to this Ordinance, a fee of twenty five (25) dollars shall accompany the petition or application. The petitioner, or petitioners, shall also be required to bear all costs created by Article XI, Section 11.4 c) of this Ordinance.

d) For each petition for a special use permit, a fee of twenty-five (25) dollars shall accompany the petition or application.

Section 11.6 - Enforcement

a) Buildings erected, altered, moved, razed or converted or any use of land or premises carried on in violation of any provision of this Ordinance are declared to be a nuisance per se.

b) The Zoning Administrator shall inspect each alleged violation and shall order correction in writing to the violator of all conditions found to be in violation of this Ordinance. A violation not corrected within a period of not less than thirty (30) days nor more than six (6) months as determined by the Zoning Administrator shall be reported to the Township Board who shall initiate prosecution procedures.

c) Any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists enforcement of any the provisions of this Ordinance upon conviction thereof before any court of the county shall be fined not more than one hundred (100) dollars, or imprisonment at the discretion of the court, with the cost of prosecution for each offense. Every day that violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense. The imposition of any sentence shall not exempt the offender from compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 11.7 - Interpretation and Conflict

In interpreting and applying the provisions of this Ordinance, the provisions shall be held to be the minimum requirements adopted for the promotion of the public safety, health, convenience, comfort, prosperity and general welfare. It is not intended by this Ordinance to interfere with or abrogate or annul any easements, covenants or other agreements between parties provided, however, that where this Ordinance imposes a greater restriction upon the use of a building or land than existing easements, covenants or other agreements, the provisions of this Ordinance shall govern or control. Whenever the requirements of this Ordinance differ from the requirements of other lawfully adopted rules, regulations or ordinances, the most restrictive, or that imposing the higher standards, shall govern.

Section 11.8 - Validity

Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared by the court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinance as a whole or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

Section 11.9 - Effective Date

This Ordinance shall be given immediate effect, provided Section 11.6 shall become effective thirty (30) days following publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the Township. Publication of the Ordinance shall be undertaken within thirty (30) days following the approval by the Township Board.

Proposed '76 Budget Shoots Up 14 Percent

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County Commissioners are considering budget recommendations that are up some 14 percent over last year.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners has submitted a budget for 1976 totaling $1,463,829 for consideration of the board at its annual meeting this week.

Budget figures are up $180,773, or slightly more than 14 percent above last year's.

Property taxes, which provide the greatest share of total revenue, are expected to bring in $856,715 to help pay for county government during 1976. They are based on a tax rate of 4.7 mills.

The 1975 property tax rate was 4.8 mills and brought in $826,994.

The State Equalized Valuation of property within the county has risen $9,989,431 during the past year.

The biggest jump in income (from $28,200 to $87,146) is in Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds. These are federal funds for employment of persons in various departments of the county and are reflected in expenditures in departments where such persons are employed.

Revenue shnring funds, another federal source of income are also up--from $195,862 to $235,324.

Budgeted revenue and expenditures by departments for 1976 compared to 1975 are listed below.

Hearing Set for Drug Case

Two of three young men arrested in Detroit on Oct. 3 on charges of selling and conspiring to sell a controlled substance (PCP) will appear in District Court within the week for preliminary hearings in the case.

They are Robert A. Michalak, 21, Detroit, and James M. Smith, 19, of Charlevoix who is stationed at Bay Shore with the U.S. Air Force.

The pair appeared before District Judge David W Fershee on Oct. 8 for arraignment. At that time, Michael Gibhons of Charlevoix was appointed as attorney for Michalak. Smith informed the judge he would seek his own attorney.

Judge Fershee continued their bonds of $10,000 each. They were remanded to the county jail to await preliminary hearings.

The third man, Claude J. Doughtry, 21, of Detroit, who was held in the Wayne County jail, has been released on bond.

The three were arrested Oct. 3 through the efforts of the Charlevoix City Police, the Michigan State Police of the Petoskey Post and its Narcotic squad and the controlled substance, P.C.P., with a street value of $105,000 confiscated.

P.C.P. Is an animal tranquilizer.

Says Thanks

Thanks to all the band parents who donated time and food ta the band's first salad luncheon. And also a special thanks to Mrs. Joanne Jones and her committee on the organization of the project, to Olesan Food Stores for their rolls and to the American Legion for the use of their building. It is especially gratifying to me as director of bands at Charlevoix to see the kind of support our community shows for the music program.

Telephone Rates

I was shocked to read last week that Michigan Bell telephone has asked the Michigan Public Service Commission for permission to charge for long distance calls. There are just too many times when the only way you can get a telephone number is to call information and I don't think its fair to charge for the information call. If Michigan Bell wants to provide phone books for the entire state, maybe the charge would be justifiable. Otherwise forget it.

Advertising

If Michigan Bell thinks it needs to raise our rates perhaps it should first look at the amount of money it spends on television ads. I can't understand it. Why should Michigan Bell buy television ads, where else are you going to go to get telephone service? Their charge for information calls is a bunch of nonsense.

Flag Football

I want to thank the Charlevoix Recreation Department for all the work they have done this fall with flag football. They have done a fine job and I know a lot of kids have been able to benefit from the program. I don't know whose completely responsible for the program, but I just want them to know that it was appreciated.

Golf Team

I'm not sure how many people are even nware that Charlevoix High School has a golf team, but I think they should be congratulated for their great work. They've worked hard this year and now have earned first place regional honors. They are to be congratulated for their fine efforts.

Hotline Question.

Charlevoix recently lost its' planning commission when Charlevoix Township decided it no longer want to work with the city. Should Charlevoix create its own planing commission? Call the Courier Hotline (547-6559)

CHARLEVOIX will have twa representatives in the District Punt, Pass and Kick competition at Lansing Saturday after the pair won in their respective divisions in zone competition at Grayling last Saturday. They are Jack Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carlson, who was the winner in the 13-year-old division and Brent Cole, son of the Harvey Coles, wha wan in the nine-year-old division.

Rayder Golf Team Takes Regional 1st

The Charlevoix High School golf team, coached by Barry Anderson, captured the regional Class C golf title at Gladwin Saturday, topping a field of 22 entries with a composite score of 319.

In winning the meet, the Rayder team edged the defending champions, Ithaca, which came in second with a score of 325.

Boyne City placed ninth with a score of 350 and Grayling 14th with a seore of 374.

Mike Custer was medalist for the Rayder team with score of 35 and 39 for a total of 74. Art Ranger and Jack Tillen posted like score of 38-41 for totals of 79 and Pat Paul 44-43 for an 87.

The team will play in the state Class C finals at the Clearbrook Country Club in Saugatuck Saturday.

The Charlevoix Golf Team came in second behind Petoskey in the annual Michigan Huron Shores Conference meet at the Michaywe course at Gaylord recently.

Petoskey posted a 343 to win its eighth straight title. Charlevoix placed second with 351 followed by Cheboygan with 370; Boyne City, 386; Grayling, 389; St. Ignace, 409 and Gaylord, 434.

Chris Oelke of Petoskey was medalist for the meet.

Seores for Charlevoix golfers were Mike Custer, 83; Art Ranger and Pat Paul, 88 and Jack Tillen, 92.

Island Lighthouse Transfer Takes Place This Friday

The Charlevoix School Distriet will receive the deed to 61 acres of government surplus property, known as the Beaver Island Light Station, at a formal ceremony at the Charlevoix Public Library at 9:30 a.m. Friday Supt. James A. McKinnny advised the Charlevoix board of education at its regular meeting Monday night.

At the same meeting, the board took action to purchase the Southgate property on US 31 South on which the school district has been paying rent for the past five years. Under the contract the $32,500 paid in rent will apply toward the purchase price of $60,000. The remaining $27,500 will be paid on a land contract at seven percent interest.

Before the final action was taken, Max Novak, president of the board, questioned the original contract drawn up five years ago in which no mention was made of buildings and equipment. He was advised by Robert Cook, a member of the board, that this had been discussed with Bruce Donaldson from whom the property and building are being purchased. Donaldson agreed to take only four pieces of equipment valued at approximately $200 and leave the remainder in the building.

In other action, the board voted to hire Mike Bonello, who came to Charlevoix recently as an anesthetist at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, as ski coach. He is a former high school and college ski team member and operated his own ski school in southern Michigan. No one on the faculty was interested in assuming the position, Novak said.

Turned down a request by the Petoskey Mental Health Clinic for a contribution of 55 cents per student toward the cost of operating the clinic. It was explained that the facilty was already receiving public monies and that only one school district in the Char-Em Intermediate District was supporting the request.

Voted to continue membership in library system known as the Grand Traverse Area Federation. It costs approximately $1,200 per year. Through the federation all resources in the area are available to patrons of the Charlevoix public library on demand.

Rep. BobbyCrim Invades Northern Michigan

Says No Longer Republican Stronghold

Crim visits Northern Michigan

Bobby Crim traveled through dangerous territory last week when his motor home breezed along U.S. 31 between Petoskey and Charlevoix.

The Michigan House Democratic leader made a two-day sweep through what has always been thought of as a Republican stronghold.

Top Northern Michigan Republicans have been so sure about their strength that they've jokingly said northerners have thought Crim was a disease.

The 43-year-old Genesee County Democrat tried to dispel those misconceptions as he made several stops, including Republican Governor Milliken's hometown of Traverse City.

Crim speaks like a polished newscaster and dresses like a big city banker, but he made no bones over the fact he's from the small, 5,259 population community of Davison, located near Flint.

During a luncheon talk made to a handful of Democrats in a Petoskey restaurant, it was rumored he was the first outstate Democrat to hold the top seat in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Ohio State Tickets

Crim took a big bite into a Super Chef hamburger as his travel home edged closer to Charlevoix and he fired back answers to a variety of questions from railroads to the state's economy.

The University of Michigan graduate is probably most known to sports fans, who tried to buy a ticket for the Michigan State-Ohio State game and heard about Crim's block ticket purchase as a fund-raiser gimmick.

Crim is quick to point out that the incident was way over-publicized and that even the capitol's city's newspaper, The State Journal, failed to mention that it had also purchased some 50 tickets for the game.

When asked about the new single business tax, which many have said will hurt small Northern Michigan resort industries, Crim said the tax has the potential for having a positive effect.

"A local company that decides to rennovate and do some rebuilding can freeze their local taxes and not increase their assessment for up to 12 years," he said.

"If there is a problem with the welfare system it's principally in the federal bureaucracy and they're the ones that hand down the rules that we must abide by," he said.

"So I'm happy to join with them (the Republicans) as a matter of fact, we the Democrtic legislature suggested a year before the Governor concurred, that we hire several hundred people to do some checking on the welfare system.

"Only a year later did the Governor argue that it was needed and that it was an appropriation that could justify itself."

Political Reform

On the new political reform bill passed by the Michigan Legislature last year, Crim said he didn't see where the new law would allow Democratic labor unions to group finance particular campaigns in the state to oust Republicans.

"The Republican party shouldn't kid people that union members are the only people who help finance campaigns, let's look at all the 'oil companies and other companies that help finance campaigns," he said.

"It's a rather partisan shot, they want to restrict the labor union as much as possible while voting on the other hand a $1,700 limitation per person which allows everyone in the family, including kids that are one-year-old to give $1,700, too.

"The Republicans want to restrict the base support groups of the Democratic Party and make it more lenient for the base support groups of the Republican Party."

When asked about proposed Northern Michigan railroad abandonment, the House Speaker said the State of Michigan does not have much money to get into the financing of the railroads in this state unless it gets into some type of transit bonding, with a portion of that designated for Northern Michigan rails.

"Railroads are vitally important to Northern Michigan," he continued.

If the federal government really wants to save rail service, Crim says they are going to have to work more with the states and the states, in turn, will have to furnish some of the money.

"I see Michigan's role as passing some type of transit bonding so we will have the money to participate with the federal government on some type of equity formula," he said.

Welfare Reform

In response to Republican Senator Robert Davis' massive statewide effort for welfare reform, Crim says he wishes the Republicans would direct their attention to where the problem really is.

"We get about half of our money from the federal government in the welfare system and almost all the regulations handed down are from the federal government," he said.

Just two weeks ago, the Detroit Free Press took Crim and other Democratic leaders to task for what it claimed was a misuse of their legislative staff for campaign purposes on state time.

The House Speaker said the story was untrue and that Democrats had been careful so they wouldn't be accused of that.

He emphasized that his two days of harnstorming through Northern Michigan with three aides was done at private expense.

Crim, a one-time school teacher and father of three boys, told the Petoskey group that Democratic strength is no longer coming from the metropolitan Detroit area, but from outstate Michigan.

"We must build a viable Democratic party," he said.

And with that theme, Crim met with local Democrats and news media to establish better relations, and to make sure Democratic viewpoints get aired as well as the governor's.

Welfare Reform: Senator Robert Davis Claims We Need it

TRAVERSE CITY—State Senator Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) and two of his Republican colleagues have launched their massive drive to clean-up Michigan's welfare system.

Citing that some $88 million of tax dollars are being wasted and an estimated 15,000 people are abusing the system, Davis said he was drumming up support to reform the present system.

And if immediate action isn't taken, one Republican senator said it is possible that state income taxes may have to go up to pay for the programs.

The GOP Senate Leader appeared here with Sen. John Toepp (R-Cadillac) and Sen. Robert Young (R-Saginaw) in the first of several regional news conferences to gain public support of a bill to end welfare abuse.

The Senators said they were appealing to the public because present reform legislation was at a standstill in the Democratically-controlled Michigan Senate and House.

All three said there needs to be changes in the present law and that strong labor opposition has prevented any action on the bill in the legislature.

The Republican legislators were also urging Northern Michigan citizens to attend a State Capitol Rally in Lansing on October 15, to show leaders the public is fed up with delays and promises.

However, Davis said they would not gauge the amount of interest on the Lansing rally because of the difficulty most people would have attending the rally during the mid-week.

"By traveling around the state, we think it will arouse interest."

Davis, who has attacked labor on several occasions recently, said that he was particularly interested meeting with "rank and file" union members.

He charged that labor leaders, who oppose legislative welfare reform, are not in contact with their union members who would like to see something done.

Young said the people, whom he referred to as the "silent majority" must support the welfare reform bill before legislative action will be taken.

"Those people who are concerned are going to have to sacrifice some time," he continued.

When asked why something hadn't been done earlier, Young said many legislators have been afraid to make waves because they have districts which have many welfare recipients.

Democratic House Speaker Bobby Crim of Davison said in an earlier interview last week that Republican drive for welfare reform was directed at the wrong level of government.

Crim said if there was a problem, it should be directed at the federal bureaucracy which dictates the majority of the rules the state has to abide with.

However, Davis said he thought it was wrong to say "Wait for Washington" and said there was a lot that could be done at the state level.

Davis introduced a bill last March that would, among other things, allow the department to cut off welfare payments to persons who leave Michigan for more than 60 days and require men who marry a welfare mother to assume financial responsibility for her children.

It would also require recipients to carry identification cards to prevent fraudulent cashing of welfare checks.

SENATORS ROBERT Davis, John Toepp and Robert Young.

County Welfare Office Isn't So Sure

Charlevoix County welfare officials seem puzzled over recent legislative drives for welfare reform.

In fact, Social Services Director Richard Tillen says he's not even sure what state legislators mean by "welfare reform".

State Senator Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) launched a statewide campaign last week to gain public support for legislation to curb massive abuse of the state's welfare system.

However, the county director told the Courier last week that the drive for new legislation may be the wrong approach.

"If you shatter the county department, welfare reform legislative talk can seem meaningless," he said.

Tillen said the best way to curb any wrong doings, especially the error rate and fraud, is at the local county level.

And much of this, he says, can be accomplished through a good trained staff that is well supervised and directed at the county level.

Although not able to supply specific statistics, Tillen says his department has been able to stop fraud and prevent initial potential fraud.

"We find the frauds," he said.

"It's not some outside agency or the state doing it.

"You find it through good case work."

Tillen and other Social Services employees throughout Northern Michigan are concerned over recent state actions and the effect it is having on department morale at the county level.

Recent announcement that regional offices are being phased out pose a threat to county level employees who may lose their positions to someone who has more seniority at the regional level and will need a job.

Others are concerned that discussions about massive welfare abuse taking place is having an effect on department morale, which may in turn affect the quality of work being done.

While admitting it may not be a cure-all for all problems, Tillen suggests that requiring home calls for ADC applicants be made before a case is open and relief offered might be of some help.

Presently, ADC recipients may not get a home call from a Social Services caseworker until six months after they have been on the welfare rolls.

Recent charges of alarmingly high error rates may also be misleading, Tillen contends.

Tillen says that error rates simply is a different terpretation of department and state law from those doing the initial interviewing and those checking the work done.

He added that error rate percentages used in smaller counties, such as in Charlevoix County, could be even more misleading because of the small sample of population used to base a percentage on.

Tillen said Charlevoix County generally has a good error rate.

"The rural counties just don't have the same problem as the urban counties," he said.

Tillen said that a legislative move to prevent ADC recipients from getting welfare checks after being out of the state six months, is good.

Editorials/Opinions

Is Welfare Reform Just A Game?

State Senator Robert Davis' drive to clean-up the state's welfare system is both commendable and questionable.

Davis and some of his Republican colleagues appeared last week in Traverse City for the first of several regional news conferences to tell about the woes of welfare abuse in the state.

Unhappy with the progress Republican-sponsored legislation made last Spring in the Democratically - controlled Senate, Davis has decided to tour the state for support.

It is his hope that enough public interest will be stirred up so that Democrats will feel the pressure to move forward on the legislation.

Anyone making a move toward ending an abuse of government should be commended.

Davis has obviously selected a safe area to get on the bandwagon and tour the state with. Who could possibly support welfare abuse?

As much as some Republicans may insist, we seriously question whether the Democrats are actually against welfare reform as the Democrats may have one believe.

We have heard a lot of rhetoric about the abuses of our welfare system, but we have seen very little hard cold fact.

In his news conference last week, Davis harped on the labor union leaders and their opposition to his campaign.

He blamed labor union influence in the Michigan legislature for many of the problems that presently exist.

Davis appears to be making a political issue out of something we question is worth the amount of effort and time he is spending.

Democrats suggest that the state's welfare problem lies not as much with the state as it does with the federal government.

They claim that the federal government is responsible for many of the restrictions now placed on the state and say changes are going to have to be made at the federal level before much can be done with state.

We seriously question how much effect legislative action will have on curing the ills of welfare.

While Davis is more than right in proposing that welfare payments be cut off to those living outside the state, we think a closer check should have been made with local welfare officials.

Charlevoix County Social Service Director Richard Tillen most appropriately suggests that many of the problems that now exist could be eliminated at the county level.

The director says that alleged fraud is already being stopped by solid casework at the local level.

He suggests that a good initial interview under careful supervision is probably the best safeguard toward abuse of the welfare system.

In the meantime, state legislators have been successful in shaking the confidence of local social service departments to the point that they don't know what end is up.

In our opinion, this has to have some effect on local departmental morale.

Whether the welfare problem can be corrected at the federal, state or local level, or all three, is a matter of speculation.

Our only question is why has it taken this long for the Michigan Legislature to take a solid look at welfare reform, a problem that Senator Davis says has been going on for many years.

Two Party System A County Must

Charlevoix County politics face a serious problem if something isn't done shortly.

Both Democrats and Republicans are beginning to realize that their political parties are almost non-existent.

The theory of having competing political parties is healthy and we would hate to see the competition die in our Northern Michigan community.

Competition is healthy and some residents feel it is necessary to insure that we have the best opportunity possible for good government and public office holders.

However, they say that part of the problem lies with public attitude.

Too many people are trying to get all they can for themselves and not really caring what happens to their fellow man.

Rather than making any real commitments toward anything, they are spending their time looking out for their own better interests.

The net effect seems to be showing in our local political system.

It is not important to us whether there are two or a hundred local political parties active in Charlevoix County.

Our concern is that there be enough political interest to motivate creative thinking in our community.

At the same time, active political interest creates a healthy environment to encourage high caliber people to run for public office.

CHECKPOINTS FOR BUSINESS

CORPORATE MORALITY

There are two ways of looking at the well-publicized instances of unethical actions by a few business executives in a few companies—either they are remarkably small in number considering the more than 12 million businesses in the country or they are the tip of an iceberg and there are many undetected acts of political and moral corruption in business.

Our guess is that the number is comparatively small because no other member of our society is so checked and rechecked as the businessman. Competition means others in the same business are keeping an eye on him. People investing in his business review every action. Innumerable government agencies impose rules and regulations. The press publicizes any indiscretions. Employes and their unions have access to all sorts of information. And, most important, we the customers are alert for any kind of ripoff.

However, it is good to see responsible business leaders beginning to speak up in favor of completely open and honest business practices. Outside of insisting on the protection of corporate competitive information, these business leaders are publicly searching for a way to absolutely guarantee fair practices in all businesses going well beyond legal requirements.

This is a worthy goal and its achievement would do much to increase public confidence, not only in the competitive enterprise system, but in our ability to solve other national problems as well.

Perfect gift for bride: a divorce insurance policy

The latest idea in wedding gifts: Divorce insurance.

You can't buy it yet. But Dianne Dubroff, a New York city divorce lawyer, figures it won't be long before public demand makes it widely available.

"It's the same as buying a new car," Mrs Dubroff said. "You don't expect to hurt anyone with it but you buy insurance anyway."

Mrs Dubroff, 66, said she advocates a multiple-purpose insurance package that could be cashed in to help educate the children of the marriage, minimize the financial blow caused by divorce or — if the marriage holds together — make retirement more enjoyable.

And what better time to present it to someone than when they wed?

"Why not be sensible and realistic?" Mrs Dubroff asked. "Why not recognize the reality of divorce? Why should kids suffer when a marriage goes bad?"

Purchasers could look at divorce insurance as money put aside to handle any eventuality.

If enough money was at hand during "the crisis period," the first 3 years after divorce, then courts could dispense with the practice of making support orders against defaulting spouses, Mrs Dubroff said.

"Support orders are only a feeproducing activity for lawyers. They're unenforceable. The husband who's prepared to pay will pay anyway and the one who isn't will run away."

Mrs Dubroff said the adversary process has to be taken out of family law.

"A family dispute is about feelings, not facts," she said. "While there will be facts, they are never the reason for the break-up of a marriage." †

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

When Richard Nixon was re-elected President in 1972, I resigned from the Republican Party. I could not, in good conscience, continue to support a political organization whose chief standard-bearer was so patently devious that his every public statement made me wince in disbelief.

I had supported Nixon in 1968, but four years later I had had enough — even before the grisly revelations of the Watergate scandal.

Now, after 15 months of Gerald Ford, I am thinking of re-applying for membership in the GOP. I can scarcely believe that after all the lemons we have had in the White House in my lifetime that we have finally come up with a candidate of true presidential caliber, a man right up there with Lincoln, Jefferson and Harry Truman.

Ford, ironically, arrived in the Oval Office via the backdoor. He was nominated to the vice presidency by President Nixon following the resignation of Spiro Agnew. Nixon hoped Jerry's mere presence in the second highest post would help brighten up the tarnish his administration had acquired after three years of wallowing in sloughs of political expediency, perfidy and favoritism.

Democrats, by and large, were happy to accept Jerry Ford. Even then the abortion of Nixon's second term was in the wind and they were anxious to have a regent-caretaker fill the gap so they could step in and replace him with one of their own in 1976. But Jerry Ford has been as much of a surprise to Democrats as he has to Republicans.

Who would ever have thought, in the later half of the 20th Century, that we would have a bonafide conservative at the helm in the United States, espousing doctrines like free enterprise and laissez faire which most of us had given up for lost since the days of FDR?

Finding Ford in the White House is something akin to waking up one morning and discovering a dinosaur in the bathtub. We thought the breed was extinct, but now we must concern ourselves with its care and feeding.

But Ford is more than a throw-back to the good old days of the Grand Old Party. He is a happy combination of the best features of what is best in both parties, a rare mixture of Republican conservatism and Democratic humanism.

After years of spend, spend, spend, give, give, give and tax, tax, tax, Ford wants to limit government spending, cut back on give-away programs and bless everyone with a tax break.

Ford says he can do it and deep down we all know he can. But our congressmen and senators of both parties are falling all over themselves telling us why Ford's plan will never work.

Ford's critics are equally thunderstruck by his continued assertions that New York City is undeserving of federal assistance to arouse itself from its current financial nightmare. For so many years the answer to so many problems has been "federal money" that we are even afraid to explore other solutions.

Ford knows that excessive federal spending is at the root of most of the social and economic problems we face in America today and he wants to do something about it.

He knows that New York City's problems will only be solved by radical changes in how the city spends it money.

I like Ford's style. I am impressed by his honesty. I am pleased with his innovations, which are really old fashioned, down-home democracy. I am glad he has the guts to stand up and tell Congress "No, no, no" — time after time — when the old pork barrel starts rolling.

And I hope we have the common sense to return him to office next year. The re-birth of the America we used to know rests in his hands. I don't know where we'd find another like him.

Erma Bombeck

When the story of our civilization is told, there will probably remain three questions of etiquette that time has never been able to answer.

1. Does she or doesn't she use a hair coloring?
2. Do you offer a lady a Tiparillo?
3. Do you ask a man in a leisure suit to take out the garbage?

The leisure suit (for those who have been "leisuring" improperly dressed) is a no-wrinkle, two-piece slack and casual jacket, worn with a coordinated open-at-the-throat shirt with the cuffs turned up.

In the ads, the suits are always modeled by a big, broad-shouldered man with no stomach, an animal's tooth around his neck, and dark glasses that shade his entire face. He's the type who when he says he uses a baby powder after he showers, no one laughs.

For some reason, the leisure suit has captured the attention of men everywhere — even my husband, the conservative dresser. (He wears a necktie to open his mail, and considered zippers in trousers a fad until the U.S. Army issued them in World War II.)

He owns three leisure suits.

"What are you going to do with three leisure suits?" I asked. "You're overdressed for tennis and underdressed for dinner."

"Good heavens, woman," he said, "don't you know what leisure means? It's your time away from employment during which a person may indulge in rest and recreation. You burn around ...or grub around as the kids say.

During the coming weeks I was to discover that the leisure suit had its limitations. You couldn't swim in it, play golf, picnic, row a boat, camp, swing in a hammock, play ball, tinker with the car, cut grass, fish, clean out a tackle box, paint, cook in it, shoot pool or ride a horse.

"If you can't play in it, you'll just have to wear it to work," I said.

"What! And get it soiled?"

Now that I've thought on it, I think the leisure suit has been one of the shrewdest con operations ever to be perpetrated on women. The leisure suit is the twilight zone of the fashion world. A man climbs into his leisure suit and he is "untouchable" by work or play.

As my husband said with that crooked little smile, "You women should get a leisure outfit that temporarily gets you some free time and rest."

"We have," I said. "It's called a hospital gown."

Keep that Piano Man

President Ford has appointed Creighton Holden the Assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of tourism. This could be OK, or it could be Ford's dumbest move since he pardoned Nixon. It all depends on whether Bob Gibbs remains behind the piano at the St. Clair Inn.

Let me explain (try to stop me).

Creighton Holden owned the St. Clair Inn for many years. It's one of Michigan's best-known pleasure spots, sitting on the St. Clair riverbank just a few miles north of Detroit and a short swim from Canada. I grew up in the neighborhood, always aware that if a party were really high class, it would be held at the Inn and I wouldn't be invited.

As a teenage soldier, I did use my uniform and sharpshooter medals to sneak into some wedding receptions. It was at the Inn I learned it is not proper to pull a chair up to a buffet table and sit down and eat everything you can reach. I can still remember wondering why everyone else didn't also sit down instead of filing around me and then going off to eat out of their laps. I provided a severe test of patriotism that day.

In those days, the Inn's only barroom was the shape of a short hallway. If a person always stood facing the bar, and never sideways, the back wall was so close it was impossible to fall down. This was comforting to a lot of young servicemen who proceeded onward to make the world safe for Schlitz.

Currently there is a best-selling book in which several celebrities reveal how and where they received their baptism of sex. I have no intention of following suit in this family newspaper. But, strictly in the interest of nostalgia, it should be noted that if my old gang were inclined to similar bragging, there would be suitably engraved plaques and perhaps a few shrines scattered throughout the St. Clair Inn Parking lot.

But forget the memories. We somehow won the war and the calendar pages flip-flipped with disgusting speed. The Inn propered and expanded. About 10 years ago Creighton Holden added a barroom so large a guy can stumble 20 times while pawing for the security of a wall. It's so close to the river the freighters make waves in your drink. Truly it is a lovely room and the nicest thing about it is the Bob Gibbs trio with Joyce Chicone singing.

Gibbs and I go way back to childhood. Our paper routes rubbed and we were in college together. All these years he was playing the piano, which was marvelous, and getting all the girls, which was disgusting. Once, in an East Lansing tavern, I sat in for his drummer, brushing and grimacing in Krupa style as the music poured from my soul. Surely, I thought, there will be pereussion groupies reaching for my body tonight. But no. As usual, the piano player went home with a homecoming queen candidate. I went home with a bus driver who missed my stop by 2 blocks. I never drummed again.

But there is nothing parochial about my admiration for the Gibbs style of the piano. I pledge no troth with childhood buddies and if they grow up to displease me, they get no phony praise out of my typewriter. I am a great admirer of pop and jazz pianists, fellows like Errol Garner and Oscar Peterson and even Roger Williams when he isn't too hammy. Gibbs makes me as happy as any of them. When he plays "I Only Have Eyes for You" he is better than anyone. And when he plays something soft behind the lovely Ms. Chicone, who can melt ice at 50 paces, the resulting sound is something to float upon and dream about.

So you can see why I view President Ford's appointment with some trepidation. To take the tourism job, Creighton Holden sold his St. Clair Inn. It would be tragically ironical if Holden's switch cut off my favorite form of tourism — a trip to the Inn to hear Gibbs.

I don't know the new owners. But if they'll promise to keep the Gibbs group, I'll promise not to sit down at their buffet table.

Meet Charlevoix

Meet John Campbell

John Campbell

John Campbell is a Charlevoix landscape gardener who has long been interested in a tree care and planting program for the city. Now that Charlevoix has a shade tree commission and has adopted a shade tree ordinance, drawn up by Campbell, the Courier talks with him about how a tree program could be handled.

COURIER: When did the city recognize that it needed some kind of a shade tree program?

CAMPBELL: As far back as 1941, two Michigan State University students spent the summer here doing a tree study and making recommendations. However, nothing ever came of it and now we can't even find a copy of the study. Then, about three years ago the city council and the Chamber of Commerce developed some interest in a tree program for the downtown area. This was held back by lack of public interest. Finally, about three months ago, we received some sample ordinances that would establish a tree commission. The city council adopted it last week.

COURIER: Who is on the city's shade tree commission?

CAMPBELL: We have a fine commission – Jeannine Wallace, Tom Pointner and Bob Wexstaff. They have all shown an interest in a shade tree program and will give us close communication with the business district, the council and the mayor.

COURIER: What will the ordinance cover and how will it operate?

CAMPBELL: It covers city parkways and parks. Our first objective is to set up a maintenance program for existing trees on city streets then decide what must be removed because of hazardous conditions. After that we will decide what species should be planted in given locations.

COURIER: What are the best trees for parkways?

CAMPBELL: Norway maples, because they are deep rooted; thornless locust, Kentucky coffee trees, which are native to central Michigan and will take salt conditions from the streets; Marshall seedless ash and red oak.

COURIER: Have you given up on elm trees?

CAMPBELL: We are trying to maintain what we have and hope a disease resistant type is developed. Our sugar maples are dying, too, because they are not resistant to salt and they need more than the limited area between streets and sidewalks.

COURIER: The shade tree ordinance states that anyone planting a shade tree in a parkway must obtain written permission from the Charlevoix city administrator. How would this work?

CAMPBELL: The commission will try to develop a plan so we don't have many different trees on one street. Persons planting their own trees would pay for them. The trees should be one to two inch caliper, eight to 12 feet high.

COURIER: How much would such a tree cost?

CAMPBELL: The base cost would be $15 to $20, then the planting cost – top soil, fertilization and staking – would bring the price up to about $35 maximum per tree. We hope to establish a city nursery for street trees. A tentative site has been selected. Eventually we would put in 150 to 200 trees a year under the program.

COURIER: What about pruning and tree removal?

CAMPBELL: We hope to use professionals for this – hired fur two or three weeks a year. City employees, if available, could be used for clean-up work and trained to do other work. The wood chips can be used for mulching in the nursery. Limbs six inches in size and up could be sold for firewood. This would help defray the cost of tree and stumpage removal.

COURIER: When is the best time to prune and fertilize trees?

CAMPBELL: The best time to prune is in the fall, winter and early spring. We would probably do most of this work during January, February and early March. Fertilizing would be done in May and September.

COURIER: Have you ever thought about people donating trees to be planted as memorials?

CAMPBELL: This hasn't been brought up but it is a good idea.

COURIER: Are we having trouble with the cedar trees in the area?

CAMPBELL: Yes, there is a cedar blight right now but it would have to last two or three years lo be a real problem. Of course we wouldn't use cedar trees in parkways, but this is one reason it's a good idea to plant several different species of trees. If a blight comes along we won't lose them all.

(Editor's note: Although Campbell did not mention it, he has volunteered to conduct the yearly two-day tree inspection without charge and to help establish the nursery without charge. His business is called Site Planning Design and he is a home and commercial landscape contractor.)

Social Services Plans Fall Class

The Charlevoix County Department of Social Services and the Twin Valley Education Department are sponsoring a series of classes titled "The Many Faces of You."

The classes are focused on the many facets of living that are directly related to women's lives, including consumerism, employment and education opportunities, home repairs, car mechanics, home decorating, nutrition, etc.

The classes are being held for ten weeks each Wednesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Boyne City High School. Since all instructors have volunteered their time, there is no cost for them.

School Conferences Start Tuesday

Parent-Teacher Conferences for the fall term at the Charlevoix Public Schools are scheduled for Tuesday evening and all day Wednesday Roy Fortin, assistant principal in charge of the event, has announced.

More than 1,700 conferences have been scheduled for parents who will have an opportunity to consult with at least one teacher during the conference period.

Conferences are to begin at 6:30 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and all day Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. and 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. There will be no school Wednesday.

Fortin said that , in most cases, forms had been sent to the homes asking the parents the names of preferred teachers and conference times. "We have tried to honor parents' requests whenever possible" Fortin continued, saying that this was not always possible.

Teams of parents, headed by Mrs. James Alger, have assisted in setting up the more than 1700 appointments during the 13½ hours allotted for the conferences.

Police and Fire Beat

Three local juvenides have been placed under the jurisdiction of their parents after they were arrested on charges of breaking and entering several pleasure boats tied up or stored along the south shore of Round Lake according to Chief of Police Jack Mol.

They had entered seven crafts and taken a variety of fishing gear, binoculars, lights and other equipment valued at approximately $1,000.

The losses were discovered after Herman Sizemore had reported his boat rifled late Saturday.

The trio will appear in Probate Court.

Earlier in the week, a 57 foot yacht, the Encore, owned by James Barkman of Grand Blanc which was tied up in the yacht basin behind the Parkside, was entered and an antique slot machine, binoculars and four bottles of liquor taken. The binoculars and one bottle of liquor were later recovered behind the Chamber of Commcrce building.

Barkman was returning to his boat at 2:10 a.m. Thursday when he saw somcone silhoutted against the light. He went to King's a block away to call police. When he returned with them a short time later the loss was discovered.

The City Police are investigating the damaging of large plate glass windows at Fochtman Motor Co. where three were damaged and at the Park Place on Park ave. and Midwest North building on Stover Rd. where each had one window damaged by what is believed to be pellet guns.

The damage is estimated between $800 and $1,000.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is investigating the breaking and entering of two new homes on Bay Shore West in Hayes township reported by the owner, Hilliard Shackford.

The electric heating equipment with wiring cut clean were taken from the two houses officers said. There was no evidence of entry

The ineidence was reported Tuesday.

The Sheriff's Department is also investigating two incidents of malicious destruction and a breaking and entering reported Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Jennie Myers reported that a shed on a farm on Behling Rd. off Wilson Rd. to which she was moving had seven windows removed and taken along with 50-60 bales of hay from a nearby barn.

Mrs. Myers had purchased the property in late September and was just moving to the farm.

Also under investigation are two holes in a plate glass window nt the Charlevoix Cooperative building. They apparently made by a pellet gun. Damage was estimated at $92.

Charlevoix Band Plans for District Competition

The Charlevoix high school Marching Band will be among 10 area bands participating in the District II Marching Band Festival at the Ottawa Stadium in Harbor Springs Saturday, Oct. 25.

Gary Stutzman, director of the band and chairman of the festival, said that 10 bnnds will present half-hour programs beginning at 11 a.m and continuing until 4:30 p.m. with Dr. Norman Dietz and Jack Saunders of the Central Michigan University Music Department as critics.

Stutzman emphasized that this was not a rated festival but rather for the purpose of learning more about the various aspects of marching and to see other bands in action.

A parade of bands will perform. The night of entertainment will be climaxed by the appearance of the 150 piece Traverse City High School Marching Band under the direction of Greg Talford.

There will be an admission of $1.50 for adults and .75 for students with tickets on sale nt the gate.

Bands appearing in the festival will be Fife Lake, Harbor Springs, Kingsley, Glen Lake, Benzie Central, Petoskey, Cheboygan, Central Lake and Charlevoix

Last weekend, the Charlevoix band joined with the Peshtigo, Wis., Marching Band for a rehearsal session nt Manistique in preparation for the Nov. 30 appearance of the two bands at the Green Bay Packers-Chicago Bears football game at Green Bay.

Charlevoix County Officials Criticize Juvenile Code Revision

By PEG OHLE

A state proposal to reorganize juvenile court is being severely criticized by Probate Court Judges, law officials, Boards of Commissioners and other interested persons throughout Michigan.

The bill, H.B. 4704, is a proposed overhaul of the state's juvenile laws which would cut the number of young people placed in detention homes by nearly half, according to its sponsor, Represcntative Lynn H. Jondahl.

The proposed bill would remove offenses such as running away and associating with immoral persons from the jurisdiction of the courts.

Charlevoix County Probate Judge John T. Murphy attended one of the hearings and reports it was "a horrible experience." He said that a number of young people testified from prepared statements that juvenile courts had wrecked their lives. They were part of a well-organized group seeking the revisions, according to Judge Murphy.

Murphy believes that major backers of the code revisions are persons and corporations who operate shelters for runaways in large metropolitnn areas under federal grants. He told of one such shelter which has a capacity of 10 persons and is receiving $130,000 annually in grant money.

The bill would not prevent other agencies such as the Department of Social Services from handling juvenile problems. The hierarchy of the State Department of Social Services is in favor of the revisions, Murphy says. "Social Services has always tried to take over juvenile court activities," he adds.

The bill would eliminate "status offenses", those acts which are crimes only because a juvenile commits them, from the jurisdiction of juvenile courts. Such offenses include running away, truancy, associating with immoral people, habitually idling away time, and others.

According to juvenile court authorities this would permit home incorrigibles or home truants as well as school truants or incorrigibles from being brought to court. They could do pretty much as they please, including quitting school any time, the authorities say.

The revised code would also make it impossible for courts to prevent a young person from living in a dope den or house of prostitution, or a home that is unfit due to drunkeness or possible abuse.

The high cost of handling juvenile delinquency problems under the proposed new code as reflected in several other provisions, juvenile court authorities point out.

Juvenile State

Each year the Board of Commissioners would have to furnish the Probate Court with the number of workers necessary, in the court's opinion, to run such courts properly. Now, the Board of Commissioners determines what staff shall be provided to the juvenile court.

The proposed new code would require that prosecutors appear in all juvenile cases, not just upon request of the judge, as is now the case. It would also require that young people under 14 have counsel even though they or their parents do not necessarily desire one. These attorneys would be court appointed if the families are indigent.

The proposed new code requires a total of six hearings within a 14 day period one before execution of an order to take a young person into custody, one to determine whether to detain him, a preliminary hearing to determine whether to detain him until an adjudientory hearing, a separate hearing to determine whether there is probable cause to believe he committed the offense, the right to a separate rehearing of any of the above, if originally conducted by a referee and now the young person wants a rehearing to be conducted by a judge, and a trial on the merits at the end of 14 days.

These six hearings would, according to opponents of the bill, increase the costs of operation to Boards of Commissioners many fold and require parties, witnesses and police officers to appear in juvenile court six times in 14 days.

Appointed Attorneys

On the other side of the coin, the bill has been called a "Magna Carta" for young people because it guarantees them court-appointed attorneys in all juvenile court proceedings, entitles them to the same due process safeguards adults receive and extends juvenile status to 17-year-olds, who are now treated in court as adults.

The Michigan Association of Counties went on record against the proposed revised code in its present form at its annual meeting this summer. The association also participated in the recent hearings.

According to a spokesman for the association, they have a philosophical difference with the means of handling juvenile delinquents as set forth in the proposed revised code.

Cross Country Team Takes 9th Place at Soo Invitational

Charlevoix's Cross Country team came in ninth among 14 schools at the Soo Invitational meet Wednesday and, earlier in the week, dropped a meet to Boyne City.

In Wednesday's meet which was won by Rogers City with a total of 187 points the Rayders placed ninth with 532 points.

Among the individual runners Wally Drenth placed fifth and Ken Paul, twenty-second. Each received a trophy. There were 122 participants from Michigan and Canada.

At Boyne City on Monday, Boyne City defeated Charlevoix 26-29.

Drenth placed first with a time of 15:38. Others who placed were Mark Russell, fourth with a time of 16:33; Ken Paul, sixth, 17:09; Jeff Drenth, eighth, 17:39 and Steve Berlage, tenth, 18:02.

Girls Host 3 Home Games

After being on the road most of the time recently, the Charlevoix Girls' Basketball team will host three games within the week... Grayling here Tuesday, Boyne City on Thursday and Gaylord on Oct. 21.

In their last away game, the Rayderettes won over Cheboygan 43-31 after a game that saw Charlevoix with only slim leads until late in the game. Charlevoix went ahead 10-8 at the quarter, 20-19 at halftime and 32-28 going into the final period when they pulled away for the win.

Heidi Dove had 16 points for Charlevoix. Margaret Olsen paced the game with 20 points for Cheboygan.

The Charlevoix JV squad dropped its game to the Cheboygan JV's by a score of 26-20.

Volleyball Organizes

Volley ball players and coaches are invited to attend an organizational meeting at the community room of the city hall at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Men's, women's and mixed leagues will be formed and schedules planned Dwight Boss, city recreation director, said.

The season is expected to open the first week in November.

THE KNIFE AT YOUR TABLE

John Reusch

The knife was primarily a hunting tool and weapon. In its beginnings, the knife was made of stone and flint, then bronze, iron and steel. Obviously, the knife was used to help man obtain his food and practically speaking, the knife was probably the instrument used in cutting and skewering this same food. However, it was not until the Middle Ages that the knife was recognized as natural equipment at table. Even then it was dual purpose: for eating and for defense. Using a knife at table then meant that the food was held with one hand while the other hand used the knife for cutting. These early table knives were carried in a sheath and paired later with a fork. Some had decorative silver handles. One style of table knife was broad opposite the cutting edge to provide a resting place for the food and a way to bring food to the mouth. (A custom still followed by some.). When knives were recognized as tableware exclusively, in the 17th century, the sheath knife disappeared and table knives began to be made of silver. That is, the handle was silver, the blade, steel, as is very often the case today.

THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER when making a purchase from a Charlevoix Courier advertiser. We is interested in knowing about your response.

Charlevoix Rayders found themselves in second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores League after clashing with St Ignace Friday night.

The Rayders dumped the Saints 32 to 6 in a rain-soaked clash held in St. Ignace.

The game began with neither team able to make a first down. Three punts and a good St. Ignace defensive stance set the stage for the first break of the ballgame.

Three plays after the Saints had taken over on their own 22 yard line, the Rayder defense caused the first of two St. Ignace fumbles. Charlevoix recovered on the Saints' 35 yard line.

Randy Williams immediately ran 15 yards for a first down, and Quarterback Bob Alger hit End Matt Doan on a crucial 15 yard pass, before Alger carried the final yardage for the score. Good defense once more helped set up a Charlevoix score.

The point after kick was good, and with 1:51 remaining in the first quarter, the Red Rayders led 7-0.

Charlevoix's next touchdown came on a defensive lineman "dream" play. The Saints took the kickoff and were marching. After one first down, Saint Ignace Quarterback Kevin Litzner took off on a broken play, and, following it picked up 42 yards, which finally bumped out of bounds on the Charlevoix 11 yard line. A personal foul moved the ball back to the Charlevoix 38.

On the next play, Litzner dropped back to Halfback Micky Campbell. Charlevoix Co-Captain Kirk Lieberman roared in his defensive tackle position, and literally stole the ball from Campbell's hands. 64 yards later, Lieberman crossed the goal line for the second Red Rayder touchdown.

Alger's kick was good and Charlevoix led 14-0 early in the second quarter.

The remainder of the first half was a defensive struggle. Just before the half ended, the Saints were moving. A strategic tackle on the Charlevoix 6 yard line as the clock ran out, saved the St. Ignace score.

Coach Don Carey's Red Rayders came out of the locker room, and, as they have often done this season, treated the fans to a fine display of hard-nosed high school football.

The Rayders received the kickoff and following a clipping penalty took over on their own 15 yard line. Seventeen plays later, Williams slammed in from the two for the third Charlevoix tntly. Featured in the drive was a rare double penalty against St. Ignace, accounting for thirty yards and 5 Charlevoix first downs gained by Scott Boss, Doug Smith, Bud Klooster, and Williams. Quarterback Alger directed the scoring thrust.

The conversion kick was good, making the score Charlevoix 21, St. Ignace 0.

Rayder defenders continued to bottleneck the Saints, and Charlevoix got the ball back late in the third quarter.

Starting from their own 47 yard line, the hometown eleven began their next attack. Twelve plays later, after being stopped on the St. Ignace 6 yard line, Alger kicked the first Charlevoix field goal of the 1975 season. The Rayders' lead was now 24-0.

On the next Charlevoix possession, the fans were introduced to a budding offensive star. Already a standout on defense, 210 pounds Sophomore Tom Jones was inserted into the game as Fullback. Nine plays after taking over on their own 44 yard line, Jones drove his way into the end zone from the 4.

A fake kick point after attempt resulted in a pass from super-sub Casey Culberson to Doan for a 2 point conversion. With 5:41 remaining in the game, Charlevoix was on top 32-0.

St. Ignace scored on their next possession via a Litzner to Jim Bishop pass, good for 29 yards, however, the ballgame was over, and the Red Rayders simply waited out the clock.

Fine football was played by a number of Red Rayders this past Friday evening. Defensive backs Klooster and Ed Russell were busy during the struggle, and Linemen Lieberman, Jones, John Cinnamon, and Jun Marsh put constant pressure on the Saints backfield. Offensive stars included Alger, Williams, Doan, Smith and Boss.

This 32-6 victory puts Charlevoix in second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores competition. This week's meeting with Boyne City at Kipke Field could set the stage for a title clash in Petoskey the following weekend.

Raiders Take Junior Flag Football Title

The Raiders captured the Junior League flag football title Saturday with a 41-13 win over the Packers to end the season with a perfect 5-0 record.

In a second game, the Steelers and the Falcons played to a 7-7 tie. A third game was postponed until 5 p.m. Tuesday when the Eagles and the Patriots will close out their season.

The Bengals, with a 3-1-1 record, have won the Peewee league title. On Saturday the new champions downed the Cowboys 20-6 and the Lions edged the Vikings 12-6.

Raiders 41 Packers 13

The Packers jumped to a 13-6 first quarter lead after Scott Kelly passed 18 yards to Jim Buchanan and Kelly romped 21 yards on a punt return and then scored a conversion point.

The Raiders, in the meantime, were held to a single tally on a 25 yard run by Jeff Drury.

It was then that the roof caved in as the Raiders went on a scoring spree as Kirk Heckendorn passed 25 yards to Gary Drury and Jeff Drury scored a conversion; Jeff Drury scored on runs of five and 10 yards; Dave Cole intercepted a pass and went 12 yards to score and Jeff Drury pitched a 14-yard pass to Gary Drury. Cole and Jeff Drury added one point conversions and Rob Smith a safety to round out the score.

Steelers 7 Falcons 7

The Steelers, after a scoreless first period, scored on a 12 yard pass from Ken Wojan to Nick Anderson who repeated the act for a one-point conversion tu take a 7-0 lead.

It wasn't until the final period that the Falcons broke through the Steeler defense to score on a six yard run by Gerrard Doan. Pat Hoffman seured the cunversion to knot the score as time ran out.

Bengals 20 Cowboys 6

After a scoreless first quarter, the Begnals got on the board with a six yard run by Ron Way. Mike Fals added the conversion for a 7-0 halftime margin.

The Cowboys came back strung as the second half started with Matt Peterson scoring on a 21 yard run. The

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOLS
COUNTIES OF CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM
STATE OF MICHIGAN
TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES

Sealed bids for the purchase of tax anticipation notes of Charlevoix Public Schools, Counties of Charlevoix and Antrim, Michigan, of the par value of $180,000.00 will be received by the undersigned at the Superintendent's Office, E. Garfield Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, until 12:00 o'clock, p.m. (noon) EDS Time, on the 3rd day of November 1975, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

The notes will be dated November 3, 1975, will mature March 15, 1976 and will bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 8 percent per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at the bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of Charlevoix Public Schools. Denominations and form of notes to be at the option of the purchaser. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such notes must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from November 3, 1975, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the municipality. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

The loan is an anticipation of the operating portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976 due and payable December 1, 1975, subject only to a prior appropriation of a sufficient amount of such taxes necessary for the payment of principal and interest due on an outstanding tax anticipation note in the principal amount of $300,000.00 dated July 3, 1975 and payable March 3, 1976.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2 percent of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the purchaser's expense. The purchaser shall furnish notes ready for execution at his expense. Notes will be delivered at a place to be agreed upon with the purchaser. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Notes".

Nancy Jodway Marries Dean Mikulski

Mr. and Mrs. Mikulski

The United Methodist Church of Petoskey was the scene recently of the wedding of Nancy Jodway and Dean Mikulski.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jodway of Boyne City and Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Mikulski of Charlevoix.

Arrangements of yellow gladioli and daisies graced the altar for the double ring service performed by the Rev. Seward Walton in the presence of 200 guests on Saturday, Oct. 4. Mrs. C. Brendan LaBlanc, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of crystal bata peau over taffeta for her wedding. French imported re-embroidered lace and seed pearls trimmed the bodice, lantern sleeves and skirt that terminated in a chapel train. A Dutch cap secured her full length veil of bridal illusion trimmed with the same lace. She carried a bouquet of orchids.

Kathy Jodway of Boyne City served as her sister's maid of honor and Judy Jarema, also of Boyne City, as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of aqua polyester styled with Juliet sleeves and mandarin collars. Their bouquets were of carnations and roses.

Barry Mikulski assisted his brother as best man and Michael Milliken of Grosse Pointe was groomsman. Thomas Jodway, James Willis, Don Griffin and Steven Edgerton, all of Boyne City, were ushers.

Megan Mikulski was flower girl and Jason Mikulski was ring bearer. They are the niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Jodway selected a peach floor length gown and gold accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Mikulski, mother of the bridegroom, chose an aqua gown and matching accessories.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at Stafford's Bay View Inn. The wedding cake was made and cut by Ms. Nedora Griffin, aunt of the bride, and served by Mrs. Barry Mikulski, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

The couple will reside here following a wedding trip to Toronto.

The bride is a secretary at the District Department of Health and the bridegroom is an environmentalist with District Health Department No. 3.

Mr and Mrs Mikulski, parents of the bridegroom, hosted a rehearsal dinner at Stafford's Bay View Inn Friday evening.

MS Rally Set For Harbor

The Northern Branch, Michigan Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society will hold a Fall Rally October 18, at Nub's Nob Ski Lodge in Harbor Springs.

The rally will start at 1 p.m. and will feature Frank Jakes, president of the Michigan chapter, Lucy Jochen, senior field cunsultant with the Michigan chapter and Al Thieme, chairman of the Saginaw Valley branch.

All persons with multiple sclerosis, as well as those interested in the problem, are invited to attend the rally.

Obituary

Steward McElrae

News of the unexpected death of Steward McElrae, 69, father of Mrs. John Cross, Jr., at his home in Iron Bridge, Ont., on Tuesday has been received here.

Funeral services were held at the Menard Funeral Home at Blind River, Ont., Friday.

Mr. McElrae was well known here, having visited here often. He had operated the Frontier Lodge on Mount Lake at Iron Bridge for approximately 38 years prior to selling it two years ago. Mrs. McElrae preceded him in death in 1969.

Besides Mrs. (June) Cross, he is survived by a second daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Virginia) Papineau of Timmons, Ont.; a son, Larry of Sarnia, Ont.; 15 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Angeline Gregory

Mrs. Harry (Angeline) Gregory, 82, died Monday at the Beverly Manor Convalescent Home where she had been a patient since Nov. 18, 1971.

The body is at the Winchester Funeral home. Arrangements are pending.

FAITH IS AN INFALLIBLE CURE FOR SELF-PITY

The insidious disease of self-pity is one that we all contract at least once in our lives: usually following some sorrow, major disappointment or the conviction that we have failed ourselves and those around us. However, the remedy is simple and unfailing. Instead of wallowing in this morass of despair, we need only turn to faith in God in order to see the fallacy of this waste of our resources, and to divert our energies to the positive channels of helping to ease someone else's misery. So stop feeling sorry for yourself and go to your Church; you will learn that there is always someone out there who needs you — and your help. It works every time!

"Whom comforteth us in our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by he comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God." —II Corinthians 1:4

Are the Fish Going to Bite?

By Tom Dammann

"If they don't start biting in the next two to three weeks, I guess we won't get much of a year."

Jim Annis was speaking of lake trout fishing off the pier heads in Lake Michigan.

"I'm not saying they're not there, they just aren't biting," Jim said, thumbing through a pocket note book.

"This is the book, Fred louze kept.

"He's the one who started the lake trout fishing in the channel. Nobody ever worked at it until Fred did. He and I used to consult about it and then he tried it back in 1969 and we've been at it every year since."

Fred Looze, retired Coastguardsman, fish lure maker and rock hound as well as avid fisherman, died two years ago. Somebody, who prefers to remain anonymous, inscribed a simple "In Memoriam" to Fred on the southwest corner of the end of the south breakwater, the spot from which Fred liked to cast.

When he isn't fishing, Jim does cabinet work, paints pictures and plays golf.

He has taken over custody of Fred's book, and keeps it current with dates, the number of fish caught and weather conditions. Some days the only notation is "too many fish to count." The greatest number recorded is "about 100."

Bonanza

The "B" days – "B for Bonanza," Jim explains – occurred anywhere from October 15 to November 17 and were always characterized by turbulent water, a strong northwest wind and a strong current going out into Lake Michigan.

"It always seems to be cold," Jim says. "Last year the best fishing was just about now, cold, snowy and ice, then it turned nice in November and the fish quit."

But the piers have been crowded for the past few weeks with ever hopeful anglers, like the two Detroit policemen and their wives who have been coming up here regularly for the past four falls, usually catching their limit (three lakers per person) using spawn bags.

Steve Wyckopf, 28, proprietor of a shoe store in Greenville and Joseph Ruch, 28, Allendale, an engineer with Consumers Power Co., in Muskegon, are another pair here for the fourth year.

They caught one nice laker the first morning they were here before going in search of a motel room.

When a photographer arrived on the scene she spotted Wyckopf, his rod bent nearly double, struggling to land an apparent monster, off the breakwater's end. She began photographing the scene, and was embarrassed when she saw through the camera lens that the beautiful lake trout had been foul-hooked in the back.

As he was removing the hook, Wyckopf looked up and saw her for the first time. He grinned, holding the big fish up in the air.

"Here's a picture for you," he said. "I'm throwing it back."

That's the State Law covering trout hooked any place other than the mouth. They must be returned to the water.

"It's good to see such sportsmanship," a bystander remarked, admiration in his voice. "So many people seem to come here just to fish for the meat."

Wyckopf smiled.

"I get a great kick from catching lake trout and I like to eat them, too," he said. "But the main thing is the fun."

Energy and Cost Saving Move

New Lights Get Mixed Reviews

Charlevoix's new downtown lights are apparently getting mixed reviews.

While city officials indicated Monday night that most were happy with the high pressure sodium lights, others say they miss the old mercury vapor ones.

Critics claim the new bright yellow lights, which were installed last week, detract from the character of downtown.

However, City Administrator Robert Wexstaff says the new high pressure 450-watt sodium light uses half the power the 1,000-watt mercury light required, but provides more illumination.

The city official said the energy conservation move should save the city some $2,000 a year.

"In three year's time, they will pay for themselves," he said.

"You also look at colors under the new light and they are true."

Council indicated Monday they would be looking at possible alternatives to repair lights on both Dixon Avenue and Antrim Streets. The lights presently do not work.

Councilman Ralph McRae expressed concern over two other problems–Alice Street and junk cars.

While McRae indicated he would like to see the presently undeveloped Alice Street improved and recognized as city property, Mayor Ed Hansen said the improvement would have to be requested first by adjacent property owners.

The street, which lies between Lallavre Condominiums has been the center of controversy for many years. The private development had earlier expressed interest in the narrow strip of property since it runs through the center of the complex.

McRae said he was also interested in seeing junk and nlicensed cars removed from property throughout the city. He was told to contact the city police department to enforce the present junk ear ordinance.

Yellow Lights

Huve you seen those stinking, yellow lights downtown? Somebody's got to do something about them. They hurt your eyes, make the whole town look orange, and most of the people who live near them can't even sleep now. They burn right through the curtains. Whose crazy idea was that? Ed's or Bob's?

Cau's Sleep

We live on Michigan Avenue and I'd like to know whose idea it was to put those yellow lights up. They're impossible to live with and I don't think the crime rate in Charlevoix warrants such extreme action. I think they're pretty ridiculous and I can't figure out why they were put there, they come right inside my house and I know I won't sleep tonight.

Dancing Girls

Bring on the dancing girls. Coming over the bridge into downtown Charlevoix looks like the marquis on the Gaiety Burlesque.

Presidential Pardoos

It appears to me that Indictment of a crime of any president in office would greatly weaken the office of the presidency rather than the particular individual who happens to occupy an office. To maintain strength of the office, I feel that such immunities of the office traditionally rather than constitutionally at hand should be observed. If a president is removed from office and there are crimes associnted with such removal, then the legal statues of limitations should prevail and pardons from a succeeding president included, our constitution is not written by prosecuting attorneys for the prosecuting attorneys, but by the people for the people.

Restaurant Law

Is there any chance of finding out why the law sits in the restaurant the way they do? Any time you're after the law, they are sitting around the restaurant or in some alley shooting a skunk. You can never find them when you want them. They're all over but where you want them.

Bright Lights

Would you like to go out on a date under all these bright lights here in Charlevoix? All lit up like a Polish church or a wholehouse after closing time. You sit on one side of the bridge or the other and all you can see are the yellow lights. And the lnw is sitting inside again. Some big deal you have here in Chnrlevoix. The lights are so bright.

Garnished Look

I'm a resident of Petoskey and it's probably none of my business, but I was through Charlevoix last night and the village looked garish downtown with those orange lnnterns you have all up and down the main street, it's not pretty at all. Charlevoix is sort of a quaint town we always thought it wns anyway, now it looks like Hallowe'en all the time down there. I don't know who's responsible for them, but I think you've got a bad batch of bulbs or something.

Dear Hotline: Did you see the lights in town? They're orange and ugly. They are too bright. We think the City Council should not have wasted the money on them because the other ones were good enough. You call that economical?

Courier Takes 3 Awards In National Competition

The Charlevoix Courier earned three national honors, including first place for investigative reporting, this week in the National Newspaper Association's Better Newspaper Contest.

Editor Ken Winter and reporter Peg Ohle received first place honors for their investigative work covering farms suffering losses because of Polybrominated Biphenyl (PBB). The fire retardent chemical, was substituted accidentally for a supplement to dairy cattle feed and caused the deaths of thousands of Michigan cattle.

The nine-month investigation eventually led the Courier towards revealing that the toxic fire retardent hnd been found in human beings after earlier denials by the Michigan Department of Health.

A plaque has been presented to the Courier from the Shell Chemical Company in the Service to Agriculture division for the paper's efforts.

The Courier also received honorable mention for General Excellence in the weekly newspaper division (3,000 to 5,000 circulation), as well as third place for Excellence in Typography.

This year's national contest drew more than 4,000 entries.

Just two week's ago, the Courier swept up four state awards in the Michigan Press Association Weekly Newspaper Contest.

Besides being awarded the Feature Story of the Year, the Courier received first place for use of photos, third place for news reporting and honorable mention for best editorial page.

Earlier this year, the Courier received a Blue Ribbon designation from the National Editorial Foundation for editorial excellence and community service.

The Charlevoix County Press in Boyne City received two honorable mentions in the national competition for Best Columns on Serious Subjects and Sports Feature.

Only other Michigan papers to receive national awards included the Lapeer County Press (Lapeer), honorable mention for Freedom of Information and third place for Best Column on Humorous Subjects; and the Lake Orion Review (Lake Orion), first place for typography in the under the 3,000 circulation class for weeklies.

DNR Harvests Eggs

By TOM DAMMANN

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) personnel were scheduled Tuesday to begin their annual netting of lake trout from the region immediately around the pier heads.

Purpose is to take eggs and sperm for breeding, to keep up the supply for future planting. But this year only 25,000 eggs are to be taken as compared to about two million last year and these will be used for various research projects, explains Ron Rybicki, Biological Statistician in the DNR's Great Lakes Fisheries Station here.

"This year the brood stock in the Marquette Hatchery is large enough to provide all the eggs necessary," Rybicki said.

Trout with scars from attacks by sea lamprey are also being sent over to the U.S. Bureau of Fish and Wildlife Laboratory on Lake Huron, where scientists are conducing special research into the time the trout were attacked and where, how lung it took for the wound to heal and the scar form, to establish criteria for determining the size and location of the sea lamprey population in the upper Great Lakes.

Simultaneously, other personnel from the Marquette DNR office were to set nets for various reefs off Norwood, South Fox Island, Cross Village and elsewhere out in the lake, to gather evidence, if there is any, indicating whether the lake trout are spawning in such locales.

This quest is under the direction of DNR biologists at the Marquette Station, because their research has proved that lake trout are successfully reproducing in Lake Superiur.

As yet, no such proof has been discovered in Lake Michigan, and there is a growing relief that the practice of planting lake trout along the lake shores may have been wrong, that the chances of successful reproduction may be far greater for plants on off shore reefs.

Myrl Keller, Biologist in charge of the Local DNR station, was often wondering whether the eggs trout plant along the shore aren't obliterated by winter waves and ice.

OK...Who Stole it

Apparently the Grinch who stole Christmas lives in Charlevoix.

Or at least someone likes Santa Claus so much that he absconded with his clothes.

Charlevoix firemen say someone has borrowed their Santa Claus suit and failed to return it.

"We don't know what has hoppened to it," says fire chief John Curtis.

"Someone has it and we need it back."

The Charlevoix volunteer department keeps Santa's holiday clothing for his Christmas visit to Charlevoix.

Firemen fear Santa won't be able to make his annual visit without his apparel.

Mr, Claus was unavailable for comment.

Democrats and Republicans Help Each Other

Two senior citizens are so concerned that "grassroots" party politics is dying they're taking memberships for each other's party in Charlevoix County.

The move started after they realized neither Republicans nor Democrats have more than a handful of active members in a 17,000-populated county.

"Some of the old-time Republicans don't like it," says long-time Republican "Bucky" Harris of Horton Bay.

"But after 40 years, the party has few active members."

The 67-year-old retired barbecue equipment company owner became concerned last year when Charlevoix County's usually-strong Republican Commission lost five seats to Democrats.

But more than losing the seats, Harris says he's concerned about the lack of party interest and the effect it is having on grassroots government.

"I'm not interested in the Democratic Party per se, I'm interested in the Democrats who want to make the county better," he continued.

Beat Bushes

In order to create more interest, Harris has joined the local Democratic Party chairman in beating the bushes for members in either the Democratic or Republican Party.

Democratic Party Chairman Marty Paul says it's the first time he's aware of that two parties have joined hands in helping to build each other's memberships.

"I think we need the counteraction of two parties to create a better form of government," Paul said.

"People have been so busy looking out for themselves and making themselves comfortable that they've forgotten about local politics."

Paul says he's not completely sold on the idea there should be only two parties, but there should be more than the dozen or so people doing all the work.

The party chairman says it even took him two years to get his own son to register and vote for him in a local county commissioners' race.

Both Charlevoix County residents haven't stopped at getting just older residents involved, they've even launched a county-wide effort to get high school students interested in political parties.

They recently visited Boyne City High School and helped youngsters organize junior Democratic and Republican Parties within the school.

Once organized, the two political leaders hope the junior groups will help with campaigns and take an active part in county-wide activities.

Eventually, the local party workers say they will be visiting all the high schools in Charlevoix County and organizing "junior parties."

Michigan Farm Bureau Women Plan Meeting in Boyne City

District 10 West Farm Bureau Women will meet at the Latheran church in Boyne City on Wednesday Mrs. Walter Chellis of Ellsworth, chair-person for the five-county organization, has announced.

The meeting is scheduled to open at 10 a.m. with registration and coffee and close at 3 p.m. following a full program.

Highlight of the morning session will be a flannel-graph view of agriculture to be shown by Jess Taggart of Farm Bureau's Lansing staff. County reports and a review of 1976 plans will conclude the morning session.

William Ohle of Horton Bay, the area's official historian, will present a paper on the area's history and Mrs. G William Lask of Charlevoix will demonstrate the art of flower arranging during the afternoon session.

Membership of District 10 West is comprised of Farm Bureau Women from Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties.

The day's program and luncheon will require a fee of $2.50.

Reservations must be in prior to the meeting date.

Mrs. William Parsons is in charge of arrangements for the host county, Charlevoix county.

Save money in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

At the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated is again offering a low-cost home ceiling insulation program designed to conserve Natural Gas and hold down heating costs.

Last year, nearly 42,400 Michigan Consolidated customers installed ceiling insulation, saving over one billion cubic feet of Natural Gas, and cut their home heating costs by up to 17%.

These results were gratifying indeed. Enough Natural Gas was conserved to heat over 7,600 additional homes this winter.

If you still haven't taken advantage of this easy, low-cost program, now's the time to act. Many homeowners can install insulation themselves for about $125. Our free handbook tells you how. Get your copy at any Michigan Consolidated Business Office, most building supply outlets or write or call us.

Or, we can have the job done for you by one of our participating subcontractors and add the cost to your monthly gas bills. The cost? About $250 for homes with less than 1,000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost ceiling insulation program? You'll be cutting your heating costs up to 17% and helping our country conserve its Natural Gas supplies, too.

YOUR FAITH
IS ONE FREEDOM THEY FOUGHT FOR

The powers that be may change the date of Veterans Day, but they cannot change the meaning and purpose of it: to honor our veterans of many wars fought in many places for many reasons; but the underlying one is always directly or indirectly the preservation of your freedoms, including the right to worship God as you please. It cost them years out of their lives, with many resulting personal losses and hardships and, in some cases, permanent injury. It cost others life itself. To honor them by availing yourself of this freedom will cost you only an hour in Church on Sunday morning.

The Nuclear Option: Is There A Choice?

Environmental Group Challenges Plutonium Usage at Big Rock

By KEN WINTER

ANN ARBOR--A Grand Rapids attorney says he won't give up his fight against Big Rock nuclear power plant using one of the world's most dangerous materials--plutonium.

Peter Stekete, who represents the West Michigan Environmental Action Council, told some 100 reporters, scientists and students he fears the poisonous radioactive element could fall into the wrong hands and be used to make a nuclear weapon.

Plutonium is a highly radioactive material produced by atomic fission inside a working nuclear reactor. Plutonium is used as a reactor fuel in place of uranium, which is becoming scarce.

STUDENTS from the University of Michigan hear national experts discuss America's energy alternatives.

While nuclear experts claim the use of plutonium in nuclear reactors would solve the world's energy needs for centuries, Stekete and others claim it may also lead to ultimate world destruction.

Big Rock became the first commercial reactor in the nation to use plutonium and hopes to eventually fuel the entire plant with it.

At present, Consumers Power, which owns the plant, uses about 25 percent plutonium and 75 percent uranium as its fuel source.

Experimental Uses

Stekete says it wasn't until early March, 1973, that anyone challenged Consumers Power's experimental use of plutonium.

In 1973, Stekete said his environmental group challenged both Consumers and the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) for not complying with the National Environmental Policy Act when not filing an environmental impact statement.

The group also claimed that the AEC was required to hold a public hearing when considering Consumer's license amendment to allow Big Rock to use three times the amount of plutonium it presently uses. No hearing was held.

In May, 1975, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission which replaced the (AEC) proposed that the decision to use plutonium be delayed until 1978 pending completion of an environmental impact statement.

However, the group claims that inspite of the recommendation, Consumers has gone ahead with its use of plutonium at Big Rock.

"The response from Washington has been terrible," Stekete said.

Stekete says he's concerned because plutonium can cause lung cancer if found in the air, as well as the difficulty of its disposal because it remains dangerously radioactive for thousands of years.

In addition, Stekete says he is concerned about plutonium, the basic material used in nuclear bombs, falling into the hands of terrorists.

Ralph Lapp, a physicist who worked on the original U.S. atom bomb project, told the University of Michigan audience that nuclear power is America's only energy solution.

Lapp said fluid fuels, such as petroleum and natural gas, cannot meet present energy demands. Moreover, he said the general public must realize there is an energy crisis.

In the next 25 years, Lapp said, nuclear power has the potential to supply energy equal to that obtained by burning over 20 billion tons of coal.

While admitting nuclear power does involve risks, he said the rewards outweigh the disadvantages and that with present rigorous regulation, release of radioactive materials are no longer an issue.

"It seems to me that the argument shifts to new targets of opportunity, namely, to waste disposal and to plutonium recycle," he said.

He said both the disposal issue and plutonium usage are under intensive examination and will have to undergo public scrunity before anything can be resolved.

Because of the risks involved by a saboteur handling radioactive material, Lapp questioned the seriousness of such a threat.

Dixy Lee Ray Defends Defunct AEC

ANN ARBOR--Former Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) chairman Dixy Lee Ray reluctantly defended the now defunct federal agency this weekend after hearing charges the AEC supressed reports on the safety risk of nuclear reactors.

Hounded by charges that safety studies were manipulated to prove that a nuclear reactor accident would be "no more severe than the crash of a large airplane," Ray defended the AEC's actions, stating the studies had always been available to the public.

Ray made the unexpected remarks following her speech highlighting a weekend conference of atomic experts held at the University of Michigan.

Her speech on the problems of communication between science and government was followed by comments from Dan Ford, executive director of the Union of Concerned Scientists, a public interest group.

Ford charged that the AEC suppressed studies concerning the safety risk of nuclear reactors because of the commission's enthusiasm for nuclear power.

After repeating several times that she did not want to "engage in debate," Ray got up from her stage chair and said, "I can't just sit here...you (Ford) have selected bits and pieces of information and gossip...using these to support your own feelings about the AEC."

"I think you are stretching the credulity of this audience."

The former AEC head said she did not know there would be any discussion of nuclear energy or the AEC at the late Friday night program.

Ford contended that the AEC tried to control the release of information from its safety studies to prevent public uproar.

Local Taxes Climb Upwards

Taxes throughout Charlevoix County will be higher next year.

Millage rates, by which taxes are figured, have just been released for all cities and townships by the Equalization Department.

The State Equalized Value, assessed value, is up throughout the county, largely because of new building.

The millage rate is based one mill for each $1,000 of State Equalized Value. Taxes are figures by multiplying the millage rate by the State Equalized Value. If a piece of property has an SEV (assessed) value of $20,000 and the millage rate is 25, taxes on the property would amount to $500.

It should be noted that the SEV or assessed value is only one-half of actual value.

The State Equalized Value for the City of Charlevoix has risen from $22,291,590 in 1974 to $24,779,580 in 1975, and that in the townships has also risen accordingly, as noted below.

Some townships encompass more than one school district and the taxes within the townships differ according to the school millage levied by each school district.

Millage figures and the amount of taxes to be collected in the City of Charlevoix and adjoining townships appear below, compared with last year's figures.

Grandvue Provides Inexpensive Care

It costs Charlevoix County approximately $1.30 a day to keep a patient in the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

This fact is revealed in a financial report for the first three quarters of the year.

It took over $523 thousand to operate the facility for the nine-month period but revenues from Medicare, Medicaid and private patients paid for most of the operating costs.

Medicaid was the largest contributor to the fund, over $322 thousand, while private patients paid $153 thousand and Medicare provided over $19 thousand.

Net operating cost to the county was $25,299, which covers 19,453 days of hospital care or $1.30 a day.

Grandvue has 73 approved beds. During the period covered by the report, 40 new patients were admitted, 15 patients were discharged and 23 patients expired. The facility averaged 97.9 percent total occupancy, which is almost 100 percent when beds held for patients who leave for a few days of hospital care elsewhere are considered.

The average cost per day for patient care was $26.91.

Public Interest Needed For Energy Question

No one has ever given it much thought, but what would happen if your lights wouldn't go on tomorrow?

And the car you normally wheel around the countryside in, just decided not to run?

Even worse yet, have you ever thought what it might be like to wake up in the morning without any heat in the house?

Probably one of these three experiences has happened to you at one time or another.

But aside from temporary inconvenience, none of the situations have ever occurred on a permanent basis. What would happen if they did?

Several atomic scientists appearing at a special nuclear conference held last Friday at the University of Michigan fear that we are on the brink of all this happening through the loss of our energy resources.

They say the talk of an energy crisis is no joke. Yet, they claim most Americans don't realize the situation we are now faced with.

Many fear that we won't become concerned over our energy woes until our present energy state reaches a crisis.

Unfortunately, general public interest in the energy question will probably only happen when those luxuries are denied.

In the meantime, scientists and other energy experts have been busy trying to gain support for various energy alternatives.

Fearful that the days of petroleum and natural gas as energy resources are limited, many have been looking at alternative sources for fuel.

Supporters and opponents of nuclear energy met last week in Ann Arbor to discuss the possibilities the atom might have as that alternative energy source.

Although almost all agreed there is some risk in using nuclear energy, supporters claim the benefits far outweigh the disadvantages.

While admitting that coal is in abundant supply, nuclear supporters claim atomic energy is far less polluting and more efficient as an energy source.

They argue that the atom is the only practical source of energy capable of meeting America's needs through the end of the century.

However, opponents claim that non-polluting sources such as wind and solar energy, would be far more advantageous. They had greater government support.

The arguments over energy alternatives are endless. Our problem is that the time in which we have to decide on the best alternative is limited.

More time needs to be spend by local residents in considering the energy alternatives we have and want to use.

For Charlevoix residents, nuclear power is nothing new. This community has had a reactor operating in its backyard since 1962.

But, how many local residents really understand its use, its value and its potential dangers?

At the same time, how many have looked at the possibility of using wind and solar energy?

It isn't necessary to be a nuclear scientist to at least examine the possible alternatives.

Moreover, if you have a concern over where your next gallon of gasoline or fuel is going to come from, ask your state or federal legislator what he sees as the ultimate solution.

We think it is too early to be closing the door on any energy alternatives and suggest that you urge your legislators to consider as many options as possible.

This can only be accomplished through active governmental support for research and development of energy resources.

If you think you as an individual cannot do anything, try turning out some of the lights that are on in your house and aren't really needed.

And dial down the thermostat setting for your furnace.

Finally, when you wheel along the countryside, keep speed down to the legal limit.

At least if you can't come up with energy resources solutions, you can try and help preserve the ones we presently have.

Dear Ken,

Thanks so much for the publicity you gave our visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile a week ago. Special attention to those students giving blood was deserving; your picture and article in last week's paper was certainly appreciated. Those kids deserved a pat on the back.

It takes many people to organize a Bloodmobile visit. Special thanks go to the United Methodist Church for donating their facility, to the fellows from the Coast Guard Station who helped unload and reload the van, and to the gals from the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority who organized and staffed the Canteen for the entire day. They really worked hard! Their thanks, as well as ours, go to Edwards I.G.A., Essenburg's Grocery, Oleson's Food Store, Neff's Market, Staley's Mark-t, and the Village Milk House. These merchants again generously supplied all the goodies needed to supply the Canteen for the day.

We are required to supplement the Red Cross nursing staff with Charlevoix nurses on Bloodmobile Day. Again, the R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s from our area willingly donated their time. We thank them and Mrs. Roger Roznoski, whose task was to schedule them.

Also helping us out with publicity were the Community Calendars of the area television stations and radio stations. WJML and WVOY were both great about providing public service announcements as well.

Lastly, we'd like to thank the 105 successful donors and the 23 who received their "I tried" stickers. Without these people, there could be no Bloodmobile visit. We're counting on these people and the others who were unable to keep their appointments to help us out again in January when the Bloodmobile again comes to Charlevoix. It's great being able to rely on their continued support.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Editor:

Depot Beach will certainly never be the same without Mrs. Wimmer and her stand. In previous years the stand was open at irregular times, it offered little variety and was scantily stocked often running out of items before the end of the day. The restrooms were most unpleasant to use.

All this changed when Mrs. Wimmer came on the scene. She was open each and every nice day. She offered a wide variety of fresh foods and candies and served them under the cleanest of conditions. Her prices were fair (often 5 cents or 10 cents less than the Michigan Beach on many items). As though all this wasn't enough she took it upon herself to clean the beach each day, often raking the sand. She kept the rest rooms clean. In addition, Mrs. Wimmer took a genuine, personal interest in all of her patrons and we grew to love her and her family.

I don't know of anyone who has done so much to keep this piece of city property in tip top shape. It seems a shame the city isn't willing to put in the necessary improvements so that she can continue her business and the special care she has given that area. While the financial investment for one person to make for a two month a year operation is way too much, the city would benefit for all time once having made these improvements.

Sincerely,
Rhoda Raider

A Day of Reckoning

[Editor's Note: The following column was written Friday while the fate of New York City was still in the balance. Since then, teachers have agreed to purchase $150 million in Municipal Assistance Corp. bonds with their retirement funds, yanking the city back from the brink of bankruptcy. However the teachers' contribution is a mere pittance compared to the millions of dollars the city must conjur out of thin air before Nov. 30. We believe the conclusions of the column are still valid.)

Historians may well regard Oct. 17, 1975, as a high-water mark in American economics.

That is the day New York City told the world it can no longer afford to pay its public servants or meet its other overwhelming financial obligations.

The same fate awaits the rest of the nation unless we make some radical changes in the way we spend our money.

The final hours were traumatic not only for New York City officials but for everyone in the country who has a financial stake in the continued solvency of the nation's largest city.

Mayor Abraham Beame telephoned President Ford after midnight Friday morning to inform him that the city's teachers had decided not to pump $150 million from their retirement fund into city coffers. Ford was in bed at the time, but word was relayed to him early Friday that New York's default was imminent.

Ford immediately called a meeting of his top economic advisors, but Press Secretary Ron Nessen warned that the President wasn't about to change his stance on financial assistance to the floundering city.

At this writing, the outcome of the crisis still is not clear, but the lessons of New York City's default stand out in bold relief:

–Governments on all levels can no longer continue to spend beyond the ability of the people to pay. A wide- and at present impassable—gulf exists between the services we want and those we are able to afford. The sooner we realize it, the better.

–Governments on all levels must never again bow to the extortionary demands of labor unions which have pushed the cost of public services—from garbage collection to education—to totally ridiculous dimensions when compared to non-unionized segments of the private sector which must foot a large share of the bill.

–Governments on all levels must become accustomed to doing things they have never done before. Inflationary labor contracts which have undermined the American economy must be declared null and void, come what may. Juvenile retirees in their 30's and 40's must be told that the government gravy train has been discontinued. So-called "untouchable" budgets—including schools and a whole raft of public assistance programs—must suddenly become touchable again. Ordinances and legislation to the contrary must either be changed or ignored.

The days ahead are not going to be easy for New Yorkers or anybody else. For years most of us have known that unbridled government spending would have to end, that somehow a modicum of restraint would have to enter the picture.

Unless the federal government steps in and prolongs the final ugony–dragging the rest of us down with the City of New York–that day arrived last Friday.

The restructuring of the American economy is now under way. It won't be fun and it will take many, many years. But a stronger, more equitable system of providing essential public works and services is bound to emerge.

Erma Bombeck

For years, Mondays have been getting on my nerves.

Frankly, I don't see any excuse for them. They come on too strong. They're the longest day in the week, and besides they put a damper on your Sundays just thinking about them.

Mondays are so...ordinary. They lack luster and excitement. Think about it. Does the circus ever open on Monday morning? Does anyone get married on Monday? Have a party? Buy a boat? Get their car washed? Or roast a turkey?

The only reason I am bringing it up is that I sounded out a group last week and they thought with a little publicity we might just conceivably get rid of Mondays.

Here are some of the arguments.

To begin with, attendance on Mondays is falling off. Fewer people are showing up for it. The automotive industry reported absenteeism on Mondays was not only excessive, but that those who did show up were so surly and hung over, it reflected in the workmanship of cars.

Secondly, Mondays are becoming expendable. They are the dumping grounds of the seven-day week. Have you ever noticed that whenever they want to pick a work day to discard or use for a holiday, they pick Monday? There has been such a trend toward discontinuing Mondays as part of a work week that this year we only observed 45 Mondays. The rest of them were given over to Washington's birthday, St. Patrick's Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Columbus Day and Canadian Thanksgiving. Ask yourself. How long will it be before we throw all of the holidays to Mondays?

More and more we encounter restaurants that are "CLOSED ON MONDAY," small businesses that remain closed and did you ever try to get your hair done on Monday? Forget it.

Imagine for a a moment what a Mondayless week would mean. No more diets. That's right. There would be a whole country of chubbies sitting around eating cupcakes waiting for a Monday to roll around.

We could stamp out the proverbial washday. Blue Monday (that term applied to the beginning of a week after a swinging weekend) would disappear as an American condition.

No one has to make a decision now. Just think about it and call me Mon...Tuesday.

Autumn Poet is Screened

The poet in me is awakened annually as the summer changes into autumn clothes, the morning frost paints sparkling pictures on the lawn, and my wife tells me to take down the screen porch.

The screen porch is really a carport. But long ago my wife decided our car didn't need summer shelter as badly as she needed a place to pile wicker. She hired an old man to enclose the space in 4 huge screens, 2 of which he removed every October to let the Plymouth in. Then he would return in June to put the 2 huge screens back up, and so on, year after year, inevitable as a hiccup.

Behind his back I called him "Mr. Harbinger." I never met him face to face. He probably thought my wife was a widow, a contrived misconception shared by all repairmen who visit our home. Whenever they show up, I hide behind a locked door and whimper into a pillow. I'm ashamed. I'm so mechanically inept. I once tried to turn down a thermostat by shouting NO! at it. I whimper because I know I'll never be able to do as much for my own children as I've done for the plumber's children.

Anyway, after many years there came an autumn when the hiccup didn't hic. Mr. Harbinger, as old men are won t to do, died. After a suitable period of mourning, my wife announced that if an 88-year-old retiree could put a screen porch up and take it down, so could a healthy, 35-year-old newspaperman, even if he was me. At which point the period of mourning was extended interminably.

The job has been mine for about 15 years now. I have never licked it, but I have learned how to live with it. Proper preparation is of paramount importance. Last Saturday was a typical takedown....

Before touching a screen, I had to haul the TV to the porch window and position it precariously on a pile of books so I could see the baseball playoffs from every rung of my ladder.

I had to park the car properly so I could hear the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game on the car radio while unscrewing screws.

I had to find my winter gloves. Even in warm weather, I must wear the gloves so I won't scrape my knuckles on the huge screens while unscrewing and/or screwing. Before I hit upon the glove idea, my knuckles were permanently scabby. I could always tell when autumn or spring was approaching, because my knuckles would just be starting to heal. Once I half-jokingly called my most prominent knuckle "Mr. Harbinger" which greatly intensified that portion of my interminable period of mourning, sending me to my whimper pillow.

But the most important part of my preparation is mental. Just before taking screwdriver in hand, I had to squat quietly in a corner with my head between my knees and practice transcendental meditation. My mantra, repeated for 10 minutes, always goes like this: "I promise, promise, promise not to lose my temper and swear when I find f cannot get the screwdriver into a screw because my bleep-bleep wife has painted over the bleeping screwhead. Also I promise, promise, promise never to turn my back on a completely unscrewed screen."

An hour later I forgot. One of the huge screens couldn't be freed because 2 screws had disappeared completely under my wife's incessant paintbrush. I turned to yell this delightful news to my wife who was in the kitchen painting the silverware. A sudden wind caught the other huge screen, which was completely unscrewed, and forced it to fall snugly on my shoulders, leaving my scraped head sticking through the hole it had just made.

At that point my daughter stuck her smart face in front of the baseball playoffs and said, "Smile, you're on Candid Camera."

f returned to my squat corner and hollered for my whimper pillow.

Meet Charlevoix

Meet Lyle King

Life-long resident Lyle King was appointed Charlevoix's new City Clerk after the recent retirement of Ida Beise. Today the Courier talks to King about his new position.

After graduating from Charlevoix High School in 1947, he earned a bachelor of science degree from Arizona State University. He then served in the Navy for four years before taking on a management position with Ampex Corporation in California.

He has one daughter, Kim, a Charlevoix High School sophomore and is a member of the V.F.W.

COURIER: Why did you decide to be considered for City Clerk"

KING: I have been employed with the city since spring, doing engineering work, doing map work and other things. The mayor and city administrator approached me about temporarily taking the position as City Clerk. I did that for awhile and then they appointed me as acting city clerk. They asked me if I would like it on a permanent basis and I said sure. Then I was appointed at the last council meeting on a permanent basis to fill the vacancy in the clerk's office.

COURIER: What are some of your new duties and responsibilities?

KING: The duties include payroll, reports to state and local units, working with the budget and serving as the housing commission clerk as just a few of the responsibilities. I will also be in charge of the elections.

COURIER: How do you learn about how to do all these jobs?

KING: Some of it is quite new, but I have an engineering-management background with Ampex Corporation in California. I've been to quite a few seminars recently ranging from ones put on by the Michigan Municipal League to state. I'm learning about local government, retirement benefits for employees and labor relations and union negotiations for unions. As far as learning the operations at city hall, I'm learning from those who have been working at city hall for many years and have a good background. I've also attended a seminar on how we receive funds for our streets and highways.

COURIER: What are your intentions as far as running for City Clerk?

KING: My intentions right now are I think I will. I might change my mind by December when the deadline comes up to run for it. Right now, I fully intend to run.

COURIER: Are you going to be making any changes in the office of City Clerk?

KING: Right now, I don't forsee any changes. Until I dig into the job further and see what might have to be done, I won't be making any changes. I think we have a very efficient crew at City Hall right now.

COURIER: What are your qualifications for being City Clerk?

KING: The only qualifications I have are the business background and the purchasing and management I did with Ampex. Of course, I've had some business and accounting courses at college along with professional budget and contract experience. It also is possibly a benefit to have come from Charlevoix.

COURIER: Do you feel that City Council will lend its full support to your position after earlier being hesitant about approving your appointment?

KING: I think so now. I think the only reason they were hesitant was that I was being pushed down their throat by the mayor. They just don't want to be pushed into anything.

COURIER: What do you see as the city's major goal during the ensuing months?

KING: I think we should concentrate on getting some of this overhead wiring underground, street lights repaired, get our waterfront repaired and get the big municipal parking lot down in front of the waterfront done. We should also see if we can get some additional parking in some other parts of the city.

COURIER: What is the situation with the city housing commission?

KING: We are going to have a meeting within a week or so to discuss and find out what our consultants have been doing. We are having a problem, we are getting bills from them and don't know what they are for. We just want to get together. I really haven't had too much to do with it as clerk. The same with the Charter Commission. Really the clerk is just a contact point for both of the groups.

CITY CLERK Lyle King

Building Code Inspector Issues 356 Permits

Since the County Department of Building Code Inspection was opened last November, 356 permits have been granted to Charlevoix County residents for homes, places of business, garages and other outbuildings, porches and other similar additions, and for demolitions.

These permits have brought in a total of $11,670 to help defray the cost of operating the department which was necessitated by passage of the State Building Code.

However, many persons doing construction work in the area do not know that such permits are necessary, according to Dick L. Mayhew, County Building official.

According to the Code, a permit is required "to construct, enlarge, alter, remove or demolish a building, or change the occupancy of a building from one use group to another requiring greater strength, exitway or sanitary provisions; or to change to a prohibited use; or to install or alter any equipment for which provision is made or the installation of which is regulated by the Basic Code."

However, certain ordinary repairs are not covered by the Code, and these exceptions will be explained by the Building Code Department. Mayhew will also answer any other questions pertaining to building permits. His phone number is 547-4419.

County Questions Plumbing Code

By PEG OHLE

As everyone who watches the operation of county government is aware, a great deal of county money is spent administerug laws passed by the legislature and turned over to the county for implementntion and enforcement.

One of these laws resulted in the State Construction Code which has necessitated the formation of a whole new department in Charlevoix County government, budgeted next year at $34,875.

There are four categories of the Construction Code: building, plumbing, electrical and mechanical. The Charlevoix County Department of Building Code Inspection has been administering only the building part of the code, while the state has been carrying on plumbing and electrical inspections. Mechanical (heating, air conditioning, etc.) inspections are expected to become mandatory early next year.

Now, the state is asking the county to take over plumbing inspections. This would necessitate the hiring of a Master Plumber (required by law) to make inspections of all plumbing installations within the county.

The county's responsibility with reference to the Construction Code was read to the Board of Commissioners last week in a letter from Wesley G. Jeltema, chairman of the state Construction Code Commission.

Notification

The letter reads in part, "Act 230 was signed into law on July 27, 1972. On November 6, 1974 the state-adopted building code became effective and later, on May 19, 1975, the state-adopted plumbing code became effective, both porsuant to the said act. The intention of the State Construction Code was to provide a six month organizational period prior to the effective date of a new code during which city, village or township would determine which of several codes to select and would arrange for the necessary administration and enforcement.

"In order to implement the code categories mentioned above on the dates determined by statute, the commission has attempted to provide assistance wherever it seemed necessary to do so. However, the time is here when the commission will have to be advised by the counties as to the date on which county administration and enforcement will be fully operational in each of the code categories presently in effect."

County Commissioner Oscar Ward of the county's Health, Welfare & Planning Committee which is responsible for the Building Code Inspection Department, says that hiring a full time plumbing code inspector would cost the county "at least $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

The number of inspections he would make during the course of a year is a matter of conjecture, but Ward says he believes that during the peak building months of June, July and August they would average about 20 a month.

As a result of the letter, the Board of Commissioners adopted a resolution, prepared by Ward and his committee, requesting that the state Construction Code Commission continue making plumbing code inspections within the county.

The resolution was sent to the Construction Code Commission, accompanied by a letter stating that the county's Department of Building Inspection "is shaping up well but there are problems due to public attitude."

The letter further states, "It is generally felt here that there is not adequate plumbing construction currently being processed to justify a full time inspector so would appreciate input presumably available from your records as to how many adjoining counties would be necessary to unite in a joint plumbing enforcement unit to justify one full time inspector."

Starts Local Campaign

Charlevoix Woman Fires Up for Reagan

Ginny Rundell has never met nor talked to Ronald Reagan.

Yet, she believes the one-time movie actor and former California governor will be the next President of the United States.

The Charlevoix resident has already launched her local drive to get him elected and hopes to eventually become in charge of the Midwest campaign.

The mother of a college senior sees Reagan as the only key toward getting back to what she calls "America-USA."

Ginny is no newcomer to politics. She first sunk her teeth into party politics back when Barry Goldwater rnn against LBJ.

"I admired Senator Goldwater," Mrs. Rundell said.

Sporting a blue pantsuit, Mrs. Rundell sat in the Courier office explaining why she supported Goldwater and now wants Ronald Reagan as President.

"Barry Goldwater was called a war hawk."

But, Ginny insists that Goldwater wanted either to be involved in Viet Nam completely or not at all, instead of just partially.

The Charlevoix woman campaigned for Goldwater, while living in Royal Oak because an old schoolmate was also running for a Republican Congressional seat.

During her "grassroots" politicking, Ginny said she was responsible for telephoning, promotional work and communications.

She said she liked Goldwater because of his stand of fighting communism and non-recognition of Red China and Russia.

Even though Goldwater lost, Ginny didn't give up her involvement in politics.

In 1974, she campaigned for Robert Griffin, who was seeking re-election for U.S. Senator.

"I learned that people are good listeners," she said about working in Griffin's campaign.

"And that they were interested, but they hadn't done much thinking.

"Fortunately people are beginning to think."

After working in the last campaign, Ginny said she became concerned about people's attitudes.

"Too many people have thought that it couldn't happen to me, but they're finding out that it can," she continued.

She was making reference to inflation, communism and people's general attitude about life.

The Charlevoix resident feels Ronald Reagan could change that attitude and bring "Americanism" back into the United States.

She says even Ronald Rengan's background as movie star would help him as President.

"As an actor he has the ability to be aware of the real as opposed to the artificial," she continued.

"He would turn everything back to the practical side of life."

As Governor of California, she says Reagan instituted several fiscal reforms, which the people of California were highly in favor of.

She says Reagan was able to cut government costs.

"He reduced the overhead in the operation of the State of California," she continued.

Mrs. Rundell says she likes Reagan because he believes in America and is a very realistic person.

"Most important of all, he is a man you can trust," she said.

Ginny says that Gernld Ford unfortunately inherited a terrific mess and has been unable to eliminate it.

"I don't think the President has doue anything to make an effective change," she said.

"He should stay home in Washington and put the nation back together."

Although Ginny says Ronald Reagan and Congress may not get nlong particularly well, she thnnks he will be more compatible.

The Charlevoix Republican says that people have lost faith by trying to keep up with the Joneses and that their faith will have to be restored.

Try an Ore Boat for Your Vacation

By PEG OHLE

Everyone who has lived near the Great Lakes has seen freighters plying the waters from one port to another. Many have wondered what life aboard a freighter is like.

We had a chance to find out recently on an ore freighter traveling from Detroit to Superior, Wisconsin.

The guest quarters are deluxe--large, twin-bedded rooms with private baths, a "living room" with kitchenette bar and a glassed-in sunroom from which to watch the waves and passing scenery.

Meals were served in a private dining room, and they were not only bountiful but delicious. Each meal menu provided a choice of entrees with additional "goodies" such as home-made bread and rolls and pastries.

Members of the crew were served the same food in their own dining rooms, and one could only believe that it is the hard physical labor they engage in every day that keeps them from being grossly overweight.

Carries Ore

Our freighter, which carries iron ore and pellets from Superior to Detroit, was as clean as a good housewife's kitchen. It was constantly being swept and hosed down. Whenever a crew member had a little time off from other duties, he had a paint brush in hand touching up pipes or walls that were not as bright as they might be.

The crew consisted of 34 men and officers. They were always busy working their eight-hour shifts and doing whatever their duties called for to keep the boat in shape and moving toward its destination.

There were machinists, engineers, cooks, stewards, mates, a captain and just plain erewmen.

Although they work only eight hours a day and spend their leisure time looking at television, listening to radio, playing cards and reading much like the average citizen, they lead a confined, programmed life.

Unload Cargo

During the shipping season the only time they have on land, except for prescribed vacation periods, is the five or six hours at either end of the trip that it takes to load or unload the cargo.

It is a five and a half day trip from Detroit to Superior. The freighter goes upbound (they're called "upbounders" and those headed in the other direction "downbounders") through the chain of rivers and lakes to the Sault Ste. Marie locks, into Lake Superior and on to its port of call.

There was no cargo on the upbound trip but a large amount of water was poured into the holds for ballast. Even a freighter 710 feet long, which this one was, can toss and roll in the angry waters of the Great Lakes.

On our trip we were affeeted by the tail end of hurricane Eloise in Lake Huron, and when one sees the water in his bathtub lapping from side to side and walks with arms extended to keep fron banging against walls and furniture, he knows that the "seas are running high."

It is a real experience to go through the locks aboard a freighter. Lowering and raising the water levels is a quiet process but mind-boggling when one considers the weight of the boat being lowered or raised and the amount of water that goes through the gates to complete the process. For those who like to be "in the know", going through the locks is called "locking". As a crew member would say, "We locked at seven o'clock."

Automatic Process

Loading the shipment of iron ore on our boat was a completely automatic process. Bins containing the ore are located high above boat level. Shoots attached to them are lowered to the hatches on the boat and the ore pours out whish after whish. It takes about six hours to load 27 thousand tons of ore, which was the capacity of our boat.

Unloading was not as automatic. Large clam jaws on derricks removed the ore a load at a time. When most of the ore had been removed, a loader was lowered into the hatches to scoop up the areas that could not be reached by the clam jaws. However, some of the newer freighters are unloaded automatically.

In nice weather, as it was on most of our trip, a ride on a freighter can be as enjoyable as on any cruise ship. We sat on deck in the hright sunshine getting our last tan of the year while taking in the brilliant colors of the shoreline in the distance.

However, none of the color was as good as that in the Charlevoix area when we returned.

Methodists Plan Lunch

The women of the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix will hold their annual Salad Luncheon and Bnzaar this Thursday.

Luncheon will be served at the church from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. with the Bazaar continuing throughout the afternoon. Prices for luncheon are $1.75 for adults, $1.00 for middle school children and 50 cents for young children.

The Bazaar will feature Christmas items and other handicrafts as well as baked goods.

Rayders Plan for Petoskey After Dumping Boyne City

A hard fought, 19-0 victory over cross-county rivals, Boyne City, sets the stage for a title clash this Friday evening in Petoskey.

The Red Rayder machine will have to play the tough Northmen eleven to salvage at least a share of the Michigan-Huron Shores Crown.

The Rayder-Rambler clash began with a display of running rarely witnessed this season against the stalwart Charlevoix defense. Boyne City Quarterback Scrappy Moore used the abilities of Ed Grice and Bill Seals to move from his own 18 yard line to the Charlevoix seven before finally giving up the ball on downs. It proved to be their deepest penetration.

Charlevoix's squad was unable to penetrate the entrused Rambler eleven, and it was not until Boyne City had threatened twice more before Quarterback Bob Alger could get the offense on track.

This drive came early in the second quarter, and was initiated by a thrilling interception by defenslve back Brlan Williams. Williams alertly picked off a Boyne City pass on the Charlevoix 12, and returned the nab 42 yards to the Rambler 46 yard line. A penalty against the visitors moved the ball to the Boyne City 39.

Following this turnover, Alger directed an eleven play drive for the first Charlevoix touchdown. The scoring thrust was aided by a Boyne City penalty when Doug Smith appearcd to be stopped on the goal line. This gave the Red Rayders a first down, and allowed Smith to slam in through a hole opened by John Cinnamon and John Greene for the tally. The point after kick was blocked, keeping the score 6-0.

Charlevoix scored again on their next possession. Taking over on their own 29 yard line, following a Boyne City punt, Alger used runs by Randy Williams of 9 and 24 yards, a 15 yard penalty against the Ramblers, and a 7 yard pass play to Scott Boss, to set-up a one yard tally by Smith. This time the kick was good, and, with 3:26 remaining in the first half, Charlevoix led, 13-0.

The half ended with the Rayders having a third score called back by a slipping penalty.

This error was rectified as the home eleven took the second half kick-off and rolled 50 yards in seven plays to make the score 19-0. Featured was a break-away run by Williams for 30 yards. He also made the final yard for the score. The kick was wide, and the score stood, 19-0.

Scoring ended for the evening at this point, but the remaining fifteen minutes were packed with excitement. While it was mainly a defensive struggle, a blocked Charlevoix punt gave Boyne City a scoring opportunity early in the fourth quarter.

After giving up one of only two Rambler first downs to be allowed in the second half, the Charlevoix defense handed the ball to their offensive counterparts on the Rayder 14 yard line. Three series of downs later, the ballgame was history.

The victory featured fine play by the offensive line, as they were asked to go against an inspired defensive wall. The players working in the "trenches" include Cinnamon, Greene, Ed Bourke, George Baldwin, Gary Probert, and Jim Marsh.

J.V. Defeats Boyne

With a 48-12 victory over Boyne City to their credit, the Charlevoix JV football team is preparing for a confrontation with the Petoskey Reserves at Kipke field Thursday.

In last week's meeting with the young Ramblers, the Charlevoix eleven played to a 26-6 halftime advantage before swamping Boyne City 48-12.

A seven yard TD run by Greg Krueger and a 15 yard pass play from Tom Left to Pat Klooster with Left running the conversion in gave Charlevoix a 14-0 lead at the end of the period.

Keven Kratt took off up the middle for 30 yards and a score before Boyne City got on the board with a two yard plunge by fullback Steve Ecker. Guy Carter countered with a 12 yard run off tackle as the locals headed the visitors 26-6 at halftime.

Carter for 10 yards up the middle; Krueger for eight yards and Kratt around right end for 25 yards wrapped up the win for the Rayders. Ecker on a 35 yard romp late in the game put the visitors on the board for 12 points as time ran out. Carter and Krueger had rounded out the Rayder scoring with conversion runs.

Girls Dump Boyne City, 45-31

The Charlevoix girls' basketball team chalked up wins over Grayling by a score of 63-11 and over Boyne City by a margin of 45-31 during Michigan-Huron Shores league play during the past week.

On Tuesday, the Rayderettes will host Gaylord and on Thursday travel to Petoskey to close out the first half of the current season. They will go into the home stretch on next Tuesday when they travel to Grayling.

In the game with Boyne City last Thursday, Denise Boss poured in 18 points as Charlevoix, trailing 7-6 at the quarter, went ahead 21-14 at halftime and 31-23 going into the final eight minutes.

Terry Scott had seven points for Boyne City.

The local JV's handed the Ramblers their first loss of the season 32-31.

Earlier in the week, Grayling never did get it all together as they bowed to Charlevoix 63-11 as Coach Toni Felter emptied the bench and all but one player scored.

Charlevoix led 9-1 at the quarter; 34-3 at halftime and 53-5 at the three-quarter mark before rolling to a lop-sided win.

Heidi Dove had 12 points and Kathy Sladek and Maureen Cudd 10 each for Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix JV's won over the Grayling Reserves 28-19.

Volleyball League Needs Players

Charlevoix has been assured of a volleyball season, which is expected to get underway the first full week in November, but the composition of the various leagues is still at stake according to Dwight Boss, City Recreation director.

Enough players and coaches turned out for the initial meeting last week for a 12-team mixed league and a five-team women's league but only enough for three men's teams.

Boss said that another ten teams would be necessary before the latter two lengues could begin play.

Forms are available in the first floor office at the city hall for any additional teams. They must be returned by Monday, Oct. 27, so decisions can be made regarding league play.

Fees will include $35 for teams in the men's league because this league plans on referees and trophies. The fees for women's league and the mixed league is $1.00 per person.

Boss also has issued a call for volleyball as well as basketball referees. They may call 547-9098 to leave their names.

A meeting of volleyball coaches will be held at the Recreation Department office at the City hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Deadline Nears

Any team planning to participate in the men's independent basketball league must return the application form by Monday Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, has announced.

At the present time, all 18 forms nrc out. Any team wishing to play in the men's team which does not presently have a form out is asked to have a representative at the recreation department office in the city hall at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 27. At that time, efforts will be made to find a place for any team wishing to play.

Boss also is seeking referees for independent basketball games.

Prospective referees may call 547-9098 and leave their names.

Cross Country Goes To Class C Regionals

The Charlevoix Cross Country team, coached by Gary Hice, will travel to Elk Rapids Saturday to participate in the Class C regional meet.

On Tuesday, the Rayder harriers will host Alanson and Boyne City in a meet at a course set up at the Belvedere Golf course. The meet will begin at 4:15 p.m.

In announcing the previously unscheduled meet at the Belvedere course, Coach Hice said that this would be a good opportunity for those unacquainted with the sport to attend the meet and see how it is run.

A nice 3 bedroom frame home on Collins Street in Boyne City. Full bath, modern kitchen, natural gas heat. Only $19,900.

Raiders Take Flag Football League

The Raiders, by a half game margin, captured the title in the Junior League flag football program Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, reports.

The Bengals of the PeeWee league won its title by the same slim margin.

In Saturday's action which closed out the six-game season, the Raiders and the Falcons played to a 20-20 tie; the Eagles won over the Packers 34-7 and the Patriots swamped the Steelers 62-20.

In Peewee league action, the Vikings won over the Bengals 19-6 and the Lions shut out the Cowboys 20-0.

On Thursday the Eagles had defeated the Patriots 41-22 in a make-up game.

Raiders 20-Falcons 20

The Falcons jumped to a 6-0 lead over the Raiders in the meeting of these two teams when Gerard Doan plunged over from the one-yard line midway in the first period.

It wasn't until the second period that Raiders hit their stride with a 30-yard run by Jeff Drury and a conversion by Kirk Heckendorn to go ahead. A 20-yard run by Heckendorn gave the team a 13-6 advantage before Ken Spiegl on a 45 yard run and Paul Hoffman with a conversion for the Falcons knotted the score 13-13 at halftime.

Drury on a 30 yard run and a conversion by Heckendorn put the Raiders ahead again but the Falcons countered with a five yard TD run and a conversion by Doan to tie up the score in the third period.

As the game went into the final period, it became a defensive game as each team fought to protect its score.

Eagles 34 Packers 7

This game was pretty much the Eagles all the way as Scott Morgan scored on runs of six yards and 12 yards and passed to Jack Cross for 30 yards and a TD; Jeff Greene scored on a one-yarder plunge, Mark Morgan on an eight yard run with Todd Osternieyer and Cross contributing safeties to the winning cause.

The Packers' single tally came in the final period on a 24 yard run by Scott Kelly who also added the conversion.

Patriots 62 Steelers 20

The Patriots used everything in the book as they rolled over the Steelers by a crushing 62-20 score.

Steve Daylong opened the scoring with a 28 yard punt return early in the game and then passes to Roxy VanLoo for the conversion; Bill Fels romped 15 yards to score and Eric Daylong intercepted a pass and traveled 12 yards with Jeff Daylong adding the conversion for a quick 20 points.

Mark Beaudoin put the Steelers in the game when he scored on runs of 32 and 25 yards and added a conversion. Ross Carey passed 15 yards to John Bradley and Beaudoin ran the conversion before the Patriots defense tightened to close out the Steeler rally.

When the smoke cleared away, Jeff Daylong had thrown touchdowns passes of five and eight yards to Steve Daylong in the second period; Jeff Daylong had scored on a six yard run and Fels on a 40 yard run in the third period and Steve Daylong had scored twice on 10 yard passes from Jeff Daylong. In addition to that, Jeff Daylong scored a safety, two conversions and passes to Steve Daylong for a third.

At St. Mary's Church

Mosoryak-DeNio Exchange Vows

St. Mary's Catholic Church of Charlevoix was the setting for the recent wedding of Marian J. Mosoryak and Christopher C. De Nio, on Saturday September 20, 1975 at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Dale Magoon performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests.

The bride is the daughter of John and Mary Mosoryak of Ironton. The bridegroom is the son of Roy and Leona De Nio of Detroit.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her mother's wedding gown featuring a satin bodice, sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves with a lace skirt flowing into a cathedral length train. The long silk veil trimmed with lace was held in place by a pearl cap. She carried a bouquet of white miniature roses, stephontes and baby's breath.

Catherine, the bride's sister, was maid of honor in an exquisite pink organda floor length gown with scattered yellow daisies and long puffed sleeves. She wore a head piece of matching flowers and ribbons. Bridesmaids were Marcie Williams and Barbara Mosoryak. Their gowns were identical in blue. Each carried a bouquet of miniature red roses, yellow daisies and baby's breath with ribbons matching their dresses.

Chris Shelly was the groom's best man. Greg De Nio and John Mosoryak were the groomsmen.

The groom and his attendants all wore tuxedo's with light blue jackets trimmed in black to accent their black trousers.

The bride's mother selected a floral yellow chiffon floor length gown. The groom's mother chose a pink nylon chiffon floor length gown. Both mothers wore a yellow orchid.

A reception and buffet dinner for 200 guests was held at the V.F.W. hall in Charlevoix.

Out of town guests were from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Marquette, Detroit, and its surrounding suburbs.

The couple honeymooned by touring the Upper Peninsula. They are now residing in an upper flat in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. De Nio

Patty McDade Recently Married Gerald Muma

The First Baptist Church of Charlevoix was the setting for the autumn wedding of Patty Suddreth McDade of 934 German Street, N.W. Lenoir, North Carolina and Gerald Lee Muma of 515 Meadow Lane, Charlevoix, Michigan recently. The Rev. Hugh A. Cowan performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Horace B. Suddreth and Addie Lee Suddreth of Lenoir, North Carolina and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest A Muma of Charlevoix.

Vows were spoken before an altar graced with an open gate arch entwined with greenery, oak leaves and flowers of Fall tones. Baskets containing mums, pompoms, oak leaves and gypsophia of Fall tones were on each side of the altar. Two bronze seven branch candelabrums with yellow tapers were used to form the background. Family pews were marked with yellow satin bows.

Prior to the ceremony a program of traditional wedding music was presented by Leslie Payne, organist. Desmond Milligan, vocalist sang, "Always."

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard D. Suddreth of La Grane, Illinois, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight Chantilly lace with an empire-style bodice outlined with candlelight satin, featuring a scalloped lace neckline and flounced long cape scalloped lace sleeves. The full shirt swept into a chapel length train of satin. Her wide brimmed hat of frosty woven lace straw held satin ribbon around the crown with a bow and a long streamers in the back. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and tropical roses, gypsophilia, yellow and bronze pompom mums accented with satin streamers.

Mr. & Mrs. Gerald Muma

She presented her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vickie Suddreth and mother of the bridgroom, Mrs. Forest Muma each a long stemmed yellow rose lifted from her bouquet at the close of the ceremony.

Mrs. Shirley Roloff of Charlevoix, sister of the bride was Matron of Honor. Her floor length peach colored gown was an empire-style bodice in crepe-textured polyester knit. Sleeves in sheer woven polyester elasticized at wrists and split jewel neckline with sparkling accents. She wore a wide brimmed hat of woven peach lace straw with peach satin ribbon around the crown. Her colonial bouquet was of roses and mums in Fall tones.

Miss Beth Ann Roloff, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of candlelight polyester knit with a laced bodice and graceful sleeves accenting the old-fashioned look with lace trim. Her hair piece of candlelight and peach colored satin bows were accepted by long streamers. She carried a green wicker basket filled with yellow rosepetals.

Master Phillip R. McDade, son of the bride served as ring bearer. He wore a candlelight tuxedo, trim in dark brown velvet with a ruffle candlelight shirt, identical to those of the men in the wedding party.

Earl Muma assisted his brother as best man.

Ushers were Robert Muma, brother of the bridegroom and Richard Boness of La Grange, Illinois, brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Forest Muma, mother of the bridegroom selected a floor length gown of blue double knitted polyester with a scoped neckline accented with a matching chiffon jacket. Her corsage was of sweetheart yellow roses.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. James McMillan of Charlevoix.

The bride is a graduate of Hudson High School, Hudson, North Carolina. The groom is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and is co-owner of Muma's Sunoco Service in Charlevoix.

The couple will make their new home at 1500 Park Ave. Boulder Park, Charlevoix, Mich.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the American Legion Post Home, for approximately 200 guests. A buffet dinner was served prior to the cake cutting. The four tier wedding cake containing a flowing water fountain was made and served by Mrs. Lloyd Cummings. Music was furnished by the Four-Fifth Band. Mrs. Alice Muma and Mrs. Billie Crain attended the guest register and Mrs. Marla Muma and Miss Pam Shooks served the punch.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday night, the bridegroom parents entertained the wedding party and out of town guests in their home at 515 Meadow Lane, Charlevoix, to a buffet dinner.

Out of town guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Muma of Pinconning, Mich., Mrs. Elmer Troyer of Milo, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Richard D Suddreth, Mr. Richard Boness and daughter Patty Gail Boness of La Grange, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roloff of St. Joseph, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson of Rose City, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pomeroy of Traverse City, Mich. and Mr. Jack Noseworthy of Stephenville, Newfoundland, Canada.

Heises Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Petter

Monday, Oct. 20, will mark the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs Charles Heise.

The couple will observe the occasion at a family gathering at the Flint home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jadwin. Joining them will be their grandsons, Charles and Stephen.

Mr. Heise and the former Clare Thorsen were married at Traverse City on Oct. 20, 1925. Their attendants at the service were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lalonde of East Jordan.

At the time of their marriage, Mr. Heise was associated with the late Benjamin Yettaw in the Charlevoix Coal and Ice Co. and his bride was teaching fourth grade in the Charlevoix Public Schools. Following Mr. Yettaw's retirement in 1941, Mr. Heise continued in the business until it was dissolved as the result of changing times about five years ago.

Both are members of the First Congregational church

Mr Heise was born in Norwood township and lived there until the early 1920's when he went into business here. He is a former member of the city council Mrs. Heise was born at East Jordan and, following graduation from high school, attended the Charlevoix County Normal School here and taught in rural schools in the area until joining the faculty here. She was in the teaching profession for 10 years.

Couple Commemorates 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Petter of Ellsworth will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary with an open house on Saturday, November 1.

The open house will be hosted by the Petter's eight children in the Ellsworth American Legion Hall from 2 o'clock to five o'clock.

The Petters are lifelong residents of Ellsworth and hope to see many of their friends on this day.

17 Attend Pre-School Program

Some 17 Charlevoix area children are now attending pre-school classes funded by Title I, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The children meet Friday mornings and afternoons in the same rooms used by the Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery School in the Library and are taught by Dorothy Miller, who also teaches in the Nursery School.

Besides spending a morning or afternoon in class, the children also have the benefit of an hour's time each week with Mrs. Miller in their own homes. Here Mrs. Miller works with them on a one-to-one basis and encourages the mothers to join in the sessions.

The principal purpose of the pre-school program, according to Mrs. Miller, is to develop language and social skills and a good self-concept, stressing the positive not the negative. Children learn to take directions from persons other than parents, how to share and how to get along with their peers.

They also develop fine motor skills, work with coloring materials, learn to count, etc. They will go on field trips and work on various projects such as cooking and art.

Meeting in homes gives parents a certain responsibility in their children's education, which is of benefit both to parents and children Parents are also asked to assist about once every six weeks as an aide during classroom sessions.

During the recent school orientation meeting, Mrs. Miller was happy to see that at least one parent of each child showed up.

The Title I program extends through the elementary school grades. It provides an aide for each grade level who helps with the teaching of reading and mathematics. The three main programs of Title I are pre-school, reading and mathematics.

Previously, the pre-school part of the program consisted of five days of classroom work but the funds have been redistributed to cover a broader field of activity.

Ralph Raymer, principal of the Charlevoix Elementary School is administrator of the Title I program. He says that the Elementary School is now evaluating children who have gone through the pre-school program to learn what effect the program has had on them.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made the 8th day of May, 1969, by Bernarr J. Andrick and Retty A. Andriek, as mortgagors, to United States of America, as mortgagee, and recorded on May 8, 1969, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan in Liber 126 of mortgages on pages 254-257; on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this Notice Seven Thousand Five Hundred Sixty-Three and 29/100 dollars ($7,563.29) principal and Six Hundred Thirty-Seven and 04/100 dollars ($637.04) interest; no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt, or any part of the debt, secured by said mortgage, and the power of sale contained in said mortgage having become operative by reason of such default;

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is Hereby Given that on December 10, 1975, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the East door of the courthouse in Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, there will be offered for sale and sold to the highest bidder, at public sale, for the purpose of satisfying the amounts due and unpaid upon said mortgage, together with the legal costs and charges of sale, provided by law and in said mortgage, the lands and premises in said mortgage mentioned and described, as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at an iron stake on the South line of Division Street 2 rods South and 158 feet West of the Northeast corner of Section 23, Township 32 North, Range 7 West; thence South 153 feet to an iron stake; thence East parallel with the North line of said Section 39.5 feet, more or less, to a point 85.5 feet West to an iron stake on the West line of Maple Street; thence South parallel with the West line of said Maple Street 146.7 feet to a point 60 feet North of the North line of North Street; thence West parallel with the North line of said North Street 55.3 feet, more or less, to the East line of Sixth Street; thence North of the East line of said Sixth Street (as named on the recorded plat of Nicholl's Fourth Addition to the Village of South Lake) 299.85 feet to the South line of said Division Street; thence East on the South line of said Division Street 58.4 feet to the place of beginning; and being a part of the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter of said Section 23, Township 32 North, Range 7 West; in the City of East Jordan, County of Charlevoix, Michigan.

The redemption period will be six months from the time of such sale. Property may be redeemed by paying balance due plus 7 percent interest, and any fees, taxes, or other unpaid encumbrances on the property from date of sale.

Mrs. Brady Takes New Position

Mrs. Brady

Mrs. William "Gerry" Brady was elected first vice-president of the Northwestern District of Federation of Women's Club at the annual convention of the organization held in Shelby recently.

Mrs. Brady attended the convention along with Mrs. Julia Leedy Baer, president of the Charlevoix Woman's Club, and Mrs. Thomas Hodgkinson.

The Charlevoix Woman's Club also received honorable mention and a second place award for its club scrapbook.

Escapee Found

John T. Pedersen, 21, East Jordan, who walked away from the Charlevoix County Jail on Sept. 25 after cutting the cyclone fence around the recreation area and crawling through the hole, was apprehended by East Lansing Police early Friday.

He is scheduled to appear Wednesday before District Judge David W. Fershee on the escape charge.

At the time of his escape, he was being held on a charge of possession of stolen property valued at more than $100, reduced from unlawfully driving away an automobile belonging to Frank Oleksy Sept. 7. Pedersen was arrested Sept. 10 at Six Mile Lake and returned here. He was being held on $5,000 bond after being bound over to Circuit Court at the time of his escape.

He appeared before Judge Martin Breighner in Circuit Court here Monday on the stolen property charge. He stood mute and a plea of innocent entered in his behalf.

The former A. Marie Foskett was born Sept. 29, 1916, at Pleasanthill, Mo. She was married to Mr. Hills at Pueblo, Colo., in 1932. They moved here from Tucson, Ariz., three years ago.

She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, the Strangite group.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, Clarence William of Charlevoix and Charles Alan of Albuquerque, N.M.; two daughters, Mrs. Orville (Shirley) Evans of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mrs. Donald (Louise) Sheppard of Charlevoix; 18 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. Harry Gregory

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry (Angeline) Gregory, 82, were held Wednesday at St. Mary's Church with the Rev. R. Dale Maggon officiating. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. The rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Gregory died Oct. 13 at the Beverly Manor Convalescent Home in Petoskey where she had been a patient since Nov. 18, 1971.

Born in Charlevoix March 3, 1893, the former Angeline Hebert was married to Harry Gregory. They resided here and in southern Michigan before returning here to make their home. Mr. Gregory died in 1965. She was a member of St. Mary's Church.

She is survived by two brothers, Charles J. of Dearborn and Arthur D. of Chicago and three sisters, Mrs. William (Lila) West of Charlevoix and Scottsdale, Ariz., Mrs. A.C. (Mary) Gleason and Miss Rita Hebert of San Fernadino, Calif.

Thursday, the Eagles were in command all the way as Scott Morgan scored on runs of 21, 22 and six yards and passed 33 yards to Jack Cross. Cross scored on a 23 yard pass from Jack Carlson and John Fiedorek on a six yard run. Jeff Greene added three conversions and Scott Morgan and Mark Morgan one each.

The Patriots scored in the first quarter on a 29 yard pass from Steve to Eric Daylong who, late in the game, passed to Steve Daylong for one yard and a tally. Steve also scored a safety and Jeff a conversion.

Lions 21 Cowboys 0

The Lions blanked the Cowboys 21-0 on touchdowns in the first three periods by Chuck Klooster who scored on runs of six and 12 yards and Wayne Sharrow on a 20 yard scamper. Gary Carson scored all three conversions.

Vikings 19 Bengals 6

Touchdowns runs of one and six yards by Craig Klooster and a five-yarder by Alex Sheets plus a conversion by Dave Batdorf gave the Vikings their win over the Bengals.

A 39 yard pass from Ron Way to Chris Putman accounted for the Bengals only touchdown.

Following Saturday's games, first and second place ribbons were presented to team members by Boss.

In closing out the flag football season, Boss expressed his appreciatation to the coaches, Ron Beglin, Bob Lucas, Fred Sommerfield, Paul Parrish, Jiggs Whitley and Dwight Detraz of the Peewee League and George Daylong, Don Kelly, Doug Hawley, Joe Beaudoin, Bob Hoffman and Matt Timmons of the Junior League and to Bill Joy and Jim Giglio, referees, who gave up their Saturdays for the past six weeks so the youngsters could have a flag football season.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES — OCTOBER 6, 1975 — 8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood, and Whitley. Absent: None.

The Minutes of September 22, 1975 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Mayor Hansen recessed the Common Council to a Board of Appeals meeting.

The Appeals Board and guest present held a lengthy discussion on re-zoning and a building variance on the David Phillips property, which is Lot 3, Block A. Stockman's Addition to the Original Village of Charlevoix, now the City of Charlevoix; and which is zoned as R-2.

Motion was made by Aldermon Timms and supported by Alderman Selph that David Phillips be allowed to expand the building, now known as The Grey Gables Inn at 308 Belvedere Avenue, in o non-conforming use to add on a 80' x 40' addition for a new dining room; and will maintain the existing east and west lines of the building and granted a variance to build to within 18 feet of the rear property line. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, McRae, and Wood. Nays: Aldermen Plumm and Whitley. Absent: None.

Mayor Hansen adjourned the Board of Appeals, and Common Council reconvened with all members present.

Motion was made by Alderman Timms and supported by Alderman McRae that the request for re-zoning David Phillips property from R-2 to C-1 be denied. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman McRae and supported by Alderman Plumm to adopt a Shade Tree Ordinance for the City of Charlevoix as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 359

An Ordinance creating a Shade Tree Commission for the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, and granting certain powers thereto.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, STATE OF MICHIGAN:

Section 1. SHADE TREE COMMISSION – There is hereby created and established a Shade Tree Commission for the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, which commission shall consist of three members, citizens and residents of this City, who shall be appointed by the mayor with the approval of this Council.

Section 2. TERM OF OFFICE – The term of the three persons to be appointed by the mayor shall be three years except that the term of two of the members appointed to the first commission shall be only one and two years respectively. In the event that a vacancy shall occur during the term of any member, his successor shall be appointed for the unexpired portion of said term.

Section 3. COMPENSATION – Members of the Commission shall serve without compensation.

SECTION 4. POWERS AND DUTIES – The Commission shall have power to study, investigate, plan, advise, report, and recommend to council, the director of public service or the mayor any action, program, plan or legislation which the commission shall find or determine to be necessary or advisable for the care, preservation, trimming, planting, replanting, removal or disposition of trees and shrubs in public ways, streets and alleys.

Section 5. The Commission shall choose its own officers, make its own rules and regulations and keep a journal of its proceedings. A majority of the members shall be a quorum for the transaction of business. All plans, findings, advices, reports and recommendations made by the commission shall be in writing and designated by name those members of the commission approving or concurring therein, and members who do not so approve or concur therein shall have the right, as a part of such report, to state their reasons for refusing to approve or concur. The Commission, when requested by council or the mayor, shall consider, investigate, make findings, report and recommend upon any special matter of question coming within the scope of its work.

Section 6.

(a) No person shall hereafter plant any tree or shrub upon any public way, street or alley unless he shall have first obtained a permit in writing from the City Administrator specifying the size, type, species and location on the public way, street or alley, of the tree or shrub so to be planted.

(b) Any person violating the provision hereof shall be fined not more than $15.00 and the costs of prosecution.

(c) The City Administrator shall have the authority to deny a permit to any person who proposes to plant any tree or shrub upon the public way, street or alley of a size, type or species found to be undesirable by the Commission or so found to be undesirable for the location proposed; or he may deny a permit to any person who proposes to plant any tree or shrub upon a public way, street or alley if at a location found by the commission to be of the size or type unsuitable for planting of trees or shrubs.

Section 7. That council finds that certain trees have been recently removed from along public streets in the City of Charlevoix; that immediate replanting shall be undertaken in an informed, orderly manner, and that therefore an emergency exists. So finding, this council declares this ordinance necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the city so the same shall go into immediate effect.

The Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Timms to appoint the following persons to the Shade Tree Commission: Thomas Pointner (three year term, Jeannine Wallace (two year term), and Robert Wexstaff (one year term). Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Wood, that the City of Charlevoix increase the electrical rate by 11.5 mills per kw hour effective October 1, 1975, and will appear on all billings. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Wood to adopt the following Resolution.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix appropriate up to $20,000 for matching funds from State and Federal grants to upgrade Park Avenue Recreational Park Area.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this matching fund will be made available only if matching State and Federal funds are made available.

THEREFORE, be it resolved that the City of Charlevoix urges the Women's Club to secure these grants.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, McRae, Wood, Whitley. Nays: Aldermen Selph and Plumm. Absent; None.

Motion was made by Alderman McRae and supported by Alderman Whitley that the City of Charlevoix hire Greg Shadko as coordinating engineer for Step 1 Sewer Plan Study. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman McRae and supported by Alderman Plumm to appoint Clifton Sundberg to the Salary Commission for the five year term, replacing Dr. Robert Tollas whose term has expired. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Timms and supported by Alderman McRae to appoint Hans Wiemer (five year term), Harry Wood (four year term), Robert Cook (three year term), Pete Culver (two year term) and Greg Shadko (one year term) to serve as members of the Building Code Administration Board of Appeals. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Wood to adopt the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, a vacancy has been created for the Office of City Clerk, due to the resignation of City Clerk Ida A. Heise.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Lyle S. King be appointed to fill the office vacancy.

The Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, McRae, Wood and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $190,701.01 including add-on of $1,249.47 to City Attorney Donald Heritage, find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Aldermen Plumm and supported by Aldermen Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for same. Motion was adopted

Planners Fear Railroad Issue Dead

TRAVERSE CITY – Northwestern Michigan Regional Planners fear only a few people care about proposed federal legislation that virtually wipes out Northern Michigan rail service.

Out of 111 questionnaires sent to the region's communities to determine local attitudes toward rail service, only 10 were returned to the commission–mostly showing little interest in major industrial development.

No area towns returned their questionnaires.

Congress has until Nov. 6 to reject or accept recommendations in the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) plan that would eliminate some 21 percent, or 1,200 miles of Michigan trackage.

Concerned that neither the federal or state government was looking at the plan's effect on Northern Michigan, the planning group hired Washington railroad consultant J.M. Malanaphy to study area needs.

Faced with 11.6 percent unemployment in the North, Richard Beagle, assistant director and economic planner for the Northwestern Regional Planning Development Commission here, says he hopes the poor response reflects only apathy with railronds and not with industrial growth.

"We're growing in Northwestern Michigan whether people like it or nnt," Beagle said.

"We should be planning and trying to accommodate those people who want to move North without destroying the environment."

Beagle claims that without rail service to at least Traverse City, many industries have indicated they won't move to the area.

While admitting it would be unrealistic to save all service, Beagle says it is important to save some lines for future growth.

The regional planner says that the state's proposal to retain all Northern rail service under a state and federal subsidy for the next two years is not the solution.

"I don't feel that's an acceptable solution for the region," he said.

"It only puts a cloud over the region for two more years and industry won't come if there's that kind of uncertainty."

Beagle says a solution needs to be found now instead of delaying the problem another two years.

The regional commission is expected to receive its consultant's recommendations for rail line retention within the next two weeks.

Beagle said the $15,000 study, which began last August, is considering four alternatives ranging from retention of all rail service in the North to keeping the Chessie System open from Thompsonville to Traverse City and from Charlevoix to Bay View along with the Penn Central trackage from Cadillac to Bay View.

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP battles a grass fire that apparently was started from a cigarette thrown from a car. (Photo by Sara Gay Dammann)

Help Prevent Forest Fires

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

The way it burned indicated the fire was started by a motorist flipping a cigarette from a car. The car was most likely traveling south on the Boyne City Road, near Eastern Avenue, a Pine Point turn uff, early Wednesday afternoon.

The fire burned a wooded vacant lot, belonging to Maurice Seaman.

Thut cigarette prnhahly smoldered some time before the dry leaves at the road's edge burst into flame, eventually spreading to tree stumps, dry grass and live trees.

The Charlevoix Township Volunteer Fire Department was called by a passer-by who nuticed the fire was spreading. Nearby houses and a trailer would soun be threatened. It was 3:30 p.m.

By the time the Fire Department arrived Seaman, aided by Jim Waldner and Bob Cyr of Buyne City, also passing by, and neighbors, had more or less gained control of the fire.

The Fire Department volunteers finished the job of extinguishing the smoldering tree stumps.

On-lookers shuddered, speculating what could have occurred if the area had been mure isolated or if the thaughtless smoker had tossed that cigarette at night.

Red Skovera, Area Fire Supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources, said in an interview later, that recent dryness had produced a "good fuel bed."

Skovera said, "Any spark, ember, from matches ur cigarettes, for instance, would start a fire easily.

"It's particularly dangerous when the wind is up."

Skovera said the DNR publishes a "Fire Index" based on humidity, temperature, wind and other factors. The index is an analysis of current fire hazards.

The Fire Index has been moderate tu high in recent weeks, because of October's relative dryness. The rain over the weekend should help to keep the danger down.

However, Skovera emphasized:

"Anyone with an open fire, burning rubbish or leaves, for instance, must have a DNR permit if he is outside the city limits."

With a permit, Skovera explained, a fire must be carefully watched, there must

Volume Up from Last Year

County Farming Looks Healthy

For Charlevoix County's farm community, the past year turned out to be a better one, by and large, than it did for farmers and ranchers in many parts of the country.

Although some operators did little more than hold their own, others, especially growers with large, well-equipped setups, ended up in the black. The results were not so good, on the other hand, for most livestock producers.

The final figures for the year, recently released on a county-by-county basis, show that gross receipts in the local area from the sale of crops, livestock and other farm products compared favurably with those reported in 1973.

The better showing was due to higher prices obtained for most commodities rather than to increased production. Expectations of a bumper crop petered out because of the hot, dry summer followed by an early frost.

However, figures from the Department of Agriculture show that it was a landmark year in that gross farm income in the United States topped $100 billion for the first time in history.

In Charlevoix County, according tu data compiled by the Standard Rate and Data Service, farm receipts in the year come to $4,285,000, as against the previous year's $3,383,000.

The increase, 25 percent, compares with a 21 percent rise in the United States and with a 23 percent rise in the East North Central States.

The income figure refers to gross receipts, before taxes and operating costs are taken into account.

The bulk of it consisted of cash returns from the sale of crops, livestock and other commodities. Making up the rest were government payments and "income in kind," which is the value of the home-grown products consumed on the farm.

A breakdown of the cash receipts in Charlevoix County from the sale of farm goods, based upon the most recent data from the Department of Agriculture, shows approximately 19 percent coming from crops and 81 percent from marketings of livestock, poultry and dairy products.

As for the net income that remained for the nation's farmers after deducting their expenses, that is another story.

It dropped from the record high of $32.2 billion, chalked up in 1973, to $27.2 billion, chiefly due to a big jump in operating costs.

3 Bound to Circuit Court

Three men, charged with conspiring to violate the controlled Substance Act, have been bound over to Charlevoix Circuit Court after a closed hearing Wednesday before District Court Judge David Fershee.

They are Robert A. Michalak, 21, Detroit, and James M. Smith, 19, of Charlevoix, who had been held in the Charlevoix county jail and Claude J. Doughtry, 21, Detroit who was held in the Wayne County Jail.

All three were arrested in Detroit October 3. Michalak and Smith were returned here and held on $10,000 bonds until the bonds were reduced to $2,500. Smith was released Oct. 15 and Michalak Oct. 18. Doughtry has appeared in Wayne County Court and was released on $2,500 bond the week following his arrest.

Islanders Consider Bond Issue For Airport Expansion Project

Beaver Islanders have only one way to come and go from the Island in the winter time – by plane.

In order to improve the Island's airport facilities, residents of Peaine and St. James Townships are being asked to approve $40,000 in general obligation bonds.

The proposition will be on the ballots in the November 4 election.

Improvements would consist of the construction and paving of an East-West runway 50 by 3,000 feet with a 30 feet by 700 feet taxiway, a 100 feet by 200 feet apron and approximately 400 feet of turf on each end of the runway.

Estimated cost of the improvements is $159,000, which would be financed half by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and half by the Beaver Island Airport, which is jointly owned by the two townships.

To pay for the bonds Peaine and St. James Townships would have to levy approximately 1.5 mills for a period of ten years.

The Beaver Island runway is now grass. When asked by the Courier what the advantages were of a paved runway over a grass runway, Bill Gehman of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission replied:

"Paved runways are easier to plow and keep clean of snow and ice and mud. Sod can't handle the weight of some planes. Rough landings in sod jar radio and other sensitive equipment in the plane and increase maintenance. Paved runways are easier to light because the edges are clearly defined. All in all, general avintion is becoming more sophisticated and improvements make flying more accessible to the public."

As an example of what the improvements would cost the taxpayer, the townships point out that a taxpayer whose property is assessed at $5,000 would pay $7.50 additional a year to help pay for airport improvements.

New Centennial Farm Designated

A farm owned by Perry E. Looze of Lex Road in Eveline Township has been designated as a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History. Centennial Farms are those which have been in continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more.

The Looze farm has been in possession of the family since 1874, when Perry's grandfather, John B. Looze, homesteaded 40 acres. Perry's father, William Henry Looze, took over operation of the farm in 1910 and Perry himself in 1945.

Although the farm now consists of 131 acres, only the original 40 acre considered the Centennial Farm. Through the years many crops have been grown on the land, including potatoes, wheat and corn. Perry Looze is now retired and grows only garden crops, renting out the rest of the farm to neighbors.

Looze and his wife, Frances, live on the farm house alone. Their only son, Fred, lives in Boyne City where he is production manager for Essex Products.

The Centennial Farm program was inaugurated in 1968. Since then, more than 3,000 Michigan farms have been certified as Centennial Farms.

Certificates are provided by the Division of Michigan History and large metal markers are provided by Consumers Power Companies.

The Great Pumpkin Will Rise Again

EDITOR'S NOTE: Talk of the Great Pumpkin may seem a bit of nonsense to [illegible] the same [illegible] that have been for years, [illegible] them could happen. I'm sorry my letter to the Great Pumpkin.

One fourth hour class was supposed to write to the Great Pumpkin, but I never could.

I just thought it was a lot of bunk and could never see myself fooling around with such silly stuff.

[illegible] ard of writing to [illegible] I [illegible] we all [illegible] the [illegible] assign [illegible] who [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] one.

And he was so right; anyone who didn't write would regret it the rest of his life.

It has been 10 long years and still I can't clear my conscience.

By now you're probably laughing at me and thinking the whole situation is really stupid.

But, don't you let the same thing happen to you that happened to me.

Every year about this time, I begin to tremble and wonder if this is going to be the year.

The shadows along the sidewalks seems to get larger and darker. The winds holler harder.

Every night before Hallowe'en, I look my bedroom door and snuggle deeper in bed covers hoping this won't be the year.

I seem to have the shakes right up until Hallowe'en night and then they disappear for another year.

No one around our office even understands the Great Pumpkin.

They say they've never heard of him and only laugh and scoff at such thoughts.

But, I know better and they'll eventually find why I am the way I am.

Each year on Hallowe'en night, the Great Pumpkin rises out of the pumpkin patch that he thinks is the most sincere and flies through the air with a sack of toys for all the good little children in the world.

Wednesday Nite Ladies Invade Charlevoix Bowling Alley

Men call them a distraction, but women know better.

They're the Wednesday Nite Ladies who invade Paul Bunyan Bowling Lanes once a week.

It takes only $2.50 a week and a husband to sit with the kids.

And while the husbands are home trying to watch the World Series and keeping the kids quiet, the women are trying to bowl up a storm.

Manager Paul Fiedorek, who's been watching women bowl ever since he could see over the bowling alley candy counter, thinks women head for his father's lanes for a variety of reasons.

"In this town, when you get down to it there aren't too many activities," he said while handing out a pair of rented bowling shoes.

He says the bowling shoes start coming out in early fall when the weather starts getting cooler and women find it hard to exercise outside.

"It's one of the few indoor activities you can do, especially if you don't have a snowmobile or aren't a ski buff."

More than 175 women get a night a week out and most of them say they bowl because they like it.

Mrs. Carmen Kiteley says she's been bowling for five years and likes it because it's a chance to get away.

"It's the first time I've ever bowled in my life," says the Marion Township resident.

When asked how she learned, Mrs. Kiteley said she just got up and started bowling.

"They haven't kicked me off yet," she quipped.

"It's fun to get out and break the routine."

When Mrs. Karen Parsel was asked why she bowled, she jokingly asked what else was there to do.

"It's good exercise," she continued.

The seven-year veteran bowler said most women like the Wednesday night league because it doesn't start until 9 p.m. and gives them plenty of time to get the kids fed and off to bed.

"The league is all fun," she added.

"We just like to go for the fun of it."

Unlike other leagues, Mrs Parsel said the league she belongs to is only interested in getting an outing for the night and meeting fellow bowlers.

Mrs. Doris Wieland of Ellsworth says bowling gives her a chance to meet people she normally wouldn't get to see in her farm community circles.

"I do it for the physical activity too," she said.

If you happen to ask Mrs. Cindy Mansen why she bowls, she'll tell you it's a good question.

One of her teammates adds that she does it for the sheer misery.

"I guess I just do it because I enjoy it," she said.

And while the women are out enjoying themselves, the men sit home.

WEDNESDAY NITE Ladies battle it out for high scores at Paul Bunyan Lanes.

Michigan Recognizes Milk Producers

Dairymen Play Vital Role in Charlevoix County Economy

By PEG OHLE

Dairy farming is the first-ranking segment of the state's Number Two Industry: Agriculture. It is also the first-ranking segment of Charlevoix County's agricultural production.

October has been proclaimed "Cooperative Month" by Governor Milliken, and in recognition of the proclamation, the Courier talks this week with a member of the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA), a cooperative of dairy farmers.

Tom Wieland of Norwood Township, his brother Richard and nephew Daniel own and operate a 350-head dairy farm which has been in the family since 1907, when Tom's grandfather came north from Grand Rapids to start farming.

Last year, the Wielands sold over two million pounds of milk through the MMPA. On their modern dairy farm, milking machines take the milk through glass and stainless steel pipelines directly into stainless steel tanks where it is refrigerated and held for MMPA trucks which come every other day.

From the farm the milk is trucked to Traverse City, where some is bought by Maxbauer's Dairy and the rest transhipped to Detroit or Grand Rapids or to cheese or butter processing plats in Imlay City, Clare or Pinconning.

To feed their dairy cattle, the Wielands farm 1540 acres of their own and rented land. They grow corn and alfalfa hay and buy some feed supplements. Helping them on the farm are one full-time hired man, some part-time help, and Tom and Dick's father John who serves as an adviser and inactive member of the partnership.

High prices, especially for fertilizer and fuel, are putting a pinch on dairy farmers, according to Tom, but they are doing everything they can to keep prices down.

There are 140 members in the local MMPA group, which covers an area from Grand Traverse County to Cheboygan and they own their own hauling equipment. Tom Wieland is a director of the local cooperative and he says it is a challenge to keep the operation running economically.

MMPA has a membership of some 5,400 dairy farmers throughout the state. It stresses that it is an association of "producers" of milk as opposed to "processors" of milk and other dairy products. MMPA and its dairy farm members relinquish control of their raw milk product when it is delivered to plants of processors.

Although dairy farming is the largest agricultural pursuit in Michigan, the number of Grade A dairy farms is decreasing. In August of this year there were 7,212 such farms in the Lower Peninsula. This compares with 7,430 in August of 1974.

Health Department Offers Flu Shots

For the first time, the District 3 Health Department is recommending flu shots for senior citizens, especially those over 65.

New shots have been developed which are more effective in preventing both "A" and "B" types of influenza and they are prepared with a new chicken cell base rather than a penicillin base, to which many persons are allergic.

Now, only those persons who are allergic to chickens will be adversely affected by the shots.

The shots will be given in conjunction with the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging at a clinic to be held Wednesday, November 12, at the Charlevoix High School cafeteria.

The afternoon has been divided into three time periods, with an hour designated for each county community.

Persons from the East Jordan area will be given shots from 2 to 3 p.m., those from the Boyne City-Boyne Falls area from 3 to 4 p.m., and those from the Charlevoix area from 4 to 5 p.m.

Appointments for shots must be made by October 31, through one of the following persons: East Jordan, Mrs. Rusell W. Sheppard, phone 536-7880; Boyne City-Boyne Falls, Mrs. George Pelton, phone 582-9630; and Charlevoix, George Conklin, phone 547-4288.

Transportation to the clinic will be provided by the Commission on Aging buses. Reservations may be made by calling 536-9221.

There will be a $2.00 charge for the shots. Any senior citizen who questions whether or not he should have a flu shot should consult his personal physician.

Historical Society to Discuss Norwood

The next meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society will feature Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons of Norwood, who will tell about the development of their community from its founding to the bicentennial.

The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, November 4, at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the Charlevoix State Bank.

Norwood was an important shipping center long before large sailing vessels could enter Charlevoix's shallow Pine River channel.

The Society hopes that many Norwood old-timers will attend the meeting to hear the Parsons' and perhaps add personal reminiscences to the evening's program.

New-timers are urged to attend as well.

Want a Puppy?

HAVE YOU BEEN thinking about getting some puppies for your children? The Charlevoix County Humane Society is looking for someone who could make a nice home for these two mixed Beagles that are approximately six weeks old. Their mother is also available for adoption. If you are interested contact the Humane Society located next to the Sheriff's office in Charlevoix on any weekday from 1 to 5 p.m. Holding the beagles is Terri Kenifeck, a Humane Society volunteer.

Steele Made President of Realtors

Gene Steele of Charlevoix Properties, Inc. was elected president of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors at their annual meeting recently.

Steele succeeds Carlton L. Kessler of Capitol City Realty, Inc., who will continue as a director.

Others elected to office were Marilyn Roberts of Dressel Realty, vice president; Bill DeWitt of DeWitt Realty, treasurer; and Ken Lenk of Lenk Realty, secretary. Mel Hansen of Hansen Realty in Mancelona was re-elected a director.

Kessler was voted Realtor of the Year by the Board. This annual award is given for leadership in local community activities and active participation in either the Michigan Association of Realtors and or the National Association of Realtors.

Besides his work in real estate, Kessler is an active member of the Torch Lake Township Planning and Land Use Board and was one of the original members of the Torch Lake Township Zoning Board.

All Courtroom Doors Should Remain Open

Thanks to a recommendation by Charlevoix County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum, a courtroom door was slammed shut last week on the public's right to know.

Although the closed courtroom session, according to our legal counsel, is technically within the bounds of state law, we totally object to the practice.

The incident occurred when three men appeared before 90th District Court Judge David Fershee Wednesday for a preliminary hearing on a charge of conspiracy to violate the controlled substance act.

Just barely after the hearing was underway, the county prosecutor asked the court if only those directly involved within be permitted to remain in the courtroom.

After hearing the prosecutor's motion and getting no objections from the defense, the judge granted a request and asked all uninvolved parties to leave the courtroom.

It was a simple matter and perhaps to most it should go unchallenged. But in our opinion, the prosecutor's action could lead to a precedent that we don't want to see in our local court system.

Not only do we find it distressing that a county prosecutor, elected to protect the public, would suggest such an action, we find it ironic.

The prosecutor's request to bar the public from the courtroom came not less than two minutes after the press had agreed to his request not to take pictures.

Varnum had told the press that he was concerned that the identity of several testifying undercover enforcement officials should remain anonymous because they were still working in the area.

Yet despite the press' willingness to cooperate, the prosecutor charged ahead with his motion to close the courtroom.

Ignoring the fact that anyone really interested in knowing who the undercover people were could have stood outside of the courtroom, the prosecutor's request seems unusual for several other reasons.

While Charlevoix County District Court closed its doors for a hearing on an alleged sale of drugs, the entire state is able to read blow by blow accounts of a state supreme justice on trial for an alleged bribery conspiracy. This is not to mention the national coverage of Patricia Hearst's trial.

So why then were local courtroom doors closed?

Unfortunately court news rubs some people the wrong way. They feel that a newspaper is being vindictive by reporting on the trials of people and the sentences that are imposed on them.

Some maintain that publication of court trials and other related news is a newspaper's way of punishing people twice for the crimes they commit.

From time to time, someone will even suggest or attempt to stop a newspaper from publishing court news to save defendants the embarrassment of seeing their names in print.

We reject this notion and would hope all public officials would do the same.

It's important that the community not only know the alleged crimes being committed against it, but who is perpetrating these crimes and how the judicial system is dealing with them.

Only the community newspaper is in the position to relay this information.

We are the messenger that carries the news of the courts to the people they represent.

We will not be deterred in this task for it is our responsibility alone to carry it out.

Ever since the initial arrests were made in this particular case, information supplied to the press has been at best sketchy.

The police were unwilling even to tell where the arrests were made.

We cannot settle for the attitude demonstrated thus far by those involved with this case and hope that it does not continue.

Closed courtrooms and suppressed information are not healthy signs in the Democratic process.

We would hope all parties concerned would reassess their positions in the future and this type of action would not be seen again.

Letters to the editor

Street Lights Defended

Charlevoix will soon notice the effects of the change from mercury vapor lighting to high pressure sodium (HPS). Primary benefits will be less power cost to us, the taxpayer, to maintain safe lighting levels. At an approximate 600 watts, taxpayers are being saved (at let's say, 3 cents a kilowatt hour) almost $800 a year on each pole, in electricity costs alone. We will notice increased visibility in rain, snow and fog. This, of course, means safer streets for pedestrians and automobiles.

Before the "energy crisis" became a household word, many cities changed to HPS because they could quickly get more light on the streets without a major change in the present street lighting equipment. This is now true of Charlevoix. While the tested candlepower is probably not much more than the previous 1000-watt mercury lamps, the "effect" is that it is much more noticeable.

One of the reasons the change is so obvious is that the streets on the outlying areas of Charlevoix are less illuminated. If you are flying into Chicago, Washington D.C. or Los Angeles, you will notice virtually miles and miles of the residential streets, as well as shopping areas, lit with the yellow glow of HPS. It has been known for years that the eye is much more sensitive to the warm end of the spectrum than the cold end. The mercury vapor lamps previously used were a noticeable blue color. This is why the Coast Guard and other organizations use the "international orange and yellows" for life saving devices, as blues and greens are practically unnoticed by the eye with the background of sea, land or air.

HPS light source is almost 2½ times as efficient as mercury sources. The warm color gives objects an appearance far closer to natural sunlight than does mercury. It has been demonstrated, warm color also contributes to the emotional stability of people in that area of illumination. Whereas, the essentially blue color has been noticed to create feelings of tension and unrest, and actually tends to increase vandalism, instead of decreasing it.

Both mercury and sodium are high intensity discharge lamps. They are essentially reverting back to the days of the arc lamp. However, the arc is enclosed in a small glass tube, and metallic vapors create the color in the electrical discharge. Other high intensity discharge sources include metal halide and metal additive lamps, which include a mixture of metallic vapors to accomplish various color renditions.

Low presure sodium (LPS) which is most similar to fluorescent lighting is widely used in Europe, and is even more efficient than HPS. Unfortunately the color is even more yellow than HPS. A side effect to the use of the HPS and LPS light sources has been healthier trees and plants. Some greenhouses have used a combination of the sodium lamp and incandescent to "double" the growth of plants and flowers, and even vegetation in the case of agriculture.

Whether or not Charlevoix has a "crime rate" justifying the use of more effient lighting, it has been demonstrated that HPS has decreased incidents of vandalism, when used in towns where people are likely to spend time walking up and down the streets in local shopping - like Charlevoix-the-Beautiful!

We therefore, coinpliment the City for an excellent choice in choosing the highest efficiency lamps, without a sacrifice in color, and helping to lower the power costs to the taxpayer.

LexaLite sells its products direct to the manufacturers of street lighting fixtures, and had no connection with the lighting in Charlevoix whatsoever. We offer our information only as our products are used with the various light sources diseussed.

I wish the Detroit Free Press and other bleeding-heart newspapers would quit running stories about the plight of fatherless families which are forced to subsist on state ADC payments.

The thing that bothers me is that most of the families have more spendable income than I do and I put in a full 40 hours a week and then some.

Now don't get me wrong. I don't begrudge ADC families a dime. If they are smart enough to get their hands in the Michigan till and make off with several hundreds of dollars a month they deserve whatever they get.

What I object to are newspaper stories detailing what princely sums ADC families spend on food, clothes, baby sitters, and what have you just because the father of the tribe had the good sense to bow out of the picture and let the state take over.

Judy reads this nonsense and all of a sudden I start looking like more of a liability than a breadwinner. And I sort of feel bad, knowing that the state of Michigan can do a better job of supporting my family than I can.

These suspicions of my own inadequacy were revived Sunday when the Detroit Free Press catalogued the plight of one Mrs. Denise Gagnier, 32, and her six children of Detroit. The old man has skipped out and Mrs. Gagnier must support her brood on a paltry $672 a month (tax free), plus a $62 a month Food Stamp bonus.

In theory, the Welfare Department is supposed to be reimbursed for its largess to the Gagnier family by Mr. Gagnier. However, Mr . Gagnier isn't working at present and it is difficult to see how anyone unemployed could come up with $672 a month in child support payments—unless he has boarded another coach on the Michigan gravy train. The paper didn't say.

I don't know how many wandering fathers pay the full shot for the eare and feeding of their offspring under ADC, but I have a hunch that the percentage is mighty low.

The thrust of the Free Press story is that Mrs. Gagnier and her family are going to have to start pinching pennies in January when ADC families will lose between $15 and $20 a month due to Michigan's straightened financial circumstances.

"To tell the truth, I don't know how I cope now," she (Mrs. Gagnier) said. "I don't know what I am going to do."

If I were Mrs. Gagnier, I'd take a long, hard look at my grocery bill. She buys $250 worth of Food Stamps every month for $188, meaning she and her brood, aged 22 months to 12 years, consume more than $60 worth of groceries a week. The Clocks, with just about as many mouths to feed, are getting by on about $35. But we walk right past the steak counter and the frozen shrimp. Come to think about it, we also walk past pork chops, beef roasts and dismembered chickens and we don't stop until we reach the hamburger tray. And we only have meat meals a couple times a week, at that.

Mrs. Gagnier spends $15 a month for baby sitters. The Clocks average about $3. Clothes for the Gagnier family cost $56 a month. Oh, my! If we spent $56 a month on clothes we'd all look like fashion plates. Fortunately Judy sews and remnant counters are a god-send. We get by on probably one-fifth of what the Gagniers spend.

Mrs. Gagnier also spends $10 a month on a flute for her oldest daughter, Judy and I can sympathize, although we had to stop Katie's piano lessons ($10 a month) because we just didn't have the $10.

The family also spends something like $92 a month on paper products, toilet articles, soap, dry cleaning, laundry and cleaning products, entertainment, reading material, craft materials for children, house and auto repairs, etc.) This is a rather broad category, but it is one that should be able to be trimmed in several areas that aren't essential to health or happiness.

Fortunately, the Gagniers are on Medicaid and doctors' and dentists' services cost them nothing. Which is very nice for the Gagniers. But I keep getting bills from doctors and dentists and I have the devil's own time getting them paid.

If Judy had any sense, she would boot me out and let the state take over. Happily, she doesn't have any more sense than I have.

Erma Bombeck

Memo To: Abraham Beame, Mayor, New York City
From: Bill Bombeck
Re: New York City's Financial Plight

God knows my wife has done what she could to help you people get on your feet again.

She did for you what she has done for slumping economies in Miami, San Francisco, Boston Dallas, Freeport, and Disney world . . spend more money than I am making.

Last week as she sat reading the newspaper, she looked up, her eyes misting, and said, "New York needs me."

With that, she packed a few things in a large bag (an old Save-the-Economy trick) and headed for Fun-dless City.

It is not easy living with a crusader who is single-handedly fighting the battle of supply and demand.

She has a credit card for Al's Bait Shop.

She goes to a hospital to have surgery and brings home presents for everyone.

She checks out $50 worth of stuff at the supermarkets and does not have one edible item in the eart.

She carries a "deferred account" at the bakery.

For the last five years, she has been going to garage sales. We own four garages – one of them in New Jersey.

She can buy for her entire Christmas list in a tool & die shop.

She is the first woman ever to suffer finger burns from a smoking American Express card.

The other night in a restaurant she said, "Give me $5. I am going to the restroom."

"What do you need with $5 in a restroom?"

"I might see something I want to buy."

"There is nothing to buy in a restroom."

"You said that at the mortuary."

As a man with deep feelings of gratitude, you are, I suspect, thrashing about for some way of repaying my wife for her services to New York City. May I suggest when you make out the fiscal budget in two weeks..you go without her support.

She is in deep depression over the W. T. Grant Company and cries constantly, "Where was I when they needed me?"

Regards.

Prosecutor Vs. Ali

A Detroit sportswriter says Muhammad Ali may stage one of his $10 million prizefights in the Detroit area, perhaps in the new Ponnet Stadium. Go get him, Brooks Patterson!

Patterson is county prosecutor and candidate for field marshal in the Ponnet neighborhood. He first gained public notice several years ago by throwing his body in front of school buses. The voters applauded and Patterson has been performing encores every since.

Patterson goes with the wind, using his tongue for a sail. I think he feels the public pulse by attending lynchings and book burnings. He is death on welfare cheats and marauding gypsies. He finds out what makes the average man mad and then appears on TV, shovel in hand, to say he's madder than anyone and something has got to be done, by God!

The shovel is because there's a rumor Jimmie Hoffa's body might be buried in Patterson's county. More than anything else, Patterson appreciates the value of publicity. When and if the Hoffa mystery is solved, it will be worldwide news, Walter Cronkite and everything. If the body is discovered at the bottom of the Atlantic, Patterson will trade his shovel for a net and lead an international crusade against forced fishing.

Patterson's current crusade is against dirty movies that don't star Marlon Brando. Brooks says all that bare flesh and overt sex is obscene and he doesn't want it in his county. The voters agree, applauding wildly. The average man never wants dirty movies in his neighborhood - but he doesn't mind driving across town to see one. Of course, the average man on the other side of town feels the same way. That's human nature which may also be obscene. So midtown collisions are inevitable and smart lawyers such as Patterson know the value of being at the scene of the accident.

Patterson has milked tons of ink and TV time out of one lousy movie called "Naked Came the Stranger." He has closed the theatre so many times he should be awarded a flashlight and usher's epaulets. The courts keep reopening it. The problem is Patterson can't prove his definition of obscenity is constitutionally acceptable in every bedroom.

I suspect the battle replays are not displeasing to Patterson. A man who makes a clown of himself 10 times gets more publicity than the man who does it only once. But there's a limit to public interest. Patterson could attain a saturation point where the public would decide he really is a clown; fulltime, and he would then cease to be news.

So it would probably be wise of Patterson to be on the alert for a new source of obscenity. That's why I am here, ever helpful, talking about Muhammad Ali.

The business of professional boxers is to pound on each other. Most ideally, the loser is the fighter who is first knocked unconscious. Or, barring such a clear-cut outgoing, the loser is the fighter who suffers the most; who bleeds the most or has the most broken bones. The winner is the boxer who is the best hurter. If he is a really great hurter, causing much unconsciousness and bloodshed, he may be paid millions of dollars for doing it on closed-circuit TV.

The dictionary says something is obscene if it is "offensive...indecent... repulsive to the senses; loathsome." I submit that prizefighting is more obscene than "Naked Came the Stranger" or any other movie ever made.

What could possibly be more obscene than hitting people and getting paid for it? Dropping bombs on them.

It's a natural. If he could close down the proposed Ali fight, Patterson would not only win God's love, he would get an hour alone with Walter Cronkite.

Lou Ann McKimmy is the wife of James McKimmy, superintendent of Charlevoix Schools. However, she is a person in her own right, as this interview with the Courier indicates.

COURIER: Is it difficult for you, being the wife of the school superintendent?

McKIMMY: No. Jim isn't demanding. His job doesn't require anything special. We like to go to sports and school activities together. However, his job does require a lot of time away from home.

COURIER: Do you have children. How old are they and how do they feel about going to school in the town where their father is superintendent?

McKIMMY: Karen is 14, Kathy is 12 and Paul is 7. Sometimes it has been difficult for them to be in their father's school system. They have had to prove themselves but they are proud of their dad. If one of them complains about how hard it is I tell them I know what it's like because my father was also a school superintendent.

COURIER: What are your major intcrests?

McKIMMY: My major interest is in being a homemaker. I think it is the most important job a woman can have, even if the hours are long and the work sometimes hard. The kids call me a "nutrition nut". I bake all our bread – whole wheat – and they often ask me what I have hidden in the cookies.

COURIER: Have you ever worked outside your home?

McKIMMY: Yes, I used to teach Junior High English and Social Studies but I quit when we started our family. I hope to go back to teaching later on when the children are older. Right now I substitute once in a while.

COURIER: Do you belong to any organizations?

McKIMMY: We're members of the Methodist Church. I teach a high school age Sunday School class and belong to a circle. I also belong to a study group, "On the Edge of Adventure", which is sponsored by the church. The group meets in our home and I have learned a lot by being in it.

COURIER: What else do you do?

McKIMMY: I like to read and sew and cook. We do some cross country skiing as a family as well as some down hill skiing. This summer I took up golf and shot in the low fifties – for the first hole, that is! Jim flies and I want to learn how to, also, at least well enough so I could land the plane in case of an emergency. We fly together as a family occasionally. I'm going to fly to Buffalo with Jim next week.

COURIER: How did you and Jim meet?

McKIMMY: We met at Manchester College, a small Church of the Brethern college in Indiana and were married after we graduated.

COURIER: How long have you been in Charlevoix? Do you like it?

McKIMMY: This is our third year here and we are very happy with the community.

Army Corps of Engineers Expands Land Use Control Regulations

Another control of land is being undertaken by the federal government.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is enforcing Phase I of a new set of regulations under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 which extends the Corps' regulation of disposal of dredged or fill material to the traditional "navigable waters of the United States" and contiguous or adjacent wetlands.

Phase I of the new regulations requires a Department of Army permit for any major disruptive activity on such waters or wetlands.

Phase II, effective July 1, 1976, will expand the regulation to cover primary tributaries of "navigable waters of the United States," natural lakes greater than five surface acres and their adjacent and contiguous wetlands.

Phase III, effective July 1, 1977, will extend Corps authority into other "navigable waters," generally up to the headwaters.

Activities included in the regulations are the discharge of material which has been dredged ur excavated frnm any waters of the United States; site development fills for recreational industrial, commercial, residential and other uses, causeways or road fills; dams and dikes; artificial islands; property protection and or reclamation devices such as riprap, groins, seawalls, breakwaters and bulkheads and fills; beach nourishment; levees; sanitary landfills, and backfill required for the placement of structures such as sewage treatment plants.

However, permits will not be required for such normal farming practices such as plowing, cultivating, seeding and harvesting. Neither will they be required for such farm and ranch conservation practices as terracing, land leveling and the construction of check dams unless they occur in a water of the United States.

On the other hand, damming of major streams, diking and the discharge of dredged or fill material in wetlands associated with farm practices will require permits.

What these new regulntions will mean to persons nwning land near rivers, streams, lakes ur wetlands is pointed out by Charlevoix County Planner Bill Mercer.

"I feel that the federal government is stepping into local affairs. The fact that this licensing program will be coordinated with the state Inland Waters and Streams Act is good, but even so, we don't need the Army Corps, in Detroit, crenting more red tape for us.

Fountain Valley Lends A Hand To Students

By FRAN MARTIN

A 1920 teaching method is finding its way back into the Charlevoix Schools to make learning easier for children.

But instead of a teacher with an old hickory stick, there are tape recorders with cassettes.

Teachers call it the Fountain Valley Support System, named after a California community who had used the method to determine how well students had learned their lessons.

Introduced in fifth grade nearly two years ago, Fountain Valley is now being used in almost all grades at Charlevoix Elementary School with great success.

The teacher still uses the same teaching techniques he or she has always used. But now, the teacher uses Fountain Valley tests to measure how much the student learned about a subject after being taught.

Through the use of cassettes, the students are asked questions relating to the subject just taught.

The results are then recorded on individual student profile cards, which show a teacher what skills his student has or hasn't mastered. This way a teacher can determine what skills a student must work on.

Instead of comparing one student to the rest of his class, the individual is being judged on how he is doing for himself.

If there is more than one student who needs to work on the same skill, the teacher can take them aside and work as a small group.

"We feel we have taken failure out of the program being offered in our school," says principal Ralph Raymer.

Teacher Betty Potter says the program has taken the boredom out of the classroom.

Now instead of the fast learner finishing his work early and disturbing the rest of his class, he can continue on learning another skill, she says.

At the same time, the slow learner can work on the skills he's required to do.

And instead of teacher having to spend her time disciplining a class, she can work more with the students.

"It tells us what we need to know about our students ...their strung points and deficiencies," says Mrs. Barbara Wilson, another teacher using the Fountain Valley system.

"It may not be the answer to all needs, but it's the best thing we've had to date."

The success of the program at the end of the first year was pointed up at the beginning of the school year when students were tested after the long summer vacation.

"Students usually regress during this period," Raymer explained. "The tests revealed that these students had not regressed and that the time usually spent in reviewing the subject was not needed."

The program initially costs $3 per student, but decreases to $1 as materials are assembled and utilized by other students coming into the program.

Youngsters Sell Trees

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Charlevoix County will hold a Christmas tree picnic on Saturday, November 8.

They are inviting volunteers and their families to join them in cutting trees for their annual Christmas tree sale. They especially need men with chain saws to help cut the trees and women and children to haul nnd load the trees.

Charlevoix Loses Title Game to Petoskey

For the second year in a row, Charlevoix and Petoskey battled for league supremacy, and the Northmen were victorious in as many meetings. The 35-13 score does not accurately tell the story of Friday evening's game in Petoskey. The clash turned on those all important elements of football which cannot be coached or predicted--momentum, turn-overs, and penalties.

The battle started out to be a defensive football game. Charlevoix mounted a drive early in the first quarter, but, after picking up three first downs, they fumbled to the Northmen on the Petoskey 30 yard line.

After an exchange of punts, Petoskey took over on their own twenty. Charlevoix's defense had difficulty containing Petoskey's fine running back, Tom Splan, and Quarterback Jerry Cosens used him effectively to pick up 36 yards in the 80 yard drive for a touchdown. The Red Rayders contributed 20 yards in penalties to assist the Northmen in their scoring march. A 15 yard pass to Mitch Buday capped the drive.

The conversion kick by Mike Doctor made the score 7-0 to begin the second quarter.

Doctor's kickoff was taken by Charlevoix veteran Ed Russell on the 10 yard line. The speedy senior picked his way down the left sideline to return the boot for a touchdown. This was a fine run, and featured excellent blocking by the kickoff team. Bob Alger's kick for the extra point was good, and, fourteen seconds after Petoskey had gotten on the scoreboard, the score stood 7-7.

The two teams exchanged punts, and Petoskey took over on their own 46 yard line.

After picking up three first downs, prugressing to the Charlevoix 15 yard line, the Northmen were stopped by the Rayder defense. Doctor then kicked a 22 yard field goal. With 4:01 remaining in the first half, the score stood Petoskey 10, Charlevoix 7.

This set the stage for what could have been the turning point in the football game. The weather conditions were less than ideal, with a strong wind blowing across the field. Under these circumstances, Charlevoix punted into the wind from their own 46 yard line. The ball carried straight up in the air, and fell dead on the Petoskey 49 yard line. The 5 yard punt gave the Northmen good field position with less than 2 minutes remaining in the first half.

A fifteen yard interference penalty against the Red Rayders, and a fine 21 yard scamper by Splan, helped the Petoskey eleven score their second touchdown of the evening. With 44 seconds remaining, the conversion kick was good, and Petoskey went into the locker room with the score 17-7. The momentum of the game was in their favor.

If the course of the game wasn't set by the Northmen touchdown late in the first half, then a Charlevoix fumble on the first play from scrimmage after receiving the kickoff to start the second half, had to help the Petoskey eleven. Even though the Northmen recovered on the Charlevoix 26 yard line, the Red Rayders defenders rose tu the occasion and took the ball over on downs on their own 11.

Charlevoix's talented Quarterback Alger then led the Red Rayders down the field for a scoring drive of 89 yards in ten plays, to put the home eleven back in the ballgame.

Featured in the march were runs of 11, 5, 8, and 53 yards by Randy Williams. Alger capped the drive with a crucial 4th down touchdown pass to End Matt Doan. The kick was blocked, and, with 4 minutes still remaining in the third quarter, Charlevoix had narrowed the gap to 17-13.

Petoskey took the ensuing kickoff, and, with lightning-like efficiency, proceeded to bury the Red Rayders. Consecutive runs by Splan and Doctor netted the Northmen 58 yards, and they found themselves on the Charlevoix 5 yard line. Two plays later, Marty Hill punched in from the 3 yard line for the score. The point after attempt failed, and the score stood Petoskey 23, Charlevoix 13.

On the next Petoskey possession, the Northmen continued their onslaught. On the first play following the kickoff, Quarterback Cosens threw to End Mike Wilson for 37 yards, and a first down on the Charlevoix 29 yard line. The Red Rayder defense stiffened, but on a nifty handoff to Doctor and a subsequent pass, the Charlevoix eleven was called for interference, giving Petoskey the ball, first down on the twelve yard line.

If this was not enough to excite the fans, the Red Rayders defense tightened once more, and on a crucial fourth down play, Splan made a first down by a matter of inches. The ball was now on the Charlevoix 2 yard line.

To heighten the drama further, Petoskey fumbled, but recovered their own fumble on the Charlevoix 3. The Northmen were penalized 15 yards for holding, and, with the ball on the Rayder 18 yard line, Splan made a fine run fur the score. This tally really broke the Red Rayders back. The conversion attempt was not good, and the score stood, 29-13.

Charlevoix attempted to rally back, but, on the ensuing kickoff the Petoskey defense held, giving the ball back to their offensive unit on the Charlevoix 41 yard line.

Three plays later, Doctor scampered 25 yards around right end for the fifth North-

J.V. Travels to Gaylord

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity will travel to Gaylord Thursday to take on the unbeaten Gaylord JV's at 6:30 p.m. The game will conclude the present season.

Last week, the young Rayders were downed by the Petoskey JV's 17-14 in a game that saw the visitors do all their scoring in the first half and Charlevoix score two TD's in the second half.

The difference in the game came with a 37 yard field goal late in the second period by Mark Hoch after Petoskey had recovered a Rayder fumble on the 20 yard line.

A pass play that covered 50 yards opened the scoring for the visitors when Bob Johns threw to Bob Gorham who went the distance to score. The second tally came in the second quarter when the punter fumbled the snap from center and Spencer Damschroder picked it up and romped 65 yards to score.

Trailing 17-0 at halftime, the Rayders found their stride to score late in the third period on a three yard scramble by Bob Tillen following a 75 yard drive with fullback Greg Krueger, tailbacks Tillen and Kevin Kratt and Guy Carter carrying the ball. A pass from Tom left to Kerry Speer accounted for the conversion.

Early in the final period, Darren VanLoo fell on a blocked punt in the end zone for Charlevoix's second TD.

Coach Hal Evans said the team played an excellent defensive game, holding Petoskey to 120 yards.

Girls Lose to Petoskey

The Charlevoix girls basketball team will open the second half of its current schedule Tuesday when the quintet, coached by Mrs. Toni Feller travels to Grayling.

On Thursday, Charlevoix will host Cheboygan and travel to Rogers City Tuesday.

Three Rayderettes scored in double figures, Heidi Dove, Denise Boss and Maureen Cudd with 10 points each as they defeated Gaylord 50-31. Later in the week, the team suffered its second defeat of the season, a 52-41 loss to Petoskey.

Against Gaylord, Charlevoix led 18-0; 24-3 and 36-23 by quarters before posting the 19-point victory. Von Seggrin had 14 and Sue Ciszewski 11 for the victors.

The Charlevoix JV's won by a score of 23-19.

At Petoskey Dove and Cudd joined to score 34 of the team's 41 points as they bowed to Petoskey whose team was led by Jeannie Foltz with 24 points.

The Charlevoix team trailed all the way 15-10 at the quarter, 33-17 at halftime and 44-25 at the three quarter mark before pouring in 16 points to cut Petoskey's advantage to nine points as time ran out.

Again, the Charlevoix JV's won 19-11.

men touchdown. The conversion kick was not good, and, with 5:27 remaining in the football game, Charlevoix foond themselves on the losing end of a 35-13 score.

The last five minutes of the game ended as the battle began with the defenses holding, and the final seore stood, 35-13.

Coach Don Carey's fine football team is now eliminated from the battle for the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference crown. Altogether, the season has been an excitng one for the fans, and this week's game with Gaylord should give the squad an opportunity to finish with a victory at home. The team is deserving of a fine turnout by the fans for the season's finale.

Fires

be water immediately available, and the area around the burning must be cleared.

There is a prohibition against burning plastic, roofing paper, rubber or anything which would create a nuisance smoke, Skovera said.

Neither the City of Charlevoix nor Charlevoix Township Fire Departments reported many problems with leaf or brush fires this season.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Oscar Strood said if the dry conditions continue, he may recommend volunteer patrols as he did last Spring when fire danger was high.

Charlevoix's Fire Chief commented, "It's illegal to throw a cigarette from a car window."

Obituary

Mrs. Walker Miles

Funeral services for Mrs. Walker A. Miles, who died Monday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where she had been a patient for five days, were held Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond Giffin officiated. Interment was in the Brookside cemetery.

The former Grace A. McFallon was born in Buchanan, Mich., where she was married to Max Scamehorn. They came to Charlevoix in 1944 and operated a fishing camp until his death. A private secretary, she was employed at the Charlvoix Chamber of Commerce prior to her marriage to Mr. Miles in 1966. She was a member of the First Congregational church and its Margaret Parker circle and the Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Nancy Jean) Glenn of Oxnard, Calif.; one grandchild and a sister, Mrs. Agnes P. Engle of South Bend, Ind.

Bernard Burns

Funeral services for Bernard E. Burns, 75, former local resident who died Monday at Zephyrhills, Fla., were held Thursday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Daniel Miner of the East Jordan United Methodist Church officiated. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix April 19, 1900, Mr. Burns was married to the former Bernice A. Howe in Charlevoix in 1919. In the mid-1920's they moved to Otsego where they lived until going to Zephyrhills, Fla., in 1950. He was a real estate broker. He was a member of the Christian Church, the Masonic Lodge, the Shrine and the Rotary Club.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Richard and a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Donaldn) Kelly, both of Zephyrhills; four grandchildren; four great-grandchildren and a brother, Ralph Burns of Plainwell.

Carl Browne

Funeral services for Carl B. Browne, 69, who died unexpectedly Wednesday shortly after being admitted to Little Traverse Hospital via ambulance, where held Saturday at the First Congregational church. The Rev. Raymond Giffin officiated. Graveside services were held Monday at Sunset Hill cemetery in Flint. Dr. David E. Molyneaux of the First Presbyterian church officiated.

Born in Saginaw Sept. 11, 1906, Mr. Browne was married to the former Maxine Lapham in 1934. They made their home in Flint where he was a tool and die maker at the Chevrolet Company. Following his retirement in 1968, they came to Charlevoix to live at Pine Point. He was a member of the First Congregational Church.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Booth C. of Flushing and Roger J. of Saginaw, seven grandchildren and a brother, Richard of Fort Myers, Fla.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory do so by contributing to the memorial Fund at the First Congregational church.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

PINE POINT SUBDIVISION-VACATION HOME. Furnished two bedroom, plus loft. Fireplace, screens, refrigerator & range, covered from porch. House is on a 60' x 129' lot, with an extra vacant lot available. Natural gas heat.

While many are out wearing costumes they've made to help them "Trick or Treat," true believers wait in their pumpkin patches to see if the Great Pumpkin will visit them.

Linus of Peanuts is one who has waited many years on Hallowe'en to see if the Great Pumpkin will come to his patch.

Lucy, Charlie Brown and all his friends have always laughed and gone "trick or treating."

Even Snoopy thought it was the funniest thing he had ever heard.

The only person who thought Linus just might be right about the Great Pumpkin has been Sally. And even she has had her doubts.

Every year Linus scans the skies for the Great Pumpkin and tells all of his friends to wait until next year.

"I'll find a pumpkin patch, and I'll sit in that pumpkin patch and it'll be a sincere pumpkin patch, and the Great Pumpkin will come!" he shrieks.

"I'll sit in that pumpkin patch, and I'll sit in that pumpkin patch, and I'll see the Great Pumpkin.

"Just wait until next year."

Maybe both Linus and I are wrong. Maybe there isn't a Great Pumpkin.

But, just in case there is and you want to make sure you're covered, you can write The Great Pumpkin care of me at the Charlevoix Courier.

We'll leave the letters in our pumpkin patches, while you go out and "trick or treat."

Appreciates Lights

I'd just like to say that I think the yellow lights look nice. I'm a little upset at the terrible opinions that people put in the paper about the lights. They're trying to do something new for the city and all you get is the other kind of people giving gripes. Let's not have all this griping after this.

Beautiful Bright

The first time I saw our new lights, my husband and I were coming into town. I said how beautiful it made the town look. I just can't understand all the griping about them. The yellow lights are not at all hard on the eyes, just the opposite. As for those of you who can't sleep, try pulling down your shades. And if you want to see a burlesque show, please go to one, because you won't see one on Bridge Street. To the person who thinks it looks like Hallowe'en, I don't think yellow is ugly, so I'm all for the Hallowe'en look. Also, when I was dating, I never had a date on a park bench. If you want a dark place, come on down to Antrim Street. We hardly ever have lights at night. I sure would take those yellow lights!

Wait a Minute

Hey, wait u minute. All these complaints I'm reading about sound a little bit familiar. They are all the some ones heard in Charlevoix some years ago, when Charlevoix converted from gas to electric. Some of the cities in our country have converted to these lights and they've done it because it saves money, it cuts down on crime and it gives a natural color perspective to the surroundings. There's nothing like a whorehouse in Charlevoix, some might think it's a whorehouse appearance, but it's only in their minds. It's actually a much better light, you can see much better with it, and you can always go to sleep. Ask anyone whose been in the service. No matter what it is, you can go to sleep if you're tired. There's nothing wrong with these lights. They're very good for our area and I'm glad to see that we have them, just like other good cities do.

Park Aveuue

Park Avenue is a lovely residential street. A direct line of travel to Lake Michigan beach and beautiful views of the sunset. One of our nicer sections of town. Until you come to 203 Park Ave, commonly known as Taylor's ghetto. On October 22, I passed there and in the open area toward the street I counted five old cars, one old baby buggy, two old laundry tubs, one old iron laundry stove, discarded children's toys, old tires, cement blocks, discarded automatic batteries and old iron frames of some sort. With this dump on one of our better streets and the bright, garnish yellow lights on Bridge Street we should hang out our signs, "Welcome to Taylor's ghetto." The lights are on a par with the Park Avenue dump.

Impossible

It is utterly impossible todescribe the ugliness of our new lights. As to saving $2,000 yearly, says Wexstaff, what an insignificant amount compared to ruining Charlevoix the Beautiful. Had the City Fathers not condoned continued light service to the condos and not allowed those montrosities to run up such bills, we would have been in better shape financially. It really all boils down to our governing body. I agree with every statement of disgust in Ilotline, but I also want to know when we will get up on our feet and change our local set-up. Until that time comes we can only expect a continuance of such proceedings. Let's have a good old fashioned town meeting. Get someone at the head of our town that doesn't dole out thousands to condos and ruin Bridge Street for a drop in the bucket economy.

State Delays Nutrition Program Payments

Director Tells Counties to Straighten Up

By KEN WINTER

The Michigan Director for the Office of Services to the Aging has temporarily halted final payments for state-supported nutrition programs involving some 4,000 elderly persons in four Northern Michigan counties, the Charlevoix Courier has learned.

Some $10,517 will not be released to Charlevoix, Emunet, Antrim and Kalkaska Counties until bookkeeping procedures and communication between the four county aging commissions are cleared up, according to State Director Ron Kivi.

Kivi gave the counties until December 1 to clear up their differences or face possible state intervention.

The ultimatum came after Kivi and several state legislators met in Gaylord with key local Aging officials two weeks ago to discuss differences in program administration.

Kivi said he didn't think the differences would immediately effect nutrition programs operation in the four-county area.

Charlevoix County has served nearly 8,000 meals in Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan to some 500 senior citizens since the program began in November, 1974.

No Reports

However, Kivi says the State has been unable to get reports from local Aging Commissions on the work being done within their counties. The reports are required in order for counties to get state reimbursements for monies it spends for the nutrition program.

"We've been going along with this thing since last July, hoping it would work out," the state director said.

"We want to get this thing worked out once and for all."

Antrim County Social Services Director Burrell Smith blames the communication breakdown on "sheer incompetence" demonstrated by four-county project director Wes Payne and Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging Director Ronald Crummel, who supervises Payne.

Smith claims information supplied Payne in his Kalkaska office has never been forwarded to Crummel in Traverse City.

Payne had been asked to supervise the four-county operation last November after successfully running a one-year federally funded nutrition program in Kalkaska the previous year.

The four counties in turn receive their state funds through the Northwest Aging Area Ageney located In Traverse City.

Firing

Smith says neither Payne nor Crummel have handled their jobs properly.

Payne was apparently fired Friday by the policy board for the Northwest Area Agency from handling Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. He was said to have remained in charge of Kalkaska County's nutrition program because unlike the other three counties it is federally-funded and does not fall under the jurisdiction of the Northwest agency.

The Antrim County Social Services Director says his county has also tried to get Crummel fired, but so far has been unsuccessful.

"It's been a nightmare," Smith continued.

"No matter how much our elected representation demands he get fired, nothing gets done,"

"Many thought I was just working for Kalkaska County," Payne said about Antrim County's charges.

"I'd not really, I was working for all four counties."

Payne said he received a letter from Northwest notifying him of his dismissal, but that the matter was not over with yet.

"They never really legally hired me last year as four-county director so that they can't fire me," Payne said.

"Seventy-five percent of the problem has been the reporting system from local counties."

No Contracts

Payne said Emmet and Kalkaska Counties have been turning their monthly reports in to him, while Charlevoix and Antrim Counties have been reporting to Crummel in Traverse City

State Director Kivi says the reports should have all been going to Payne and then to Crummel through Payne. He adds that Payne would have been the four-county director even without his signing a formal contract with Northwest since he received a salary from them for his work.

Contacted in Lansing last week, Crummel says the state hold-up of final payments is because the four counties do not have an area director and turdiness in counties filing their monthly reports.

"There definitely is a lack of communication," Crummel said.

"We have come under considerable confusion from both our policy board and state and we can no longer shoulder the criticism."

When asked why Charlevoix County was two months behind in forwarding its reports, Charlevoix County Aging Director Art Saworski said Crummel told him there was no hurry to get the reports in.

"I really don't know what is happening," Saworski said. "Nobody has told me to shape up or do something."

The state director says the four counties have several options ranging from trying to work out the present structure under the Kalkaska director to forming a three-county program (Antrim, Emmet and Charlevoix) and hiring their own project director.

The director said he was not interested in the state having to intervene and was hopeful the local counties could work oul their differences by December 1.

Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging executive committee members are expected to meet later this week in Traverse City to resolve the matter.

Phone Charge

As a Michigon Bell employee I'd like to respond to a couple of articles recently published in Hot Line regarding the proposal to charge for more than three calls to Information each month.

First of all, there would be no charge to handicapped people who cannot use the directory. No charge for calls from hotels, motels, coin or mobile telephones or calls to distant Area Information.

Finally, it should be obvious that Information calls are not free today. Everybody pays. However, 60 percent of the Informotion calls are placed by only 10 percent of the customers. The company believes that people who use the service most (primarily big city customers) should pay the most.

Costs

I think that people who say that the orange lights in Charlevoix area causing too much money to be spent ought to find out for themselves. Keep a record of the prices of the lights and the electrical bill for themselves and find out at the end of the year.

Interference

I would like to know why people watching TV have to put up with this CB radio interference. They cut in on your TV and ruin the program you're watching. I don't know if the CB radio people know this or not but I think there should be something done about it.

Thanks

I want to thank the teenagers who helped clean up the Hallowe'en debris. Especially on Garfield St. We really appreciate their efforts.

Coach Don Carey Honored By Local Football Fans

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix Rayder football coach concluded his twenty-first grid season as Rayder mentor Friday night when his team climaxed the season with a 53-0 win over Gaylord.

The Charlevoix Sports Boosters marked this memorial milestone with the presentation of a plaque presented by Jim Alger, president of the Sports Boosters, to Coach Carey shortly before the start of the Rayder-Gaylord game.

The plaque, which bears a picture of Coach Carey, bears the following legend "Presented to Coach Don Carey for 20 years of dedication and inspiration to the student athletes of the Charlevoix High School."

Mrs. Carey and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Carey and their daughters, Anne and Margie, were present for the presentation which was a well-kept secret until game time. Their family returned from their various colleges for the event and did not show up at Kipke field until time for the brief ceremony.

Friday night's surprise presentation was the second of the day. At the afternoon pep rally, Coach Carey was presented with a plaque from the 1975 Rayder football team.

Coach Carey is a 1942 graduate of the high school which honored him Friday for his accomplishments, a record of 104 wins, 40 losses and 11 ties during the 21 years he has served as Varsity coach. Following graduation, Carey served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He returned to attend Alma College from which he was graduated in 1949. He coached at Mason from then until 1953 when he returned to Charlevoix following the death of his mother, the late Mrs. Leo Carey. During the 1954-55 season he was assistant coach at East Jordan. In the fall of 1955 he came to Charlevoix and, until several years ago, was Varsity coach for both football and basketball.

Charlevoix City Council Hears Request to Pay LaCroft Bills

Charlevoix City Council will meet next Monday to discuss an alternative proposal by LaCroft Condominiums to pay the city some $33,000 in back utility charges and tap-in fees.

Attorney Michael Gibbons made the proposal to get the service turned on throughout the entire project in fear that the building would suffer structural damage this winter.

Although the city had been earlier awarded a decision by Charlevoix Circuit Court to keep the utilities off until back bills have been paid, Gibbons claimed that LaCroft would not be able to meet the terms set out by the court.

Gibbons suggested that the Council accept an unmediate $5,000 towards the bad debt with an additional $1,000 paid each month after.

The attorney said court-appointed receiver Joe F. Norwood did not have the sufficient new cash to pay the entire $33,000.

City Attorney Don Berlage said that while this could be legally done, he questioned why the receiver had difficulty getting funds to pay for the entire utility bill.

Berlage said that Union Bank and Trust of Grand Rapids owns some 80 percent of the mortgage company that owns LaCroft.

In other business, Council:

—Appointed Ivan Whitley to act as council liason to the Senior Citizen Housing Commission.

PBB: Still Contaminates Warner Family

By KEN WINTER

Marty Jo Warner may have to go through the rest of her life wondering if her health was affected from food contaminated with PBB which she has eaten.

The young Charlevoix dairy farmer and her husband, Doug, were among the first last February to learn that the toxic fire-retardant, polybrominated biphenyl (PBB), mistakenly mixed with animal feed was found in their blood.

Studies by the State Public Health Department have already ruled out short-term ill effects from PBB. However, research on possible long-range effects may take 30 years.

Health officials say between 10,000 and 12,500 persons consumed milk, eggs and meats direct from farms where livestock feed accidentally mixed with PBB was used. In addition, thousands of others may have been exposed to a lesser degree since some of the PBB contaminated products may have gotten into commercial channels before the problem was spotted in May, 1974.

"It's really scary," says 25-year-old Warner.

"We don't think about it too long."

PBB Quarantine

After having their entire dairy herd of 273 Holsteins destroyed because of PBB contamination and being without an income for nearly a year, the Warner's farm is partially back in operation.

The petite brown-haired, brown-eyed dairy farmer sat alone in her mobile home trailer, while her husband was away in Upper New York State looking for new cattle to buy to add to their stock of 30.

"Everybody has made fun of us because we are going out of state to get our cows," she said while sitting behind their round kitchen table.

"If people took PBB seriously the whole state would be quarantined."

Although no immediate illnesses have been attributed to PBB, intensive research has been proposed to determine if the PBB is a causitive of cancer in humans, while ancilliary studies will watch for other diseases such as liver and skin disorders.

Michigan has requested $217,000 in federal funding for a first-year research project plus $135,000 for operating costs in the second year, according to Dr. John L. Ishister, director of the Bureau of Community Health. The request is pending.

Ishister says he expected the project to be approved. Besides state health officials, he says the National Center for Disease Control at Atlanta, the National Cancer Institute and Food and Drug Administration are expected to participate in the studies.

MARTY JO WARNER of Norwood was one of the first in Michigan to learn that she had PBB in her blood. She may have to wait 30 years to find out what the toxic chemical has done to her.

Suit Planned

"We've been through a lot of h— with PBB and it isn't over with yet," says Mrs. Warner.

After discovering that half of the 33 cows they brought last May to build a new herd were not vaccinated, Mrs. Warner says the Wisconsin farmer they bought them from will not take the cows back.

"He won't take his cattle back, even with a clean bill of health, because our farm was once contaminated with PBB," she continued.

"We will probably have to sue him."

Besides the damage to their farm and dairy herd, the Warners have found PBB affecting their personal lives in their community and at home.

Mrs. Warner says only now are people beginning to be like neighbors again after a year of people being "cautiously friendly" because of the couple's outspoken attitude against the Michigan Farm Bureau and state agencies for their slowness in reacting to the PBB crisis.

Swampfever Not a Problem Yet for Charlevoix Horsemen

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Horse owners should not be unduly worried now by the Swampfever outbreak in Alanson, Dr. Carl Luepnitz, Petoskey veterinarian says.

Mosquitoes, which are the major carriers of the disease, are in their dormant stage, the veterinarian states.

However, Dr. Luepnitz plans to recommend next spring, that a "current negative test for Swampfever be required by area horse shows for entry."

Eight horses from the Alanson region have been proven to have the disease and most will be destroyed, the veterinarian reports.

Known scientifically as Equine Infectious Anemia, the disease is found only in horses, mules and asses. It is a virus which lives in the blood of animals and is most often transmitted between animals by such blood-sucking insects as mosquitoes and flies, Dr. Luepnitz explains.

It can also be transmitted by using the same hypodermic needle on an infected horse and an uninfected horse, and rarely by using the same curry comb or hoof rippers, if the skin is broken.

The important thing is to take blood samples for testing, Dr. Leupnitz says.

But the problem is what to do with horses the tests prove to have the disease, because, though the horse will eventually die from Swampfever, he may live for several years and is always a carrier while ulive, the veterinarian points out.

"The animals can be branded and quarantined but mosquitoes and flies don't observe fences and there is no Michigan law requiring the destruction of a horse afflicted with the disease," the doctor says.

Very little is known about the disease and how it works, he says. Symptoms usually include a recurring fever, weight loss, general weakness, swelling in the chest or legs, pale mucus membranes and reddish or yellowish color in the membranes and the eyes.

Swampfever has an incubation period of two weeks. To make the problem more difficult, an animal can carry the disease for 30 years without showing a symptom.

"If for any reason you suspect your horse has it, then get it tested," Dr. Luepnitz told the 150 people who attended a recent public meeting in Alanson.

The test, called the Coggins or Augur Gel Immuno Diffusion Test, has only been perfected within the last five years. It is reliable and accurate in diugnosis, Dr. Luepnitz says.

Robert Dyksterhouse owner of the Blu Dot Farms, who has a 100 head of Standard Bred race horses valued at $1.2 million, says he tests his horses on a regular basis.

"We're going to test in about 30 days, since there is the incubation period. And then we will test again in the spring.

"We test every time we move from one race track to another," Dyksterhouse says.

Dyksterhouse supports efforts to get legislation in Michigan requiring the destruction of horses with a positive test.

"Kentucky and other states have such laws," Dyksterhouse reports.

He thinks the disease is imported to northern Michigan by horses shipped north from downstate.

"I don't think the disease would sustain itself up here, our climate is too cold," he says.

Dr. Luepnitz explains that Swampfever is not carried long distances by mosquitoes, but by horses moved into an area who are then bitten by the mosquito which transmits the disease to other horses.

Weldon "Corky" Price, a Charlevoix ferrier who shows and breeds quarter horses says, "We're not testing now, but waiting to see what happens.

THE SHADE TREE Commission includes John Campbell, Jeannine Wallace and Tom Pointner.

Shade Tree Group Branches Out Work

You might hnve been one of the many who took a second look Friday if you're driving along Bridge Street in Charlevoix.

It looked like three prominent Charlevoix citizens were hitch hiking along the road.

Actually, attorney Tom Pointner, landscape architect John Campbell and shop owner Jeannine Wallace were beginning some of the first officials duties as members of Charlevoix's new Shade Tree Commission.

The troupe were out counting how many trees the city owned along Bridge Street from the Airport to the city golf course.

And after a day of hiking in the cold, brisk fall winds, the Charlevoix Shade Tree Commission learned the city has 78 trees and 21 of them are dead.

The tree inventory is one of many activities the commission is undertaking to improve and develop shade for Charlevoix. Bridge Street is the first of many streets the commission will be working.

Initially, the commission hopes to plant some 350 trees along Charlevoix's main street with another 500 striplings being planted in the city's new nursery.

Located behind Charlevoix's waste water treatment plant, the nursery will be used to raise trees that will eventually be plnnted in other parts of the city.

The Bridge Street project begins the first part of a 10-year program of maintenance and replacement of shade trees in the community.

Besides developing an inventory of existing trees, and creating a city nursery to grow new ones, the commission also hopes to train city employees so thnt they cnn carry on an ongoing program of tree maintenance and replacement.

Also serving the commission is city administrator Robert Wexstaff.

New City Lights--
A Better Idea

It's hard to imagine that anyone would be against conserving energy and saving tax dollars in this day and age of shortages and deficit spending.

City officials in Charlevoix got that rude awakening when they turned on the city's new downtown lights several weeks ago.

As primarily a cost saving move, the city switched from mercury vapor lights to high pressure sodium.

The new high pressure 450-watt sodium light uses half the power the 1,000-watt mercury light requires, but provides more illumination.

City officials estimate the conservation energy move should save the city some $2,000 a year in utility bills.

No sooner than the switch was made, residents began flooding the Courier Hotline with complaints about the effect the lights had on the looks of the downtown district.

Residents claimed the new yellow lights not only hurt eyes, but one went as far as to say that she couldn't sleep at night.

Like city officials, we couldn't believe our own ears.

There haven't been too many times recently that we have agreed with city action, but to this one we have to lend our full support.

As was pointed out in a recent letter to editor by a Charlevoix industrialist, the new lights are almost 2½ times as efficient as mercury sources.

In addition, the sodium lights give objects appearance closer to natural sunlight than does mercury.

Now instead of blindly driving down Bridge Street and squinting to see that you don't hit someone walking out of the movie theater after the late show, you can drive with ease and see a clear distance ahead.

As was also pointed out, the sodium lights have decreased the incidents of vandalism in towns where the lights have been used.

Instead of walking down gloomy sidewalks only partially lit residents can walk with a clear undistorted view of what is ahead of them.

Besides the physical advantages, the new lights are offering city residents a break in their pocketbooks by having to spend less to light the downtown area.

We suggest that those who are offended by the lights start coming up with ways they can save taxpayers the amount of money being saved by the sodium lights.

Residents should be encouraging rather than discouraging the savings of both tax dollars and energy sources.

PBB Not Over

Many Michigan residents who ate food from livestock contaminated by poisonous feed may have to go through life wondering if their health was affected.

Studies by the State Public Health Department have already ruled out short-term ill effects from polybrominated biphenyl (PBB). However, research on possible long-range effects may take 30 years.

Health officials say between 10,000 and 12,000 persons consumed milk, eggs and meats direct from farms where livestock fed accidently mixed with PBB, a fire retardant chemical, was used.

In addition, thousands of others may have been exposed to be a lesser degree since some of the PBB contaminated products may have gotten into commercial channels before the problem was spotted in 1974.

PBB is nothing new to many of the farmers in Charlevoix County and they, like us, don't think the problem is far from over.

Dr. John L. Isbister, director of the Bureau of Community Health, says 2,000 farm residents with direct exposure and 2,000 others with indirect exposure by buying products off these farms will be studied. These two control groups will undergo periodic testing and their health over the years will be compared with 2,000 Iowa farm residents who have had no PBB exposure.

Intensive research is proposed over the first five years with a "low-key" monitoring of the study groups for up to an additional 25 years.

Michigan has requested $217,000 in federal funding for first-year startup costs for the research project plus $135,000 for operating costs in the second year.

Unfortunately the request is still pending.

Besides the project to be approved, state health officials are hoping that the National Cancer Institute and Food and Drug Administration will participate in the studies.

While state officials are optimistic the work will be approved by the Michigan legislature, they are still awaiting the go ahead.

Research on PBB cannot wait, and the longer the legislature waits to approve the funding request, the longer people will have to wait to know what the long-range demand may or may not be.

We have every reason to believe that the nightmare is not over with and would urge our legislators to take every action possible to answer the uncertainty of PBB.

Letters to the editor

Bell Objects to Editorial

TO THE EDITOR:

In a recent editorial, the Courier questioned whether a 20-cent charge was too much for calls to Information. The answer to that is "No.;' In sworn testimony before the Michigan Public Service Commission, it has been established that the cost of handling a call to Information is approximately 20 cents.

However, Michigan Bell recognizes that some numbers are not in the book and has proposed a monthly allowance of three calls to Information before charging would begin. The Commission staff has recommended that the allowance be four calls a month.

There would be no charge at all for people with visual, physical or mental limitations who are not able to use telephone directories. (And, to correct an item which appeared in your Hotline on October 10, there would be no charge for telephone numbers outside the caller's home area code. Your reader who wrote that letter would not need telephone books "for the entire state."

Your editorial said that "Detroit television personality and newspaper columnist Lou Gordon is taking on a battle that deserves our interest and action." We hope that is not an endorsement of Mr. Gordon's grandstand act.

Information is not a "free" service--even though right now there isn't a specific charge for it. This year Information will cost about $25 million and all our customers will continue to share in the cost of providing it although only a relatively small percentage make the most use of it. Ten percent of our customers make 60 percent of the calls to Information.

Our proposal to charge for heavy use of Information would redistribute the costs so that those who use it a lot would pay for their usage. Based on experience elsewhere with similar charging plans, we estimate that only five percent of our customers--one out of 20--would exceed the allowance in any month and be charged.

Michigan Bell is not proposing that the $10 million we expect to net annually from savings and charges be used to increase company profits. Instead, we have proposed that those funds be passed back to customers in the form of lower basic telephone rates. The PSC staff has recommended that this be done by showing a monthly credit on each residence customer's bill.

If calling volumes and wages continue to go up as they have in the past decade, then our annual cost of providing Information service will soar to $50 million within the next decade and be borne across-the-board by all customers.

We don't believe that most of our customers want this to happen. In fact, a recent statewide survey showed that three out of four Michigan Bell customers support proposals to change the method of paying for Information so that the heavy users would be charged while moderate users would pay little or nothing.

A cross section of Michigan Bell customers scientifically selected at random were interviewed by a private research firm. The scientific survey revealed that 74 percent of our customers favor a charge for Information, 19 percent oppose it and seven percent have no opinion. It is not surprising that the relatively small percentage of customers opposing a charge tend to be heavy users of Information.

Your editorial mentioned that Mr. Gordon delivered 7,000 letters and postcards to the PSC with "messages of concern" about Michigan Bell's proposal to charge for heavy use of Information. These messages, of course, were solicited by him in emotional appeals on his TV program and stimulated through his newspaper column. They do not represent the scientific cross-section of all telephone-owning households and small businesses like that which was surveyed by an independent pollster.

We hope this answers your questions about charging for Information. What we want to do is charge those who call it a lot and take the burden off those who don't. It's that simple.

Sincerely,
Lei Johnson

Is Garden Worth Effort?

Is a backyard garden worth the trouble?

This is a question that has bothered me for years and every spring I vow to keep track of time spent and the cost of seed, fertilizer and bug spray, balanced against the yield. But I never do and it's probably just as well. I doubt that the answer would be worth the bookkeeping effort.

I do know that when our garden starts producing in July, our grocery bills drop until the last tomato freezes on the back porch sometime in November or December.

Yet is the time you spend working in your garden worth the cost of what you produce, or are you worth more?

You probably are worth more, much more. But it is very likely that the hours you spend digging, planting and hoeing wouldn't have been occupied by gainful employment in the first place. So at least you are getting a little something for your time, rather than nothing at all.

Of course, you can never talk about a garden in terms of dollars and cents.

Your garden is an expression of your artistic sense. I once knew a woman who made every other row lettuce because it looked so nice. She had so much lettuce she ended up boiling it and eating it like spinach.

Your garden doubles as your physician and your psychiatrist. I have never known anyone who felt worse after gardening than before, blisters and slivers notwithstanding.

Your garden is the arena in which you work off unhealthy aggressions. "Take that, you lousy cutworm!"

Lastly, your garden should be a reflection of you and your attitudes toward life in general, cutworms and the weatherman notwithstanding.

If the Clocks grew only one crop last summer—raspberries—the garden was worth every minute we devoted to it.

Big, lucious berries began appearing in late July and we picked two quarts of them every day for two weeks. Berries last summer were running about $1 a quart, giving us something like $28 worth of berries off a tiny patch of canes.

We wouldn't have gone out and bought $28 worth of raspberries, but we certainly did enjoy those Mother Nature dropped in our lap. Judy made several jars of jam and we had all the fresh berries we wanted for two whole weeks, which was a rare treat.

This fall we have tripled the size of the berry patch. Hopefully next summer there will be enough berries to last through the winter.

Berries, of course, were only a small part of the total garden. One packet of seeds supplied us with lettuce all summer and then some. We also had green beans galore, zucchini that wouldn't stop, green onions, peppers, cucumbers, tomatoes and even potatoes.

The potatoes were the surprise crop. We had never planted them before and I was sure they wouldn't do well in our rock-hard clay. Furthermore, we didn't even invest in seed potatoes. Instead we set aside sprouting potatoes from our purchases last winter and spring. Some were California whites. Some were Idahos. Some were russets. They all went into the same seed bag.

Our potatoes surprisingly, were fairly uniform in size, although a couple of whoppers went up to two pounds and a few shovels full were the size of walnuts. But for flavor, they are unexcelled. They are delicious fried, boiled, mashed, or baked.

And we grew them!

Is a backyard garden worth the trouble?

I don't think that question deserves an answer.

Erma Bombeck

Years ago, I stopped apologizing for the condition of my house. Those who knew me understood why I had a basketball in my bathroom and those who didn't know me didn't want to know they really saw it.

I still indulge myself in the great American pastime, the making-excuses-for-the-condition-of-your-car number.

I have never climbed into a car in my life that the driver wasn't ready with an alibi. Everyone does it. A few weeks ago I entered a car that had nothing in it but a piece of lint and an umbrella and the owner turned ashen and said, "I must apologize. We have children."

"No need to apologize," I said. "What you do on your own time is your business."

"I mean the ear," he said.

"If my ear was this clean, I'd turn it into a mobile X-ray unit."

I drive a 1971 Dirtmobile and frankly I'm running out of excuses.

My husband opened the door on the passenger side a few weeks ago and a potato rolled out.

"What happened?" he asked.

"Would you believe we're decorating?"

"This is disgusting! Why do I smell onions?"

"Because the ashtrays are full and they overpower the pickles."

"What is that beneath your accelerator?"

"A tennis ball."

"Why is there an umbrella fully opened in the back seat? Don't you know it brings bad luck?"

"We noticed that when we couldn't get it down and we couldn't get it out of the car."

"Is this dashboard full of dust?"

"We like to think of it as a message center."

"When was this car last serviced?"

I opened the door and read, "MCMLXXII."

"This is a real dump. Stacks of newspapers, ball gloves, candy wrappers, books, thermoses, old gym clothes, empty bottles, a sleeping bag, bicycle pump and not one inch of space on the floor to put your feet. Why?"

I looked over at him as his hairy legs dangled awkwardly from the car seat. "How about, you can't get decent help these days?"

The Meek Shall Not Meet

By JIM FITZGERALD

It was in Las Vegas that something in my mind snapped. In a few hot-tempered minutes I blew 49 years' worth of meek points banked against the day when I would inherit the earth.

All my life I never told the waiter the soup was cold. I never complained when my windshield was wiped with a greasy rag. I never snipped back at a snippy clerk. I never even counted my change. I didn't want to cause any trouble.

It hasn't been easy. The world is full of pushy people and every one of them has pushed into line ahead of me. In every restaurant kitchen there is a huge sign reminding the help that under no conditions is that jerk Fitzgerald to be served his milk when he wants it. And in every garage there is a special mechanic assigned to make certain my car is never fixed right.

Many times the urge to explode has been almost overpowering. But always I kept my mouth shut. Until Las Vegas.

We had reservations to see the midnight show at the Riviera Hotel. John Davidson and the 5th Dimension were performing. The man on the phone said to be there at 10 p.m. It seemed silly to get there 2 hours before showtime but I certainly wasn't going to argue with him. Peace. Besides, I wouldn't mind sitting and sipping while waiting for the entertainment to come on stage. We had to buy 4 drinks each to see the show anyway, so we might as well get at it.

But the 10 o'clock arrivals were not seated. They were herded into a passive line which snaked endlessly throughout the casino. Several armed guards kept the head of the line from getting within sight of the showroom entrance. Everyone in the line had reservations.

By 11:45 the line had hardly moved, only grown. I went to the showroom entrance to see what the matter could be. I encountered a stuffed shirt surrounded by armed gunrds. They were allowing an endless stream of people to enter, but none of those people were coming from the long line which still stretched as far as you could see.

I watched how it worked. A big shot would give his name to a guard who would turn to Stuffed Shirt and ask if Mr Big Shot was on the "guest list." At the same time, Big Shot would reach around the guard and hand a $10 or $20 bill to Stuffed Shirt. And Stuffed Shirt would wave the Big Shot party through.

Suddenly it was midnight. I looked inside and the place was jammed. John Davidson was starting to sing. And the dumb sheep were still standing outside saying "Baa, baa, we have reservations."

I asked Stuffed Shirt what about the people who had been lined up for 2 hours, thinking they had seats waiting, while he filled his pockets with cash.

"We're doing the best we can," he said. But he conceded, after a little pressuring, that no way were the sheep going to get inside. They had waited for nothing, reservations and all.

It was then that something snapped and I blew my right to inherit even New Jersey. 49 years of frustration were suddenly released and Stuffed Shirt caught full force. I told him that was a lousy way to treat people. I told him he should be shot for taking bribes and not honoring reservations. I admit I called him every bleeping bleep-bleep I could think of.

My mighty wrath scored. Stuffed Shirt suddenly found 4 seats down front for our party. I'm proud I didn't slip him 1 lousy cent. But I'm ashamed I took the seats. I couldn't enjoy the show because I kept thinking of the sheep waiting hopelessly outside, where I'd been all my life. Poor slobs.

The bill was $34 and I left a 25-cent tip. No more Mr. Nice Guy. The meek can have the earth.

They'll let the rest of us in anyway, without reservations, just to avoid trouble.

Meet Charlevoix

Meet Max Novak

Max Novak is a retired Charlevoix teacher who now serves us president of the Charlevoix Board of Education. This week the Courier talks with him about education and some other matters.

COURIER: As you see it, what are the duties and responsibilities to our schools of the Board of Education, the administration, the teachers, the students and the parents?

NOVAK: It is the responsibility of the Board to set policy and try to hire capable people to carry out that policy. The Board approves all teachers upon the recommendation of the superintendent and the principal of the school they are hired for.

It is the responsibility of the administration to operate the schools under the guidelines and policies set forth by the Board.

It is the teachers' job to teach subject matter and help out with extra-curricular activities which are so important to children today. They should also guide and counsel.

The responsibility of the students is to work hard to prepare themselves for a vocation or college. They should cooperate with the school in spending taxpayers' money wisely.

Parents should understand the school system and what it is trying to do. Going to teacher conferences and open houses and attending Board meetings is the best way to learn about the system.

COURIER: What are some of the special problems of schools today?

NOVAK: Finance, more than anything else. Last spring the State withdrew money from the schools. Now, after the budgets have been set, there is talk of withdrawing more. It is not necessarily a matter of not enough money as it is of not knowing how much we can budget. Up here, with high land values and small school populations, we get a smaller amount of money per child from the state than do the metropolitan areas.

COURIER: Tell us about your education and teaching career.

NOVAK: I was born in Charlevoix, graduated from Alma College, received my Master's degree from the University of Michigan and my Counseling and Guidance degree from Michigan State. I also attended Central Michigan University and Cornell University.

I started teaching at Ellsworth, then went to Pellston, then to Remus where I met my wife, and finally came back to Charlevoix in 1942. I retired in 1972 after serving for three years as principal of the Middle School and 25 years as a teacher in the High School. This is my second year on the Board of Education.

COURIER: You have other teachers in your family, too, don't you?

NOVAK: Yes, my wife Frances retired this year after teaching Latin and math in the High School for 20 years. Four of my five children also teach—one in Grand Rapids, one in East Grand Rapids, one in Lansing and one in St. Louis. One daughter is in hotel management in Washington.

COURIER: What do you do now that you're retired?

NOVAK: I am on the State School Retirement Board as well as the State Athletic Committee. Locally, I am on the County Elections Board and have been a member of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board for 25 years. I am also active in the American Legion – I served in the Navy as an officer for three years during World War II. In the Legion I work particularly on Boy's State, which has record participation for a group our size. We had a Governor this year. I am also active on the Legion Education Committee for Scholarships.

Another interest is the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club, of which I am a director. I used to teach Agriculture and Conservation and supervised the planting of several thousands of trees in Charlevoix County. The Rod and Gun Club furnished trees and land.

COURIER: Any other comments?

NOVAK: It would help the community if more people would take an active part in government rather than wait for crises and then criticize officials. When I taught government, I always attended City Council meetings and spent at least two days a year in Lansing. I also made several trips to Washington.

COURIER: You like the area, don't you?

NOVAK: I feel that our section of Michigan is the greatest – an ideal place to live. One reason is that young people have freedom. They can go and come anywhere day or night without being bothered.

Local Christmas Checks Total More than $187,000

Christmas Club checks totalling over $187,000 will be mailed soon to residents of the Charlevoix area.

The First State Bank of Charlevoix has just mailed out over $75,000 in checks.

The Charlevoix County State Bank will put $90,000 worth of checks in the mails November 5.

The Charlevoix Federal Credit Union will mail some $22,000 in checks November 10.

Christmas Club members are being urged to support Charlevoix merchants and shop locally.

1976 Christmas Club accounts are now being opened.

Kids Learn Hunter Gun Safety

Patrolman Bob Tripp almost turned around and walked outside the door when he saw the crowd at Charlevoix Middle School.

The Charlevoix policeman wasn't afraid of the large group gathering in the school cafeteria, he just couldn't believe his eyes.

Some 125 students were waiting for their first lesson in hunter safety.

For 13-year-old Mark Robinson, the Charlevoix Police Department program is the only way he can go hunting with his father.

Ever since his father caught an 11-point buck last year, Mark has hardly been able to wait for his chance.

"I guess I want to know what it's like, he said while sitting in the back of the small cafeteria room.

"It sounds fun."

But, like any other youngster between age 12 and 16, Mark will have to complete Officer Tripp's Hunter Safety Course.

After completing the eight-hour course, a youngster must be able to pass the state examination he administers the final night of the program.

If he qualifies, the boy or girl will receive a certificate that will allow him to purchase a hunter's license and hunt with anyone over the age of 18.

PATROLMAN BOB Tripp with youngsters.

Teaching youngsters the proper way to hunt and use a gun is nothing new for Tripp—he's been doing it for eight years. But the policeman did seem a little surprised about the number of kids that showed up.

"There's no other way you can get a license," Tripp told the group as he warned them that they would have to be quiet so they could learn enough to pass the final examination.

"If you can't get it down in eight hours, you will fail and if you fail you will have to go through the course again."

After the instruetor's warning, the class settled down and watched the first of many film strips on gun safety.

The Charlevoix youngsters are among 55,000 young people in Michigan who will become first-time hunters this fall.

With over 1.1 million hunters already in the field, the Department of Natural Resources says that under this statewide recreation safety program developed by the DNR, youngsters will be well-rounded in the positive safety and ethical aspects of outdoor sports.

The program covers everything from being able to distinguish from a shotgun and a rifle to an understanding of what's needed in a survival kit.

Retarded Association Meets Monday

The next regular monthly meeting of the Charlevoix-Emmet Association for Retarded Citizens will be held next Monday evening, November 10, at 7:30 in the Char-Em Service Center on Mercer Boulevard.

This is the first meeting at which children, handicapped and otherwise, will be able to share an evening of movies and refreshments with each other under supervision while their parents attend the meeting.

Barbara Wolgamott, a CEARC member who will supervise the children, says, "I'm really excited about the handicapped being invited to the meetings and I'm looking forward to sharing the entertainment with them. I'm sure when the parents find out a social evening has been planned especially for their children, that the turnout will be tremendous."

Charlevoix County Social Services May Lose Local Control

By PEG OHLE

Counties are losing some of their authority over their Departments of Social Services under new regulations set up by the State Legislature.

On January 1, the State Department of Social Services will take over administration of the General Assistance program, now handled by the County Department of Social Services.

Richard Tillen, director of the Charlevoix County Department, says that although this program is not a large one moneywise it requires more social work than some of the other programs.

He refers to General Assistance as "court of last resort" for persons needing assistance. It includes such items as rent payments, utility payments, grocery orders, clothing, and sometimes cash for persons in immediate need.

County Authority

Up to now, the County Department has had the authority to authorize such help on its own after local investigation. The new regulations will set up a cut and dried set of standards for General Assistance similar to other programs such as Food Stamps and Aid to Dependent Children.

The County Director formerly was under the jurisdiction of the County Social Services Board whose members are appointed by the County Board of Commissioners. Now he is responsible to the Social Services Board only for programs which are 100 percent county financed. In Charlevoix County this means only the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The County Director, in the future, will be accountable to an Area Director, probably located in Traverse City, for administration of all other programs.

The County Director of Social Services will be the only employee of the Social Services Department responsible to the County Board, with the exception of anyone holding a special position. Under the old regulations, the director, his assistants and employees were appointed by the State Department as recommended by the County Board.

The State Department of Social Services is also taking over the furnishing of office space for County Departments. Presently, that is the county's responsibility. Charlevoix County is renting Social Services space in the County Building which Tillen says is not adequate in size. Whether this arrangement will be continued or whether Social Services will move into another building has not yet been determined.

The State Department will also assume 100 percent of the cost of administering the County Department of Social Services. Charlevoix County has been paying three to five percent of this cost, according to Tillen. However, in the long run, the change could cost the county more than this three to five percent in such ways as lower Revenue Sharing funds.

Season Opens November 15

Michigan Hunters Prepare for Yearly Deer Hunt

By PEG OHLE

The old ballad "A Hunting We Will Go" takes on real meaning in the North Country come November 15.

For those not in the know, that date marks the opening of deer hunting season.

From then until the end of the month, wives become widows, husbands become widowers, service businesses stress non-service, stores open late, even Monday night football games are turned off early so hunters can get a night's sleep before dawn.

Bill Kenifeck of Staley Hardware says that the best time for deer hunting is just before daybreak and the following early morning hours, and that tracking is the most common method.

Not Expensive

Hunting is not an expensive sport – and there's always the lure that one might bring home a good supply of meat.

A gun is the most important part of a hunter's equipment. Both shotguns and rifles, mostly rifles, are used for deer hunting. Kenifeck says that the caliber of gun is a matter of personal preference.

The only other necessary equipment according to Kenifeck is a compass, a knife, warm clothes and perhaps sunglasses, a Hot Seat or just a plastic bag to sit on.

Licenses are a must. Resident licenses for persons under 65 cost $7.50 and for those over 65, $1.00. Non-resident licenses are $40 for all ages. The Department of Natural Resources defines a resident as "a person who has actually resided in Michigan for the six consecutive months immediately preceding date of application for the license."

Other DNR regulations state that "after killing your deer, you must tag or seal it, fastening the tag or seal to the antler, lower jaw or gambrel." The lucky hunter should also validate his tag by punching in the appropriate information.

Hunter Orange

Deer may not be hunted with dogs, or when they are in water. For the hunter's safety, the DNR suggests wearing "hunter orange" garb – the only color that stands out in a woods and is unlike any color found in the out-of-doors.

Every hunter should know the basic rules of hunting safety, and most of them do and abide by them. Last year, there were only 275 injuries from firearm accidents among the 1.2 million licensed hunters in the state.

But the DNR says there shouldn't be any, citing some examples of foolish carelessness:

One man shot both of his feet while trying to kill a "spooked" rabbit that ran up his pant leg.

Another man bent over to search for a knife he thought he had lost. He stabbed himself because he forgot that he had put the knife in the pocket of his hunting suit.

A man with red-colored hair and beard was killed after another hunter spotted him in a tree and mistook him for a squirrel.

Still another hunter laid his shotgun on the ground beside him, only to have his dog step on the trigger and, in effect, shoot him.

There are also several DNR rules about guns in vehicles before and during the hunting season which should be checked out by all hunters.

November 15

For all the died-in-the-wool deer hunters we wish a light snow and crisp, clear weather on November 15. Must cook books contain recipes for venison (deer meat) and if someone in the family wants to make a pair of deer skin gloves, directions printed in 1875 appear elsewhere in the paper, just for fun.

In learning a little bit about deer hunting, however, we ran into a statement that displeases us tremendously. Here it is:

"When the buck, doe and fawns are found together, shoot the doe first, the buck will not leave till you get another shot." This, too, was printed in 1875.

Today, the limit is one deer per calendar year for each hunter.

How About Some Deer Gloves?

If your husband "gets his deer" this year, perhaps you would like to make some deer skin gloves from the hide.

Here's how you prepare the hide, if you would like to do it 1875-style:

"For each skin, take a bucket of water, and put into it one quart of lime; let the skin or skins lay in it from three to four days; then rinse in clean water, hair and grain; then soak them in cold water to get out the glue; now scour or pound in good soap suds for half an hour; after which take white vitriol, alum and salt, one tablespoon of each to a skin; this will be dissolved in sufficient water to cover the skin and remain in it for 24 hours; wring out as dry as convenient, and spread on with a brush one-half pint of currier's oil, and hang in the sun about two days; after which you will scour out the oil with soap suds, and hang out again until perfectly dry; then pull and work them until they are soft; and if a reasonable time does not make them soft, scour out in suds again as before, until complete. The oil may be saved by pouring or taking it from the top of the suds, if left stand a short time. The buff color is given by spreading yellow ochre evenly over the surface of the skin, when finished, rubbing it in well with a brush."

Armistice Day Brings Back Old Memories

Editor's note: Next Tuesday marks the 57th anniversary of th end of World War I. To recreate how Charlevoix celebrated that first Armistice Day, the Courier reprints the following story from its issue of November 12, 1918.

FALL OF KAISER IS CELEBRATED

People Go Wild With Joy Over Announcement

Business Suspended, School Close, Whistles Blow, Bells Ring, City Turned Upside Down

It is over The war is a thing of the past. We have won, and Charlevoix most fittingly celebrated the occasion.

Charlevoix gave vent to her joy Monday, upon receiving news that the armistice had been signed by the German envoys at General Foch's headquarters in France.

Rumors received over the Western Union and railroad telegraph lines were circulated on the streets early in the morning, but no official confirmation was received until during the middle of the forenoon.

An account of the false reports received on Thursday of last week and the consequent celebration, people of Charlevoix were at first disposed to take little credence in the reports, taking the attitude of "show us" before we make any demonstration. About 10 a.m. W. E. Hampton of the city war board received confirmation of the report from Grand Rapids, which was posted in the window of the post office. Within the next hour several telegrams were received confirming the report – then plans were made to celebrate, and celebrate we did.

Just after dinner signs appeared on the doors of business places bearing these words: "Who in h–l wants to work today." And it seemed to strike the keynote of the real situation, for within the next half hour every store on the street was closed and both employer and employee made ready to celebrate in a manner not soon to be forgotten.

People shouted, horns were blown, bells rung, whistles blown and in every way possible the people made their joy known. School was dismissed and the students, both large and small, paraded the streets, singing patriotic songs, waving flags, and making noise in every conceivable way.

Automobiles soon made their appearance decorated with flags and filled with occupants beating pans-ringing bells and blowing horns. Other cars drawing a string of old tin pails, wash boilers, furnace pipes and other noise-making contrivances paraded the streets, adding greatly to the already ever increasing din.

An automobile drawing a dummy labeled Kaiser Bill was dragged up and down the streets, a man riding on a sled alongside of him frequently throwing "the hook" into Bill. Later it was burned.

The celebration continued during the afternoon until about five o'clock, when the tired bunch went home for supper. Between six and seven it was resumed with great vigor then ever and continued until after ten o'clock. Cannons were fired, shotguns and pistols added to the din, Kaiser Bill was hung in effigy and riddled with shotgun wads. Later he was dragged through the streets until the celebrators were compelled to quit, thoroughly tired out.

Ironton

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kruse and family were honored after the morning church service with a social hour and refreshments in the church dining room Sunday. It being the anniversary of the second year that Harold Kruse Jr. has been the pastor of our church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kalkman of Holland, Michigan were guests several days of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vanderwall recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nielsun had as guests over the past weekend their daughter Mary Carol who is a student at Kalamazoo and daughter Joyce and son-in-law Gilbert Rhoades and family of Cleveland, Ohio. It was their forty second wedding anniversary. Their neighbors and local friends extend sincere congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Bring have returned to their Florida home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander spent Tuesday afternoon with the latters sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis of Central Lake.

Mrs. Shirley Mower of Grosse Pointe spent the weekend at their local summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bryon have returned to their home in Webster Groves, Mo. after spending several weeks in their cottage at Sequanoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards have returned to their winter home in Clearwater, Florida.

We had our first real frost with a temperature of twenty-four degrees at 4 p.m. this Thursday and everything freezable was gone by daylight.

Our community extends its sympathy to the family of Mrs. Lula Hammond Clark of Boyne City who died this Thursday at the Charlevoix Hospital. She lived in Ironton when a child and attended our country school. She married Joseph Clark of East Jordan who was the rural mail carrier to our local post office many years. She leaves three children several grandchildren, one brother Edward Hammond of East Jordan and a sister Mrs. Margaret Driggett of Charlevoix.

Red Rayders Romp Over Gaylord Blue Devils

Friday night, Charlevoix blitzed the visiting Gaylord Blue Devils, 53-0, to close the 1975 football season. The Red Rayders tallied on their first four possessions, and seemed able to score at will against the visitors.

Gaylord football seems to be in a low ebb time that occurs when a class, or a succession of classes, does not produce the number of quality of athletes needed to field a representative football team. The Blue Devils supporters saw sixteen students put on a valiant effort against a much larger Charlevoix squad.

Charlevoix's scoring banquet began on their first possession. Quarterback Bob Alger directed the scoring thrust, starting on the Gaylord 43 yard line. Five plays later, Randy Williams scooted in from the 4 for the first Red Rayder tally. Alger's conversion kick was good, making the score 7-0.

The ineffective Blue Devils were forced to give up the ball after four plays, and Charlevoix took over on the Gaylord 44.

Six plays later, Fullback Doug Smith slammed over from the 1 for Charlevoix's second touchdown of the evening. Featured in this scoring drive was a 32 yard pass from Alger to End Matt Doan to set up the score.

A fake kick and a 2 point conversion run by Casey Culbertson made the score Charlevoix 15, Gaylord 0, with 4:36 remaining in the first quarter.

Once more Gaylord was forced to punt after four downs, and Charlevoix took over on the Gaylord 42 yard line.

The Red Rayders were held momentarily, but, on a fourth down situation, Alger handed to Williams, and Charlevoix converted the first down. Five plays later, Alger flipped a one yard pass to Smith for the third Red Rayder score. This march down the field included an eleven yard toss to Steve Michaels, a 19 yard run by Smith, and a quarterback keeper for 11 yards.

Casey Culbertson did the kicking on this conversion attempt, and, as the ball split the uprights, the score stood Charlevoix 22, Gaylord 0.

On Gaylord's next punt, following three frustrating line plays, Charlevoix's Bud Klooster gathered in the football on his own 47 yard line. Following a wall of good blocking by his teammates, Klooster scampered 53 yards to score the fourth Charlevoix touchdown. The runback of the punt came with 10:02 remaining in the second quarter. Charlevoix now led 28-0.

The home eleven fumbled the football away to the Blue Devils on their next two possessions, but the Red Rayder defense was too much for the undermanned visitors, and they were only able to pick up one first down in the entire first half. The half ended with Charlevoix leading 28-0.

Near the end of the second quarter, on a six yard scamper over right tackle, Randy Williams went over the magical 1,000 yard mark in rushing. This achievement is one to be proud of, as it marks the culmination of a fine season for Williams. It is also a reminder that the fleet halfback was running behind the blocking of players such as Kirk Lieberman, George Baldwin, Ed Bourke, John Greene, and John Cinnamon.

Charlevoix started the second half with a score as Williams took the kickoff from the 15 yard line for a 85 yard touchdown gallop. Barely 9 seconds into the second half, Charlevoix had boosted their lead to 35-0.

Three plays later, Alger stepped in front of a wayward Blue Devil pass, and scampered 43 yards with the interception With less than 2 minutes gone in the second half, the Red Rayders led 41-0.

Bad luck continued to haunt the Blue Devils. On their next possession, they were driving into Charlevoix territory, and, after picking up their second first down of the evening, they fumbled the football away. Charlevoix's Bucky Bradley pulled in the errant football on the Rayder 38 yard line.

This set the stage for the debut of Junior Bud Klooster as the Charlevoix quarterback. Under Klooster, the Red Rayders picked up 1 first down, but was forced to kick their first and only punt of the evening. This came at 3:33 in the third quarter.

The longest Gaylord possession of the evening started following the Red Rayder punt, and ended with a bad snap from center when the Blue Devils were forced to punt early in the fourth

Meet the Rayders

Three of the five Charlevoix Rayders pictured this week will be returning next fall while two played their final grid game on Friday.

They are Mike Way (21), Steve Michael (81), Matt Doan (82), Scott Boss (20) and Ed Russell (30).

Mike Way, a junior, has been sidelined since the Grayling game as the result of a knee injury which necessitated surgery. A quarterback, he shared the duties of the signal caller with Bob Alger until benched with the injury. He is hopeful of being back in action after the holidays. This was his first Varsity year after year experiences on the JV squad. He is 5'11", weighs 160 pounds and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Way.

Steve Michael closed out a successful prep career on the gridiron as tight end and linebacker. He had two years with the JV's and two with the Varsity squad. He is 6' 0" and weights 175 pounds. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Michael.

Matt Doan will have another year of Varsity eligibility remaining. After two years on the JV squad, he has completed his first year of Varsity play as a regular tight end. He is 6'1", weighs 165 pounds and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raiph Doan.

Scott Boss, a flanker and halfback, is a junior who is 6'0" and weighs 165 pounds. He has completed two years with the JV's and now one with the Varsity. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boss.

Ed Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, has completed three years of football including one with the JV's and two with the Varsity. He was a regular back on this year's squad. He is 5'9" and weighs 155 pounds.

Girls Basketball Beat Grayling

The Charlevoix Girls basketball team won easily over Grayling by a score of 52-18 and, on Thursday, fell victim to Cheboygan by a score of 42-35.

Next week, the Rayderettes will travel to Rogers City on Wednesday and will host St. Ignace here on Friday in games set back one day. On Tuesday, Nov. 11, Charlevoix will entertain Boyne City here. All games are played at 6:30 p.m.

In Thursday's game with Cheboygan, the Charlevoix girls were ahead by one point, 15-14 at halftime. However, midway in the third period the team lost Heidi Dove with an ankle injury which resulted in a loss of scoring punch.

With the score tied at 27-all going into the final period, the visitors outscored Charlevoix 15-8 for the winning margin.

Margaret Olson paced the game with 17 points for the victors. Denise Boss and Maureen Cudd had 10 points each for the home team.

In the game at Grayling, Charlevoix took an early lead and remained ahead 11-8 at the quarter; 23-10 at halftime and 27-12 going into the final eight minutes.

Dove had 17 points and Cudd 10 for Charlevoix. Cindy O'Mara had eight for Grayling.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES — OCTOBER 20, 1975 — 8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms. Absent: Alderman Selph.

The Minutes of October 6, 1975 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Plumm that the Building Committee meet at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, October 22, 1975 to consider remodeling the existing ambulance garage to accommodate the new and larger ambulance on a temporary basis for the winter months; and the committee is to have the power to act upon their decision. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Selph.

Greg Shadko, City Sewer Plan Study Engineer, presented the Council with a Facilities Planning Study Agreement between owners and consultants for the Greater Charlevoix Area, Charlevoix County, and it will be taken up at a Committee as a Whole meeting to be held on October 27, 1975, as Council did not have enough time to study the Plan and act on it at this meeting.

Mr. McNamara of Doeren, Mayhew, Grob and McNamara, an accounting firm from Traverse City, Michigan, addressed the City Council to present his firm for Council to consider for our annual audit.

Mayor Hansen recessed Council to hold a Special Board of Appeals meeting.

Council reconvened with Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms present. Absent: Alderman Selph.

City Ordinance No. 304 was discussed at length. This is the Ordinance which regulates the storage and accumulation of junk, trash, rubbish and abandoned or disabled vehicles on private property within the City of Charlevoix, and the enforcement of this Ordinance by our enforcement personnel.

The Finance Committee, having examined bills totaling $74,085.32, find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman McRae that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for same. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Selph.

Council adjourned.

Lyle S. King, City Clerk

BOARD OF APPEALS — OCTOBER 20, 1975 — 8:30 p.m.

The Board of Appeals met on the above date and time.

Aldermen present: Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms.

Absent: Alderman Selph.

The Board received word from City Attorney Donald Berlage and City Administrator Robert Wexstaff that Mr. Ron Steffes was withdrawing his variance request for The Dunes Condominium.

Motion was made by Alderman Timms and supported by Alderman Whitley that Robert Lieberman be granted a variance to remove the existing garage and construct a new two-car garage in the same location; and that no part of the new garage is to be closer than 30 inches to the west lot line. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Selph.

Mayor Hansen adjourned the Board of Appeals.

Lyle S. King, City Clerk

HALLOWE'EN DIDN'T go uncelebrated on Charlevoix School Bus 13. The youngsters were awarded prizes for the best Hallowe'en pictures. Bus riders were asked to vote on their favorites. Winners included Fred Falting, kindergarten; Darrin Baldorff, first grade; Deano Drost, second grade; Dawn Genell, third grade; Lori Alger, fourth grade; and David Baldorff, fifth grade.

Recreation Winter Sports Begin

The Charlevoix Recreation Department launched its independent basketball and adult volleyball seasons this week Dwight Boss, recreation director, has announced.

The basketball program will boast two leagues with the "A" league having four teams, Townhouse, Swanson's K&D, Doug Way Oil and B League All Stars. This league will play at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. every Monday. The games will be played at the Middle School gym.

The "B" league of 13 teams will play on Wednesday and Thursday at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. Teams in this league include First State Bank, Russell's Shell, Freedman's, Kenney's Excavation, LaBlanc Insurance, County State Bank, Klooster John Deere, Wojan Aluminum, Muma's, Bay Shore Steel, Alray Cottages, Credit Union and Medusa. The Middle School gym will also be the site of these games.

The season for the league will end in February and will conclude with tourneys.

Three Volleyball leagues have been organized and, like the basketball leagues, will end their seasons in February with tournaments to follow.

The Women's basketball league of eight teams will play at 6, 7, 8 and 9 p.m. Monday at the Elementary School gym; the 14 member Mixed league will play at the same times every Tuesday and Wednesday and the Men's League of four teams will play at 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

Williams Makes 1,000 Yards

Charlevoix's 53-0 victory over the Gaylord was a big one for the Rayders.

It was an even greater one for Rayder halfback Randy Williams who piled up 106 yards in 14 carries to push him over the 1,000 yard mark in one season. Williams reached this point in the second half of the Gaylord game and at the final gun had reached the 1,047 yard mark.

Williams' record for the season is an enviable one. It started with the Rayders opening game with Kalkaska in which he had 179 yards in 25 carries for an average of 7.16 yards per carry. This was followed by 52 yards against Benzie Central; 113 against Cheboygan; 133 at Grayling; 95 against Rogers City; 115 at St. Ignace; 131 against Boyne City; 123 against Petoskey and Friday's total of 106 against Gaylord.

He also had six kick-off returns for 220 yards or an average of 35.8 yards and scored 10 touchdowns and one two-point conversion for a total of 62 points.

Williams is a senior, is 5' 8" and weighs 165 pounds. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glen "Sonny" Williams.

Junior Varsity Loses Final Game

The Charlevoix Rayder JV squad closed out its 1975 season Thursday night with a 5-3 record after dropping their final game to the Gaylord JV's by a score of 41-14.

According to Coach Hal Evans, Charlevoix never seemed to get it all together as the young Blue Devils capitalized on three pass interceptions.

Kevin Kratt seored the young Rayders only touchdowns, the first on a 17 yard run in the opening quarter and the second on a 23 yard run as the half ended. Kratt also scored a conversion on a run.

Gaylord scored on a 55 yard pass play and a 20 yard run off tackle in the first period; on a one yard pass play after returning a pass interception from the 30 yard line to the one yard line and on a five yard run following a 50 yard drive in the second period for a 28-14 halftime lead.

Twn pass intereceptions and short runs accounted for the remaining points.

The Gaylord JV's boasted an undefeated season.

Georgia LaBlance Marries Don Hufford

The First Congregational Church was the scene recently of the wedding of Georgia Dean LaBlance and Donald L. Hufford.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Roy S. Rankin of Charlevoix and the late George A. LaBlance and Paul F. Hufford of Petoskey and the late Mrs. Hufford.

The Rev. Raymond Giffin officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families. Aloylus Breeze, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Brendan LaBlance.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Thomas LaBlance, chose a full length emerald green gown banded in contrasting colors. for her wedding. She carried a single yellow rose.

Mrs. Sandra Cinnamon, wearing a green plaid ensemble, served as her matron of honor. She also carried a single rosebud.

James Doyle of Petoskey assisted the bridegroom as best man.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. LaBlance for relatives and cose friends.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans via private plane, the couple will reside here.

Family Honors 5th Generation

Families thnt can boast five living generations are a rarity. However, for the second time in 17 years this has happened in the family of Mrs. William Farkas.

The matriarch of this family is Mrs. Farkas' mother, Mrs. Mary Vrablic of Fruitport. The others who make up the five generations are her daughter, Mrs. (Mary Ann) Farkas, her daughter Mrs. Gerald (Rosemary Farkas) Lusk of Charlevoix, her daughter, Mrs. Stanley (Carla Lusk) Gzym of Muskegon and her son Jansen Gzym.

When the first five-generation reunion was held in 1958, Mrs. Czym, then three years old, was the youngest and her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Anna Beer of Petoskey was the oldest of the group.

CHARLEVOIX KIWANIANS helped Hallowe'en along here with their gifts of peanuts to Charlevoix Elementary School youngsters. Presenting the treat to first graders were Clarence Odmark and Roy Fortin of the local club. The peanuts were also given to children at St. Mary's and the Ironton Trinable Center.

PBB

The Warners have dropped their membership in the Michigan Farm Bureau. State officials say the PBB was manufactured by the Michigan Chemical Co. and mistakenly shipped to Farm Bureau Services, where it was mixed with feed.

"If the Farm Bureau had come right out in the open and said there had been a mistake, things might have been different," she said.

"It's been a bad thing to go through, but we've been lucky.

"We were one of the last ones to get settlement money."

Helpful Company

While being upset with Farm Bureau, Mrs. Warner was quick to mention how helpful others have been. She said Michigan Bell Telephone was patient in waiting for its money for phone bills they couldn't pay for several months. And Michigan National Bank, which holds several of their farm mortgages, even gave the Warners a number they could call collect if financial problems persisted.

She said neither company persisted in collecting past due payments during the Warner's financial crisis.

The young couple had planned this year to start raising a family, but because of the uncertainty of the effects of PBB, they are going to remain childless.

"We're going back into farming," Mrs. Warner says.

"But, we're not going to have kids for a while."

"Right now, I'm kinda of scared to have them"

Although the Warner's farm is partially back in operation, Mrs. Warner says she doesn't know if the lingering effects of the PBB will ever be over.

"I don't think it will eber be over with us as long as I'm alive."

SKI & SHORE PROPERTIES, Inc. announced the winners Thursday of their Hallowe'en Pumpkin Designing Contest. The winners, as determined by a vote of the public, were: (1 to r) Meg Fowler, first; Karen Taylor, second; Kathy Dillon, third. The winners were awarded gift certificates to Oleson's Variety Store by Don Fuller, office manager.

Obituary

Mrs. Joseph Clark

Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph (Lulu Hammond) Clark, 74, sister of Mrs. James Driggett, were held Monday at the United Methodist church in Boyne City. The Rev. Ray Grienke officiated. Interment was in Sunset Hill Cemetery in East Jordan. She died Thursday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital following an extended illness.

Born in Evaline township Sept. 30, 1901, the former Lulu Hammond was married to Mr. Clark in 1919. They always lived in East Jordan where Mr. Clark was a rural mail carrier for many years. He preceded her in death in 1950. Following his death she lived in Grand Rapids for 15 years before returning to live in Boyne City.

She was a member of the United Methodist church and its choir; Past Worthy Matron and Life Member of Mark Chapter, O.E.S., a member of the White Shrine, a former Past Noble Grand of the Rebekah Lodge, a member of the Auxiliary of Rural Mail Carriers, an active member of the W.T.C.U. and past president of the United Church Women of Boyne City.

She is survived by a son, Benjamin G. Clark of Chesterton, Ind.; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald (Dora Mae) Sage of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Coralu Fox of Boyne City; eight grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; a brother, Edward Hammond of East Jordan and a sister, Mrs. James Driggett of Charlevoix.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor her memory contribute in her name to the Memorial Fund of the United Methodist Church of Boyne City.

Orlin Cunningham

Funeral services for Orlin V. Cunninghan, 71, who died Friday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where he had been a patient for several months, were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Austin Regier officiated. Interment was in the Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Cunningham was born near Pellston in Emmet county April 25, 1904, and moved to Marion township south of here as a child. He was a carpenter by trade. In 1947 he was married to the former Lucile Belding at Indian River. They have always resided here. He was a member and past president of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Shirley A.) Mathers of Boyne City and Mrs. Ronald (Sandra L.) Sniegowski of Ludington; two sons, Ronald J. of Fenton and Orlin K. of Charlevoix; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Gerald (Nancy L.) Olson of East Jordan; 17 grandchildren; one great-grand-child; three brothers, Alvin D., Ray and Clyde, all of Charlevoix and three sisters, Ann and Mrs. Gordon Bartlett of Charlevoix and Mrs. Ole Olsen of East Jordan.

Mrs. Joseph Clark

Mrs. Joseph Clark, the former Lulu Hammond, passed away October 30 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Hammond was born September 30, 1901 in Eveline Township and had always lived in Northern Michigan, most recently in Boyne City. Her husband was a mail carrier in East Jordan prior to his death in 1950.

Survivors include a son, Benjamin G. Clark, of Chesterton, Indiana; two daughters, Mrs Gerald Sage of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Coralu Fox of Boyne City; eight grandchildren; three great grandchildren; a brother, Edward Hammond, of East Jordan; and a sister, Mrs. James Driggett of Charlevoix.

Funeral services were held at the United Methodist Church in Boyne City November 2.

County Commissioners Discuss Jail Meals

The problem of feeding prisoners at the Charlevoix County jail was among the issues discussed at a recent meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

The problem arose when Leutheuser's restaurant in Charlevoix, which had been providing meals at the jail since last December, informed the board that it planned to terminate its contract.

The Sheriff's Department is now advertising for bids for someone to prepare meals at the jail, utilizing the facilities available there.

The county arranged to purchase meals from a local restaurant last December when only a few prisoners were housed at the facility. However, since then the census at the jail has grown to an average of 20 or more.

In other action at the recent meeting, the board approved the three-mill tax levy approved earlier by the voters of the Vanderbilt School District and apportioned the taxes in Hudson and Chandler townships which are located in the Charlevoix county.

--Voted to send William Mercer, Charlevoix County Planning Director, to a seminar on "New Strategy for Getting Federal Dollars" being held in Washington Nov. 12-14.

--Approved the expenditure of $6,500 from the 1976 budget of the Register of Deeds office for a photo copying enlarger for the department. The order will be placed at this time.

--Adopted a resolution supporting future Revenue Sharing monies to the county, cities and townships. Copies were forwarded to Senators Hart and Griffin and U.S. Representative Philip A. Ruppe.

Developer Objects to Press Story On East Jordan HUD Project

By Ken Winter

ELK RAPIDS--A Traverse City housing developer has taken exception to a recent newspaper account that he has abandoned a low-income housing project in East Jordan.

In an interview with the Courier, William Moteer of Traverse City claims a story appearing on the front page of the Charlevoix County Press on September 25, relating details of a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) project was incorrect.

Mateer contends that the allegations made in the story were false and that neither he or anyone else from Residential Developers of Lansing, who did the project, were contacted by the Boyne City newspaper.

The County Press alleges that eight houses were abandoned last fall when the Lansing firm could not come up with tens of thousands of dollars in payments to various sub-contractors who worked for the corporation on the federally-funded project.

The eight houses were a part of a two-phase HUD program to provide low-income housing for residents in East Jordan. The first phase, already completed, was the construction of a 20-unit low income elderly housing complex called Lakeview Manor.

In response to the Press story, Mateer says that his company has never abandoned the project. Mateer contends that the project was substantially finished last fall and the problems of excessive claims by local sub-contractors prevented completion of the work.

Mateer said he had turned the dispute over to his attorney to help resolve the problems.

When asked by the Courier why Mateer had not been contacted for his version of the work stoppage, reporter Mike Ready said that he had called telephone Information and was unable to find o listing for Mateer.

The Boyne City newspaper reported that a Clare painting contractor and a Farewell plumbing and heating specialist have filed an $11,000 suit for fraud.

Mateer, a one-time Housing Development Director for Lansing, says he has been involved with some 15 communities in similar programs. In Lansing, he developed over 1,000 low cost units and was involved with relocating some 900 families who had lost their homes when I-496 was constructed through the center of the capital city.

While the project remains in dispute, Heartwell Mortgage Company of Traverse City has arranged with local subcontractors to complete the work on the eight houses.

George Heartwell of the Traverse City firm estimated completion costs to be something less than $13,132.

Heartwell said there were some 10 liens against the project totalling nearly $61,000. The total project contract for both phases is $544,750.

The mortgnge officer said he had worked with Mateer on two previous projects and had never had any difficulties.

Heartwell declined comment on the present fraud charges.

Loeol concern about Mateer developed several weeks ago in Charlevoix beeause he is a partner with consultant Clarence Samuelson of Traverse City in developing a senior citizen housing project for Charlevoix.

Mateer told the Courier that he has removed himself from the Charlevoix project, so that he wouldn't jeopardize the success of the program.

Ralph Shapton of the Charlevoix Housing Commission told city counell that Mateer had agreed to send the city a letter clearing him of charges made in the Boyne City weekly.

Mateer said he only received the request from Samuelson last Monday and that a letter would be forthcoming.

Mateer, who is also a substitute teacher for Traverse City Public Schools, said Charlevoix's project stands an excellent chance of getting federal funding.

Unlike the East Jordan project, Muteer said Charlevoix would not be directly involved in owning the complex once it is completed. Instead, the financing of the building would be secured by a builder seleeted by the city, and owned by him.

He said Charlevoix will be one of the first cities to make a HUD grant appleation under the new federal program.

Showdown Between State and Region

4 Counties Get Nutrition Payments

TRAVERSE CITY--Payments for state-supported nutrition programs involving some 4,000 elderly persons in four Northern Michigan counties are on the way, despite organizational infighting.

State Office of Services to the Aging officials said some $10,517 has been released to Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Kalkaska Counties now that state-required reports have been forwarded to Lansing.

However, State Direetor Ron Kivi gave the four counties until Decemher 1 to straighten out administrative problems at the regional level.

The payments, delayed nearly three months, are coming just before several counties may have been forced to close their programs for lack of reimbursement from the state.

Checks had been held up because the state had been unable to get reports from local Aging Commissions on the work being done in their counties. The reports are required in order for counties to get state reimbursements for monies it spends for the nutrition program.

The state director met Friday with the Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging policy board here in an apparent attempt to resolve differences among the four counties.

After nearly two hours of debate, the regional policy board put its own regional director, Ron Crummel, on two-months' probation for not insuring the proper forms were sent to Lansing so local counties could receive their reimbursement checks.

At the same time, the board asked the four counties to go back to their local county boards of commissions to decide how they want to structure the nutrition program organization.

Under present organization, the counties have been working under Kalkaska project director Wes Payne, who has been responsible to Crummel.

However, after Payne was dismissed by policy board members effective last Friday, the four counties have no project director.

Under the state and federal guidelines for the nutrition program, the counties must have a full-time director to receive grant money.

Payne apparently had been dismissed because he was unable to work with the four counties.

Payne had originally been asked to supervise the four-county operation last November after suecessfully running one-year federally funded nutrition program in Kalkaska the previous year.

State Direetor Kivi told the policy board Friday that they now have four options if they plan to continue in getting state reimbursements.

The options include:-

--Continuing the present four-county structure as originally set-up, where each county would file reports to a project director, who would in turn process them with the regional director for eventual state approval.

--Create a new four-county agency to administer the program.

--Set up a three-county agency with Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties for the nutrition program and let Kalkaska operate under its old federal grant separately.

--Merge the three-county program with Northwest Michigan Human Servlees of Traverse City, who administer the nutrition program in six other Northern Michigan counties, and let Kalkaska operate its own program.

The policy board is expected to have a special meeting within two weeks to consider the recommendations from the four counties.

School Board Approves 12% Budget Increase

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education approved a $2,080,833 budget for the 1975-76 school year following a budget hearing held Monday.

The proposed budget is $276,669 over the audited expenditures for the 1974-75 school year which totaled $1,794,139. This represents a 12 percent increase over the 1974-75 audited expenditures.

Income to support the budget will be realized from local sources in the amount of $1,799,673; state sources, $194,613; federal sources, $80,347 and incoming transfers, $6,200. This also represents approximately a 12 percent increase from the audited revenue of $1,801,653 during the 1974-75 school year. The overall anticipated total from all sources is $2,080,833 or $25 over the proposed budget.

A further breakdown of expenditures are: Instruction in the Elementary School, $430,545 as compared to $370,228 last year. However, while this is listed under "Instruction--Elementury" it includes the principal's salary ($18,332); regular teachers ($354,636); substitute teachers ($6,600); secretarial ($6,873); salaries for other instruction ($20,095); teaching supplies ($10,725) plus textbooks, library books, library periodicals, library A.V., office supplies, miscellaneous supplies, travel mileage and miscellaneous expenses which adds up to the total of $430,545.

Instruction in the Middle School Area which includes all those expenses listed above plus additional expenses is listed at $340,236 as compared to $302,591 last year. The principal's salary is $18,322; regular teachers, $246,672; School B extra Curricular, $2,250; substitute teachers, $5,390; librarian, $7,276; Guidance, $15,346; secretarial, $10,498; Salary of other Instruction, $10,492; teaching supplies, $12,362 plus lesser amount for items mentioned above and utilized at the Middle School.

At the High School level, the budgeted total is $554,901 as compared to $493,488 during 1974-75. The principals salaries are listed at $30,117; regular teachers, $365,140; School B Extra Curricular, $24,956; Substitute teachers, $5,500; librarian, $15,347; Guidance, $32,561; secretarial, $12,818; Salary of other instruction, $31,688; teaching supplies, $19,550 plus expenses for other materials and services.

The Special Education budget is for $48,967 which includes $34,736 for regular teachers; $12,975 for salaries for other instruction with the remainder going for substitute teachers, textbooks, teaching supplies, miileage and miscellaneous expenses.

A total of $11,806 has been budgeted for summer school as compared to $10,858 spent last year and Adult Education, $3,702, up $500 over 1974-75.

The cost of administration totals $87,297, up from $77,080 spent for this last year. Included in this is the Board of Education, $1,050; Superintendent's salary, $23,250; business manager, $8,500, a drop from $11,844 last year; secretarial, $22,952; contractural services, $11,000; office supplies, $4,000; travel and mileage, $4,000 up from $373 when a school-owned vehicle was used; printing and publishing, $3,680; miscellaneous expenses and conferences, $6,325; elections, $1,255 plus equipment rental and periodicals and newspapers.

Health services have been budgeted at $5,379, up from $4,795 and including the nurse's salary of $4,500.

Transportation costs showed a marked increase from $89,249 to $126,725 for an overall increase of 1.42 percent. This was due chiefly to payments for four buses or-

Extensive Winds Damage Area

Extensive damage has been experienced in the area as the result of high winds that hit the area Tuesday morning and which gusted at more than 65 miles an hour.

The roof on o building formerly occupied by Professional Vehicle Service located on US 31 South was reportedly blown from the building at the height of the storm Monday afternoon.

Robert Wexstaff, acting City Administrator, said that there has been some isolated outages of electricity in various areas throughout the day, due mostly to falling branches.

He said utility crews had been out all day checking on lines as far south as Sequanota where one outage was reported. He added that there had not been any serious damage reported despite the high wind.

Shoreline damage is expected to run high as waves, driven by hurricane force winds, washed high along the beaches. No estimate had been made of this damage late Monday.

Street department crews had patrolled the streets throughout the day, picking up branches of all sizes blown onto streets and sidewalks throughout the city.

Two trees on Dixon ave. were toppled by the storm, one in the Robert Tollas yard and a second next door to the Arthur Skelton yurd. No serious damage resulted.

Airport

The Beaver Islanders did it again. They got their airport passed to pave the runway. I would just like to thank everybody for realizing that we needed a paved runway. The Beaver Islanders are o.k. when they stick together.

A Sincere Thank You

To all who aided the East Jordan Rescue Team through contributions to the Herb Schofield Memorial Fund. Because of the tremendous response we were able to outfit two additional divers thus doubling the size of our rescue unit. We pray our services will not be required by anyone, but if an emergency does arise we will be much better equipped because of your generosity.

Objects to Lights

I have read with great interest comments from readers in the past issues of the Courier relating to the new lights on Bridge Street. I am in full accord with the purpose for which they were installed, saving wattage and cost to the city. However, I personally object to the blinding lights as you come in from the darkness into the city and stare at a million "suns". Also, the people living along Bridge Street find their sleeping quarters brightly illuminated during the night. At The Lodge we have had complaints that the rooms facing Bridge Street are less desirable than previously.

As I stated before, I am in favor of the lights and their intent. However, I feel that much light is wasted by the height of their projection. I would strongly suggest that you hood at least a few of them as an experiment to deflect the light downward instead of upward and downward.

Sincerely,
Julius W. Gilbert
The Lodge of Charlevoix

Thanks

We at The Lodge say "job well done" to the Charlevoix Fire Department. If it were not for their miraculously speedy action, "four minutes from the time we called", the fire confined to one suite at The Lodge could have been a major conflagration.

Again we say "job well done", and thanks.

Ma Bell

It was interesting to read Miss Lei Johnson's letter in regards to the charge for telephone information.

If we have been subsidizing people's requests for information all these yenrs, why doesn't Michigan Bell drop our rates when they charge individually? I'd hate to think that I'll be paying for information as before, besides being charged for information on the third (or fourth) time I need to use that service.

Ma Bell, be a sport. Cut the information charge from all our bills if you are going to charge individually!

RECIPE:

"WEATHERVANE SUNDAY BRUNCH"

To Prepare:
For servings from two to twenty, all you need do is gather together your family or friends sometime between 11:00 A.M. and 3:00 P.M. on a Sunday. Reserve a nice table in a beautiful old stone building in Charlevoix. Discard your calorie counters and, with healthy appetites, leisurely blend together the following ingredients....

Slices of fresh cantaloupe and honeydew melons; goblets of orange and tomato juice; tablespoons of multi-flavored jellos and aspics; dishes of cottage cheese, potato salad, bean salad, vegetable salad, and cole slaw; generous helpings of country beef pie, chicken grand gourmet, and smoked fish; scoops of western-style baked beans and skillet-fried hash browns; a variety of carrots, radishes, tomatoes, dill pickles, olives, and green scallions; platters of rye, pumpernickel, banana bread, and sweet rolls; pieces of bacon, sausage, ham, turkey, and bratwurst; wedges of swiss, American and cheddar cheese; hot fruit crepes, french toast, blintzes with sour cream, and eggs benedict; add a few cups of steamed black coffee or hot chocolate....

Garnish the mixture with a bevy of fun waitresses, the aroma of wood-burning fireplaces, and changing scenes of waterfront activity, and lots of happy conversation!

Sound good? Well, you couldn't duplicate this recipe in your own home at $4.50 for grown-ups and $2.95 for kids...so why be bothered. Join us for fantastic food, friends, and fun this Sunday...at the Weathervane!

DNR Rules Tested in Court

Hassle Continues Over Gill Nets in Lakes

By TOM DAMMANN

PETOSKEY – Fresh alarms have followed the October 28 signing of an order in Grand Rapids U.S. District Court by Judge Noel F. Fox permitting the Bay Mills Indian Community on Lake Superior to include Lakes Michigan and Huron in its suit to enjoin the state from enforcing fishing and hunting laws against members of the community.

The order has also added to the confusion in 12 criminal court cases pending here involving 22 persons claiming to be members of that community who have been apprehended at various times in recent months and charged with fishing for lake trout with illegal gill nets in Little Traverse Bay.

The original suit against the state was filed April 9, 1973 in the Federal District Court by the U.S. District Attorney in Grand Rapids representing the Departments of Justice and Interior acting in behalf of the Bay Mills Indian Community to prevent the state from interfering with the Indians' treaty rights to fish in White Fish Bay, the site of the community.

The suit asked the court to require the state to control fishing by non-Indians in these waters in order to protect the Indians' rights.

At a pre-trial hearing November 18 last year Federal District Court Judge Noel P. Fox granted the Bay Mills Community the right to intervene in the suit in its own behalf and admitted Ms. Kathryn Tierney, Upper Peninsula Legal Services, and Native American Rights Fund (NARF) as "Attorneys of Record" for the Indians.

Ms. Tierney is the Bay Mills Tribal Attorney.

UP Legal Services

The UP Legal Services, headed by Sault Ste. Marie Attorney William James, is a federally funded organization which has long represented Bay Mills Indians, many of whom are involved in the majority of Indian fishing rights cases pending in both Upper and Lower Peninsula state courts.

NARF, based in Boulder, Colo. and funded by the Ford and other foundations, until recently has concentrated its efforts in behalf of southwest Indians, partiarly the Navajos. Its attorneys are expected to handle the oral arguments, once, and if, the Bay Mills ca > goes to trial.

According to James, the interventions were made "to bolster the Justice Department and prevent any compromise of the Indian positions."

At the pre-trial hearing last year, the DNR was represented by Stewart Freeman, Assistant Attorney General in the Division of Environment Protection and Natural Resources. John A. Scott, in charge of the Great Lakes Section of the DNR's Fisheries Division and George Dahl, Chief of DNR Law Enforcement were present.

At the hearing Judge Fox agreed to entertain motions to expand the area covered in the suit to include the waters of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior adjacent to the lands ceded to the United States in the Treaty of 1836. This would include the coastline on Lake Michigan from Grand Haven through the Straits of Mackinac to Alpena on Lake Huron, and from the Escanaba River along the north shore Lake Michigan through the Straits, up through the St. Mary's River, the Sault Ste. Marie, White Fish Bay and along the south shore of Lake Superior to the Chocolay River just east of Marquette.

It is on the contention that the treaty of 1836 gave the Indians the right to fish in these waters that Bay Mills Indians have crossed over into the Lower Peninsula to fish in Little Traverse Bay here.

Original Complaints

These specific geographic expansions form the thrust of the amendments to the original complaint which Judge Fox ordered to be filed October 28. But the amendment was also more specific in its request that Indian rights be protected: One by requiring that the DNR under Federal Court Supervision enforce regulations to protect the Indians; and Two, that the Court require the DNR to modify those regulations to ensure an adequate supply of fish to maintain their livelihood and traditional way of life.

"We are studying the amendments to see whether the government wishes to file as broad an amendment or a modified version," U.S. Attorney Frank Spies said in a telephone interview this week.

In any event there will be further delay before a trial date is set because the state has 20 to 30 days to reply and because, sources point out, before Spies can act he must refer to the Department of Justice in Washington, which in turn must refer to the Department of Interior, which in turn must refer to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, etc.

The prospect of further delay adds to the plight of law enforcement officers here, in Lansing and elsewhere in the state.

"We are hunkering down where we can get the assistance of local prosecutors and be assured of hearings in court," Scott said in a telephone interview this week. "We are having better luck in the Lower Peninsula than in the Upper Peninsula.

"Some prosecutors won't handle these cases and so far the Attorney General is concentrating on two test eases, the Federal case in Grand Rapids and the Appeal of the People vs. LeBlanc in the State Supreme Court."

Test Cases

Freeman agreed that the Attorney General's office is concentrating on the "two test cases.

"I welcome the suit and the amendment," the Assistant Attorney General said in a telephone interview. "If the U.S. and Bay Mills hadn't filed it, I might have filed a suit against the U.S. to get the issue before courts.

"We regard this as a genuine controversy. If the Federal Government really thinks a treaty – which is the law of the land – has been violnted, then it would be derelict in its duty if it didn't do something about it.

"This involves a treaty that was signed 150 years ago and it has been disputed almost ever since. If we don't get a judicial decision people may resort to guns and violence. Who wants violence? Freeman concluded.

Scott is outspoken in his reaction, though he says the DNR was well aware that the amendment was coming.

"Our view is that the Indians have no rights because the rights granted them in the treaty of 1836 were extinguished in the succeeding five years and in alter treaties," the DNR official said.

"But they are going all out. They want the Federal Courts to assume jurisdiction over the waters adjacent to the ceded land to limit non-Indian fishing. And they want the Federal Courts to make decisions on the allocations of fish in these waters.

"We figure we have a major suit on our hands," Scott said. "We find it objectionable that the Federal Government is using general tax dollars to fight the state of Michigan."

Ms. Tierney stated in a telephone interview that it is not necessarily true that the Federal Government will have to regulate the fishing.

Enforcement Problems

"We're going to have to get together with the State and cooperate," she said. "The problem is who is to enforce the regulations. If anybody can do that other than the tribes themselves, it is the Federal Government."

No date has been set for the trial of this suit and there is a general agreement that it will be at least another year before it can be scheduled.

So attention is now focused on what the State Supreme Court may decide in People vs. Albert LeBlanc.

That case involves Albert B. LeBlunc, a Chippewa Indian, leader of the Bay Mills Indian Community, who was found guiity of fishing with Gill nets and without a commercial fishing license by District Court Judge Nicholas J. Lambros in Sault Ste. Marie in 1973.

The Stue Court of Appeals reversed that decision October 8, 1974. Judge Lambros hnd ruled, as argued by the Attorney General's office, that hunting and fishing rights guarunteed the Indians in the treaty of 1836 had been relinquished in the later Treaty of 1855. The Appeals Court ruled they had not been relinquished.

The Attorney General appealed to the State Supreme Court for a review of that part of the decision.

At the same time, James, representing LeBlanc, appealed to the higher court to review that part of the Appeals Court decision which ruled that the state hns the right to regulate fishing, if it is necessary to prevent depletion of the fish population in Michigan waters.

Supreme Court Review

Last February 5 the Supreme Court agreed to review the case but as of this writing, no hearing date has been set and the Court Clerk said Thursday that it is not on the December calendar, meaning that the earliest it can be heard is in January next year.

In view of the delays, in getting to trial with the Federal Court cnse, the LeBlanc cnse has assumed prime importance, as the vehicle for getting to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Spokesmen for the Indians say that if the State Supreme Court rules against them in the LeBlanc case they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court and the Attorney General's spokesman say the state will appeal if a decision against it is handed down.

Some participants doubt the state will uppeal an adverse decision and U.S. Attorney Spies suggested during his interview that such a decision by the State Supreme Court might persuade the state to seek a settlement of the Federal suit.

"Meanwhile, since there is no authoritative judicial ruling to the contrary, it is still illegal to gill net und we will continue to prosecute offenders," Emmet County Prosecutor John Salan said this week.

He added that while there were a large number of offenses in October, there has been no activity for the past two weeks. The offenders were predominnntly Bay Mills Indians, he said.

"But they've stopped and we can't figure out why," Salan said.

Ms. Tiersey says "it's because the DNR has done a pretty complete job of confiscating the Indians' fishing gear."

MRS. PAT CARLAND of Charlevoix Elementary School works with several students at the school's learning center. The program is one of three offered in the Charlevoix Schools system to assist children who may need additional work with skills taught in the classroom.

Learning Centers Provide Education for Everyone

One concept of American education is that every person is entitled to as good an education as he is capable of acquiring. It is to that end that the Learning Centers in the Charlevoix Elementary, Middle, and High Schools work.

Learning Centers have been in operation in Charlevoix for four years. They provide individual and small group attention in teaching skills such as reading, writing, arithmetic, and getting along with people. At the high school level, the Learning Center is vocationally oriented but it is also concerned with counseling and improving basic skills.

Each school has a Learning Center, a special education room staffed by a trained teacher and a teacher aide, where students needing special help spend as much as half a day ur as little as one half hour a day, depending upon the child's special learning needs.

Learning needs may be in the areas of memory improvement-- remembering letter names, words, math symbols and facts. Other difficulties may be in seeing and hearing differences between letters, sounds, or shapes Other problems may be in motor skills, listening, following directions, inability to sit still, and lack of concentration.

The children meet in varying size groups, but usually eight or less at n time. Small groups are necessary because, as one teacher says, "Sometimes ten minutes of one-to-one help in the Learning Center accomplishes more than a full class period in a class of 30 children."

Learning Center teachers, in contact with individual children, can also talk out problems with them.

In the Learning Centers, special rewards may be given to children, when appropriate, to increse their motivation to learn. The rewards are simple – perhaps ten minutes of free time, special privileges in the classroom, special certificates, or bringing a friend to share a game in the Learning Center. Also, different games and colorful learning devices are used to make learning fun.

In the High School, unlike other High School teachers, the Learning Center teacher and aide teach all subjects in which students need special help. They work closely with classroom teachers to do so. The school system is responsible for students needing special education until they are 25 years old. This means that in High School some students have outside jnbs to perfect their vocational skills. There are now seven in such a work-study program here in Charlevoix.

At all grade levels, children believed in need of special help are referred by their classroom teacher to a team from the Intermediate School District, including a social worker, psychologist, speech therapist, and teacher consultant. Also, on the team are the Learning Center teacher, school counselors, and principal.

Testing by various members of this team takes place. Then, after the child's situation is reviewed by the team and his test results analyzed, a decision is made, along with the child's parents, as to the best educational program for that child. Attending the Learning Center may be part of that child's educational program. In High School, the student himself often participates in making up the program. This educational plan, with goals and objectives, is formulated. If it is so decided, the child starts attending the Learning Center, and his progress is reviewed annually.

This yenr the Learning Center teachers in Charlevoix are Mrs.— Pat Carland, Elementary; Dennis Carr, Middle; and Phis Presnell, High School. Their aides are Mrs. Barbara Wolgamott, Mrs. Barbara Gallagher, and Mrs. Jean Mort.

County Commissioners Decide Food Set-up

Bureaucratic bungling came close to jeopardizing Charlevoix County's nutrition program last week and we hope the situation never occurs again.

The future of one of this county's -- and the nation's-- most successful programs for our elderly citizens now rests with the county board of commissioners.

However, we are concerned that since they have not been aware of the problem their importance may be misunderstood.

Last November, Charlevoix County joined with Emmet, Antrim and Kalkaska Counties to receive funds to provide our senior citizens with at least one hot meal a week.

In Charlevoix, nearly 500 senior citizens go to the Charlevoix High School cafeteria to have a meal at a minimal contribution. Similar programs have been going on in East Jordan and Boyne City.

The original intent of the program was to have the four counties join together so that administrative costs could be kept to a minimal.

Since Kalkaska already had a program going the previous year, it was decided that the Kalkaska project director would head up all four counties. Grant requirements for the program mandate that there be a full-time project director.

On paper the plan looked good. Only one project director would have to be hired and the remaining monies could be used to buy more meals for the nutrition program.

However, as time evolved, the four counties found they could no longer get along with the project director. It got to the point that not every county would turn in their monthly reports to the project director. Instead, some of the reports went to the home-office in Traverse City.

Needless to say, the mix-up eventually prevented the four counties from getting their state reimbursements from Lansing because the state had not received the required reports.

Because of the lack of information, the State Director of Aging was left with no choice. He said, "No more money until the matter among the four counties is resolved."

County Boards of Commissioners are being asked this week to consider the problem and the alternatives laid out by the state director.

If the program is to continue, they are going to have to find a workable solution.

The solutions, suggested by the state director, range from going back to the original format of joining up with Northwest Human Services, who administers the program for six of our counties in the Northwest Region.

To us, the best solution would be to join up with Northwest since they already run a program and have had success with it.

Because of the geographic distance, the four counties were asked to run their own program before. But, Northwest now feels they could handle the extra administrative load.

We agree, and urge the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to consider the Northwest alternative for administering the nutrition program.

Locally, no one would be seeing any differences in the nutrition program. The senior citizens would still be getting their meals.

Administratively, county aging directors would be turning over their required monthly reports to the Northwest Human Resources, instead of someone in Kalkaska.

The nutrition program is too valuable to be jeopardized by mishandling of paper work.

Sen. Davis Takes Proper Gas Stand

We laud State Senator Robert W. Davis' action in trying to keep down the price of propane gas in Michigan.

He has introduced a resolution asking Michigan Congressmen to reject proposals of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) to mandate propane gas resellers to compute inventory costs on a national basis, rather than on a regional or cost center basis.

In effect, the FEA proposal would make it necessary for Michigan homeowners and industries to pay a portion of increased costs of propane gas to New Englanders.

A hearing has been scheduled for this week in Washington, at which time the FEA proposes to direct all pyrofax propane resellers to recalculate their inventory costs on a national basis. Although the hearing may result in permitting regional or cost center pricing in the future, if the decision is not made retroactive, the FEA could advise propanc distribution companies that they have undercharged the midwestern state and overcharged New England customers.

Objects to Seafarer

Honorable William Milliken, Governor
Capitol Building
Lansing, Michigan 48924

Dear Governor Milliken:

I have written before to Congressman Ruppe, relative to the Sanguine Project, now known as the "Seafarer."

May I respectfully request that you gentlemen use any efforts available to not have the Seafarer located in the western Upper Peninsula.

You have heard many arguments, pro and con, and I will simply state as follows:

1. To place ballistic missile bases or other super prime targets in the centers of our cities would be idiocy. This would simply force an enemy to target on our population centers. Seafarer, likewise, would force an enemy to radioactivate our Grat Lakes.

2. It is reasonably apparent from what one reads that both Russia and the United States have downgraded targeting of major population centers and have targeted military and strategic targets only.

3. These are the intelligent targets to hit on a first or second strike basis. Population centers and other targets that would create a long term ill effect on the enemy would be down the list in priority.

4. Therefore, a target such as the Great Lakes (before Seafarer), would be a low priority target. A hydrogen bomb dropped on an area that would pollute, contaminate and make radioactive the greatest fresh water supply in the world, would be not likely done at an early date.

5. The Seafarer project, however, would in effect, force an enemy to make their absolute first strike, the communications to our undersea submarines, namely, the western Upper Peninsula. A hydrogen bomb detonated at that point, only because Seafarer is located there, would put tons of radioactive materials into the air and, with the prevailing northwesterly winds, blanket the Great Lakes and Southern Michigan as well as most of the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula.

6. We would have forced an enemy to pollute the world's largest fresh water supply. This is incredibly poor planning, by way of location of our communication system.

7. Additionally, the people of the western Upper Peninsula should recognize that once Seafarer is in place, the 60 or 70 permanent jobs would be a pitiful comparison to the jobs that would be lost. It is my feeling that our Department of Defense and defense contractors would certainly not encourage and, in fact, would discourage the building of new, or expanding of old, industries in that obvious target blast area in the future.

8. Can you honestly feel that any Department of Defense official or factory owner would locate in that area if he had an alternative? They talk about areas that are "redlined" in inner cities and therefore unable to get mortgages. Here would be an area "redlined" as a prime target area and unable to receive critical industry due to its position, relative to Seafarer.

9. In fairness, the newspaper pictures (enclosed) showing the Upper Peninsula, should show a large target, as opposed to the lines shown designating the Seafarer area. Let the people know what "we are doing for them and 'to' them."

Kindest regards,
Thomas A Duke

BY BOB CLOCK

Some mighty strange creatures prowl the streets of Charlevoix after dark.

Sunday night Holly and I were taking our evening constitutional when we were alarmed to see a large white animal on the lawn of the Comfort property at the corner of Nettleton and Dixon-ave.

It was between two and one-half and three feet long, including a full, bushy tail. It was built closer to the ground than a cat and resembled no wild or domestic animal I have ever seen. It's shaggy fur was snow white except for an oblong black spot in the middle of its back.

Holly and I watched it as it crossed Dixon-ave. under a street light and disappeared in the vicinity of the Jack Goldman property.

Kay DePuy of Petoskey-rd. later expressed the opinion that what we had encountered was a "reverse skunk." And I could almost buy that opinion if the animal had been smaller and more humped like a skunk. It certainly was as slow as a skunk when it crossed the street, although the characteristic skunk odor was missing.

Furthermore, one of the standard works on the subject, "Wild Animals That Have Bitten Me" (Elmo Pratt, MacMillan 1914) makes no mention of the "reverse skunk" in its magnificent section on "Polecats That Have Bitten Me."

I also an certain the animal was neither a dog nor a cat and I am well acquainted with both species. It was too big for a cat and built to close to the ground for a dog. Furthermore it didn't move like either one of them.

I can tell you that pelt, with its one black spot, was a furrier's dream. Has anyone ever heard of ermine in these parts? Unfortunately, Mr. Pratt was never bitten by an ermine and had nothing whatsoever to say about that species. However, our encyclopedia groups ermine with the weasels and says they are indeed common to North America. Come to think about it, this animal sure did have a weasely look about it.

But the intruder Holly and I stumbled upon Sunday night is small potatoes compared to some of the wild creatures who venture into town from time to time.

Last spring, Pat Pence of Lewis-st. was looking our her window when a deer frolleked across the street and through Shod Bergmann's potato patch. Bergmann was working on his hands and knees bi the garden and didn't see the animal, although he could have reached out and grabbed it.

Two years ago this month, residents on the north side awoke to find bear tracks in the fresh snow of their backyards. Our dogs had barked unoariously about 5 a.m. that morning, but I was too sleepy to get up and investigate. The tracks traveled through yards on Nicholls-st., down the Dixon-ave. alley to Prospect-st and down Prospect to Round Lake.

There the animal apparently jumped in the lake because the tracks ended. Claw marks reappeared on a dock at the Belvedere Club where he climbed ashore, shook his soggy coat and continued on his way.

Of course, skunks are regular visitors to town. Actually, they aren't really visitors anymore because many of them have taken up residence, pay taxes and complain about the street lighting.

I'll never forget the night I encountered one little fellow on the steps of the old Courier building on Clinton-st. I beat a hasty retreat to the vicinity of the County Bank where I implored him to move along. He just sat on the steps, grinning this way and that for about 15 minutes before he humped neross the street and disappeared down the alley by Erber's garage.

Everyone said the paper smelled that week.

Ever since Mayva got three curtain calls at her belly dancing recital, she's been bugging me to enroll.

If I've told her once I've told her a thousand times, I have as much rhythm as the next person, but my belly is in no shape to dance. It hasn't been in shape since the baby was born.

"But the kid is 17 now," said Mayva.

"I know," I explained, "but the museles are gone. I walked by a hall mirror the other day and sucked in my stomach. NOTHING MOVED!"

"You're inhibited, aren't you?" she accused.

"Look, just because I don't want to enroll my tuni-tum..."

"Belly!" she insisted. "If the YWCA can call a stomach a belly, so can you. Do you actually think the YWCA would sponsor anything that was not an art form? It would be like Mickey Mouse wearing a Spiro Agnew watch!"

"Mayva, give me three good reasons why a full-grown woman should slink around with a jewel in her navel."

"Body language," said Mayva. "Your body speaks to people and sometimes it reveals things about you that you don't realize."

"Of course I realize my body talks," I giggled. "Just yesterday my feet said, 'You can't see me, turkey, but I'll keep tap dancing until you find me.' That's a joke, Mayva."

"It's not funny," she said. "Belly dancing would improve your posture, enhance your frame, coil your vertebrae and lift your rib cage. Just think, you could wear belts again."

"Don't promise me a rose garden, Mayva. Besides, I'm not ready to see hipbones again. It's too traumatic. I saw Cher's hipbones the other night and got panicky. I thought it was a growth. Also, I have nothing to wear."

"That's the beauty. You don't have to wear much. Only some chiffon here, some sequins there, some strategically placed tassels and you're in business."

I told Mayva I'd think about it. Last night I came out of the shower, whipped a towel around my hips and shimmied and swayed in a sensuous motion in front of the bathroom mirror. Maybe Mayva was right. It did relax you and...

My husband pounded on the door. "What's going on in there? We can hear that dog laughing all the way to the kitchen."

Another Law Suit for CBS

I figure we'll sue the TV networks for $100 million worth of humiliation and embarrassment, at least.

I got the idea from the Michigan United Conservatory Clubs which is suing CBS TV for $300 million on behalf of the state's 1 million hunters. They're furious about the CBS show "The Guns of Autumn" which made hunters look as brave and adventurous as your Aunt Minnie with a fly swatter.

There's no denying what the CBS films showed. Some hunters should wear a butcher's apron. They do sneak up on bears feeding at garbage dumps and shoot them dead, a dangerous task requiring the same skill and bravery displayed by the man who turns on the gas at the dog pound.

And some hunters do hire gamekeepers to push animals in front of their telescopic sights. I know a preserve operator who is training pheasants to fly into a hunter's pocket and commit suicide.

But this type of "hunter" is rare, not common. That's what's bugging the real hunters. They say CBS showed the world a distorted picture, portraying all the worst things hunters do, and none of the marvelous things. They claim they have been humiliated and embarrassed and so they are suing for a billion.

I hope the hunters win the court battle. I'm angry at CBS anyway. I suspect it was some stupid CBS executive who convinced Mary Tyler Moore she should slim down this season, thus greatly diminishing her chest measurement and my viewing pleasure.

But I didn't mean to get frivolous. For many years I have harbored a serious beef against CBS and all the other TV networks. I've kept relatively quiet about it because there didn't appear to be any remedy available -- until the hunters' lawsuit gave me hope.

If a court awards damages to nunters for being injured by an anti-hunting show, why shouldn't damages be awarded to anti-hunters who have been injured by those thousands of TV shows which glorify the hunter?

I'm thinking of such shows as the American Sportsman, for instance. Robert Stack invades Africa in a tank and stalks wild animals barehanded, except for various nuclear weapons and a cast of thousands to carry his collapsable condominium. This is done while a full orchestra plays scary music in the bushes and a voice in the background, usually Curt Gowdy, describes how hero Stack has risked his life to keep the world safe from the dreaded spotted antelope.

Or there are the more localized shows starring such Great White Hunters as Mort Neff. For umpteen years he's been pointing his TV camera at the gun, bang! And then at the animal falling, plop! Then he holds up the carcass and solemnly bestows sainthood upon the brave hunter who killed it at great risk of chapped wrists.

I find these TV shows humiliating and embarrassing. I insist they are distorted and not typical of the entire human race. I do not want my grandchildren seeing such bloody nonsense and thinking killing animals is great because Curt Gowoy says so and everyone on TV does it.

Onward and Upward, $100 million worth.

Meet Charlevoix ...Loren Corwin

Loren Corwin of Charlevoix is chairperson of FISH of Charlevoix County and Aathony Baroac, also of Charlevoix, is an uctive member of the organization. This week the Courier talks with them as spokesmen for FISH.

COURIER: What is the purpose of FISH?

FISH: We are a telephone based action organization who, when given the opportunity to respond to the immediate need of a neighbor, do so.

COURIER: Why the FISH name and symbol?

FISH: The fish was an early symbol of Christianity and our work is Christ-spirited. Our organization is a marriage of needs, not only persons motivated to serve the community and neighbors, but also persons who know they need each other. It is Christianity in action--a need to give and a need to receive. Members receive us well as give.

COURIER: Who are your members?

FISH: We are a group of persons who volunteer for phone duty to receive calls from those in need of immediate help; we are a group of persons who are willing, if able, to respond to calls from those who need help; and we are a group of people who call for help when we need it.

COURIER: What kind of help do you give?

FISH: Most of our calls are for emergency help in transportation to the hospital, the doctor, grocery shopping or to or from work. We are geared to on-the-spot service.

COURIER: Do you work with any other organizations?

FISH: We keep up with what services are available through the Department of Social Services, and, on the other hand, they are aware of us.

COURIER: How is your organization financed?

FISH: All our operating expenses and resources come from donations.

COURIER: Are you involved with churches?

FISH: Yes, we ure inseparable from the church and it is our policy to seek church support and involvement. Every church, priest or minister, in the area is invited to participate several ways. First, we ask them to explain our operation to their members. Second, we ask them to designate the second Sunday of either January or July as FISH Sunday. Finally, on this Sunday we ask them to provide a place where their members may leave a donation.

COURIER: How long has your organization been in existence?

FISH: We have been operating in Charlevoix County for about five years but there are other groups throughout the country that are much older.

COURIER: Are you a large organization?

FISH: We are not trying to build a large organization. We are just a group of good neighbors and good friends.

COURIER: Do you have regular meetings?

FISH: We have at least one general membership meeting each year, in the month of April. Staff members meet according to need.

COURIER: If a person wants to join your organization, whom should he contact?

FISH: Loren Corwin. His phone number is 547-6346.

COURIER: And if someone needs help, whom should he call?

FISH: Our general number is 582-7997, in Boyne City. A call there will put him in contact with the right person.

Hart Seeks PBB Help

Farmers who have suffered financial loss because their livestock was contaminated with polybrominated biphenyl (PBB) may receive some relief from federal legislation introduced by Senator Philip A. Hart.

The bill provides for low-interest loans to farmers whose feed or livestock have been condemned because of contamination by toxic chemicals through no fault of the farmer.

In a statement accompanying the bill, Hart said, "We are all familiar with the serious environmental problems facing this nation through the contamination of the food chain with toxic chemicals. When such contamination occurs, our first concern is properly for the consumer.

Grandvue Gets Bath Unit

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility now has a bathing unit which makes it possible for patients to be taken from their rooms, wheeled to the bathroom, fastened to a hydraulic lift and lowered into a deep tub without ever leaving the special wheel chair.

The Century Bathing Unit was purchased for the Facility at a cost of approximately $3,000 by the Grandvue Auxiliary with funds raised through various endeavors.

Grandvue Supervisor Hilda Watkins says that besides providing cleanliness, the bathing unit has a therapeutic value in that it relaxes, increases circulation and prevents and heals skin problems. The forced air flow bathes the body automatically up to the shoulders, making it necessary for the attendant to bathe only the shoulders, neck, face and head.

An additional virtue of the bathing unit is that one attendant can give a patient a bath instead of the two that are necessary with a regular bath tub.

Society Hears About Norwood

The early history of the Norwood area was the subject of last week's meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons, both natives of the township, told of the early days of the community, its settlers and industry. The Parsons' knowledge and research was enhanced by a collection of historical data made available to them by Mrs. Marion Purdy, another native of the area.

The history of Norwood, like most Charlevoix County communities, dates back to the early lumbering days, but unlike many communities it boasted a lumber shipping dock, constructed in 1866, and steamboat refueling facilities.

The December program of the Historical Society will feature a talk by Bruce Malpass on the East Jordan Iron Works. Founded in 1883, this is one of Northern Michigan's oldest industries and unique in family-managed enterprises.

REWARD OFFER

Electric service is often taken for granted – until we find ourselves without it. Many times malicious vandalism to transmission cables and electric insulators disrupts vital utility service. This can seriously affect a community.

To help fight this problem, we are offering a reward up to $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of, or restitution from, individuals who maliciously damage vital transmission equipment.

If you have information concerning such an incident, please contact a local police agency or call Consumers Power Company.

Civil Defense Makes Emergency Plan

A Civil Defense workshop to write an emergency plan for Charlevoix County in the event of a disaster was held Thursday at the County Building annex.

Called by Mrs. Alice Tunison, Civil Defense director for the county, the workshop was attended by federal, state and regional Civil defense resource people who worked with public service department representatives to write the emergency plan.

Assisting with the project were Philip Wheeler, Thomas Hompton and David Turner of the Michigan Tech CD training division; Charles Glennon, Department of Defense, CD Preparedness Agency, Reg. IV and Thad Zale of the same department; William Powell, CD coordinator, Department of Health; Bryce Gray, Department of Commerce; Sgt. James Cox, Emergency Service Division, and Kenneth Sleder, Area Coordinator, Michigan State Police.

Because of the county's transient population, officials urged that a well organized plan with responsible key people in control be written. "You are responsible not only for your own people, most of whom know their way around the county, but for part-time residents who are not acquainted with the county. Therefore, it is important that you write a more complete plan than might otherwise be necessary" Wheeler, who chaired the workshop, said.

The annexes by the various departments are to be written for local and state approval before being compiled in a reference book for use in the county.

Legion Auxiliary Elects New Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary held its annual election of officers at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Robert (Lois) Wasoski was re-elected president for the 1975-76 year. Other officers are: first vice president, Mrs. Henry (Angela) Borths; second vice president, Mrs. William (Mary Ann) Forkos; secretary, Mrs. Lyda Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Lester (Genevieve) Smith; chaplain, Mrs. George Shearer; historian, Mrs. Larry Spiegl and sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Josephine Hindl.

The Auxiliary meets the second Thursday of every month at the Post Home on Garfield ave.

THIS FOUR-YEAR-OLD mixed collie-poodle is pictured here with one of her six six-week-old puppies. If you are interested in any of them, contact the Charlevoix Humane Society on any weekday from 1 to 5 p.m. The animal shelter is located next to the County Sheriff's office in Charlevoix.

Thorsen Re-elected to Commission Post

Walter E. Thorsen

Walter E. Thorsen of East Jordan was elected to serve his 12th term as chairman of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission last week.

Also re-elected were Thomas Wieland of Charlevoix, vice-chairman, and Edward Rebman of Boyne City, secretary.

At its monthly meeting the Planning Commission also discussed an upcoming meeting of the Water Resources Commission at which priorities for local units of government seeking financial help for sewer construction will be considered.

Locally, the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix Township and South Arm Township have requested such assistance.

The Planning Commission has requested to appear at the meeting, scheduled for November 21, in Lansing, to offer testimony on the needs of these areas for sewer construction.

In the meantime, it will write a letter to the Water Resources Commission and the Environmental Protection Agency citing its concern with the location of sewer lines and how they will affect the growth of the county.

7 Rayders Named to All-Conference Team

Courier Sports

For the first time since Charlevoix joined the Michigan-Huron Shores League, the Rayders are well represented on the M-HS All-Conference football team.

Charlevoix, which finished second in league standings with a 5-2 record in league play and 7-2 in overall play, had seven players selected to the All-Loop squad.

Rayders named to the tenm were Bob Alger, a back, who won berths on both the offensive and the defensive teams after being named to the second team defensive team last season; Kirk Lieberman, who received recognition on the first team offensive squad and the second team defensive team as a tackle and defensive end; John Cinnamon, offensive first team center; Randy Williams, Rayder back who piled up a 1,047 yard total for the season, first team offensive back; Jim Marsh, first team defensive linefian; Ed Russell, first team defensive safety. John Greene was named as an offensive center on the second team.

Alger and Lieberman, co-captaans of the 1975 Rayder squad, were named to both teams.

Other seniors who played their last prep school games are Terry Drew, Kevin Speer, Doug Smith, Dan Oliver, George Baldwin, Steve Michael, Joe Seidel and Casey Culbertson who held down regular berths on the Rayder team all season and who all played major roles in the team's successes.

Girls Basketball Team Splits Weekly Games

The Charlevoix girls basketball team split a pair of games last week, defeating Rogers City 48-31 in the first game and taking a 55-37 beating at the hands of St. Ignace.

Maurine Cudd scored 20 points and Kathy Sladek 10 as the Rayderettes overcame a 10-8 first period deficit to go ahead 22-14 at halftime and 38-21 at the three quarter mark. Norma Szczerowski had 11 points for the Huron Squaws.

In the return game with St. Ignace, the Saints jumped to a 12-6 quarter lead; increased it to 26-17 at halftime and 41-25 as the game went into the last eight minutes.

In winning the game by a decisive margin, Barb LaTour set a new Michigan-Huron Shores scoring record with 37 points.

Maureen Cudd carried the scoring load for Charlevoix with 20 points.

The Charlevoix JV's were defeated by a score of 49-32 by Rogers City and 21-18 by St. Ignace.

Charlevoix will travel to Boyne City Tuesday and to Gaylord on Thursday before closing out the season on Nov. 18 when Petoskey plays here.

Charlevoix has been without the services of Heidi Dove who is recuperating from a serious ankle sprain suffered in the Cheboygan game.

Independent Basketball League Starts Season

The four team Class A league and the 13 team Class B league of the Charlevoix Independent League rolled into action this week with all four teams of the first loop seeing action and all but one team of the larger loop playing their first rounds of games.

In the "A" league Swanson's K & D showed its strength with a 71-60 win over Townhouse in the opener and Doug Way Oil downed "B" League All-Stars 74-62 in the second game of the night.

Bruce Meggison poured in 24 points as Swanson's went ahead 36-27 at halftime after a 16-16 first period tie with the Townhouse. The advantage was increased to 59-39 as the game went into the final period. Randy DeYoung and Doug Winnell added 10 points each to the victor's margin. Spook Coleman with 17 and Dave Strawbridge and Dan McKenzie with 10 each for Townhouse.

It was Doug Way Oil all the way as the team led 16-13; 40-31 and 55-33 by quarters behind the scoring of Butch Klooster with 20 points, Roger Crain with 18 and Larry Potter with 17. Terry Blissett had 22 and Ike Boss and Paul Osterberg 10 each for the All Stars.

"B" League Results

It was a decisive win for the Credit Union as the team went ahead 11-6 at the quarter and rolled on to 19-15 and 35-26 margins over First State Bank as the game went into the final period. Frank Hackett posted 18 and Joe Renner 17 points for the victors. Gary Stutzman had 10 and Larry Roth 11 for First State.

It really wasn't much of a contest for Russell's Shell as Dave Norton dunked in 23 points, Mike Crain 21, Larry Brock 16 and Leroy Buchanan 12 for Russell's who led 18-4; 37-10 and 55-26 by quarters over Alray Cottages. Scott Blanchard posted 11 for the Cottages.

Villge Milk House, first listed as Muma's, posted a 50-41 win over Bay Shore Steel as the Milk House came from behind, after trailing 8-6 at the first period, to go ahead 17-14 at halftime and 30-22 at the

Beaver Island

Mrs. Marion Martin

October 18 was set aside as a Special Day honoring Doctor Christie on the Island. A 5 p.m. mass was held at Holy Cross Church with Father Herbert Graf officiating, then everyone went to Holy Cross Parish Hall where a buffet dinner was held. Everyone on the Island who was able attended. There was a surprise for Dr. Christie as the doctors work goes on unnoticed and unheralded. So it was decided to pay special recognition to Doctor Christie.

Mrs. Marion Martin was in LaGrange, Ill. for two days where she went to see her son Ernie Martin who was badly injured in a car accident but is now improved.

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Linda McDonough held on Nov. 2 at 8 p.m. at Terry Hart's home and given by Julie and Jeanne Gillespie, Connie Wojan and Bonnie Cull and Terry Hart.

Mrs. Madonna McCafferty has returned home after being a patient at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Rick Martin of Hastings announce the birth of a baby boy Timothy Shaon on Sept. 1, 1975. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Martin are the grandparents.

Ronald Gallagher is home visiting his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Gallagher for a month.

Mrs. Ruth Hallahan and her sister, Betty of LaGrange, Ill. were here at her cottage for a week.

Dr. Mosher

Dr. William E. Mosher, III, has arrived here from Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit to open a practice in Obstetrics and Gynecology and to join the staff of the Charlevoix Area Hospital, effective Nov. 17. Richard Krueger, Hospital Administrator, has announced.

Dr. Mosher's professional address will be the Pine River Building, Bridge st., where his telephone number will be 547-4477.

Dr. Mosher comes to Charlevoix from a three-year residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology (1972-75) at Ford Hospital. Prior to that, he had served a residency in General Surgery (1969-70) at the same hospital. In the years between the residencies, he served as a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy with overseas duty in 1971 and at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla., 1972.

Licensed in the State of Michigan in June 1969 after serving a year's internship 1968-69) at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City. Dr. Mosher has received Specialty Certification OB-GYN and is a member of American College OB-GYN-Junior Fellow.

Dr. Mosher is a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School where he received his M.D. degree. Prior to that, he received a B.A. degree from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. He also is a graduate of Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills.

He, his wife, Ann, and their children, Billy and Lisa, are making their home at 310 Clinton st.

New Class Learns Maintenance Skills

INSTRUCTOR David Anderson discusses the day's project with some of his students.

You might think twice before you ever make another snide remark about someone being a janitor or maintenance man.

It might turn out that he's knows a lot more about cleaning and repair work than you do.

Those taking Charlevoix High School's custodial and maintenance program are finding it no joke.

Six high school students under the direction of teacher David Anderson are learning there's a lot about what's involved with maintaining a building and its surrounding grounds.

Before the year-long class is finished, they'll have learned some 50 skills ranging from floor cleaning to record keeping.

Anderson says the purpose of the class is to train high school students so they could step right into a custodial or maintenance job after graduation.

In fact, several of the students are already working on a part-time basis at night for businesses, using what they learn during the day on the job at night.

Anderson, who teaches building trades at Charlevoix says there's much more to the program than just sweeping floors.

Students have been busy working at the new auto mechanics building on U.S. 31, making repairs and getting it in shape.

The Charlevoix teacher says he's been getting his class to work outside during the nicer months before the long winter sets in.

Besides learning how to use equipment such as commercial lawn mowers and tractors, Anderson said the students are also finding out how they must be maintained to stay in proper working order.

Students have already visited Charlevoix Chemical Company to get an insight into the chemicals they may use in cleaning work and are expected to make several other field trips throughout the year.

Anderson said his class hopes to be able to visit the city garage and watch city employees service their vehicles and make minor repairs.

Although he doesn't want his class to be viewed as cheap labor for the school district, Anderson said his students do help out if the project can be a learning experience.

"We're trying to cover as many areas as we can," Anderson said about the content of the program.

"If things are needed to be done in the school and we can fit them into our program we will do them."

Anderson thinks the program is especially beneficial because he believes there are a lot of openings in the job market for this type of work.

Fifteen-year-old Curt Dixon says he likes the program because he wants to get into custodial work when he graduates.

Alvea Nort, 16, says he enjoys the class because it involves outdoor work.

"It's a lot better than English or arithmetic," he continued.

"It's not all brain work, but manpower."

John Reusch

Most of the precious opal used in jewelry today comes from Australia. Opal in its precious form displays the "fire" or play of color that is so beautiful, and is very rare.

It is found in the desert areas of South Australia with no surface indication to give miners a clue as to where to dig. A miner just picks a spot and starts digging, sometimes to depths of 60' or more. Soon an area begins to look like a prairie dog town. All of this just for a few slivers of gem Opal that might add up to a few ounces.

The Opal is judged for value on the amount of "fire", the shape of the stone, the arrangement of the color, what color the "fire" is (red being the most expensive, then orange, green, and blue.

Local

A former local resident, Mrs. Rhoda Putman, will be honored at an open house Thursday, Nov. 13, on the occasion of her seventy-fifth birthday anniversary.

Eleven of her living children will host the event at the 4-H Building in Petoskey from 6 until 10 p.m. Thursday.

Relatives and friends have been invited to attend the open house.

Born in Otsego county, the former Rhoda Peters was married to Leo Putman. They lived in the Gaylord area until moving to Charlevoix in the early 1950's. Following Mr. Putman's death in 1957 she moved to Petoskey to make her home.

Golf Course Damaged

Two greens and fairways at the Charlevoix Municipal golf course were badly damaged Friday night when three juveniles in a car owned by the parents of one of the trio, drove over the ground, made soft by the rain.

The second and third greens, the fairway between the two and another between the third and fourth greens were included in the malicious destruction caused by the three.

The trio was taken into custody by the Charlevoix police and released to the custody of their respective parents.

Damage was estimated at $1,500 according to Robert Wexstaff, acting city administrator.

three-quarter mark. Bill Gengle with 16 points paced the victory. Charlie Borths had 12 and Don Garis 10 for the Steelers.

It was a real battle all the way as Kenny Excavation came from behind to defeat Freedman's 49-45 after trailing throughout the game 13-11; 31-22 and 37-36 by quarters going into the last period when the victors outscored Freedman's 13-8 to take the game. Jim Danbert with 12 points, Joel Johnson with 11 and Max Bolser with 10 came through with the necessary buckets for the win. Terry Blissett had 15 and Bernie DeVries 13 for Freedman's.

LaBlance Insurance had no trouble posting a 56-36 win over Wojan Aluminum as LaBlance's led 14-13; 26-22 and 40-28 by quarters. Joe Beaudoin with 17 points and Sam Supernaw with 10 paced the victory. Stan Martin and Don Blalock had 13 points each and Don Smith 10 for Wojan's.

After trailing 10-8 at the quarter County State Bank found the range to go ahead 28-23 at the half and 42-31 at the three-quarter mark in its game with Klooster John Deere. As the game went into the final period, Klooster John Deere closed the gap to five points after outscoring the Bankers 23-18 but too late to save the game. Larry Skippergosh contributed 16 points and Kalvin Johnecheck and Dennis Reckerson 11 each to the winning cause. Dave Moyer had 18 points and Conrad Klooster 17 for John Deere.

Budget

Obituary

Milford Tyrrell

Funeral services for Milford Tyrrell, 72, who died Saturday shortly after being admitted to the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Tuesday at the Eastport Baptist Church. The Rev. Paul Glick of Elk Rapids officiated. Committal services will be held at the Davison cemetery at 1 p.ni. Wednesday.

Born in Davison May 11, 1903, Mr. Tyrrell was a graduate of Northwestern High School in Detroit and a 1924 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in Agriculture. On Feb. 15, 1923, he was married to the former Marion Brown at Lansing. Following his graduation, they lived in Detroit until 1929 when they moved to Ellsworth where he became associated with the Ellsworth Canning Co. He also taught in the Ellsworth School system during World War II and, for 25 years, operated Tyrrell's Resort on Grand Traverse Bay in Banks township. Following the sale of the resort they came to Charlevoix and resided at 103 W. Lincoln Ave.

He was a member of the Eastport Baptist church, the Atwood Farm Bureau and the Banks Township Senior Citizens Club. He had served on the Banks Township Board of Review for many years.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, Edwin of Detroit, Jack of Monroe and Richard of Flint; five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

The Hastings Funeral Home of Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Earl Rodame

Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Rodamer, 75, who died Wednesday at Grandview Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for 2½ years, were held Friday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Burlington, Michigan, July 29, 1900, the former Hilda Hill was married to Mr. Rodarmer at Flint in 1919. They resided there until coming to Charlevoix to make their home in 1961.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Willis (Phyllis) Miller of Charlevoix; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Anything other than good health is a deviation from nature. Every natural instinct in the body lends toward good health. Why then do some people, even with a sensible program of proper rest, good diet, exercise and a sound mental attitude, suffer poor health? Often, the trouble springs from the back. Even if the health problem doesn't center in the back, Body organs are served, either directly or indirectly by nerves, which reach from between the moveable vertebrae that makes up your spine. Suppose one or more of these vertebrae gets out of place, it can, and does, happen. Maybe from lifting a bowling ball. Or a fall. Or a bump. Then there can easily be an interference with the function of the nerve, and the corresponding organ. Restore the vertebrae to its natural position, then the nerve can do its job, and the organ can once again function. It's like an ecology chain. Ecology of the body. Chiropractic helps you to enjoy good health. Naturally.

FAITH WILL TEACH YOU HOW TO PRAY

A prayer is intended to be a beautiful communion with the Almighty, but we sometimes turn it instead into a request for some material gain often of doubtful benefit. To do so is to dishonor God by assuming that He is not already aware of your needs. So go to your Church this Sunday and pray for His guidance to help you become a better person. And instead of attempting to give God information, just thank Him for what you already have and reaffirm your trust in His infinite wisdom in knowing what is really best for you.

"And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear."

Two Still at Large after Local Kidnaping

Youth Escapes after Held for 3 Hours

By KEN WINTER

Two unarmed men, who kidnaped and robbed an 18-year-old Charlevoix youth, were still at large Tuesday morning after only hours earlier abducting the boy from his Pine Point home.

The unnamed youth remains in protective custody of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department after safely fleeing his captors late Monday afternoon.

A Sheriff's spokesman would not release the youth's name to protect his identity until the two men were arrested.

The county sheriff issued a state-wide bulletin late Monday to law enforcement agencies after Charlevoix County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum authorized a warrant for arrest of the two kidnapers, who made away with $128.

The men were described as being in their early twenties. One was said to be 6'2" with brown hair and brown eyes and wearing a dark brown jacket and blue jeans. The other was described as 5'11", with black hair and brown eyes and wearing a red plaid shirt and blue jeans.

In an exclusive interview with the Courier, the youth said he was taken from his Charlevoix home shortly after 3 p.m. Monday.

"I was just getting ready to go to Boyne City, when I saw a car pull up in our driveway," the youth told the Courier.

"At first, when I saw the car pull up, I thought it was some friends of mine."

The youth said when he opened the front door, he recognized one of the two men as being a person he helped arrest a year ago for possession of drugs. The youth said he had been working for a southern Michigan sheriff's narcotics squad as an informant.

The boy said the two men then forced him to go to Petoskey and get his paycheck.

"I tried to look as strained as I could," he said about getting his paycheck a day earlier from his foreman.

"I think my foreman suspected something, but I don't think he did anything."

The boy said he was then taken to Krogers in Petoskey, where the two men made him cash his check.

The trio then headed back to Charlevoix, where the youth was forced to get back his deposit on a new car purchased from Charlevoix Oil Company. He said he was taken to Elzinga Insurance Agency, also in Charlevoix, to get money he had put down for a new car insurance policy last week.

"They then took me back to my house and started ransacking it (the house) for more muney," the youth continued.

"While they were going through the house, I ran out the door and down to another house to call the sheriff."

Sheriff deputies said the two men were gone when they arrived at the scene at 5:30 p.m.

Southern Michigan law enforcement officials contacted about the Charlevoix youth's involvement with their narcotics program say the youth had never worked with them and had in fact spent time in their jail.

However, local enforcement officials say the sheriff deputies contacted would not have been aware of the youth's involvement.

U.P. Freighter Sinking Sobers Feelings about Great Lakes

By TOM DAMMANN

Underlying the continued speculation over whot caused the 729 foot ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald to sink in Lake Superior a week ago, is a renewed respect for the awesome power of the Great Lakes.

Anger, puzzlement and pure fatalism color conversations about the disaster which struck the Fitzgerald as she approached White Fish Bay, 60 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie locks at the height of the severest storm in 35 years, battered by winds of hurricane force and waves ranging from 20 to 30 feet.

It was a northwest wind and the waves had the power gained over the full 383 mile length of the deepest and largest of the five lakes.

"Whatever happened to her, happened so fast we still can hardly believe it," said Capt. Charles Millradt. Commander of the Sault Ste. Marie Coast guard Group, in immediate command of the search and rescue efforts.

"Maybe it's because we still don't want to believe it," he added.

Several conjectures are offered: that the freighter snapped in two when caught between two gigantic waves; that it was astride two waves, one in the stern and one in the bow, causing the center to cave in; that she was slowly changing course to head down toward the Sault, which meant she was taking the waves broadside, that hatches may have been torn loose by waves and 90 mile an hour winds, letting water into her hold and causing her to capsize.

But unlike two of the most recent marine disasters. which claimed the Str. Carl D. Bradley in Lake Michigan off Charlevoix, November 18, 1958, and the Str. Daniel J. Morrell in Lake Huron November 17, 1966, there are no survivors to give a clue.

Two Survivors

The Bradley went down with 33 men. Two survived. The Morrell went down with 32 men with one surviving.

The Fitz went down with 29 men.

The Fitz was built in 1958, the same year the Bradley succombed to raging waves.

For years she was the largest laker afloat and set records for the he/ge amounts of tonnage she carried. She was carrying only a little more than 26,000 tons of taconite pellets, when she sank last Monday.

"But in Great Lakes shipping terms she was one of the newer freighters and in her 17 years she had survived many a storm," observed retired Coast Guard Commander Frank Sperry of St. Ignace. "And her skipper, Capt. Ernest McSoreley had 44 years experience sailing on the Great Lakes. Also, there were other ships out on Lake Superior that night, like the Arthur M. Anderson of U.S. Steel's fleet."

Perhaps it was caused by metal fatigue in the hull, an unknown factor that puzzles most marine experts, largely because it is difficult to determine in inspections.

These long ships are built to be flexible, so that they can give with wave and wind pressure, just as skyscrapers are. Great Lakes historian and writer Dr. William Ratigan writes in his book, "Great Lakes Shipwrecks and Survivals."

"Nevertheless, their hulls constantly twist and vibrate, and that stress is bound to have some effect on the life of the metal," Ratigan said.

"If you should pass one of these freighters on a windy day, you'll hear reports like rile gun firc," he added, "and you'd better duck. Those are the rivits that are being snapped off by the straining plates of the ship's hull. It goes on all the time."

Possible Flooding

Another retired Coast Guardsman, Lieutenant Joseph Etienne, suggests the Fitz flooded and capsized.

"The Captain said he was taking on water, but that his pumps could handle it," Etienne said in an interview in his home.

"Maybe there were hairline cracks in the hull, which suddenly ruptured. The Captain also said the ship was listing, so if the hairline cracks ruptured and she flooded, she'd capsize and nobody could get out."

Lt. Etienne served 29 years with the Coast Guard in the South Pacific during World War II, on the north Atlantic and the Great Lakes. As Commander of the Charlevoix group he directed the search and rescue efforts for the Bradley.

He feels the immediate cause of the Fitz's sinking is relatively unimportant.

"They had no business being out there," he insisted. "This was a massive storm. They had plenty of warning."

"They (the special board of inquiry convened by the Coast Guard in Cleveland this week) should question all the skippers who were out there that day and find out what kind of weather advice they had received."

"This was a massive storm and the skipper of the Fitzgerald had enough warning to go into Keweenaw Bay and anchor until it had passed before he got so far down the lake."

"What kind of men are these skippers who are more concerned about getting that iron orc delivered than the safety of their ship and the men on board," Lt. Etienne asked angrily.

Crew Unlucky

Commander Sperry, a veteran of 22 years in the Coast Guard and 17 years in the merchant marine, emphatically disagrees.

"The Captain and the crew were unlucky in the fact that they were a casualty of the sea," he said. "It's the hazard of the sea, of the profession. It's a challenge and those who engage in it do so with pride."

"We have never mastered the sea, learned to control it, sailors are betting their lives against it.

"But, it always happens to the other guy, not to you," Commander Sperry concluded.

Stolen Jacket

So far this school year, my son has had stolen, one school jacket, one down filled jacket, and now just this week a brand new pair of Wolverine boots. This is happening at the high school. I think all parents should know what clothes their children own. If they come home with something strange on, then it is the parents' responsibility to see that the child takes it back to the school lost and found or to whom is really belongs. This is a real problem, and we as parents can help stop it if we take time and care.

Yellow Lights

I think that the people who say that the yellow lights in downtown Charlevoix are sickly are sick themselves. They really are not as bright as they think they are because the white lights were really much brighter. They don't look like a million suns, they set off a special glow to Charlevoix. That's what we want, isn't it?

Not Ugly

I really don't think the yellow lights in Charlevoix are all that ugly. And the poor little babies that can't get to sleep at night because of them ought to realize by now that the white lights were really brighter than these yellow ones.

Parking on Streets

I strongly object to bank employees and other store employees who park their cars on main street. Where do the customers park?

City Utilities

Mayor Hansen, Mrs. Wexstaff, Members of the City Council:

As major users of our city utilities, we, the Charlevoix Association of Restaurants, are concerned about the present condition of our electrical power system.

We therefore passed a resolution to approach the council with the request to hire an efficiency specialist to check and analyze our present power system.

A budget should be appropriated to finance this study and possible necessary improvements.

We firmly believe that this step would benefit all residents and businesses of our city and trust you will give this important matter your utmost consideration.

Yours truly,

Shade Commission to Contact State About Planting Trees Along US-31

Charlevoix's Shade Tree Commission will be contacting the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation for permission to plant trees along Bridge Street after getting the official nod from city council Monday night.

Council gave the newly organized 3-member commission permission to proceed with their planting program after receiving a 1976 budget request totaling some $17,897.

Only two weeks ago, the commission surveyed Bridge Street from the city airport to the golf course and discovered there were only 78 trees along the 3-mile stretch of road. They said 21 of those would have to be replaced.

Bridge is the first of many streets the commission hopes to inventory during the ensuing months.

The commission's 1976 Shade Tree Program budget request includes $2,600 to hire the Davey Tree Company of Traverse City to conduct a two-week program during January of 1976. Besides clearing and trimming trees, the company would train city employees to be able to perform the program in the future.

Another $13,497 is being requested to purchase trees that would be planted along US 31 next May, as well as stock the new city nursery for use in the planting program during 1977.

Finally, the commission is requesting $1,800 to hire John Campbell of Charlevoix as a consultant and supervisor of the project during 1976.

Council took no action on the request.

In other action Monday, council:

–Agreed to give the Army Corps of Engineers assurances for deepening the Pine River Channel.

–Adopted an ordinance making it unlawful to operate any motorized vehicles on city owned property except on roadways and driveways located on that property.

–Approved a request from Big Brothers and Sisters to sell Christmas trees beginning November 29 in the city.

–Referred a request to build a new hockey rink to the recreation committee.

County Withholds Regional Payments

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County will not make its 1976 payment of slightly over $5,000 to the Northwest Economic Development Commission until July 1, if then.

The decision was made last week by the County Board of Commissioners upon resolution presented by Commissioner Ira L. "Bob" Davis, who represents the county on the Northwest Commission.

The Commission is the designated regional clearing house through which federal grants are funneled to the ten counties in the Northwest Region.

The main bone of contention between the county and the Commission, according to Davis, is the county's application for a grant to build an additional to Grandvue Medical Care Facilty.

Davis says that the application has been on file for some time and that the county is getting no action.

"We're just getting the run-around," he told the Courier. "I've talked to other counties, too, and they're not happy. The grants are all going to Manistee County, Grand Traverse and Emmet. They even got a grant for flight instruction at the college in Traverse City."

Contacted by the Courier, Gregory Piaskowski, planner for the Northwest Commission, said, "There are many strings attached in funds for each grant. We don't set up priorities."

Piaskowski listed several grants Charlevoix County has received during the past few years, including money to help build the Community Building at Whiting Park, money for

Sweet Sound

Four Charlevoix high school band members have qualified for the annual Honors Band their director, Gary Stutzman, has announced.

They are Mark Gallagher, junior clarinet player, Kevin Kroll, junior trombonist, Lisa Fiedler, flute player, and Kenneth Paul, trombune player, both seniors.

They will be among 80 young musicians from 16 high schools in District II, Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association who will participate in the activities of the Honors Band to be held at Rogers City the weekend of Nov. 22-23.

Dr. William D. Revelli, Director Emeritus of University of Michigan Bands, will direct the Honors Band in rehearsal sessions scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 22, and the Honors Band Concert to be held at the Rogers City gymnasium at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 23.

The four young musicians will go to Rogers City on Saturday, attend rehearsals and spend the night with Rogers City band members before playing in the concert Sunday afternoon. Mr. Stutzman will accompany the group.

The quartet qualified for the band at tryouts held recently at Gaylord.

Save money in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

At the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated is again offering a low-cost home ceiling insulation program designed to conserve Natural Gas and hold down heating costs.

Last year, nearly 42,400 Michigan Consolidated customers installed ceiling insulation, saving over one billion cubic feet of Natural Gas, and cut their home heating costs by up to 17%.

These results were gratifying indeed. Enough Natural Gas was conserved to heat over 7,600 additional homes this winter.

If you still haven't taken advantage of this easy, low-cost program, now's the time to act. Many homeowners can install insulation themselves for about $125. Our free handbook tells you how. Get your copy at any Michigan Consolidated Business Office, most building supply outlets or write or call us.

Or, we can have the job done for you by one of our participating subcontractors and add the cost to your monthly gas bills. The cost? About $250 for homes with less than 1,000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost ceiling insulation program? You'll be cutting your heating costs up to 17% and helping our country conserve its Natural Gas supplies, too.

Planner Prepares Ordinance

The Charlevoix County Planning Department has prepared a draft of a sample Township Subdivision Ordinance.

The Ordinance has been discussed with the Charlevoix County Township Association, the Plat Coordinating Committee and the County Planning Commission. In the near future, it will be presented to individual township and city boards for further consideration.

According to the Planning Department, there are two main reasons why they have prepared the sample ordinance.

First, because the subdivision of land is for all time and, once divided, it is rare that the pieces are ever rejoined into one manageable parcel, the importance of applying sound design principles to land subdivision becomes obvious.

Second, when land is subdivided and developed, new drain patterns are established, often new roads are constructed, septic tanks, drainfields and wells are installed. Such items as lot width and area begin to redefine the character of the land. All of these affect adjacent property owners and increase the need for tax dollars for public services.

A Subdivision Control Ordinance would regulate the division of land by providing minimum standards for lot measurements, road width and type of construction, health and drain considerations, and the method of review followed by the township.

Some 620 Residents Own their Own Businesses in County

To what extent have Charlevoix County residents, with an urge to be their own bosses, been going into business for themselves? How many in the local area are now self-employed?

Although the launching of a new business is always a risky proposition, it is especially so in these times, when credit is light, prices high and competition keen.

Nevertheless, the spirit of individual enterprise and the willingness to venture still prevail locally, despite the hazards involved. Some undertakings succeed and some do not.

Each year, although the failure rate is high among new businesses, there are additional people ready to take the plunge. Many of those who have done so lately had been out of work for a long time and had become tired of waiting for jobs to materialize. They are striking back rather than striking out.

In Charlevoix County, as a result, the proportion of the working population that is self-employed is relatively large, according to the latest Department of Commerce figures.

They show that some 620 men and women in the area have their own businesses, professions or farms. This is exclusive of those connected with incorporated enterprises, even though they may have controlling interests in them.

Among them are the storekeepers, the barbers, the doctors, the gas station operators, the farmers and the like.

In terms of the number of local people who are employed, it means that 10.7 percent are self-employed. It is a bigger ratio than in many sections of the country.

The average in the United States is 7.7 percent and, in the East North Central States, 6.7 percent.

Nationally, about 500,000 new businesses are started each year, far exceeding the number that are discontinued because of death, retirement or failure.

Most popular among the newcomers are grocery stores and luncheonettes, mail order operations, franchise outlets and service businesses.

What is needed for success, according to advice from the Labor Department, is enough capital or credit to carry through the hazardous start-up period, a willingness to work hard, adequate knowledge of the particular business and imagination and flexibility to cope with varying situations.

Kotowich Reappointed

Thora Kotowich last week was appointed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to fill the vacancy in District 8 which was created when Melvin Niswander moved out of the district.

Niswander moved from his home on South Maple Street in East Jordan to his new home on Rogers Road near Anderson Road on November 1, thus taking him out of the City of East Jordan, in which District 8 is located. According to Niswander, he made the move without realizing he was leaving the district.

Mrs. Kotowich is no newcomer to the Board of Commissioners. She was first appointed to the old County Board of Supervisors by then Mayor Betty Robertson in October, 1966 to fill the vacancy created by the death of Robert Barnett.

She later ran for the Board of Supervisors and was elected, serving until 1968, when the area was re-apportioned. At this time she ran against William Taylor, who defeated her. Later, when Taylor moved out of the district, Mrs. Kotowich was again appointed to fill the vacancy.

Niswander defeated Mrs. Kotowich in the general county election in November, 1974.

Since leaving office, Mrs. Kotowich has served as member-at-large on the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging and is chairperson of the Republican Committee of Charlevoix County.

County Wants to Control Meals

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County wants to run its own Commission on Aging and the Nutrition Program that goes with it.

This was made clear to Ron Crummel of the Northwest Area Agency on Aging when he appeared before the Board of Commissioners last week.

Crummel appeared before the Commissioners in an effort to smooth out the misunderstandings and differences between the two groups which have been growing for some time.

Crummel, in effect, stated that he was "in the middle" between the state and counties in trying to direct the Nutrition Program.

The state has set up 13 regions through which funds for the Nutrition Program are distributed and Charlevoix County is under the Northwest Region, commonly known as Region 10.

Among the requirements for receiving funds from the state is that each county must be under the jurisdiction of a full time director trained in food service and nutrition. Until recently, Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Kalkaska County were directed by West Payne of Kalkaska, but a growing criticism of his work resulted in his firing last month.

When Crummel cited the difficulties in trying to abide by state rules and work with the counties, Commissioner Lee Moerland said the solution was simple:

"Turn the administration over to the counties."

Moerland also criticized the state and the Northwest Region for acting as if they were doing the counties a favor in funding the Nutrition Program.

"These are our tax dollars," he said, "sent to Washington and returned to us through Lansing and the Region at the rate of 28 cents on the dollar."

The County Commission on Aging serves lunches to senior citizens in Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan under the Nutrition Program, two days a week in Charlevoix and Boyne City and one day a week in East Jordan. The total number of meals served will reach 10,000 next month.

Various ways of meeting state requirements but still keeping the program a local one are now being considered.

Highway Hearings Set for January

Public information hearings on routes for proposed extensions of U.S. 31 and 131 expressways north from Manistee and Cadillac are scheduled for early January.

According to Bill Mercer of the Charlevoix County Planning Department, the hearings will probably be held in Petoskey, Cadillac, Traverse City and Manistee, although other locations may be designated later.

Subject of the hearings, sponsored by the State Department of Highways and Transportation, will be 15 alternative corridor plans for the proposed expressways as well as one "do nothing" plan-no new expressway at all.

The plans will show various ways in which the two highways could be connected and where they could intercept Highway I-75.

The Planning Department will have copies of the plans for public distribution in December.

Bell Asks Hunters to Help

Fall appears to bring out the "hunter" in man and often telephone lines and cables seem to end up as the hunter's targets, according to Lel G. Johnson, Michigan Bell's local manager.

Every year more than 100 cases of phone trouble are traced to bullets or pellets hitting telephone lines or cables. Such careless use of firearms can knock out phone service to many customers, Miss Johnson said.

"A single shot or pellet can cut off scores of conversations – possibly one of which can be an emergency call for police or fire or a call from someone sick or bedridden," Miss Johnson said.

"It is in the hunter's own best interests to avoid hitting our lines or cables," she said, "because the hunter might need to use a phone himself to call for help in case of an accident."

Persons can be held financially responsible for damaging telephone equipment or property, Miss Johnson added.

Seniors Need Housing

A dark cloud apparently is hovering over Charlevoix's senior citizen housing program.

Housing Commission members are anxiously awaiting a letter that is expected to clear the name of a Traverse City developer who has reportedly not completed a low-cost housing project for the City of East Jordan.

Until the recent reports about the East Jordan project, the same developer was going to work in conjunction with another Traverse City firm to develop a housing project for Charlevoix.

Now there appears to be some questions of whether either one of them would be willing to continue working with the Charlevoix Housing Commission.

The explanation of why East Jordan's project is not completed is complicated and has not been fully revealed. And until that time, it is not our position to prejudge the situation.

Our only concern is that hope not be given up on a senior citizen housing program for Charlevoix.

There have been several concerns expressed recently that there are some people in Charlevoix who would just as soon see the program die before it gets off the ground.

As we expressed many times, Charlevoix needs senior citizen housing for its local residents and we would hope everyone would lend their support towards the program.

There are many of our elderly residents who could derive a great deal of benefit from a low-cost housing program.

Many of these people have contributed a great deal of their lives toward helping and improving our community over the years.

Unfortunately, these same senior citizens have grown up in an era when there were not the type of retirement programs available to people now working. As a result, many are caught with low incomes and could use a cost of living break offered through a housing project now being considered in Charlevoix.

Besides the financial aspects, senior citizen housing offers a chance for people of the same age to maintain social contacts that otherwise might be impossible because they are often shut in.

We feel the advantages for the city to undertake a housing project of this nature far outweigh the disadvantages.

We urge the Charlevoix Senior Citizen Housing Commission to carefully review the situation with their present consultant and after that review, take whatever action they deem necessary.

In whatever action they eventually do decide to take, we hope it does not jeopardize the future for senior citizen housing in Charlevoix.

Regional Problem

The fact that Charlevoix County is withholding its 1976 payment of $5,000 to the Northwest Regional Planning and Development Commission leads us to believe there is something wrong with the way the regional commission is operating.

It appears to be a matter of either poor management or poor public relations on the part of the Northwest Commission.

This agency was set up as one of 13 in the state to promote economic development by processing applications from counties and other governmental bodies for federal and state grants.

Obviously, the regional commission is "in the middle" between the state and the smaller units of government, but that is its job.

The trouble Charlevoix County has had with its Nutrition Program for senior citizens and its request for a grant for Grandvue Medical Care Facility has brought forth the ire of the County Board of Commissioners.

"No help, no money," is their stand at this time.

County Commissioner Ira L. "Bob" Davis who attends at least one meeting a month of the Regional Commission, says he can't get satisfactory explanations about grant requests for Charlevoix County. As he puts it, "Charlevoix County is being treated like a step-child," and feels something should be done.

Up to now the Regional Commission has not put priorities on any requests for grants but has been accused of giving preferential treatment to other areas.

We hope the action by Charlevoix County will let the Regional Commission know that it is the servant of all the people in the region.

Letters to the editor

Disagrees With Editorial

Dear Ken;

Me and thee disagree.....at least in the part over the Editorial about keeping the court doors open here in Charlevoix. I have the following comments to make regards what is or isn't an open or closed Court.

Had mention been made in the editorial of an objection of a defense attorney to the "sequestering" of a courtroom on motion of a prosecuting attorney, and the bench have denied same, I'd say that not only did the Courier editorial have good cause for "Hue and Crie", I'd in fact join with them, for that would lend itself to Starr Chamber, in which there was no defense, for the accused.

Regards publicity given the Hearst case, those at whom the publicity is directed are all involved as accessories or co-accussed, and not undercover witnesses.

I do believe the Courier provided the rationale for the sequestered courtroom in the preservation of identities of the undercover witnesses, and I compliment Mr. Varnum, Judge Fershee, and the three Defense Attorneys for seeing that justice was served, in the better interest of law enforcement for the community.

Sincerely yours,

Charles M. Baer, Jr.,

PS: Ken, I don't know of any courts of law where a judge will allow cameras or video equipment in the courtroom, but do permit artist sketches of proceedings.

I see no need for alarm at a sequestered court where rights of the accused or the prosecution are not violated.

Questions Control

Hon. Philip E. Ruppe
203 Cannon Office Bldg.
Washington, D.C. 20515
Dear Congressman:

Just a mere note to remind you that there are some concerned people back home.

There is a growing awareness among the populace that we have more than a few external problems in our land. Mere individuals are acquiring the necessary understanding of our main problem which transcends the superficial symptoms.

The main problem of which I am sure you are aware is really not complex at all. Can an individual or a congress serve two masters! Fortunately the question answers itself.

People are hoping that you in congress will get up from your knees, get the monkey off of your back and take charge of our government within the confines of the Constitution as you swore to do upon election.

The choice is yours but you need not become a Political casualty of the times and events if only you are big enough to meet the test. Ours is a very divisive society; but it does not have to be, nor did it happen by accident.

The people are crying for leadership–not the brand that is coming from the State Department but cogent representative government which was blessed with our foundation. Our people will respond willingly if dealt with honesty and I mean convince them that inflation is one of our largest immediate problems, that it is well recognized, that everybody will have to sacrifice but congress is ready to lead the way by ending all deficit financing, lowering taxes and still operating within current income–of course this means the curtailment of the current political economics as regulated by the Federal Reserve.

Inflation has been imposed on our country but it now is definitely everybody's problem. Since it is a problem government did the most to create, it is a problem government must do the most to solve.

The Federal Reserve, the State Department and the C.F.R. can be regarded as the tail of the dog. It is long past time that the dog was resurrected and took charge.

Sir, there definitely are higher priorities than legislating against the Constitution. If all potentially dangerous weapons of violence are banned; our people will end up eating mush with wooden spoons and a permit will be required to strike a match. I think you would agree that more than dissension and turbulence will emerge before this happens.

Hoping the enclosure becomes more than a passing interest to you, I remain

Sincerely
Oscar W. Ward

No Relief for Stuffed Shirts

I read with interest in the Detroit Free Press Sunday that the shirt makers are out to get columnist Judd Arnett.

Welcome to the club, Mr. Arnett. They've been out to get me for years and it's nice to have company.

Mr. Arnett, who tips the scales at 167 pounds and admits to a figure which is probably Mr. Average American, was more than a little surprised that he outgrew all medium shirt sizes a while back without gaining an ounce.

And now, although he is still hanging in there at 167 pounds, he has discovered that he is too corpulent for the large sizes. Of course, there is no place to turn except Omar the Tent Maker which can be a costly proposition for struggling young newspaper men like Mr. Arnett and myself.

Since I weigh a few pounds more than Mr. Arnett, I have been aware that shirt sizes are getting smaller for several years now. It all started with the so-called "tapered" look, shirts that descend from a 50-inch chest to a 25-inch waist. They are designed to be worn by young athletes and the rest of us can wear togas, as far as the shirt makers are concerned.

After I brought home my first few ill-fitting shirts, Judy pointed out that "tapered" appears plainly on the label and that I am not be buying anything "tapered" because I "taper" the wrong way.

I did all right for a while simply by buying any shirt in my size which wasn't "tapered." But they became fewer and fewer every year and the colors and patterns became more and more hideous. One shirt even had two right arms.

However, the situation has worsened in the past several months. Many of the shirt makers have stopped labeling their "tapered" models and it's every man for himself in the shirt department.

Last Father's Day I saw a shirt that I particularly liked and knowing my penchant to pop buttons I even took it from its plastic cocoon at the store, removed the pins and had Judy hold it up for size. We both agreed there would be no problem.

However when I got the shirt home I could scarcely get it around my shoulders much less button it. But the shirt fit Judy just fine, with a few simple alterations. So I gave her my Father's Day shirt with the understanding that she would make me one that fits.

This she has done several times since then and it appears that my days of buying factory-made shirts are over.

Why have the shirt makers put it through all this? It's simply a matter of cost. It costs much less to make a "tapered" shirt than a full-bodied shirt to fit the form of the American male. If it doesn't fit, that's his problem and the shirt makers could care less.

My closet presently is filled with "tapered" shirts that will never fit. But I wear them anyway, covering up vast expanses of bare chest and belly button with little vest-type sweaters. However, my stable of hand-made shirts is growing and I hope to be able to retire my sweaters and my "tapered" shirts any day now.

In the meantime it's nice to know that my problems are shared by Judd Arnett in far-off Detroit. Misery loves company and there's nothing more miserable than a shirt that doesn't fit.

Naturalist Reg Sharkey reports that the strange albino creature Holly and I encountered last week in Charlevoix has to be a skunk. He says white skunks are relatively rare, but not that rare. He has run across several over the years. An all-black skunk is even more of an oddity, according to Sharkey. He says that during the Depression a black skunk pelt would bring $5, a handsome price for any fur in those dismal days.

Erma Bombeck

A Honeymoon Hall of Fame is being established at a resort hotel in the Poconos.

According to publicity, a heart-shaped alcove will feature photos, mementos and memorabilia of famed loving couples of history and fiction.

To date, they have included a recording of the Duke of Windsor's history-making declaration of love in which he renounced the British throne, curly cartoons of Blondie and Dagwood, and film clips of Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor. (If they could only get the drip-dry wedding dress.)

Next to hot chicken soup, a tattoo of an anchor on your chest, and penicillin, I consider a honeymoon one of the most overrated events in the world.

It's one of those awkward times when you know everyone else had a better time than you did but you're too proud to admit it.

It boggles the mind to imagine how they are going to determine who will enter the Honeymoon Hall of Fame and for what reasons, but here are a few nominations.

Ruth and Walter, who enjoyed the shortest honeymoon in history. Ruth shot him in the leg at the reception for fooling around with the maid of honor.

Sue and Ted for the most unique honeymoon in history. While Sue swam, danced, played tennis and shopped, Ted ice fished, skiied, played cards and drank with the boys. While separate honeymoons don't work for everyone, it worked for Sue and Ted.

Laura and Stewart the couple who were the greatest sports on their honeymoon. Right after the wedding, Laura discovered Stewart was out on bail for armed robbery, was coming down with three-day measles, was already married, had a 12-year-old son who sets fires, and had taken out $75,000 worth of life insurance on her at the reception, but what the heck, as Laura explained, "Honeymoons are always a time for adjustment."

Yvonne and Burt: The longest honeymoon in history. For three years Yvonne and Burt shared bliss. They anticipated one another's moods, thought only of each other's comfort, and never went to bed on a harsh word. The honeymoon was so successful, they plan to be married in June.

Sins of Spring

Saturday was the dreaded day when the sins of the spring were visited upon the jerk of the autumn. Thus giving the jerk's wife the unchallenged opportunity to say she told me so.

I am talking about combination screens and storm windows. What else?

It wasn't an easy decision, but after much thought and cursing I've decided those were good old days when screens and storm windows went their separate ways.

I grew up in a big house with dozens of huge windows. One of my jobs was to take down the screens and put up the storms in the autumn, and vice versa in the spring. Most of the windows were on the 2nd floor but the screens and storms spent their off seasons in the basement. This meant 2 flights of stairs had to be traveled per window.

For some reason never explained to me, all of our windows were a slightly different size. This made it advisable to carefully print on each screen and storm exactly where it was supposed to go. Then, in the off seasons, I would paint the screen and storm frames, making sure I painted over the printed directions. This way I could carry the screens and storms into every room in search of the window they fit. I felt like Cinderella's prince, except my back was broken and I was sobbing.

Which reminds me of our family's most lasting claim to class. For a short period during the Great Depression we had a live-in maid. She was paid $5 a week and table scraps. She had her own bedroom so upon her screens and storms it was written "Maid's Room." She quit in 1935 and there was never another maid but the name of the room was never changed.

I slept there for 10 years but I was never allowed to put my name on the screens and storms. There was always the feeling that some day we would again have a maid and I would go back to sleeping in the furnace room. As I grew older I didn't mind having my friends hear my family say "Jimmie is sleeping in the maid's room." It sounded as if maybe I had something going for myself, an impressive impression which I took no pains to correct, at least not while my voice was changing.

Anyway. The old-fashioned, separate screens and storms caused me a lot of labor and grief. But the modern combinations are worse. The theory is that you simply pull 2 screws and the winter storm slides down into place. Or you pull the screws and lift the window, thus opening the screen to summer breezes. Much easier than lugging screens and storms up and down 2 flights of stairs? No.

I can't grasp those screws without making my knuckles bleed. Always there are screws that won't budge. So, after several minutes of straining and swearing, I get a hammer and bang the lousy screw. The storm falls into place but the screw disappears forever and my wife says I'll never be able to get that storm back up in the spring. Or substitute screen for storm and vice versa the seasons, it's all the same miserable story.

My wife sits by the window waiting while the seasons change. Days like last Saturday come and I find I can't slide the storm in because the little screws are gone. She says she told me so.

I should have stayed in the maid's room.

Meet Charlevoix ...Mary Geiken

Mary Marguret Geiken is one of the busiest women in town, and mostly she is busy doing things for other people. This week the Courier talks with her about some of her activities.

COURIER: How do you spend your time?

GEIKEN: Well, on Mondays I'm a pin-striper at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. I help deliver mail, fill ice pitchers, deliver trays, help feed those who need help and run errands. I'm a life member of the hospital auxiliary but don't get to many meetings.

COURIER: What do you do on Tuesdays?

GEIKEN: I go to Grandvue Medical Care Facility where I work in the beauty shop, then if I get through in time I go to the Commission on Aging lunch and try to help. I'm past-president of the Grandvue Auxiliary. We're mostly a fund-raising group. In the past few years we've bought such things as rocking chairs for the rooms there, therapy equipment and a new bathing unit. We also give a two-year scholarship each year to a high school graduate who wants to train in the medical field. We have just named the scholarship in honor of the late Dr. John Savory. We raise our money through a tag day, card game parties and bake sales, among other things.

COURIER: And on Wednesdays?

GEIKEN: Wednesdays, and sometimes Fridays, are my days to work at home.

COURIER: Whom do you help on Thursdays?

GEIKEN: I almost always go to the Commission on Aging Lunch. I'm treasurer of the Commission as well as a representative to the Area Agency on Aging in Traverse City, where I also go to meetings.

COURIER: Do you belong to any other organizations?

GEIKEN: Yes, St. Mary's Rosary Society, of which I am past president. Altogether, I was in the choir or played the organ there for over 50 years. I still fill in once in a while. I'm also a member of the Charlevoix Historical Society.

COURIER: You're a native of Charlevoix, aren't you?

GEIKEN: Yes. I've lived here all my life, graduated from Charlevoix High School and then went to Nazareth College in Kalamazoo. My grandparents, the Severin Orlowskis, came to Hayes Township in 1881 and lived in a log cabin near Susan Lake. My grandfather started a family grocery store at the corner of Bridge and Upright Streets, which was in the family until 1939.

COURIER: Was your husband an early day resident of Charlevoix, too?

GEIKEN: Yes, he was born here. He was a commercial fisherman, used to have four or five fishing tugs and he also used to help pull sail boats through the channel. He died in 1961.

COURIER: Do you have any children?

GEIKEN: We have one son, "Geik", who teaches at St. Andrews School in Grand Rapids.

COURIER: Why do you spend so much time helping other people?

GEIKEN: As my Grandmother McGuire used to say, "A heart that gives is always young."

Joseph G. Vinic, 37, Clarkston, speeding. $15.

Hospital Gets Radio

The Charlevoix Area Hospital now has a radio communications system tied into the Sheriff's Department.

The system permits direct voice contact between ambulances and police cars and will be especially valuable in cases of accident.

The equipment also sends out signals to pocket pages (beepers) of hospital employees who are on call. Previously, personnel in such departments as X-ray, laboratory, operating, anaesthesia, and inhalator therapy who were on call had to be near a telephone to receive messages.

The range of the pocket pagers is 10 to 15 miles, depending upon the terrain.

Book Review Planned

Mrs. Charles Duerr will review three humorous books at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Women's Club Book Review meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P.D. Campbell, 115 Pine River Lane.

Family Earning Power Increases Locally

Because most Charlevoix County residents are earning more than they did in other years, and because more women are working and bringing home paychecks these days, many local families have moved into higher income brackets.

To the extent that the added cash helps them to cope with the never-ending rise in the cost of living, it is a good thing. To the extent that it puts them into more-costly tax brackets, it is bad.

Some local families, whose earnings had previously been below $8,000, have graduated to the $10,000 and over level. Their former spots have been taken over, in the progression, by those who had been receiving less than $8,000.

Just where they stand, currently, is brought out in a copyrighted report issued by Sales Management. It details, for every section of the country, the percentage of families that fall within each income bracket.

In Charlevoix County, it shows, 56.7 percent of the local households had disposable incomes in the past year, after payment of their personal taxes, of $8,000 or more.

This was a greater proportion than was found in many parts of the country.

The purpose of the survey was to gain a better understanding of each community's purchasing power than was revealed solely through its average income figure.

It shows whether there are a small number of high-income families making up for a large number with small incomes or whether earnings are more equally distributed.

The breakdown figures for Charlevoix County show that 17.2 percent of the families had after-tax incomes of $5,000 to $8,000 in the past year, that 11.9 percent were in the $8,000 to $10,000 bracket, 24.8 percent at the $10,000 to $15,000 level and that 20.0 percent had incomes above $15,000. The remaining families had $5,000 or less left after taxes.

Because the survey takes into account only cash income, it does not do full justice to farm communities, where income-in-kind and lower living costs are important factors, it is noted.

Although incomes have been on the rise for most Americans, so have living expenses. Nationally, there was a net loss of nearly five percent in buying power last year.

80 Get Flu Shots

District 3 Health Department reports that approximately 80 influenza shots were given to county senior citizens last week.

The shots were given in cooperation with the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging.

This is the first year the Health Department has recommended a flu vaccine for senior citizens. A new vaccine which covers both "A" and "B" types of influenza makes the shots more helpful.

Also, the new vaccine has a chicken cell base rather than a penicillin base, to which many people are allergic.

New Center Planned

Senior citizens in Charlevoix County will soon have a center in which to meet to do craft work, play cards and other games and generally socialize.

The County Commission on Aging has leased a building in East Jordan which will be open five days a week under the guidance of a director.

Transportation to the center from all areas of the county will be provided by Commission on Aging buses.

Obituary

George A. Shearer

Funeral services for George A. Shearer, 81, who died Tuesday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where he had been a patient for a month, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday, Nov. 13. Msgr. Victor Gallagher of Alpena officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Shearer was born in East Jordan on Feb. 2, 1894, and came to Hayes Township as a child. He was a veteran of World War I. In 1922, he was married to the former Agnes Armstrong, who preceded him in death in 1963. In 1939, he was married to the former Esther Brault at Newberry. Mr. Shearer was a road construction worker and traveled around the state, but always maintained a home here. Following his retirement, they returned here to live. He was a member of the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Gordon A. of Mt. Clemens; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Raymond (Anita) Rogalla of Reed City; three grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; a brother, Carl of Charlevoix and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Potter and Mrs. Jerry Haggerty, also of Charlevoix.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor Mr. Shearer's memory contribute to the Grandvue Medical Care Auxiliary or the charity of their choice.

Dr. Robert Zurawski

Dr. Robert T. Zurawski, a summer resident of Lake Marion, passed away November 4 in Detroit from a heart attack. The Zurawski family attends St. Mary's Church in Charlevoix during the summer months.

Swanson and Way Remain Tied

The four teams of the Class A league have come through with some close games since league play opened. However, Swanson's K&D and Doug Way Oil with 2-0 records to date are the teams to beat.

During the week, each of these teams posted wins. The pair was scheduled to clash on Monday, a game that should reveal where the real strength of the loop lies.

In last week's action Way Oil edged Townhouse 81-72 though the Oilers had to come from behind after trailing 20-12 and 41-31 at halftime. A third quarter surge put Way Oil ahead 61-60 before posting the nine-point win. Roger Crain paced the scoring with 23 points followed by Denny Way with 17 and Mike Bede and Larry Potter with 15 points each. Stew Coleman had 18, Don McKenzie, 12, Dave Strawbridge 11 and Bernie Wood 10 for Townhouse.

The B League All-Stars took a 7-6 lead over Swanson's and managed a 20-18 halftime margin before K&D took over with a 38-35 lead going into the final eight minutes for the three-point victory. Bruce Meggison with 14 and Gary Hice with 12 points were top scorers for the victors. Terry Hissett had 15, Ike Boss 14, Leroy Buchanan 12 and Steve Martinez 10 for the All-Stars.

"The "B" league is being paced by Russell Shell and LaBlance Insurance with two wins each. However, in a solid cluster behind them are Credit Union with a 1-0 record and County State Bank, Alray Cottages, Village Milkhouse, Klooster and John Deere and Kenny Excavating with 1-1 standings so this league could go any way. Medusa, Bay Shore Steel and Freedman's, at the bottom of the heap at this time, could come through and be real threats.

AlRay Cottages moved into the win column this week with its victory over Medusa after heading their opponent 12-7; 43-18 and 45-32 by quarters. Scott Blanchard had 14 and Stan Towsley 11 for the Cottagers. Brad Rosencrantz had 14 and Beano Archey 13 for Medusa.

First State Bank jumped to an early lead and led Bay Shore Steel 14-6; 32-16 and 52-36 for the lopsided win behind the scoring of Gary Stutzman who had 19 points; Glen Taylor and Roger Gowell with 16 each; Larry Roth with 13 and Rob Casteline with 10. Frank Holcomb had 14 and Charlie Bortles 12 points for the Steelers.

It was Russell Shell all the way as they led Freedman's 21-8, 37-19 and 51-31 by quarters to collect a second win for the season. Dave Norton with 19 points; Mike Crain and Leroy Buchanan with 14 each and Larry Brock with 12 were the team's top scorers. Bernie DeVries had 23 for Freedman's.

Stan Martin with 18 points and Dean Mikulski with 12 led Wojan Aluminum to its first league win as they broke a 24-24 halftime tie to go ahead 36-34 at the three-quarter mark before posting the win. Bill Gengle and Mark Merritt had nine points each for Village Milk House.

Klooster John Deere evened up its standing after downing Kenny Excavating 52-45 in a hard fought game which saw the lead change several times. Klooster's went ahead 12-9 at the quarter; trailed 23-22 at halftime and managed a five-point third quarter lead, before coasting to the win. Dave Moyer had a torrid 29 points. Max Bolser scored 10 for the Diggers.

LaBlance Insurance posted its second win, a 56-53 victory after trailing 15-11; 25-21; and 38-36 by quarters. LaBlances outscore the Bankers 20-17 in the final eight for the win with Dave Novotny scoring 21 and Joe Beaudoin 17 for LaBlance's. Kevin Johnecheck had 15 points for County State.

MEN'S INDEPENDENT basketball had a busy week in Charlevoix last week.

'Rookies' Prepare for Season

"We're all rookies" Coach Dave Moyer, who has taken over as Varsity basketball coach, said of the Charlevoix Rayder cage team that is scheduled to open the 1975-76 season at Harbor Springs Tuesday, Nov. 25.

After a 5-9 season in Michigan-Huron Shores competition and a 7-14 overall record, the Rayders will go into the current season with one veteran, Bob Alger, a 5-11 senior forward, as a nucleus for the squad and three lettermen including two who were brought up from JV ranks late in the season. The trio includes Bud Klooster, 5'10" junior guard; Matt Doan, 6'1" junior forward, and John Greene, 5'9"; senior forward.

Other candidates will include four players up from JV ranks, Pat Schaefer, 6-4 center; Dave Tolhis, 5-10, and Brian Williams, 5-9, both guards and Scott Boss, 6-0 forward, All are juniors.

As Coach Moyer said "We are all rookies!" compared to other teams in M-H S league. In fact, in addition to being a young team, the Rayders lack size Moyer added.

In fact, he lists Cheboygan with its good size and speed, Petoskey with its experienced league winners, Boyne City with its good size and St. Ignace with its experience and good size as the teams to beat.

As for Charlevoix's first opponent, Harbor Springs, the Rams will be starting with two starters from last season, Gary Morse, a 6-0 senior and Dave Rhine, 6-4 junior, who are also co-captains of the defending champions of the Ski Valley league.

Coach Charlie Paige also has four lettermen including Tim Rhine, 6-1; Doug Chellis, 5-9; Pat Linehan, 6-2 and Robin Curnow, 5-7, all seniors, plus eight players up from a Junior Varsity squad that posted an outstanding season in 1974-75.

Following the Thanksgiving weekend, Charlevoix fans will be seeing two games weekly as the Rayders play six games between Dec. 2 and the Christmas recess beginning on Dec. 19.

Girls Play Final Game

The Charlevoix girls basketball team will close out its regular Michigan-Huron Shores schedule Tuesday when Petoskey plays here in the final game of the season.

Charlevoix's next appearance on the court will be at Onaway Friday when the Rayderettes take on the host team at 7:30 p.m. Boyne City will meet Rogers City in the opening game of the Class C District tournament at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The finals will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Charlevoix, defending champions in the M-HS League, presently has an 8-5 record in conference play and a 10-5 overall record.

A 45-41 victory over Gaylord and a 54-39 win over Boyne City are among the team's most recent triumphs.

Though Charlevoix was able to post a four point win over Gaylord, their opponents came up fast in the final period to trim the lead after Charlevoix had led 17-10 at the quarter; 27-17 at halftime and 31-25 going into the final period.

Girls Set for Districts

"The team is coming back fast after a 'down time' and I'm sure they'll be ready when they take on Onaway" Coach Toni Felter said of her Charlevoix girls' basketball team which will enter the Class C District tournament at Onaway Friday night.

She went on to say that Rogers City and Boyne City are farther down in league standing than Charlevoix which currently has an 8-5 record with one game remaining. It is understood that Onaway has had only a 'so'so' season so if the Charlevoix team is playing its best brand of ball they should come through with another title. She warned, however, that there is always the chance that the team will have a bad night and there would go its hopes.

Coach Felter said she would likely start Heidi Dove and Maureen Cudd in the forward slots; Denise Boss at center and Sandra Hodge and Kathy Sladek in the guard positions.

Teri Hufford and Camille Malpeli will alternate at the guard positions and Jean Himebaugh, another guard, and Barb Meadows, center and forward will also see action.

Coach Felter said the team would miss the services of Terri Novotny who has been lost to the team because of illness.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Timms, Selph, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Absent: Alderman McRae.

The Minutes of the October 20, 1975 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Selph to appoint Alderman Ivan Whitley as Council spokesman and member of the two-member Interim Housing Committee for the Local Housing Commission. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman McRae.

Motion was made by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Timms to adopt the following Resolution.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix agree to sell Dynamic Wood Products, Inc., a Michigan Corporation, Jerome A. Leonard President and W. Richard Wood: Secretary, City-owned land located in Section 24, Charlevoix Township, South of Taylor Road being a parcel of land 80 feet frontage on Taylor Road and running 549 feet in depth for a sum of $5,000.00

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that also the City of Charlevoix will agree with Dynamic Wood Products, Inc., to take title to adjoining parcel of land owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 200 feet frontage on Taylor Road by 400 feet deep for the sum of $11,000.00 payable to The Veterans of Foreign Wars.

WHEREAS, Dynamic Products, Inc., on the execution of these agreements deposit with The City of Charlevoix the sum of $16,000.00 representing the cost of The Veterans of Foreign Wars land and also purchase price of the presently owned land by the City of Charlevoix in the sum of $5,000.00.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix further contracts with the Dynamic Products, Inc., that the time the deeds of the two (2) parcels of land are delivered, there will be appropriate seek convenants for any on behalf of the City of Charlevoix, while it wishful be that there will be no outside storage of products or materials on either parcel of land and that in the case of change of ownership or change of use, in the future that existing zoning ordinance requirements of the City of Charlevoix be met.

BE IT FURTHER CONTEMPLATED, that the condition of the agreements to take title to the Veterans of Foreign Wars piece and sell it to Dynamic products, Inc., that favorable annexation proceedings be had before the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners relative to the annexation of both parcels of land to the City of Charlevoix.

COVENANT if further should be provided to the frontage of Taylor Road proposal parcel of land, that adequate screening of green belt be erected.

BE IT ALSO A CONDITION of these agreements that a building of not less than 80 feet by 125 feet in size be erected and completed no later than one year from the date of this resolution, and that the buyer, Dynamic Products, Inc., agrees that it will snow plow at its own expense, whatever extent is necessary along Taylor Road to serve its own purposes until such time as other additional owners are using Taylor Road for ingress or egress.

THEREFORE, Council resolves that these two parcels of land are uninhabited lands located in Charlevoix which are contiguous to the boundaries of the City of Charlevoix, through the best interest of the City to annex these parcels of land, and if the Council determines to alter its boundaries by taking into its boundaries and annexing into the City of Charlevoix these two parcels of land.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix petition the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to approve the annexation of these two parcels of land and make a change in the boundaries of the City of Charlevoix, that the City Mayor and the City Attorney are authorized and directed to do all acts required to prepare and present petition to the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors, and that the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to give notice of publication, time and place when the petition shall be presented to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for consideration by publishing the same in the Charlevoix Courier for three weeks immediately preceeding the presentation to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

WHEREAS, it is deemed to be in the best interest of the City of Charlevoix to encourage the order of development of controlled industry in the City of Charlevoix, therefore be it resolved.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea nnd nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Selph, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman McRae.

Motion was made by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Wood that the following Resolution be adopted to enter into a Contract with Consumers Power Co.

RESOLUTION

RESOLVED, that it is hereby deemed advisable to enter into a contract with The Consumers Power Company of Jackson, Michigan, for furnishing electric service to the City of Charlevoix for a period of three (3) years nnd month to month thereafter in accordance with the terms of the contract heretofore submitted to and considered by the Council.

AND RESOLVED FURTHER, that the Mayor and City Clerk be and are authorized and directed to execute such a contract on behalf of the City of Charlevoix.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nny vote. Yeas: Aldernen Timms, Selph, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman McRae.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $37,424.24 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Marlene Cunningham Marries Ed Evans

Arrangements of mums in autumn colors and fall leaves formed the setting for the Saturday wedding of Marlene Cunningham and Edward M. Evans.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Cunningham of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. L. Milton Evans of Gaylord.

The Rev. Albert F. Mansen officiated at the double ring service solemnized in the presence of 250 guests. Mrs. John L. Boss, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches and accompanied Mr. Charles Bergmann, aunt of the bride, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest" and Mrs. James Mansen, sister of the bride, who sang "The Christian Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of mira-mist and Cluny lace that featured a panel front, a double flounce on the softly gathered skirt and long sleeves with ruffled cuffs highlighted by a lace-edged mantilla. She carried an autumn bouquet of Sonja roses and yellow and gold roses.

Mrs. David Ileine of Pensacola, Fla., assisted her twin sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry Ormsby of Mt. Clemens, sister of the bride, Mrs. Mitch Cunningham, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Richard Clarke of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Guy Smith of Adrian. They wore identical orange flowered A-line gowns styled with sweetheart necklines. Each carried a single chrysanthemum accented with orange straw flowers and tied with ribbons to match her gown.

James Caldwell of Valparaiso, Ind., served as best man; Daryl Falstrom of Jackson, Mitch Cunningham, brother of the bride, Karl Schroeder and Dick Hartrick, both of Gaylord, were groomsmen.

Mrs. Cunningham selected a blue floor length gown with navy accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and white carnations. Mrs. Evans, mother of the bridegroom, wore a turquoise gown, gold accessories and a corsage of white carnations nnd yellow roses.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the V.F.W. post home. Mrs. Wayne Boss and Judy Potter served the cake, Jan Boss, the punch and Cindy Kitely, the coffee. Debbie Potter tended the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Virginia, the couple will return to live ut 201 Meech st. in Charlevoix.

Wedding guests were present from Indiana, Florida, Illinois, and several Michigan cities.

On the eve of the wedding the bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Bourke's Steak and Stein restaurant.

Engaged

Catherine Baldwin

Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Baldwin of Charlevoix, announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Lue, to W. Keith Mohan of Grand Blanc.

Mohan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Mohan of Lambertville.

The bride-elect attended Central Michigan University and Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto, pursuing an education in Photographic Arts. She was formerly the editor of the Northern Michigan Graphic Resorter and presently free-lances.

Mohan, a graduate of the University of Michigan, teaches history at McGrath Junior High School in Grand Blanc and coaches the Junior Varsity Golf Team.

The prospective groom is an outstanding amateur golfer in the state.

The couple plan a Christmas wedding.

Build Body Ecology

The natural state for your body is good health. Poor health is unnatural. How does chiropractic fit into this? It's really surprisingly simple. Your spine is made up of 24 moveable segments (vertebrae), which enclose the spinal cord. Leading out from between the vertebrae are pairs of nerves that, directly or indirectly, serve various body organs. If one or more of the vertebrae is somehow shifted out of its normal position (it can be through a fall on the ski slope, or something as commonplace as a bump or sudden twist), there can easily be interference with nerve functions -- and the organ or organs they serve. Until the offending vertebrae are restored to their normal position, natural good health may not occur. Chiropractic is not so much a way of directly treating health problems as it is a way of permitting the body to become healthy naturally. In a very real sense, chiropractic helps build body ecology.

FAITH WILL REVEAL THE JOY OF FORGIVENESS

If you are burdened with a feeling of resentment against someone who has wronged you in the past you are bringing far more unhappiness to yourself than to the person whose action you resent. The Bible tells us to love one another, and to love is to forgive, no matter how serious the offense. If the Son of God whose teachings you follow, was able to forgive those who had subjected Him to the most heinous crime in all history you can forgive someone a far lesser offense. Go to your Church and learn how love brings peace and happiness while resentment can cause only misery to yourself and those around you.

"And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive your trespasses."

Defeat Rodgers City by 10 Points

Girls Win Second Title

ONAWAY – No one could be any happier than Charlevoix's Girls Basketball team after sweeping their second class C District Championship in two years Monday night.

After a tight third quarter, the varsity squad crushed Rogers City 48 to 31, which cleared the way for the Rayders to go to regional competition in Gladwin beginning Dec. 1.

"It's just super," said veteran coach Toni Felter after Monday nights victory.

"We were cold to begin with, but finally got it together in the second half."

Both Felter and two of her returning senior players– Heidi Dove and Denise Boss– said they will have to work on their defense before playing in regionals.

Coach Felter said her girls stand as good of a chance as any other team in the upcoming regional games.

In winning Monday night's game, the Rayderettes, who had led all the way saw the Roger City's squaws close the gap to one point, 30 to 29, as the game went into the final quarter before Charlevoix poured in 18 points to four for their opponents for the 17-point win.

Charlevoix forged to a 22 to 15 first quarter lead, but in the second period ran into foul trouble as Maureen Cudd, Heidi Dever and Kay Currey werd benched at various times in the period after collecting three personal fouls each.

Kathy Sladek, with three buckets in the crucial second period, kept the Charlevoix quntet in the game for a 22 to 15 half-time advantage.

As the second half got underway, Rogers City out scored Charlevoix 12 to 18 to

Charlevoix Sheriff Sued for $250,000 In Alleged County Jail Negligence Suit

By FRAN MARTIN

A $250,000 suit has been filed in Circuit Court here against Charlevoix County Sheriff Philo E. Sumner and his deputies by Mrs. Nora Stephan, whose son, Jerome A Buttliere, 22, took his own life by hanging July 3, 1974, while confined to the county jail.

The suit charges Sheriff Sumner and his deputies with gross negligence in handling of the incarceration of Buttliere. She elaims Sheriff Sumner and deputies should have known her son "was emotionally and mentally unstable and would present a threat to his own safety and life," Mrs. Stephan also alleges that the officers had been informed that Buttliere "was in a position of peril by reason of his emotional and mental stability." She claims they should have used proper and safe methods of incarcerating such a prisoner.

"Buttliere had been arrested in East Park in downtown Charlevoix the evening of July 2 and charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was confined to the jail to await his appearance in court on the charge.

Early the following morning, he was found dead by hanging in his cell by the Deputy on duty. The laces had been removed from his high top boots for the purpose.

The suit further charges the Sheriff and his deputies with failure to comply with safety standards and regulation set by the Department of Corrections and other state agencies. Among these practices were removing boot straps when they knew or should have known that Buttliere was in a position of peril by reason of his emotional and mental condition existing at the time; maintaining proper and constant vigilance and observation; placing Buttliere in a cell where more constant and proper vigilance could be maintained and obtaining medical assistance, advice or an examination of Buttliere.

As a result of this alleged negligence, Buttliere, died by strangulation from self-inflicted hanging, his mother claims.

As a result of the wrongful death of her son, Mrs. Stephen says she has suffered the following damages: funeral and burial expenses; pain and suffering of his loss; loss of investment for the necessary expenses of rearing her son from birth to majority and the loss of companionship.

The suit, filed by Jack Carpenter, Petoskey attorney, asks for a judgment in an amount to be considered fair and equitable as giving full and complete compensation for all damages reasonably proven and allowed but in no event greater than the $250,000 together with interest nnd costs.

Buttliere was born in Charlevoix, attended Charlevoix schools and lived in Chicago and southern Michigan before joining the U.S. Army. He served twa years and received a medical discharge with a 70 percent service-connected disability.

A Thanksgiving One 18-Year-Old Never Forgets

EDITOR'S NOTE: The story you are about to read is a true story about the boy who allegedly was kidnapped in Charlevoix last week for three hours. Only the name has been changed to protect his identity.

By KEN WINTER

A sullen 18-year-old Charlevoix boy finds Thanksgiving only a grim reminder of a lifestyle he claims to be changing.

Although, as he sat hunched over in his chair last week, Ronnie wasn't sure if his lingering past of drugs and crime could ever be escaped.

Ronnie is on the run. He says he does not know where he is going. He claims he has no place or no one to turn to.

The youth's story is no different than that of many others his age who have met the one person or group of people that influenced their lives. Only the influence turned him against society.

Wearing blue jeans and a tattered matching jacket, the youth started puffing on a cigarette as he began to relax and sit baek in his chair.

"The first time I ever smoked a joint was right here in Charlevoix," Ronnie began to recall about his earlier days.

Thanksgiving Visit

Ronnie had come to Charlevoix as a 13-year-old. with his parents to visit some relatives for the Thanksgiving holidays.

"I walked outside and when I was 13, I had to hide from my parents when I was smoking a cigarette," he continued.

"One of my younger relatives came out and asked me what I was doing and I asked him what he was doing."

His cousin, a few years older than Ronnie, said he was going out some place to find a joint. Ronnie said the two of his cousin's friends came by in a car and they all drove out in the country to smoke.

His cousin, a few years older than Ronnie, said he was going out some place to find a joint. Ronnie said the two of his cousin's friends came by in a ear and they all drove out in the country to smoke.

"I went home after that weekend and from then on I wanted to buy some pot," he continued.

Although Ronnie said he lived in the country, he went to a surburban school where smoking pot was a socially acceptable thing to do his peer group.

"I started buying marijuana whenever I could get the money," he said.

"When summer came around, I did my first chemical."

Then 14-years-old, Ronnie said there were a lot of chemicals or Phencyclidine (PCP) around his school and that it was easy to buy.

"After I did my first chemical, I started buying more and I had less money, so a guy I was buying it from let me meet with a guy who got it in quantity," he continued.

"This guy who had it in quantity would give me a hundred, so I could sell it myself."

Sold Drugs

Ronnie claims before he started selling drugs, he was a pretty good student, but as he sold more drugs during his 10th grade year, his grades went down.

"I guess I was the kind of guy who wanted to be known and this was a way I could do it," he continued.

"I moved up, as they would put it, and I got in with a gang and they were giving me the drugs to sell for them."

From there, he said he learned about a big dealer downtown and began working for him.

"All during this time, I wouldn't go home at night nnd would stay at some else's house and run nway for n week," he said.

He said his supplier eventually was busted and that he and his friend eventually had to start breaking into houses to steal things

Union Thanksgiving Services Planned

The annual Union Thanksgiving Service will be held at the Assembly of God Church on E. Upright ave. at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association.

The Rev. Raymond Giffin of the First Congregational church will deliver the Thanksgiving message entitled "Thanks Amid Hunger."

Special music will be by a Community Girls Choir under the direction of Mrs. Robert Tollas and Mrs. Austin Regier. Mrs. Dawson Way will be at the organ and Mrs. Tollas at the piano. Pam Bass, at the piano, will play the Offertory.

Others participating in the program will be the Rev. Donald Schorsch, pastor of the host church; the Rev. Hugh Cowan of the First Baptist church, the Rev. William P. Seibert of the Community Reformed church, the Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist church and the Rev. Keith Sinon of the Church of the Nazarene.

The offering at the service will be divided between CROP and the sponsoring group, the Ministerial Association.

Worshippers of all denominations are invited to attend the special service held annually in Thanksgiving.

Band Leaves Friday for Green Bay

The Charlevoix Rayder Marching Band, 115 strong, will depart via bus at 8 a.m. Friday for Green Bay, Wis., where the Charlevoix aggregation will join with the Peshtigo, Wis., band in a halftime performance during the Green Bay Packers-Chicago Bears game Sunday.

The first stop for the local band, its director, Gary Stutzman and a group of chaperones will be Peshtigo where the band will be housed Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights with Peshtigo band members.

Saturday will be devoted to an entire day of rehearsals climaxed by a joint performance for the residents of the Peshtigo area. Bruce Kroken, a former resident, is the director of the Peshtigo band.

On Sunday, the two bands will go to Green Bay for the halftime show at Lambeau field.

The Charlevoix band will return home Monday.

In announcing the trip, Mr. Stutzman proclaimed it a milestone in the history of Charlevoix bands. Though the marching band has appeared at halftime shows at Northern Michigan University and elsewhere, it marks the first time that a Rayder band has appeared at a Pro football game that is nationally televised. It is doubtful, however, if it will be seen here.

The joint appearance of the two bands is the result of two summer band camps held here in 1974 and '75 under the direction of Tim Lautzenhauzer, "Mr. I," of the University of Missouri. A joint performance of the two bands was seen here last August at the close of the band camp.

While in Charlevoix both summers, Peshtigo band members were hosted by Charlevoix band members.

Charlevoix Resident Helps Grass River Natural Area

By TOM DAMMANN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oleksy 419 Antrim Street, are the most recent owners of property edging Antrim County's Grass River, to agree to sell it to the Grass River Natural Area Committee, which is forming a conservancy of approximately 1050 acres, including some three miles of the river.

"There is so little land in its natural state left," Oleksy said recently, "We are happy that our 18.5 acres will be preserved."

Last month, the Oleksys gave an option to buy to the Nature Conservancy of Washington, D.C. through its Michigan office, which, acting as the agent, will hold it until funds can be raised to consumate the transaction.

The Grass River links Lake Bellaire to the north with Clam Lake to the southwest.

About four miles south of Bellaire, the area is in the lower portion of the Chain of Lakes, extending from Ellsworth down to Torch Lake.

The river itself meanders through bordering white cedar swamps and islands, covered with sedges and grasses. It is a natural habitat for a wide variety of shrubs and such exotic plants as wild orchids, as well as swans, geese, cranes, otter, beaver, muskrat and white tailed deer.

An American Eagle and Osprey have been sited there.

The project was initiated in 1969 by local residents and summer visitors to preserve the area against the increasing encroachments of land developers who in the face of the disappearance of available water front property have been filling and building along the shores of Lake Bellaire and Clam Lake.

The Grass River Wildlife Project Committee, predecessor to the present Grass River Natural Area Committee, was formed to acquire land and coordinate preservation activities. It has been aided by the Antrim County Board of Commissioners, Michigan Wilderness and Rural Areas Council, the Kresge Foundation, the U.S. Soil Conservation Science, the DNR, the Cranbrook Institute of Science, and Nature Conservancy of Washington D.C. and other local, state and natural groups and organizations.

The project requires the eventual purchase of about 720 acres of land. The State DNR will transfer some 180 acres which it owns to the area. Another 138 acres already purchased by private funds in conjunction with the Nature Conservancy will also be transferred.

All parcels purchased, transferred and donated will be owned and administered in perpetuity by Antrim County as public lands.

Options have been secured on 492.25 privately owned areas, with an agreed purchase price of about $150,000. The Okeksy parcel is part of this.

The U.S. Soil Conservation Service will furnish half of the needed funds, using for the first time in the nation Resource Conservation and Development Funds appropriated by Congress a year ago to preserve a water based fish and wildlife area.

The other half, or $75,000, must first be raised locally.

Band Playing

First the bands are on early in the morning, waking everybody up. Now they're on at nighttime and nobody can get to sleep. Can't they make up their minds? People do deserve some rights. I don't mean to say anything bad against the band, it's a wonderful band. They just pick the wrong time to practice.

Appreciates Vote

I would just like to thank everyone on Beaver Island for voting as they did so we could get the runway paved at the airport. The Beaver Islanders got things done when they stiek together. Thank you. Paul V. LaFrenier.

Waste Problem

I would suggest a waste paper basket at the light opposite Murdick's, and the park area. The children and young men and women hang out there and apparently are going to continue hanging out there and there are eans and all types of garbage left out over night and I think it makes the park look very poor. A very simple basket that might be decorative and also a beneh for the kids and we might have a cleaner situation.

NOV

Topaz is the November Birthstone.

John Reusch

Perhaps no other gem has had more veried or preposterous powers ascribed to it. When worn as an amulet, it was said to drive away sadness, strengthen the intellect, and bestow courage. A topaz mounted in gold and hung around the neck was believed to dispel enchantment. When the powdered stone was put in wine, it was used as a cure for asthma, insomnia, burns and hemmorrhage. It was considered the stone of fruitfulness and faithfulness, conferring cheerfulness on the wearer, calming passions, and preventing bad dreams. Topaz was supposed to become obscure in contact with poison and quench the heat of boiling water. All of these powers were believed to increase and decrease with changes of the moon.

Bruce Malpass, exeeutive vice president of the East Jordan Iron Works, will be featured speoker at the December meeting of the Charlevoix Areo Historical Society.

The public is invited to attend this meeting on December 2 at 8 o'clock in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

Bruce Malpass and his uncle, William Malpass who is president of the company, are the third and fourth generations of the family to head the company which was founded in 1883 by William E. Malpass, Sr.

Many business enterprises dealing with manufacturing of wood and iron products were started during the early settlement of Charlevoix County. They were related in one way or another with natural resources of the area.

The East Jordan Iron Works is the only one that has experienced a long period of growth and development to the present day. It is also unique in that this was accomplished under the guidance of a single family.

The products they make indicate how this business has adjusted to changing times, but they also mirror American life as it has evolved during almost 100 years.

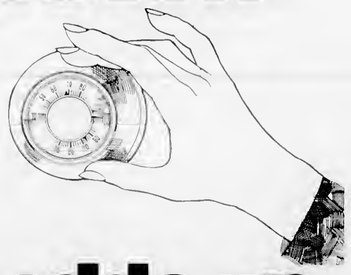
Dial down.



It adds up.

Consistently dialing down your furnaeo thermostat can save you money. How much can you expect to save? Let's look at a few taets.

Dial down permanently.
You'll save about 3% on your annual heating costs for every degree you permanently dial down during the heating season. For example, set your thermostat back three degrees, leave it there, and you'll save about 10%. Dial down five degrees, and you'll save 17%.

Dial down nightly.
If you regularly set your thermostat back each night, you can save more than 1% for every degree dialed down for an eight-hour period. For example, set your thermostat back seven degrees, and you'll save about 9%. Dial down 10 degrees and save about 12%. This is in addition to the savings you'll get when dialing down permanently.

Dial down when you're away.
You can save even more money and Gas by dialing down when you're away from home. Beeause any time you dial down for more than five hours, you save. So, dial down before you leave for work. Or, dial down to 55 degrees when you're releaving for a long weekend or going away on vacation.

Just how much you'll save depends on several factors. How many degrees you dial down. How long you maintain the lower temperature setting. And the weather. The colder the weather, the greater the savings.

Our Gas is still your lowest cost fuel. Use it efficiently and you'll save even more. So dial down. It adds up.

Unhappy with State Proposal

Northerners Propose Own Rail Plan

By KEN WINTER

TRAVERSE CITY–Northwest Michigan planners sidetracked state efforts Friday to save some 2,360 jobs in its 10-county region feared lost because of potential rail abandonment.

Upset with the state's apparent lack of interest in retaining Northern Michigan railroads, the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission unveiled its own railroad needs study.

The 190-page regional document came only a day after the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation held a public hearing here on Michigan's proposed Railroad Plan to save state bankrupt railroads.

The state railroad plan must be submitted Dec. 8 as part of Michigan's applieation for federal subsidities to help maintain bankrupt rail service over the next two years.

Almost all of Northern Michigan's trackage is proposed for abandonment in the reorganizatlon plans of the U.S. Railway Association, which will be operating the new federal-freight system known as Conrail.

Override State

Commission Director William Rowden of Traverse City said Friday his regional study was an attempt to override the Highway Department's blatant disregard for Northwest Michigan rail servlce in the state report.

The regional plan, assembled by railroad consultant Vince Malanaphy, examines the effeets of proposed abandonment and suggests alternative plans for the reorganizalion of the Ann Arbor, Chespeake and Ohlo and Penn Central railroads.

The report concludes that there is a need for rail and carferry service in the northera region to foster economie development.

If rail service is halted, Malanaphy estimated some 928 wage eorners would find themselves jobless in Wexford County alone.

In rail-related industries, he said unemployment would rise another 600 in Wexford County and over 2,360 in the entire region.

No Industry

"Without railroads, industry does not have the potential to develop because almost all of them are rail-oriented Industries," Malanaphy said in a Friday press conference.

He said the abundance of mineral resources within the 10-county region holds great promise for the development of a petro-chemieal industry with rail service to the north.

"Industries best suited for the area ore generolly rail-oriented and the eessation of rail servlee would do irrepairable harm to future growth and development of the region," he said.

Malanaphy said Michigan may not be getting as much federal subsidy as others in the 17-state region in lhe Northwest and Mldwest because it has failed so far to identify which specifie lines should be maintained.

Congress has earmarked up to $180 million for rail subsidies with Michigan's share to be determined sometime next year, well after the federal due date for the state railroad plan.

Thomas J. Trimbaek, manager of the Highway Department's railrond plnnning offiee and chief architect of the state plon, said Thursday there will be speclfic lines outlined when his document is submitted, but none have been designated yet.

The stnte offlcial said Michigan will attempt to keep open as many lines as it can afford to keep and didn't want to establish priorities that would let the federal government choose what state lines should continue to operate.

Michigan is expected to ask for at least $60 million in railroad subsidies, although Trimback said the exact amount has not yet been determined.

Only a handful attended the state hearing here Thursday on Michigan's proposed plon to save 1,110 miles of bankrupt trackage.

Those attending the hearing severely criticized the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation for calling a hearing only two days after they received the state document.

Charlevoix Residents Object to Bell's Bay Road Closing

BOYNE CITY–If the 60 people who appeared at a Charlevoix County Road Commission public hearing here last week have their way, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will not gain control of Lake Shore Drive in the former Bell's Bay State Forest.

Many of those from Charlevoix, who testified at the hearing, were bitterly opposed to the DNR gaining control of the road which runs along the shore of Lake Michigan south and west of Charlevoix. The former Bell's Bay State Forest is now under the control of the Parks Division of the DNR, but the road in question belongs to the county.

The DNR is asking the road commission to relinquish control of Lake Shore Drive which runs through property which will become Fisherman's Island State Park in about five years. The area in question is a popular play area for Charlevoix residents as well as tourists. Those people at the meeting expressed fears the DNR would close off the road entirely to the public.

"I don't want to see the DNR close the road to the public," said Chris Papineau of Charlevoix, who fishes and scuba dives in this area.

"We're not going to close the road to the public," Jim Andrus, district park supervisor for the DNR, said. "As arbitrary as the DNR is they will close off the road at some point in the future," Papineau responded.

"I don't think the DNR will help to alleviate the problems here at all," Papineau said in an interview after the hearing.

"They'll (the DNR) just gain control and the problems will still be there.

DNR Pattern

"The DNR has developed a pattern where they say one thing and later on go ond do what they had intended to do in the first place," he said. "This is all decided. They've (the DNR) already decided what they're going to do."

Andrus repeatedly told the erowd the DNR has no intention of closing the road to the public or denying the public access to the Bell's Bay area. He said the DNR wants to put up a gate and allow day use traffic to enter and leave the park between the hours of 8 a.m and 10 p.m.

Andrus said the only way the DNR can control the vandalism, noise and other problems at Bell's Boy is to gain control of the road. Ile said at this time the DNR has no legal authority to regulate traffic and eannot make any arrests unless an infraction is committed off the road and on state land.

"The problem is there are no arrests being made there (in Bell's Bay)," Andrus said. "There is no law enforeement there."

Charlevoix County Sheriff Philo Sumner disagreed with Andrus, however, and said the DNR wasn't going to stop the problems at Bell's Bay even if it gains control of the road.

"There are problems out there and you are going to continue to have problems," the sheriff said. "Where there are people there ore going to be problems."

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Oscar Stroud told the road commission the people he represents want the road left open and handed the commission a copy of a resolution from the township board in regards to this.

South Point

Stroud also expressed concern for the road which leads up to South Point. This road is not in the DNR's plans and could not be maintained by the road commission if the county turns Lake Shore Drive over to the DNR. If the road to South Point is abandoned, it would become the property of Medusa Cement Co. which is the adjacent property owner. Stroud said if this happens Medusa will probably close the road to the public.

Oscar Ward, a member of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioneers and a Charlevoix resident, was also opposed to the DNR gaining control and showed the road commission petitions with over 325 signatures asking the county to retain its control.

"This is a public ripoff," one Charlevoix resident shouted. "I don't go for that. The people who signed that petition want that road open to public use.

"It seems to me you people are taking over something that is public to make it non-public," Karl Waldner, from Boyne City, said. "It is my understanding the government function is to serve the people not the government."

Andrus reiterated the DNR has no intention of elosing the road off to the public, but only wants to eut down on the problems in the area and needs control of the road to accomplish this.

Jim Hane, park designer for the DNR, told the audience the road would remain as it is at least for the next five years. Hane said eventually the entire Lake Shore Drive would be relocated along with Bell's Bay-rd. with a new road and entrance built away from the lake. He said this is part of the lake shore preservation plan and low-key approach being taken with the proposed state park.

The road commission announced it would not make a decision on the DNR proposal until it had studied the matter further. Don Graham, chairman of the road commission, said a decision would probably be made at the commission's Dec. 10 meeting.

He also said there would be no further public hearings on the matter unless something is changed in the DNR plan.

DR. WILLIAM Ratigan, author of many books about the Great Lakes, talked to Charlevoix Elementary School youngsters last week about his writing career.

Children Hear Local Author Talk

Children in the Charlevoix Elementary school were treated to talks by a real live author last week during Children's Book Week.

Dr. William Ratigan, Charlevoix, writer, told the fourth and fifth grade children about the lore of the Great Lakes area as contained in his many books.

His books, as well as those of other favorite authors, were specially displayed in the school library under the supervision of Library Aide Marie Webb.

The recent sinking of the ore boat Fitzgernld and that of the Bradley not far from the Charlevoix shore several years ago added an additional touch of interest to Ratigan's talks. School hallways were lined with young artists' concentrations of boats and water and wrecks.

Dr. Ratigan is the author of 11 well-known books, two of which, "Soo Canal!" and "Great Lakes Shipwrecks and Survivals", are widely recognized as Great Lakes classics, along with Wolter Havinghurst's "Long Ships Passing," and McCarg and Balmer's "The Indian Drum."

"Soo Canal!", which was first published in 1954 and is now in its second edition, is the story about the building of the Soo Canal during the years 1853-1855 by a traveling salesman who foresaw the feasibility of linking two Great Lakes.

"Great Lakes Shipwrecks and Survivals" is, as its name indicates a chronicle of ship disasters on the Great Lakes, including that of the Bradley.

Another of Ratigan's books, "Young Mister Big", is the story of building the Soo Canal written especially for children.

"The Adventures of Captain McCargo" tells about the adventures of a Great Lakes skipper of n sailing vessel, including a war with King Strang on Beaver Island.

"Straits of Mackinac" is, as Dr. Ratigan describes it, "the tale of Mackinoe men and Mackinac boats and the Mackinac Bridge."

"The Long Crossing" also tells about building the Mackinac Bridge. It was written for juvenile readers.

"Highways over Broad Waters" is a definitive biography of Dr. David B. Steinman, who built the Mackinac Bridge. According to Dr. Ratigan, Dr. Steinman built more suspension bridges than all the engineers in world history put together.

"Hiawatha & America's Mightiest Mile" is a tale of lore and history of the Mackinac Bridge.

"The Blue Snow, "Tiny Tim Pine" and "The Adventures of Paul Bunyan & Babe the Blue Ox" are a triology of companion books about Great Lakes folk lore and old legends.

Most of Dr. Ratigan's books are available in local public and school libraries. Some, including "Soo Canal!" and "Great Lakes Shipwrecks and Survivals", may be bought in local book stores.

Some titles not available in book stores can be obtained through the author's Dockside Press in Charlevoix.

Dr. Ratigan is also interested in obtaining used copies of "Straits of Mackinac", "Hiawatha & America's Mightiest Mile", and "Captain McCargo".

Be Thankful

The harvest was good in the fall of 1621 at Plymouth Colony.

Following a severe winter, the Pilgrims' first in the New World, there was plenty of corn and barley, waterfowl and wild turkey, cod and bass.

To celebrate the bumper crop, Governor William Bradford issued a proclamation for a prayerful day of thanksgiving. It turned out to be a three-day feast, with 90 Indians and their chief, Massasoit, joining the Pilgrims. As their contribution to the feast, the Indians brought five deer.

While the exact date of that first Thanksgiving is not known, it was before December 11, on which date Edward Winslow wrote a letter to a friend in England describing the feast.

Days of thanksgiving continued through the years. During the Revolutionary War, the Continental Congress ordered days of national thanksgiving, and in 1789, President Washington issued a call for thanksgiving upon adoption of the Constitution.

On October 3, 1863, President Lincoln issued the first national proclamation, fixing the last Thursday in November as "a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficient Father." Since then, except for two years, we have celebrated Thanksgiving on the last Thursday in November.

We celebrate Thanksgiving again this week. While many of us may feel that our country is in a sad state, knowing what it was like on the first Thanksgiving, or in Washington's and Lincoln's times, can make us pause for thought.

Times are different but no worse. "Our beneficient Father" has indeed been beneficient.

State Bond Mess

The $150 million mass transit bond issue, adopted earlier this year by the Legislature, has its share of problems.

For instance:

--The bond issue is predicated on local matching money and this is a problem in the Detroit area. A proposed $10 license plate surtax by Gov. Milliken floated like a lead balloon, so now there's discussion of a property transfer tax.

--The bond issue is tied to revenues for payment--the $20 million from a half-cent of the nine-cent gas tax earmarked for mass transit--but this money already is tied up with ongoing mass transit programs.

--In fact, if present and committed plans for rail and bus subsidies are carried out, there is a $25 million spending commitment next year with only that $20 million gas tax revenue currently in sight. Counting the revenue bonds, which were designed to be paid from the same revenue source, that's a $45 million demand on the $20 million revenue.

--To get the mass transit program going, the Legislature authorized the State Highway Commission to borrow $30 million from the state trunk line fund, with the idea the loan would be repaid when the revenue bonds were sold.

--A spending plan for the $30 million and loan for the $20 million ongoing program has been submitted to the Legislature for approval, but is stalled because of concern over federal rail subsidies. Congress has authorized the subsidies but so far hasn't appropriated the funds.

--The loan spending has to be carefully planned; if it is to be redeemed by revenue bonds, the equipment must be of lasting character. For instance, buses have a 10-year life, and it's not likely buyers will put their money into anything more than a 10-year bond for that sort of purchase. Otherwise, the bonds were planned for a 20-year life.

James Kellogg, director of the Highway Department Bureau of Urban and Public Transportation, says the Legislature has not indicated so far what part of the program should be scaled down to match the lower $150 million limit.

Add to all that the fact that advisory opinion has been requested from the State Supreme Court on the legality of the entire bonding program. The Highway Department is proceeding on the premise that there will be no problems.

Charles Chambers, highway department finance director, feels there are "small roadblocks, but if everyone puts his mind to it, everything will fall into place."

One of those road blocks is the $25 million deficit built into the present plans. Increased rail and bus lines and subsidies to maintain unprofitable rail freight service are all part of the picture.

The proposal before the Legislature includes both the equipment purchase proposal under the $30 million loan and operating subsidies from the $20 million gas tax revenue. Those projects, listed in a 175-page report, include something for every part of the state.

Kellogg notes legislative approval of increased rail passenger service, subsidies for Conrail freight service starting January 1 and new intercity bus routes could be cut back to ease the fiscal pinch.

Gov. Milliken, however, has said he will recommend a source of funding in his January budget message to replace the gas tax when it is committed to the bonds. With an impending deficit for the next fiscal year, it won't be easy.

Insurance Problems

Editor
The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

To the Editor -

If you are a responsible home-owner in this area you should read your homeowner's insurance policy carefully. In it you will find a nuclear exclusion clause, which means that the insurance companies that are in the business of assessing risks will not insure your home in the event of a nuclear accident.

At the federal level, Congress passed the Price-Anderson Act in 1957 to limit the liability of insurance coverage in the event of a nuclear accident to $560 million, because the insurance companies, utilities and nuclear industries refused to bear the risk of a major nuclear accident. The Act also prohibits the public from recovering more than $560 million, even though studies for the Atomic Energy Commission have said damages would be in the billions or tens of billions of dollars.

Under Price-Anderson, if you were injured or had lost property in a billion-dollar nuclear accident, you would be prohibited by law from recovering full compensation from industry.

Price-Anderson's liability limit protects the nuclear industry at the expense of the citizens' Constitutional right to just compensation. Even though industry claims nuclear power is safe, it doesn't want to accept the liability rules which apply to other industries.

This Act was renewed again for 10 years in 1966. Recently, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy reported out this bill for renewal again.

Senator Mike Gravel in the Senate and Representative Jonathan Bingham in the House have introduced amendments which will restore the rights of nuclear accident victims to sue for full compensation. This means the $560 million would still be available to accident victims. But it also means that if damages were to exceed $560 million, victims would be allowed to sue for full compensation.

I would urge you to write you Congressman and Senators now either to vote against extension of the Price-Anderson Act or to support these amendments if they vote for extension.

We cannot plan to base a sizeable share of our economy on a technology that is uninsurable.

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

It occurred to me the other day when reading about that fellow out west with 14 wives that plural marriages are now probably as legal as all-get-out in this land of ours, what with liberal interpretations of the law and the new emphasis on First Amendment freedoms.

And, come to think of it, what difference should it make to society if a fellow has one wife or ten, so long as he can support them and his heirs?

Of course, the practitioner of polygamy might run afoul of some pretty irate wives if the objects of his affection are not aware of each other.

Brigham Young and King Strong were born a century too soon. What a following they would have had today!

The mysterious Star-Backed Sneetch that Holly and I ran across the other night is showing up all over town.

Mrs. Henry Superman reportedly saw it on the South Side the same night I saw it on the North Side.

And the Albert Lehmans of Lewis-st. report that an albino skunk matching the description of my Sneetch is a regular evening visitor around their back door. It comes to eat scraps of food left by their grandchildren's dog.

They say it is very slow about its movements, and never seems alarmed when it catches a glimpse of them watching it.

They also say it is the biggest darn skunk they have ever seen.

Get your buck yet?

Either I spend too much time indoors, or this deer season isn't what it was cracked up to be. I have only seen one horned-and-one-doe stretched across the trunk of an automobile so far this year.

Up until this weekend, of course, the weathermon hasn't been on the side of the hunters. But the little tracking snow we got Sunday morning should make all the difference in the world—now that the opening-day hunters have all gone back home.

Spenking of deer hunters:

A cousin of mine once drove from Owosso to the Upper Peninsula in search of the elusive whitetail. While he was gone, his wife awoke one morning to hear strange noises in the breezeway. You're right. A good-sized buck had found his way into the house through an open garage door. She chased him out with a broom. My cousin came back from the U.P. empty-handed.

Now that the roads are snow-covered and slippery, take it easy. I don't know if there are any statistics on the subject, but it seems that most of the season's fender-benders take place in the first few days of foul weather when folks just aren't accustomed to driving on banana peels. Before long we'll all get the hang of it and driving will be a little more fun.

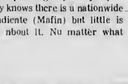
And look for some pretty dirty politics now that conservative Republicans have their own candidate. They're going to be coming at poor Jerry from all directions, Democrats and Republicans alike.



Erma Bombeck

You may not believe this, but I've never met a perfume I couldn't handle.

And I've had them all. The scents that promise to make me more of a woman and him more of a man. The ones guaranteed to start a fire. And the fragrance that drives tall, dark strangers to pacing the beach because they can't get me out of their minds.

That's why I was challenged by a commercial the other night in which a housewife threw aside her soap pad and her apron and burlesqued her way out of a pair of rubber gloves singing, "I've been sweet and I've been good, I've had a whole full day of motherhood."

The next scene switched to their bedroom where she spritzed on some purfume and whispered, "But I'm gonna have an Aviance night."

I have just had possibly the first Aviance night with a GP rating.

It began at 10:30 p.m.: Saturated with scent, approaching snoring husband and leaned over to turn off TV set.

10:40: Husband bolted upright and said, "Did I win the ear?"

10:43: Asked husband if he noticed anything.

10:44: Husband noted the dog was "gassy" and would f put him outside.

10:45: Dramatically rose from chair and asked spouse if there was anything f could do for him.

10:48: "How about making some popcorn?" he asked.

10:59: Husband sniffed and said, "Do you smell something?"

11:02: Perched provocatively on the arm of his chair, I said huskily, "Tell me about it."

11:04: "It's this glass, he snarled. "You mixed me a drink in the glass the kids use in the bathroom for their creme rinse. Why can't I ever have a glass that isn't plastic and doesn't have the Partridge Family on the side of it?"

11:20: "You can't keep your hands off me, can you?" f shouted as he rummaged around the kitchen.

11:21: "You're going to have to speak up. Those kids didn't run the garbage disposer and there's garbage all over the sink. And let the dog in!"

11:24: Dog sniffed the air, hopped on my lap and began tolick off perfume. ft wasn't anything f can't handle.

If it Fitz

Justice is Blind

If justice is truly blind, o Secret Service man is currently being investigated by the FBI. ftis alleged crime is desecrning the American flag, the same rap that put the FBI on my trail.

Gerald Ford was recently campaigning in Chicopee, Mass., when a small boy waved a flag too close to the Presidential nose which has understandably developed a nervous twitch. A Secret Service man jumped forward, grabbed the flag ond threw it to the ground, saying "Get that thing out of here!"

That thing? The American flag touching the ground? Wasn't that Secret Service man ever a Boy Scout? Geez.

It's true a flag pole up the nose could be damaging. But this nation can always get another President who smells. However, this nation has only one flag and it must be respected, by God, or our very foundations will crumble and our Republic will slide into the cesspool of Communism. And what would it matter then if the President couldn't smell because he had a nose full of stars and stripes?

I'm an expert on how the flag enn get a guy in trouble with the FBI. A new law requires the FBI to tell a citizen if he has ever been investigated by the Bureau, and why. So last May f wrote to Clarence Kelley who got J. Edgar floover's job after Pat Gray, his first replacement, was caught hiding secret papers in his shirt drawer. f asked Kelley for the contents of my FBI file, if any.

This started a fascinating correspondence which may result in the discovery of perpetual motion. Kelley's first letter said there'd be a delay in, answering my letter. A month luter he said he'd send the file for $33 to cover office expenses. I sent the dough and he wrote again saying I'd have to write again and this time have n notary public witness my signature. This was done. And finally, last week, after 5 months, Kelley allowed me a slight peek under the curtain.

One reason f'm in the FBI files is because of something f wrote about the flag and J. Edgar Hoover in 1967. That was when some Vietnam war protestors "were burning the flag, remember? And floover was bombarding newspapers with "official bulletins" saying flag burners were nasty people who should be ashamed of themselves. I wrote a column saying flag burners were stupid but not criminals, as long as they owned the flag. And this paragraph was included:

"If he hasn't anything better to do, I have a suggestion: Hoover should sit down and read that portion of the Warren Report which states clearly what a lousy job the FBI did in protecting John Kennedy from Lee Harvey Oswald. fle might also prepare a message explaining why every cop in the country knows there is a nationwide crime syndiente (Mafin) but little is ever done about it. Nu matter what Dick Tracy says, crime pays more every year and you'd better believe it."

That's what put the FBI on my tail. But Kelley admitted he wasn't revealing my entire file, saying the law allows him to withhold "information that is related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of an agency and intra-agency memorandn not available through discovery proceedings during litigation."

It's difficult to be certain what that gobbledegook means, but f think Kelley is refusing to reveal how his agents went about investigating me. Du "personnel rules" cover bugging? At any rate, he said f have 30 days to appeal his decision to the Attorney General. f intend to do it and will keep you posted if you live long enough.

Meanwhile, we can all feel sorry for that Secret Service man who threw our flag to the ground. A firing squad might be appropriate. If he wanted to throw flags he should have become a football officinl.

Frances Boss was recently honored by the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix for serving the congregation as organist for over 40 years. Here, Mrs. Boss tells the Courier about her career with the church, her music and her family.

COURIER: When did you start playing the piano and organ?

BOSS: I started playing the piano for the church when f was 16. The church was located in South Barnard then. fn 1941 it moved to Barnard Road, and in 1962 we built the new church in Charlevoix.

COURIER: Did you take music lessons?

BOSS: I took exactly 56 piano lessons, in the summer time because we couldn't count on getting on in the winter. Mostly I taught myself. My sister and I took the Etude magazine when we were young, and we learned o lot from it. f used to conduct the church choir, too.

COURIER: Has church music changed much through the years?

BOSS: Yes, it has changed some. f play o lot of classical music, and for evening services I often ploy hymn voriations.

COURIER: Do you play modern music?

BOSS: I'll play something like "Theme from the Godfather" when it's requested for a wedding. We've had a little modern music with guitars in the church for young people's programs. They like it. The church choir sometimes sings Ralph Carmichael arrungements.

COURIER: Tell us about the party the church had for you?

BOSS: Well, it was really our Harvest Supper that we have every year, and when f went to it f had no idea I was to be the guest of honor. All of my family were there, including most of our 17 grandchildren. Mrs. Ellsworth Dykstra, whose husband was our minister in 1939 came up from Holland with her daughter. Reverend Dykstra couldn't make it because of his health but he sent a tape. Also, Reverend Harold Ringenoldus, who now lives in Fulton, Illinois, sent a tape. He come to our first church as a student. Mrs. Charles Stoppels, whose husband was minister of the church when we moved to our present location, called from Grand Rapids. Also, many old friends sent notes. After we were through eating, the Master of Ceremonies announced that this was a "This Is Your Life" program for me. They dressed me up in a long gown and the Women's Society gave me a bouquet of roses and carnations. The Primary Class -- f play the piano for them -- gave me a milk glass cake plate. The W.H.O. Circle gave me n pink carnation in a vase shaped like o treble cleff. And the church presented me with a colonial lamp and a plaque in recognition of my service. My children also gave me a corsage. ft was all a big surprise, even my husband didn't know about it.

COURIER: Are you o native of the area?

BOSS: Yes, f was born and raised neor Ellsworth. I graduated from Ellsworth High School in 1928 in a class of seven, two girls and five boys. f married my husband, John L. Boss, in 1930 and we bought the property our house is on that fall. fle built our house, doing all the work except the plastering, and we moved in in 1936. My father, David E. Carpenter, homesteaded in the area. f was one of if children, all but one of whom are still living.

COURIER: Do you still farm?

BOSS: No, we rent out our 46 acres. Now, all we have is a dog and a cat. We used to have turkeys and cattle and other animals.

COURIER: How many children do you have?

BOSS: We have five, three boys and two girls. Our oldest son, Herbert, farms the old Boss home place. Nathan works for Michigan Bell and Kenneth works for Puff's in Petoskey. Our older daughter, Esther, married Gary Vandenburg and lives between Alma and Romeo in the Detroit area. Kathy our younger daughter, lives in Lansing. Her husband, Dwayne Whent, is a state policeman.

COURIER: What do you do in your spare time?

BOSS: We have a large garden and I freeze and can a lot. f belong to the Home Extension group but I'm not active in organization or clubs. I enjoy my church work and concentrate on that.

COURIER: What are you doing for Thanksgiving?

BOSS: We're going to Esther's and Kathy and her family are also going to be there. But Christmas, most of the family will be home.

Friend of Court Turns in $1,700

Charlevoix County's treasury is $1,700 bigger this week as the result of a check turned over to it Monday by Howard Otis of the office of Friend of the Court.

The check represents 25 percent of monies collected by Otis' office for child support payments. The full amount of money was sent to the state and 25 percent rebated to the county for collection efforts.

Friend of the Court collections from divorced and separated fathers partially repay the state and county for Aid to Dependent Children funds received by mothers.

"Some people think that all we do in the Court House is hand out money," Otis said, "but this shows that we do make an effort to return some of the taxpayers' money."

The $1,700 covers collections for the month of August. Such rebate checks are received monthly.

Single Tax Booklets Available

Michigan's new single business tax (SBT) – what it is and how it works–is the subject of a booklet now ready for distribution in the state by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Beginning January 1, 1976, every business operating in Michigan which collects $34,000 or more in gross receipts will be subject to the single business tax. Replacing seven other current taxes, SBT "introduces new theories, new calculations, some new jargon, and is complicated," say Prentice-Hall tax experts.

They use a question and answer format to cover all aspects of the complex SBT, explaining who must pay the tax; how individual businesses determine their tax base; what limits, credits, and exemptions may be applied to reduce tax liability; and which businesses will be eligible for special treatment.

Prentice-Hall is offering the comprehensive booklet in quantity to banks throughout Michigan. The publisher recommends that the banks in turn provide the SBT publication to customers and prospects free of charge as a business service.

Single copies of the explanatory booklet also are available for $1.35 each (send check or money order) from the Special Publications Division, Prentice-Hall, Englewood Cliffs, N.J. 07362. Discounted rates may be obtained on quantities of 100 or more.

There are just
days left to realize the 1975 tax advantages of setting up a personal pension plan.

If your employer does not have a pension plan, or you are self-employed, you can probably qualify for an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or Keogh account of your own.

Consider the advantages:
1. By acting before December 31, 1975, you can with an IRA plan deduct up to $1,500 from the income reported on your 1975 U.S. Income Tax Return. (Deduct up to $7,500 with a Keogh plan for the self-employed.)
2. Also, interest earned on funds deposited in an IRA or Keogh plan at Saginaw Savings will be tax-deferred until after your retirement at which time you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.
3. By acting now, you can start earning tax-deferred interest immediately for 1975.

Stop by now. The manager of any of our offices will be happy to provide you with the necessary forms for setting up your IRA or Keogh pension plan and will be happy to assist you.

Bellaire Resident Stalks Unidentified Objects

By KEN WINTER

BELLAIRE – Walking through 24-year-old John Shepherd's house is like taking a tour of mad-scientist's Dr. Frankenstein's laboratory.

His tiny lakeside home on Intermediate Lake is jammed full of electronic wizardry that would almost embarrass any Air Force radar tracking station.

Shepherd uses it to track Unidentified Flying Objects (UFO's). And he takes his business seriously.

The one-time Detroit resident has led a life almost as obscure as the work he has been doing since he moved here in 1968.

As early as kindergarten, Shepherd was forced into becoming a recluse when his Detroit public school teacher suggested he be put on a home-study course program.

"I never understood the boundaries of a classroom, and instead of drawing pictures in class, I would start running down to the boiler room and sketching," he explained.

"To me a classroom was a nuisance."

Shepherd's fascination for gadgetry has almost become an obsession since his early childhood days. As in earlier days, when he would rush through home-study lessons to work on a project, Shepherd hates to be away from his work now.

The slight, timid, bearded man heads up his own corporation called "Project STRAT", STRAT stands for Special Telemetry, Research and Tracking.

Shepherd receives no money for his work in tracking UFO's. However, he does get some money for some of the work he occasionally does in creating new research instruments for the government.

The Antrim County resident gathers reports and supplies information concerning local sighting to the National Investigation Committee on Aerial Sightings, a non-profit group that co-operates with the Center for UFO's run by the Air Force.

Although he has never seen one, Shepherd does believe there are UFO's.

"I don't believe all the wild stories," he said.

"But I do believe there are higher forms from other worlds."

He added that they don't necessarily have to be the same human forms familiar to earthlings.

Shepherd has more than $35,000 tied up in electronic gear that looks like it could send any rocket to the moon. The occasional high shrieks and flashing lights that sputter from his equipment help him keep a watchful eye over Northern Michigan skies.

The fall of 1973 was the last time, Shepherd says he had a lot of calls about UFO's. There were no less than six reports turned into the Antrim County Sheriff's Department with actual physical destruction found at a sighting at Schuss Mountain. At the resort, a panel truck was discovered with a burned out electrical system.

Last February, three boys on a rural Antrim County farm reported seeing a glowing orange triangular object that appeared to change its shape as it got closer. Although the boys were able to relay vivid descriptions of where the object appeared, there was not any confirmation.

Despite the lack of concrete evidence, Shepherd continues with his endless job of scanning the skies. He hopes eventually to expand his operation into a two-level research complex with a large tracking antenna.

JOHN SHEPHERD takes UFO hunting seriously.

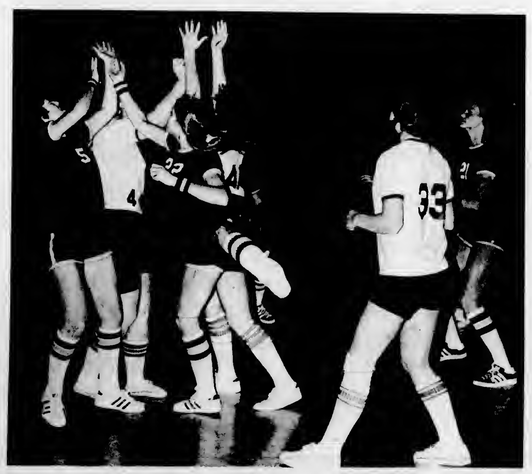
CHARLEVOIX RAYOER girls put up a strong defense against Onaway last week. Barbara Meadows (45) goes up for a jump shot (right). Below: Teri Hufford (31) tries for two points, as Kay Currey (32) also goes for a bucket.



HEIOI DOVE (35) and Maureen Cudd (22) attempt to get a rebound.

GAIL POWELL goes for two points.

Girls Down Onaway

The Charlevoix girls basketball team made it into the Class C finals at Onaway after dumping the host team by a score of 61-20 at Onaway Friday night.

The Charlevoix defense held the Cardinals scoreless in the first period while pouring in seven field goals for a 14-0 first period lead.

Scoring six more field goals plus two charity shots, the Hayderettes doubled the score 28-4 at halftime.

At this point, Coach Toni Felter started emptying the bench to give Onaway its best period with 12 points.

However, as the game went into the final eight minutes, Charlevoix regained its stride to dump in 26 points for the 41-point victory.

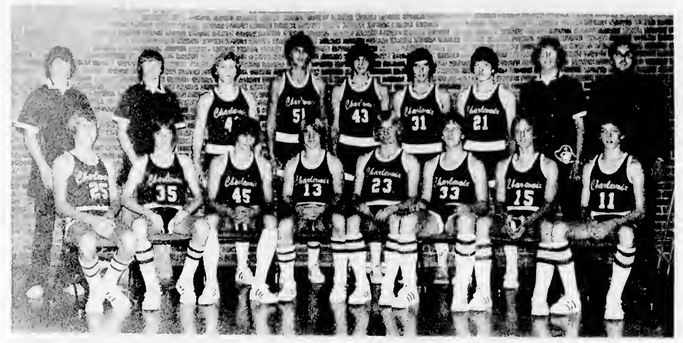
Mo Cudd paced the game with 23 points on 11 field goals and a free throw. She was followed by Heidi Dove who came through with 13 points including five field goals. Camille Malpeli added five; Denise Boss and Kathy Sladek, four each; Kay Currey and Barb Meadows, three each; Jean Himebauch, Terri Hufford and Gail Powell, two each. Sherry Selissen also played.

Kellie Krage was top scorer for Onaway with six points.

Charlevoix had 26 field goals; 9 of 22 free throws and 15 personal fouls.

Onaway had 9 field goals; 2 of 13 free throws and 18 personal fouls.

Courier Sports



THE CHARLEVOIX RAYDER basketball team will open its 1975-76 cage season Tuesday against Harbor Springs on the Rams floor. Making their first appearance under Coach Dave Moyer will be (seated l to r): Tom Fowler, Steve Berlage, Bud Klooster, John Greene, Bob Alger, Steve Michael, Brian Williams, Wally Drenth. Alumni Plan Game

Plans for a Charlevoix-Petoskey Alumni basketball game to benefit the basketball programs of both schools will be played at Petoskey Saturday, Dave Moyer who is organizing the event, has announced.

"We hope the event will be successful so it can be made an annual event during the Thanksgiving weekend.

It will offer entertainment for the fans as they watch former High school athletes in action and will give them something to do during the holiday weekend" Moyer said. He added that it will alternated between Charlevoix and Petoskey gyms.

Representing Charlevoix in the game to be played at Petoskey's Middle School gym at 7:30 p.m. Saturday will be Roger Crain, Larry Potter, Dave swanson, Denny Crain, Bruce Meggison, Kevin Swanson, Stew Coleman, Dan McKenzie, Bernie Ward and Steve Smith.

Moyer said another player may be added prior to game time Saturday.

The names of Petoskey players were not available for presstime.

Play Hockey this Year

Men 16 and over are being sought for the newly-formed Charlevoix hockey team which is a member of the Little Traverse Association.

The association is made up of teams from Gaylord, Harbor Springs, Boyne City and Petoskey.

Interested persons are asked to contact Wayne Boss at 547-2872 or Jim Wibby at 547-6994.

Obituary

Mrs. Hattie Veenstra

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Veenstra, 82, of Atwood who died Monday, Nov. 10, at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Thursday at the Atwood Christian Reformed church. The Rev. Harry Weidenaar officiated. Interment was in the Atwood cemetery.

Born at Jamestown April 19, 1893, the former Hattie Zielstra came to the Atwood area of Banks Township in 1900. On Dec. 27, 1917, she was married to Wesley Veenstra. They always lived at Atwood. She was a member of the Atwood Christian Reformed Church.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Paul of Jenison and Lambert of Grand Rapids; two daughters, Mrs. George (Wilma) Wiersema of Jenison and Mrs. Henry (Theola) Elzinga of Ellsworth; 10 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Vredevelt of Zeeland.

The Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

Robert M. Currey

Funeral services for Robert M. Currey, 53, Marion Township sheep rancher and farmer who was dead on arrival via ambulance at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Monday after suffering an apparent heart attack, were held Thursday at the First Congregational church at Almont. The Rev. Richard Dunn officiated. Interment was in the Almont cemetery. A visitation was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Tuesday evening.

Born at Almont May 16, 1922, Mr. Currey was married to the former Betty Williamson at Lapeer in 1949. They resided at Almont until coming to Charlevoix 2½ years ago. He was a veteran of World War II.

He was a member of the First Congregational church and the Farm Bureau.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons, Allan R. of Ann Arbor, Dr. Arthur D. of Fowlerville and Kirk W. of Charlevoix; a daughter, Kay, at home and five sisters, Mrs. Robert Tower of Warren, Mrs. John Kowalski of Minden City, Mrs. Albert Stnnwood of Plymouth, Mrs. Donald Heim of Almont and Mrs. Donald Vandawaker of Dryden.

John L. Beattie

News of the death of a former resident, John L. Beattie, 78, at Boynton Beach, Fla., on Friday, Nov. 14, has been received here.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Nov. 18, at the Mack-Stephenson Funeral Home at Lantana, Fla. with burial in a West Palm Beach cemetery.

A native of Charlevoix, Mr. Beattie had made his home in Ann Arbor for many years while he was employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Following his retirement after 35 years with the company, he moved to Florida to make his home at 1119 N. Atlantic Drive, in Lantana. He is a life member of the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Surviving are his wife, Lucile of Lantana; a son, Allan L. of Los Gatos, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Lois M. Durrock of Walnut Creek, Calif.; seven grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. James (Hazel) Culp of Ann Arbor.

Philip Gallagher

Graveside services for Philip Gallagher, 65, a former resident who died unexpectedly in Wyoming on Saturday, will be held at Brookside cemetery at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Funeral services will be held in Wyoming at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Gallagher was born on Beaver Island and lived there until coming to Charlevoix to live with his uncle, the late Jack Gallagher. Later he went to Wyoming and made his home with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd (Lucille Gallagher) Barnett.

Building Permits Up

Dick Mayhew, Charlevoix County Building Code administrator, reports that approximately 470 permits have been issued by his department since it started in November, 1974.

The permits have brought in a total of over $16,000 toward support of the department.

Permits are required for all building, alteration, or demolition of structures in the county.

Mayhew also reports that his department is "red tagging" buildings on which work has been done without permits.

Grass River

Antrim County property owners is currently underway, according to Wesley Baker, Bellaire Chairman of the Grass River Natural Area Committee.

Baker, hopes for an early and generous response so that the area can be officially dedicated next summer.

The Oleksys purchased the property in 1947. For a while Olek continued from page 1 y qualifications, is a lumberman, thought of lumbering it off.

"You can't build on it without putting a lot of fill and that would be both expensive and hard on the ecology," Oleksy told an interviewer. "We could have sold it several times, but this seems the best. We have children and grandchildren and it would be nice for them to go to a primitive area to enjoy nature as it was."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Oleksy are retired school teachers. Mrs. Oleksy taught music, arts, and fourth grade, in Muskegon, Mancelona, Litchfield and at St. Mary's here.

Oleksy, who holds several graduate degrees and teaching certificates, has taught English, math, industrial arts, physics and chemistry. He served as School Principal in Alanson in the late sixties, and was Business Agent for the Carpenters and Millwrights during the construction of the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant and"was the first man on the Medusa Construction job."

He says he is a "retired intinerant teacher of the building trades."

Oleksy is the ture President of the Charlevoix Senior Citizens.

they could sell to support their habits.

"I was only 15 at the time and the police finally caught up with us," he said.

Since Ronnie was only 15, he was put on probation and in the custody of his parents His buddy was 17 and had to spend 10 weekends in jail.

Strained Relationship

Ronnie says he continued to go to school, but the relationship between him and his parents became strained. He said he was always feeling like he got hassled. Even when he smoked a cigarette off school grounds, Ronnie said the police would bother him and his friends.

"I guess that's why all my friends were getting high," he said. "They were tired of getting hassled.

After his sophomore year, Ronnie said he was picked up during one of his summer driver's education classes for selling marijuana. This time he had to spend some time in the county youth home.

"When I went back home, my parents didn't treat me any different than they did before," he continued.

"I guess I don't know if they made any more effort to change than I did."

Ronnie said he moved out of his house when he turned 17, and moved to downtown Saginaw. He stayed in what he called "the ghetto" until his house was ransacked by people whom he suspected though he had given them bad drugs.

"That caused a problem with some of the other people who lived in the house and we all got in a big fight," he continued.

"After about three weeks I moved back home, where I met this girl I really like, so I started staying with her at her mother's house."

Unhappy with his parents making him pay room and board, Ronnie said he and his girl moved in with some others.

"We got some checks from one of the guys and started forging checks to buy drugs and sell them,' he recalled.

"One night one of the guys got loaded and ran out of the house to the liquor store across the street and was caught breaking in."

Turned him in

Ronnie said some of his friends thought he had turned them in, so he took off and tried to move in to his house again.

"I started running around with local neighborhood guys," he continued.

"When I moved back home those guys were breaking into houses, so I got together with them and eventually got caught."

Ronnie claims that after the police told him what they had on him, he agreed to help them track down those selling drugs.

"The detective talked him into helping him out and then in return he would help me out by talking to the judge," he said.

"I was only in jail 12 days and the judge let me out."

Ronnie says he was able to lead police on to a pretty big dealer in Saginaw.

"I did a deal for him for 10 pounds, so he would have my confidence," he said about his Saginaw connection.

"The police then had me meet at the guy's house, where I was supposed to buy some drugs with the marked bills the police gave me."

He said the police came in and raided the house. Ronnie was arrested, he said, but eventually got off for frequenting but not possessing or trafficing.

"Then I was supposed to find out who another big dealer was and I had to go through another couple of people to get to him," he said.

"They wanted me to prove that I was cool, as they put it. So I broke into a doctor's office."

B and E

When the detective asked him about the B and E, Ronnie said he had planned to tell him only about the other people involved. However, Ronnie said he was arrested along with the rest of the people.

"I went to jail in May and got out in September," he continued. "After I got out of jail, I was labeled as a narcotics informant and didn't have any friends so I moved out of town."

Ronnie said he had come back to Charlevoix, hoping he could get a job and maybe start agnin.

However last week, some of his "old friends" found out where he was and paid him a visit. Ronnie says he was able to get away when they tried to kidnap him and take his money.

The day after the event, Ronnie sat in a chair for an interview with no money and not really sure where he was going to go.

Authorities in Southern Michigan say what most of what Ronnie claimed is true. Several police agencies indicated they were glad he moved away because it was too hard to protect him. They snid the house he was staying in had been bombed and that he had been shot at.

Although county officials there will verify he did serve a jail sentence, they will no corroborate his connection with breaking drug rings in their community.

Local officials in the community refuse to comment, but do acknowledge he hnd lived there.

For Ronnie, no one can tell him what his future will be.

Every Day is a Day of Thanksgiving...

Even as we join family and friends in the traditional holiday feast, we should remember that this day has been set aside for us to do officially the very thing we should be doing every day of our lives: thanking God for our blessings. We have so many, regardless of our own situation, that we cannot begin to count them all; not only the tangible things we can see all around us, but also the invisible blessings, such as the misfortunes we have been spared. Go to your Church on Thanksgiving Day and every Sunday and give your thanks to God for all of them. The Pilgrims were grateful for so little; and you have so much.

"I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with Thanksgiving."

County Solid Waste Plan Still in Lansing

Frank Ochs

Charlevoix County's plan for solid waste disposal is still "pening final review", according to Larry Thornton of the DNR's Solid Waste Division in Lansing.

The county plan was filed with the DNR on June 9 after the County Planning Commission had spent over a year in its development. At that time the plan received verbal tentative approval.

It became the county's job, by law in 1971 to devise such a plan, and open, unlicensed dumps, such as those in Melrose, Boyne Valley and St. James Townships were outlawed in August, 1974.

"We would have liked to make the final review before now, but we just haven't gotten to it," Thornton told the Courier.

"There are some problems with existing land fill sites in Boyne City and East Jordan. We are going to make some geological tests at the Boyne City site as soon as we can," he added.

Thornton says that he wants to work with the townships and cities in helping to solve their problems.

"We never told Boyne City we were going to close their dump as reported some time ago," he said.

The county plan presented to the DNR calls for four stations where refuse would be taken and then transferred to the landfill in Eveline Township run by the Charlevoix Garbage Company, presently the only licensed landfill in the county.

If the Boyne City landfill can be licensed, there would be two sites to which the refuse could be transferred.

Thornton said that plans like those presented by Charlevoix County are working well in other parts of the state.

Holy Childhood Plans Benefit

Tickets for the annual Holy Childhood benefit luncheon to be held at Duffy's Inn outside Harbor Springs at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 4 may be obtained from Mrs. C. D. Geiken.

Holy Childhood, for thuse not acquainted with the name, is a boarding schuol for Indian children from throughout the northern section of the Lower Peninsula and a section of the Upper Peninsula. The children live at the school which is supported by contributions, benefits such as this, and any funds parents may be able to give. Children in the first through the Middle School grades are housed at the school from September until June. Franciscan nuns are teachers at the school.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Geiken at 547-6719.

Druggist Elected Director

G. Franklin Ochs has been elected a director of the First State Bank of Charlevoix. The announcement was made last week by Thomas A. Duke, chairman of the bank's board of directors.

Ochs, a long time resident of Charlevoix, is the owner of the Central Drug Store which has been family owned and operated in Charlevoix since 1914.

Ochs, a pharmacist, attended Ferris State College and is a graduate of the University of Grand Rapids. He is a member of the board of the Charlevoix Lions Club and a past president of the Lions. He is also a member of buth the Northern Michigan Pharmacists Association and the Michigan Pharmacists Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Ochs have two children, Virginia and John, both of whom are graduate pharmacists.

15-Year-Old Youth Held For Shooting of Woman

THE SHOOTING look place at this trailer home near Ellsworth.

A 15 year old juvenile is being held for questioning in the shooting death of an Ellsworth woman, Mrs. David (Vera) Shooks, 21, at her trailer home un the west side of Six Mile Lake in South Arm township early Friday evening, according to Sheriff Philo E. Sumner.

Probate Judge John T. Murphy issued a 10-day detention order Saturday afternoon after the youth had appeared in probate court. The juvenile was apprehended after a tracking dog brought in by the Michigan State Police of the Petoskey post led them to him.

According to Sheriff Sumner, his department received the initial call on the shooting at 7:19 p.m. Friday after the body of the dead woman was found by her father-in-law, Wesley Shooks, Ellsworth businessman who lives nearby. He had gone to his son's trailer home at the request of his son who operates the Morning Valley Fireplace Shop in Charlevoix. He told his father he had talked with his wife about 5:20 p.m. but that she had not answered his call less than an hour later. When she failed to answer a second call, the husband asked his father to investigate.

Upon arriving at the trailer, he found her still sitting in a chair in the living room of the trailer where she apparently had been sewing and watching television. When she failed to respond, he checked further and found she had been shot through the head. The bullet had entered the room through a picture window and, after striking her, had gone through the far wall of the trailer.

Shooks called Dr. Jerry VanDellen of Ellsworth and notified the Charlevoix County sheriff's department. Tracks in the snow a distance of approximately eight feet from the trailer led the dogs to the suspect. A 30.30 rifle is being held by the Sheriff's Department as the possible weapon in the shooting.

Death was due to a bullet wound in the head according to Dr. Robert G. Martin, Charlevoix County Medical Examiner.

A report on evidence turned over tu the State Crime Lab may take as long as mid-week Sheriff Sumner said. An autopsy was performed at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

Services for Mrs. Shooks were held at the Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth Sunday afternoon with Melvin

Council Cool on Park Project

A proposed park improvement project by the Charlevoix Women's Club is getting a cool reception from Charlevoix City Council.

Charlevoix Councilmen said Monday they may reconsider an earlier $10,000 commitment to help improve the Park Avenue Park along Lake Michigan after learning the Department of Nutural Resources (DNR) may not have $10,000 in matching funds.

The council also indicated they were distressed to learn that the proposed project budget had jumped to $120,000.

Councilman Ivan Whitley said he was not interested in getting outside funding to do the project because of the strings attached to monies received from both the state and federal government.

"Bell's Bay is a classic example," Whitley continued.

Councilman George Plumm added that $10,000 didn't seem like a bad figure, but was concerned about the upkeep costs once the improvements were made.

The Women's Club is proposing that the present bathhouse be updated to meet specifications for physically handicapped along with the construction of a paved parking lot for 104 vehicles.

Others include preventative measures to be taken to protect soil and plant materials from wind and water erosion, as well as the construction of a fish cleaning station at the present DNR Fisheries Station.

"This is really elaborate...there's no question

Proud of Band

I would like to take this opportunity to apologize to certain people for practicing at hours that are not to their liking, but we do have school to attend 5 days a week. We do enjoy making our band better and would like everybody in Charlevoix to realize that if they had the determination and desire to make our community better, they might consider the fact that it isn't noise, it's MUSIC! A band member--and proud of it!

Admires Courier

I admire the Courier for reasons of its presenting dissenting views to its own editorials. To me, this is not only good practice, but downright good sportsmanship. But this is not neceassarily so as practiced by a brother media of the radio. Possibly there are policy differences which do not permit them to do so in some areas, but weather prediction is certainly up for grabs. I made a private bet of a whole 5 cents with a certain news caster off the air, that there would be no snow accumulation on the ground in the Charlevoix area Friday of last week, and there was not against a 100 percent odds of prediction. The radio station newseaster did not pay me my nickel. Bad show, says I.

Thanks to C.B.er's

C.B.er's in action again. Charles (Gus) Sonnenberg lost two hunters and misses deer. Night closed in, father and son, Fred, missing. Oh, here they come. Deer passed by. No hunters. Distress call by Gus for C.B.er's. Many responded to area. Meantime, Fred wandered down road and stopped to Farmer Allison. Jenkins of Flint returned Fred down to Gus, then poor old Dad come to same place asking about his location. What? Jenkins said, "Just took kid down there a few minutes ago." Description fit grandson. Dad wanted to walk back the short distance of a few miles. Jenkins wouldn't let him. Good thing, sky split open with down pour. That would have been bad. Thanks again to C.B.er's for their fine responds.

Courier Awarded Blue Ribbon for Second Year

The Charlevoix Courier has been designated a National Blue Ribbon Newspaper for the second year in a row in results announced last week.

The Courier was among 255 Newspapers in the United States that received the designation from the National Educational Foundation, according Paul D. Coffman, president of the foundation.

The designation makes the fourth national honor to be picked up by the Courier this year.

Last month, the Courier earned three honors, including first place for investigative reporting on P.B.B., in the National Newspaper Association's Better Newspaper Contest.

Earlier in the fall, the Courier swept up four state awards in the Michigan Press Association's Weekly Newspaper Contest, including Best Feature Story of the Year.

Twenty-five criteria, measuring the newspaper's service to their communities against a national standard, are employed in the Blue Ribbon evaluation.

Over-all Coffman said, weekly newspapers fared better than dailies. Sixty-three percent of the weekly newspapers were awarded the Blue Ribbon designation, while 60 percent of the dailies received the designation.

Among weekly newspapers, Coffman reported, only 44 percent of the newspapers with circulations up to 2,500 received the Blue Ribbon designation. In last year's evaluation, 63.8 percent of the weeklies in this circulation category received the designation.

The National Editorial Foundation, established in 1957, is dedicated to the improvement of journalism and journalism education.

Attempts to Find New Start

Jail Inmate Learns New Art

By KEN WINTER

Twenty-one-year-old Anthony Miron hopes drawing pictures will keep him out of jail.

But, if it hadn't been for time served in Charlevoix and Otsego County Jalls, the Boyne Falls resident may never have discovered his artistic inklings.

"I was always pretty good with art in school," Miron says.

"I never really got into art until I got in jail."

Miron has been making a name for himself by drawing pictures for Charlevoix County Sheriff deputies, as well as his own fellow inmates.

"They bring me a picture and I try to draw it," he continued.

"The guys in jail like it when I can do a drawing of their girl friends in bathing suits."

Not all of Miron's drawings are exact portraits. For example, he's done caricatures of President Ford, Johnny Carson and Dean Martin--all with long hair.

The part-Indian says he gets a charge out of seeing what the personalities look like when they're made to resemble Indians.

Miron says he has been selling his pictures for either $5 or a carton of cigarettes.

"When they made me a trustee, I also started doing signs in the animal shelter," he continued.

Miron has also drawn pictures for the Charlevoix County Humane Society to sell and earn money to support the society's new animal shelter located adjacent to the county jail in Charlevoix.

The Boyne Falls resident said he first discovered his drawing ability at the Otsego County Jail in Gaylord two years ago.

"No one really noticed at first," he said about doing sketches in his jail cell.

"Then some of the deputies started noticing what I was doing."

Miron said the Gaylord Sheriff started having him do a couple of signs for the jail. Then Miron did some signs for St. Mary's High School in Gaylord.

Once out of the Gaylord jail, Miron said he didn't do anything for two years with art until he was sentenced to jail in Charlevoix last July.

While in Charlevoix, one of the teachers who helps with the jail education program brought him some art equipment. Miron works with ink, chalk and colored pencils.

Once out of jail, Miron says he hopes some state officials

The natural state for your body is good health. Poor health is unnatural. How does chiropractic fit into this? It's really surprisingly simple. Your spine is made up of 24 moveable segments (vertebrae), which enclose the spinal cord. Leading out from between the vertbrae are pairs of nerves that, directly or indirectly, serve various body organs. If one or more of the vertebrae is somehow shifted out of its normal position (if can be through a fall on the ski slope, or something as commonplace as a bump or sudden twist), there can easily be interference with nerve functions – and the organ or organs they serve. Until the offending vertebrae are restored to their normal position, natural good health may not occur. Chiropractic is not so much a way of directly treating health problems as it is a way of permitting the body to become healthy naturally. In a very real sense, chiropractic helps build body ecology.

Middle School Student Tired of Trashy T.V.

Thirteen-year-old Anita Hendrickson has been waging her own war on cleaning up television programming.

The Charlevuix Middle School student has been circulating petitions that will eventually be sent to television networks asking them to "clean-up trash shown on television."

"I'm trying to get it so you won't be embarrassed to turn on the television when little kids are around," she said.

"Too many of the shows are violent and bloody and shnw private parts of the body."

She said most people she has contacted about signing the petitions agree with her efforts.

"Most of the people think the petition is a great idea," she continued.

Anita is the daughter of Mrs. David Hendrickson of Bay Shore.

Petitions "Tn Clean Up Television" are being circulated throughout the area under the sponsorship uf Revival Fires Ministries of Joplin, Missouri.

The petition asks that the network presidents of ABC, NB and CBS "do something tn stop this flow of unneeessary profanity, undue emphusis on sex and exeessive violence on TV programming."

It further states that, "We feel strongly that the very moral fiber of our great country, our homes and uur children is being influenced by the content uf your programs."

A spokesman for Revival Fires, a non-denominational organization, told the Courier that over 400,000 copies of the petition have been sent out since the campaign started July 6.

The campaign is promnted thrnugh Revival Fires' televisiun program shown by 55 stations. Locally, it is shown at 7:30 Sunday mornings on WWTV Cadillac and WWUP-TV Sault Ste. Marie.

Chamber Plans Mardi Gras

Charlevoix's Chamber of Commerce set the wheels in motion this week for its third annual Winter Mardi Gras.

Although the winter weekend of activities doesn't get underway until February 27, Chamber officials met last week to begin laying out the program.

Chamber offieials expect to launeh the gala event this year on Friday night with the crowning of the queen and king followed by a night street parade. Officials are hopeful they will be able to do the crowning inside The Market.

Then, on Saturday, officials expect to have a whole host of winter sports activities, including downhlll raees at Mt. McSauba and cross country ski competition.

The weekend would then be rounded out on Sunday with the Lions Club's annual Winter Outing.

Chamber officials are hoping that this year's money proceeds for king and queen votes will go towards completion of the band shell in East Park.

The officials said they were also expecting to have special Mardi Gras pins that would be sold and used to benefit other chamber-sponsored activities.

Cheerleading Workshop Announced

Young people interested in becoming cheerleaders are invited to partieipate in a clinic to be held this Saturday, December 6, at the Charlevoix elementary school.

Michigan State University cheerleaders will teach at the clinic, which will feature new cheers, chants, mounts, gymnastic stunts and pom-pom routines.

The clinic will open with pre-registration at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 3:30 p.m. Lunch will be available for those desiring it and the cost for the clinic will be $3.00 person.

Special T-Shirt Begins in Charlevoix

By FRAN MARTIN

Accomplishments of the handicapped seldom reach farther than a family circle or, perhaps, a small group with which the handicapped person is associated.

That is why a contraet fulfilled recently by the clients at Bergmann Center, a sheltered workshop for mentally and physically handieapped adults, represents a milestone in the lives of more than 20 clients employed at the Center.

The contract was for "Let's Talk" T-shirts designed, patented and ordered by a 25-year-old student at Michigan State University where he is presently studying accounting.

He is John Pitt of Sterling Heights, a deaf mute and a printer by trade, who became frustrated by his inability to communieate with the hearing and their inability to 'talk' with him.

In nn effort to overcome this handicap, he designed the "Let's Talk" T-shirt on which is printed the sign language signals representing the alphabet. Born to deaf parents, he hns never learned to speak verbally. However, since enrolling at MSU, he is studying lip reading for the first time.

By using these shirts bearing the "Let's Talk" design, Pitt is hopeful of making them available to the public, especially those closely associated with the deaf.

At the present time, he is working on outlets for distribution of his 'brain child'. He is presently in pnssession of more 1100 garments in the most salable sizes that were made at Bergmann Center.

The fact that the handicapped at the Center have done something to aid other handieapped persons has given those at the Center a real lift. "They feel a greater sense of accomplishment than they have with any of the contraets we have" Mrs. Jan Raecke, executive director, who handled the business end of the contract for the center, said.

Mrs. Jessie Cunningham, workshop supervisor, echoed her sentiments about the feelings of the clients.

Winning the contract in the first place was not easy because several more highly organized groups were bidding on it. The people at the center, however, had had a great experience with silk screening as a result of the work they have been doing for severnl years on "Hot Seats" for the Paul-Reed Co. here. This undoubtedly, was one of the deeiding faetors In bringing the contraet to Charlevoix.

After receiving the bid, there was the job of drawing Pitt's alphabet hand signals on the silk screen. This was done by Mrs. Gary (Billie Bergmann) Crain.

A jig on whieh to mount the screen and the garment was ordered built; special inks (paints) were ordered as were T-shirts in a variety of sizes from the mills of a well-known manufacturer which had also bid on this part of the contract. After everything was assembled, the job of trainng the clients to this particular project fell to Mrs. Cunningham.

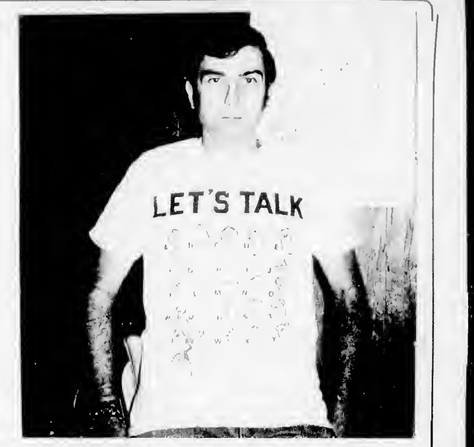
An assembly line type of operation was set up that began with the placing of the gurment on the jig, the silk screening process and the removal of the garment tu a specially built drying rack. This required 'teams' of clients, each of whom excelled in a particular phase of the operation.

While it was with a sigh of relief by the supervisury adults at the Center that they saw the last cartons of shirts loaded aboard the freight carrier, it was with a feeling of pride and satisfaction that the clients watched the results of their work transported to southern Michigan where it will be utilized by those, they feel, who have a greater handicap then theirs

The clients at Bergmann Center eume from throughout northern Michigan.....some are transported to the Center from nearby areas and others are housed at Charlevoix Huuse and elsewhere in the community.

They go to work at the Center five days a week duing a variety of work, depending on contracts with local industries and for loeal individuals. "Local industries have been very good about utilizing our services but there is a limit to what our people can do" Mrs. Raeeke said.

Mrs. Cunnigham said that at the present time their contracts are at a low ebb so the Center would welcome any work such as stripping and refinishing furniture, threading webbing in lawn furniture and similar work.



RAY ELSWORTH of Charlevoix is one of those at the Sheltered Workshop in Charlevoix that make this special T-shirt.

Northern Michigan's 'Gold Dust' Flies Through Skies

Ski Resorts Look for a Good Winter Season

SKIERS FROM ACROSS the state started flocking to Boyne Mountain last week for the opening of a new season. Resort owners anticipate a good winter.

SNOWMAKING MACHINES started working at Boyne Mountain on Thanksgiving to greet skiers with a solid base.

By TOM DAMMANN

Ski slope operators, resort, motel and restaurant owners, from Leland north, predict another record breaking year in the ski business – weather providing.

Both the Weathervane Inn and The Lodge report they have already received reservations supported by cash deposits for several busloads of people.

Optimism was stimulated by prospects of a white Thanksgiving, with three of the major ski areas planning to open Thanksgiving weekend.

Boyne Mt., in Boyne Falls, where skiing as a commercial operation first began in the Midwest, in the late '40s, began making artificial snow a week ago last Friday night, was scheduled to open Thanksgiving . So was Boyne Highlands, the Harbor Springs anchor of the vast Boyne Country complex owned by Everett Kircher.

In fact both slopes opened on schedule with some 450 skiers at Boyne Mt. working up their appetites for turkey dinner and about 100 doing the same at the Highlands.

Schuss Mt., near Mancelona, hoped to open sometime during the weekend, while Crystal Mt. at Thompsonville, south of Traverse City was definitely set to open Thanksgiving.

Other slope managers are a little more cautious.

"Over the years it has averaged out that the middle of December is the safest time to begin the season," says Doris Sarns, veteran owner-operator of Nub's Nob, near Harbor Springs. "We will open Saturday December 13."

Weather is an inportant faetor, psychologically, at least.

"People really don't begin to think of skiing until it snows," Mrs. Sarns says, reflecting a conecensus.

"November has been unusually beautiful and mild, so there hasn't been the usual advance activity, although we have already sold more season tickets than ever before."

At most of the resorts, reservations and season ticket sales nre well ahead, at lenst equal to last year, which despite the general economic picture was the best winter business seasnn ever experienced in Michigan's vital tourist industry.

Biggest Week

According to Ray Conley, President of Petoskey's First National Bank, the Christmas-New Year's week has become the biggest week of the year in terms of dollar flow for northwest lower Michigan.

Without equivocation Conley attributes this to skiing, which, aecording to the Michigan Chamber of Commerce has had the biggest impact on the state's economy since the birth of the automotive industry.

So students of the ski industry keep a wary eye on that holiday week.

"It usually indicates how the season will end up," Conley has explained in past years.

John F. Meeske, Vice President of Shanty Creek near Bellaire, reports that that resort is a head of last year by 20 percent in room reservations for the Christmas Holiday period.

"We have reservations with cash deposits on 200 more rooms than last year," Meeske says, adding there are still a few rooms available between December 20 and 25th.

"Baring such a disaster as abnormal warmth and rain, we should have a much better year than last," Meeske prophesies.

Bob Fritz, Manager of Boyne Mountain Lodge, says that as of November 16, the lodge was going into the season with 15 percent more reservations than last year. A similar increase is reported from Boyne Highlands.

Although season ski passes were slow getting started they are now moving steadily ahead of last year," says Jarni Baunan, Boyne Country spokesperson.

Genc Keilitz, court appointed receiver for financially troubled Timber Lee Ski Area, near Traverse City, reports that the lodge there is fully booked for the Christmas week.

Best Season

"We are better off than ever before," Keilitz says, "sales of season passes are up at least 50 percent while room reservations are up 100 percent."

Kelitz hopes to be open for skling within two weeks.

Sugar Loaf Mountain on the Leelanau Peninsula, below Leland, is also expected to open within two weeks. A spokesperson there says that almost all rooms have been reserved for the holidays and that most weekends through February have been booked.

George Petritz, President and Manager of Crystal Mountain, says that the 170

Editorials/Opinions

Michigan Fails Railroad Test

The final chapter in the continuing saga of Northern Michigan's rail service is apparently almost written and it doesn't look like we are going to have much to say about it.

You may ask yourself why it is that important anyway?

A lot of people have talked about the need for railroads, but no one has seen much railroad service in Northern Michigan during the last few years anyway.

In fact, that's actually how the federal government has been looking at Northern Miehigan's situation.

If the federal government has its way, there will be no rail service north of Grand Rapids under the new proposed rail organization plan known as "Conrail."

The only glimmer of hope for continued railroad service has been on the shoulders of the State of Miehigan.

Under the federal plan established in the Railroad Reorganization Act of 1973, states can make federal application for subsidies to support rail lines proposed for abandonment.

Northern Michigan residents had expected to hear what lines Michigan was going to proposed for subsidy in a public hearing held in Traverse City two weeks ago.

However, when the handful of people did show to hear the state plan, Miehigan Department of Highways and Transportation offieials had no rail plans to present.

The 190-page document gave only raw data concerning Miehigan's transportation network. There were no specifie line-by-linc details of what railroads Michigan wanted to see federally subsidized.

Miffed by what he didn't see, a railroad consultant quiekly pointed out that the state had only until Deeember 9 to detail what lines they want to maintain.

The state claims it will be able to get this portion of the federal requirements completed well before the deadline. However in the same breath, officials said it looked doubtful that residents would be able to see the state proposal before it goes to Washington.

Perhaps this sounds like a lot of governmental, bureaueratie back-talk about deadlines and plans. Who really cares?

As it looks now, Charlevoix appears to be on a collision course for not having any rail serviee at all. At best, Charlevoix may get a rail spur to Petoskey.

The immediate impaet of this move is diffieult to determine. Most of Charlevoix's industry presently uses a different form of transportation beeause they have been unable to get dependablc railroad serviec.

Other areas of Northern Michigan apparently will suffer more immediate harm or damage to their community if railroads are scuttled.

Wexford County, for example, would lose some 600 jobs in rail and rail-related industries.

We feel the railroad impact in this community would be felt in the long term.

As one railroad expert recently testified, eonsumers can expect to eventually see their eost of living almost triple if there is dependency on only one form of transportation.

For example, in California, the eost of fruit nearly tripled beeause rail service was no longer available and fresh fruit has to be trueked from the southern portion of the state to the northern part.

Another building materials manufaeturer pointed out that the eost of building supplies would skyrocket if his products had to be trueked up from a rail terminal point in Grand Rapids instead of Gaylord.

The rising costs of other items without the benefit of rail transportation are endless.

We do not think Northern Michigan is in a position to jeopardize its future growth potential by not having rail service.

More than the potential rising costs, we are concerned about the reliance on a single mode of transportation. Although trucks seem praetieal for short hauls, we find if diffieult to believe they are a better long haul carrier.

There has been no clear picture drawn on our energy situation. If there continues to be difficulty in oil, the eosts of truck transportation are going to continue to rise.

Too many industries are in a quandary as to whether or not they want to move here because of the unstable rail situation.

We are convinced that in order to maintain a year-round stable economy, this area is going to have to have light industry and small manufacturing. Without rail service, no one is sure this will happen.

Northwest Michigan Regional Development and Planning Commission members have launched their own campaign to insure this growth by submitting an alternate rail plan for Northern Miehigan. The line recommendtions will hopefully be ineluded with the Miehigan Railroad Plan when it goes to Washington.

Although Northern Michigan's railroad future looks bleak, we eneourage you to write Congressman Philip Ruppe and Governor William Milliken to support retention of Northern rail service.

County Differs with Region

Dear Editor:

In response to a recent article in the Charlevnix Courier regarding Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission grant assistance to Charlevoix County, we offer the following comments.

The development of the grant application and the ultimate receipt of the grant for the development of the community building in Whiting Park was not coordinated through the regional planning office, but rather was handled entirely by the Charlevoix County Parks and Recreation Commission.

Receipt of community development discretionary funding in East Jordan was obtained by that community utilizing a consultant. No activities of the regional planning body contributed to this grant.

Activity surrounding the development of the Fisherman's Island State Park was initiated by a group of interested Charlevoix County residents in 1967-68, and, again, the Northwest Michigan Regional Commission has had little to do with the Park's development.

Development of the Ironton Ferry ramps and the associated roadwork was paid for entirely by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners from general funds. Northwest Michigan Regional Planning Commission was in no way involved in this project.

We agree that the Northwest Michigan Regional Law Enforcement Planning Component has been instrumental in assisting the three community police departments and the County Sheriff's Department in obtaining grant dollars for equipment and manpower. This division of the Regional Commission is very active in this area, and should be congratulated.

In terms of nther grant areas, the political units within Charlevoix County have received minimal grant assistnnce from the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission. This Commission does serve as a review agency for applications, however, in no way is this to be interpreted as assisting in getting the County more grant dollars.

We find ourselves in the position of contributing to the cost incurred by the Regional Commission without receiving a measurable return for our investment. This is almost as distasteful as claiming credit for obtaining grants which were gotten through the hard work nf Charlevoix County residents.

Sincerely,
Harry Griffin, Chairman
Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners

Editor's note: Two weeks ago the Courier reported that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners had voted to withhoid its 1976 yearly allotment of more than $5,000 to the Northwest Regional Planning and Developmeut Commissioa.

The decision was made because the Commissioaers felt the county was not receiving any help in getting federal and state funds requested lor local projects.

The Courier contncted Gregory Piaskowski, planner for the Northwest Commission, and asked him what funds the county had received in the last few years. He cited several different grants, some of whieh are mentioned in this letter.

Dear Mr. Winter,

When we are accepting the Senior Citizen discount in our subscription, I suppose we should not be critical. We do appreciate the consideration you show by offering the discount; however, I would like to make one observation.

For years Charlevoix has represented culture and refinement and has striven to maintain its reputation expressed in its name, Charlevoix the Beautiful. So, to have a cignr-chomping thug using crude language represent your paper in announcing the expiration of our subscription, was very disappointing. I hope before another year, you can find a new symbol that will more truly portray our town and our paper.

Respectfully,
Florence A. Irwin

Keep Character

People keep saying it isn't safe to walk in downtown Detroit after dark. Mayor Coleman Young insists this is a bad rap. On radio the other noon he said it is safer walking in Detroit than in some of its fancy suburbs.

I quoted Young to my wife as we sat at our favnrite piano bar in downtown Detroit at midnight. Our hotel was several blocks away. "We can walk back," I said. "It's probably safer in the streets than in this bar. Jack Kelley might come in here and slug me for weighing 90 pounds less than he weighs."

In case you don't read the crime news, Kelley is the Detroit councilman who thinks he is Pat O'Brien in a 1935 movie. He thinks it's romantic for husky frishmen to sing about shillegahs and get into saloon fights. He probably drinks boilermakers and pats the waitresses fanny. The voters can't really get angry at the darlin' because he always has some blarney for the old women and he never misses church on St. Pat's Day, especially if the TV cameras are there.

The other day Kelley looked into a TV camera and said there were 2,200 bars in Detroit and he tries to make all of them at least once a month. So it did seem safer out on the street, even in downtown Detroit at 1 a.m. My wife agreed with typical graciousness. "One dumb frishman is plenty," she said.

It was lonely out there. We recently walked in downtown Toronto at 3 a.m. and had to proceed single file because of the crowds. In after-dark Detroit, a footstep echoes and three isn't a crnwd, it's a convention. The wide, bare streets looked like 2 days after Dr. Strangelove pushed the button. Every doorway was a mugger's cave.

"Where's Mayor Young?" my wife asked.

One car did go by. In fact, it cozied friendly-like to the curb and a black man stuck his head out to send greetings to the 2 lone walkers. "Bleep you, you mother-bleepers," he said.

"I'm glad Mother isn't here," I said.

Nothing worse happened and we walked and lived to spend another night in the warm arms of Howard Johnson, double-bolted. But my wife said Mayor Young was nuts, she'd rather do her night walking in Grosse Pointe.

However. On TV news the next night there was a father complaining about what happened to his young son as he played on the sidewalk in Bloomfield Hills, one of Detroit's wealthiest suburbs.

A neighbor ealled the little boy a nigger and threntened to throw him into a ditch. He told the boy niggers had no business living in that white neighborhood and should get out before they got hurt. And this was in the daylight. After dark, someone slipped vile notes into the black family's mailbox, threatening violence if the niggers didn't move back where they belonged.

You might say the moral is that danger comes in all colors and a man should watch out wherever he is walking. But that's stuffed-shirt philosophy and it leaves me wanting.

He makes my gut ache, but I can understand why a ghetto black would call me a bleeping mother-bleeper. His is a blanket reaction to the bigoted cruds who keep him locked out nf the Grosse Pointes. But I could never understand how that white jerk could hassle a little kid, whatever color.

Hanging from a rope is too good for him. He should be sentenced to 20 years hanging around saloons with Councilman Kelley.

Clockwise

During this past weekend I acquired a healthy new respect for Adolph Hitler Not Adolph Hitler the murderous dietator; Adolph Hitler the Munich paperhanger.

Judy, the kids and I spent the weekend re-papering our dining room and I think we all learned an important history lesson. If you can hang wallpaper without losing your cool, there's a good chance you are blessed with the deep wells of self confidence that are needed to rule the universe.

It's a small step, really, from hanging wallpaper to firing up the eremntoria at Belsen.

Several weeks ago, Judy commented on how nice it would be to have the dining room re-papered for Christmas. I wasn't listening carefully to what she said and nodded in agreement. The next thing I knew she had thrust a catalog of wallpaper samples under my nose and was pointing to u specimen featuring daisies and sunflowers. Millions of them.

"This is what I had in mind," she said. "It would be a nice, bright change from that old town-square paper that we have had up there since Katie was a baby."

"But don't you think the town-square paper looks sort of Bicentennialish?" I asked, grasping at straws.

"If you mean that it looks as though it were put up during the Revolution, you're right," Judy answered. "During the Battle of Charlevoix."

So we ordered the wallpaper by mail and I sat back hoping for a postal strike. The day it arrived, Judy stretched a sample across the wall and asked if I didn't think the ceiling looked a little dingy against a field of daisies and sunflowers.

I told her I liked the ceiling just the way it was, although I had a sinking feeling at the time that a new paint job on the ceiling was a foregone conclusion before the paper went up. We set aside the weekend after Thanksgiving to "do the dining room."

The weekend is just now ending, and I feel as though it lasted a thousand years. I can scarcely recall the details of Friday night when I climbed the ladder and made the first tentative jabs at the celotex ceiling with my sash brush.

And Saturday is a blurr. I remember fixing oatmeal for brenkfast, but the rest of the day is a nightmare of wet wallpaper hanging from the step ladder like Spanish moss and children skittering around the room fighting for a fresh seetion of wall to peel like sunburned skin off n blistered back.

Saturday night, with the paper gone, the walls needed a thorough scrubbing with Spic and Spnn. When I was through my fingers were shriveled like outdated Slim Jim's.

Sunday niorning we figured God would understand and we eaneelled our plans to attend church. Instead we mixed a big bucket of paste and set to planting daisies and sunflowers where the Bicentennial town square once stood.

Eight hours later the job was done. When I put down my smoothing brush for the last time I told 11-year-old Katie that the dining room won't need papering again until she gets married.

"Oh, but I'm not getting married," she announced brightly.

She really didn't understand the big hug and a kiss she received in return.

Erma Bombeck

The great Minnesota Fats, for over 50 years a legend at the pool table, was defeated recently in two straight games by a fourth-grader from Houston who had to stand on tiptoes to reach the table.

As the child leaned over the table, exposing the prtee tag on a new pair of yellow jeans, the old pro was heard to plead, "Hey, kid, play me one more so I can get even."

Poor Mr. Fats. He was ripped off by one of the oldest con games going in the country today ... the old demoralize-the-over-the-30-group-with-the-innocent-kid-routine.

I figured out a long time ago that this country is being infiltrated by beings from another planet...small children who are really 149 years old and have the body of a six million dollar man. They're everywhere.

They sit around swanky tennis courts in a pair of $1.98 tennis shoes with the strings knotted, holding a tennis racket made in Nogales and sucking on an lee eube. When they are invited to play they squint and ask, "What do you call this thing again?"

The pros are amused and explain, "A tennis racket. And you take it out of the press before you play."

The kid's performance is stunning. He giggles as his pudgy little hands cannot hold two tennis balls at the same time, so he places one on the base linc. He has to be told where to stand and his form is somewhere between Buchwald and a bullfighter with bad eyes.

After the warm-up, the personality of the kid changes. He scoops up the ball with the back of his foot, aces his opponent on every serve, runs around the court like a wood nymph and jumps the net to offer his condolences and asks for a towel.

It is roughly estimated that there are 275,000 of these sports midgets running around the country today. On ski slopes they challenge, "Bet you a dollar I can race you to the ambulance at the bottom of the saloon."

"That's slalom," grins the pigeon, shaking his head. "You're on."

There are no laws on the books to protect the unsuspecting nver-30s. Those of yons who have ever been hustled by a kid two feet tall into playing them at anything are asked to band together and keep them out of bowling alleys, pool halls, tennis courts, and ski slopes. If we need a reason, how about the profane language they hear...by the adults they beat?

Meet Charlevoix ...Josh Barnes

Josh Barnes, a Charlevoix businessman, was recently elected commodore of the Charlevoix Yacht Club. This week the Courier talks with bim about bis business and yacht club interests.

COURIER: We know you are president of the Lexalite Corporation. What do you manufacture?

BARNES: We make clear plastie products for the lighting industry, such as street lights and traffie signals. We sell our products all over the world and produce them in Mexico, France and Venezuela as well as in this country. All of the light globes in New York City and in Washington, D.C. are of our manufacture.

COURIER: When did you start in business?

BARNES: We were incorporated in 1963 in Southfield and moved here in 1965.

COURIER: Why did you move to Charlevoix?

BARNES: Because of the good, reliable help and favorable power rates. My employees are the greatest—when they can't make it to work, they call. The clear air up here prevents contamination and it's a good place to live.

COURIER: How many employees do you have?

BARNES: Right now, we have about 70 people working for us. We're in a major expansion program—new building, machinery equipment and engineering center. Next year we'll probably have a payroll of 100.

COURIER: You have spoken out against the single business tax. How does it affect a small business?

BARNES: It taxes the company on payroll, interest expenditures, workmen's compensation and depreciation and other things as well as profits. It is a tax on a tax. Business will pay high taxes whether they make or lose money. Next year, our direct tax bill will come to 60 percent of earnings, this on top of indirect taxes. I believe that if something isn't done about this tax there will be a mammoth exodus of businesses from the state, exeept for high profit companies.

COURIER: Where did you grow up?

BARNES: I was born in Highlund Park and went to high school there. I attended the University of Michigan and Lawrence Institute of Technology.

COURIER: Are you interested in sports other than sailing?

BARNES: Yes, I ski and fly. I'm a member of the flying club.

COURIER: What kind of a boat do you have?

BARNES: We have a 28 foot Triton. My wife Joanne and five children help me crew. We sail whenever we can and also race.

COURIER: What plans do you have for the Yacht Club?

BARNES: We are finishing the interior of the old depot building, putting in gas heat and a fireplace. We hope to open for aetivities the first of the year. We are planning a winter, as well as summer, instruetion program. Last year we graduated 30 local persons and 15 from other places from the safety course. We are also working on possible docking facilities for the club. Each second Friday of the month we have an informal luncheon for members and prospective members to discuss problems, aims, etc. We're going to have a New Year's Eve party. Our committee of Lois Hudson, Margaret Manning, Barb Berlage and Rosalie Menzies is workuig on it. Also Kate Brady, our vice commander, who handles shore activities. Jerry Leonard, the fleet captain, handles water activities.

COURIER: Who may join the Yacht Club, and what does it cost?

BARNES: We have an open membership for everyone interested in boating. Our membership is between 200 and 300 and we're taking 1976 memberships now. They cost $20 for the first year and $15 each year thereafter. Homer Brady is membership chairman. Application blanks may be obtained from him or from Jacquie Merta at the Chamber of Commeree office.

COURIER: Want to nuention anything else?

BARNES: Yes, Jack Malpeli is in charge of remodeling the depot building and he needs volunteers. He's doing a magnificent job.

Library notes

Remember Kon-Tiki and Aku-Aku—the marvelous true adventure stories written by Thor Heyerdahl? Now he has given us another incomparable tale, and it goes without saying that it will provide absorbing entertainment for every reader of every age.

When Dr. Heyerdahl was a 20th century Robinson Crusoe, he spent the year 1936 with his bride, Liv, on Fatu-Iliva in the primitive Marquesas Islands. Undecided about their future, the couple wanted to escape civilization and live strictly according to nature. With no medical supplies, they eame within inches of losing their lives, but they also found the natural serenity they were seeking. They built a bamboo cabin; dressed in loincloths, ate breadfruit, coconut and prawns, made fire by rubbing sticks together, and struggled against insects, rain and fatal diseases.

He was 23 years old when he wrote these thougots: "Here, unlike at home, we toil with our bodies and use our rested minds to enjoy all kinds of thoughts and emotions." At that time, he never intended to return to civilization, but fortunately for us, he did return and his books have beeome landmarks. 'Fatu-Hiva' is an experience worth waiting for.

'Seven Men of Gascony' by R.F. Delderfield is not a new book, but then nobody checks the publieation date of any book written by this master storyteller. It's enough to say this is another swashbuckling novel dealing with the defeats of Napoleon and the lives and loves, the battles and enjuring comradeship of seven soldiers. The reader moves from the smoke of the battlefields to the councils of the Emperor, from the fire of Moscow, to Paris occupied by the Russians, from the lives of French soldiers in captivity to the day-to-day concerns of ordinary Frenchmen and Frenchwomen at home. Delderfield, in any language, means fine entertainment.

'Humboldt's Gift' is a new novel by Saul Bellow. A lot has happened to him since he wrote Herzog. Now he's once again a writer who is fervently amused, even obsessed, by wordly issues of status, success, money and self regard—as they are experienced on the lovely, hypocritical island known as the American intellectual community. This is a dazzling, brilliant new book by an author who was won the National Book Award for fiction three times.

'Total Fitness in 30 Minutes' a Week is a new book which is currently on the best seller list. It is written by Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse, professor of exercise physiology and director of the Human performance laboratory at the Univ. of Calif. at Los Angeles. It is eo-authored by Leonard Gross who has published three books of his own. The book gives us the following guarantee: "Even if you haven't exercised once in the last 20 years, you are just two hours away from good physical condition—and at the end of 12 hours, you'll be in excellent shape by any standards." Who could ask for anything more! The book lays out a program geared to your way of life. Dr. Morehouse explains what real fitness is and how to achieve it at any age once and for all.

Methodist Church Plans Caroling

A community Christmas carol sing will be held at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church, Sunday, December 7, from 3 to 4 p.m.

Included in the one-hour program will be numbers by an adult community choir, by a high school choir, by a middle school girls' choir, and by a children's choir.

Vince Chew will play the guitar, and Mrs. Helen Moerland will sing a solo.

There will be special carols for children, and the congregation will sing Christmas carols and hymns.

This program is being sponsored by the Ministerial Association of Charlevoix. There will be refreshments served after the program. Everyone in the community is invited to attend.

Mail Carriers Ask For Clean Walks

The cold and snow of winter make traveling difficult for everyone, but for the mail carrier who must make his daily rounds under all conditions, it is especially difficult.

To this end, Charlevoix Postmaster Rex E. Davis is asking the cooperation of rural and suburban postal customers in helping to keep private roads passable and approaches to mail boxes clear.

"Postal customers are responsible for keeping approaches to their mail boxes clear of snow and other obstructions that would make mail delivery difficult or impossible," he said.

"Highway officials are responsible for keeping public roads passable and in good repair, but in areas where mail service is provided over roads not maintained by road authorities, the owner of the road is responsible."

Davis urges anyone with a question on winter weather road conditions and mail service to contact the Charlevoix post office.

Human Services asks for help

Volunteer aides needed to assist Special Education Teacher teaching mentally retarded adults in night course at Charlevoix High School. Can you spare 3 hours? If so, we want your name and number!

How would you like to be alone and elderly, knowing that not one person is going to pass your door to give you the time of day? It's not a pleasant thought, is it? Just a few hours of your time can brighten someone else's life. Volunteer ..you can do it in person or over the phone.

Can you provide transportation for people who would like to go to the Senior Center in East Jordan? Many people who used to walk to the Center are now cautious, and may elect to stay home rather than risk walking in the ice and snow. If you can get out in your car this Winter, why don't you do someone else a favor by taking them to the Senior Center?

Has the Christmas Spirit infused you with good will and humanity towards all? Well, prove it! Spend some of your TIME, not money, helping someone else. Volunteer. Give until it feels good

Education Helps Bring Home Bigger Paychecks

How much is it worth to the average Charlevoix County resident, solely in terms of prospective lifetime earnings, to go through high school and college?

Up to the present time it had been taken for granted that a good education produces great economic advantages. Government figures have shown that there is a progressive increase in income associated with each level of schooling.

Now, however, according to a research report by two college professors, the difference in earning power between the well-educated and the less-educated has declined considerably. The findings are by Dr. Richard Freeman of Harvard and Dr. J. Herbert Hollonion of M. I. T.

The root cause of the problem, they say, is "the failure of the economy to expand and provide high-paying jobs for the increasingly large number of college and university graduates."

Data from other sources, however, continues to show that there is a close connection between education and income and that each added year in school adds to a person's earning prospects.

In Charlevoix County, the latest figures show, the median amount of education being acquired is 12.1 years, as against the 1960 median of 10.6 years.

Some 53.0 percent of the local population over the age of 25 are listed as high school graduates and another 7.5 percent as college graduates.

Just how much the added education contributes to the earning capacity of Charlevoix County residents is indicated by national figures compiled by the Department of Commerce.

They show, in general, that a man who has had four years of college commands a lifetime income that is 58 percent greater than that of a high school graduate.

The high school graduate, in turn, earns about 39 percent more than one who has completed no more than eight years of elementary school.

Grapplers Set Pace For New Season

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team will launch its 1975-76 mat season this week with three home encounters in five days according to Coach Norm Probert.

The opening match will be at the high school gym at 6:30 p.m. Thursday when a strong Grayling Viking squad puts in an appearance.

The second annual Charlevoix Freshman-Sophomore tournament will be staged here all day Saturday and, on Monday, the Rayders will be entertaining the defending Michigan-Huron Shores league champions, the Rogers City Hurons, who are also defending district title holders.

Leading the Rayder grapplers this season will be lead captain, Gary Probert, and tri-captains, Terry Drew and Tim DeYoung. However, it may be some time before the latter two will see action for both are presently on crutches, Drew following surgery as the result of a football injury.

Hard hit by graduation, the Rayders will be depending on Dane Whitley, Rob Hilton, Chris Wimmer, Ron Shapton, along with Terry Drew and DeYoung, Probert said, adding that they would have to improve a great deal if they hoped to carry on the team's winning tradition.

Other letternen who are returning are Craig Golovich, Ron Hilton, Jeff Skelton, Mike Snizik and Don Trost. Numeral winners who are back and working hard for a starting position are Ed Bourke, Dan Bruce, Mark Byard, Greg Loper and Brad Snizik.

Another candidate is Hideki Yamazaki, a Japanese exchange student, who is presenting attempting to coordinate his black belt judo into U.S. style wrestling. "So far he looks impressive" Probert added.

With more than 40 candidates, the contestants will be working the challenge matches this week, each trying for a varsity assignment.

The Rayders' first opponent will be what Probert terms "the strongest team in the league, Grayling". The team boasts Jeff Schlnak, state champion in his weight class, plus Grant Byce, Carl Partello, Bill Kellogg and Don Vollmer.

More than 150 underclassmen from 11 area schools will be here Saturday for the second annual Freshman-Sophomore Invitational meet. Represented at the meet which will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday will be Boyne City, Elk Rapids, Gaylord, Glen Lake, Grayling, Hillman, Kalkaska, Mancelona, Onaway and Rogers City plus the Rayder squad.

Probert said the Charlevoix tournament is unique in that a school can enter any number of entries in any weight class in order to encourage young athletes to participate in the sport. Four mats will be used in the all-day meet which will be climaxed by the finals in each class during the evening.

On Monday, Dec. 8, Charlevoix will be hosting the league champs who have dominated the meetings of the two teams since the sport was introduced. Hard hit by graduation, Coach Probert is hopeful that this is the year for a win over the Hurons.

This week will open a 20-meet schedule along with three Freshman-Sophomore events. As a result, some grapplers will be wrestling every weekend from now into March with time out for the Christmas holidays.

A Mat Maid group is also being organized to assist with the clerical work involved in meets and tournaments, Probert said.

Varsity Loses to Harbor

The Charlevoix Rayder basketball team fell victim to the Charlie Paige basketball machine at Harbor Springs Tuesday night by a score of 67-49.

The Rayders, making their initial appearance under Coach Dave Moyer, trailed 14-12 at the quarter but were outscored 21-10 in the second period to fall behind 35-22 at halftime.

The Rams continued their attack for a 55-33 margin going into the final period.

Harbor Springs outscored Charlevoix 27-21 in the field goal department but connected on 13 of 23 charity shots while collecting 14 personal fouls. Charlevoix scored on seven of eight free throws but had 20 personal fouls.

Bud Klooster had 11 points and Bob Alger, Matt Doan and Brian Williams eight each as they lost the ball repeatedly to the height of the Rams. Dave Rhine had 18 points, Ed Kelbel 14 and Gary Morse 12 for the Rams.

Charlevoix will host Grayling here Friday and Rogers City on Tuesday.

The Charlevoix JV's were swamped Tuesday by a strong Harbor Springs quintet by a score of 89-57.

This week the Rayder JV's will be at home with Grayling on Friday and with Rogers City on Tuesday.

Playing at Harbor Springs Mike Morse and Tim Dickinson scored 24 points each and Mike Bodzick 22 as the Ram JV's rolled over Charlevoix 30-15; 46-31 and 74-39 by quarters.

Neil Dziedzic had 15 and Jim Elzinga 11 for Charlevoix.

CANDIDATES FOR THE Charlevoix high school wrestling team gathered recently for a team picture with their coach, Norm Probert. They are front row (l to r) Bill Trost, Brian Wimmer, Hideki Yamazaki, Norbert Scharenbroch, Gene Morrison, Lee DeMilchell, Mark Byard, Dave Golovich. Middle row: Tim DeYoung, Don Trost, Jeff Skellon, Brad Snizik, Dennis Whitley, Ande Keller, Ron Hilton, Terry Drew. Back row: Chris Wimmer, Craig Golovich, Rob Hilton, Gary Probert, Dane Whitley, Ron Shapton, Mike Snizik. Coach Probert. Gary Probert was elected lead captain and Tim DeYoung and Terry Drew tri-captains for the year by the candidates. Absent when the picture was taken were Mike Kitely, Dan Bruce, Greg Loper, Gary Charbeneau, Rich Borths and Scott Golovich, team manager.

Coast Guard Chief Warrant Officer Richard H. Ross, whose wife Charmaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cross Sr. of 118 E. Hurlbut St., Charlevoix, Mich., recently participated in the seizure of a Chinese Nationalist vessel in the Gulf of Alaska for violation of U.S. fishing laws.

He is a crewmember aboard the Const Guard Cutter Clover, homeported at Sitka, Alaska.

A former student of S.W. DeKalb High School, Decatur, Ga., he joined the Coast Guards in February 1959.

Navy Electronics Technician Third Class John D. Czarnecki, son of Mr. Joseph F. Czarnecki of Route 3, East Jordan, Mich., has embarked on a deployment of the North Atlantic and Mediterranean aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence, homeport at Norfolk, Va.

During the cruise he and his shipmates will participate in a variety of training exercises with the U.S. Sixth Fleet and NATO forces, and are scheduled to visit several European countries.

A 1973 Central Lake High School, Central Lake, Mich., he joined the Navy in December 1973.

U.S. Air Force Staff Sergeant Nuala R. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.P. Gardner of East Jordan, Mich., has arrived for duty at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Gardner, an administrative technician for the Air Force Military Personnel Center, previously served at Ramstein AB, Germany.

The sergeant is a 1967 graduate of Central Lake (Mich.) High School.

Navy Seaman Recruit Dale C. Moore, son of Mrs. Louis M. Wells of 206 Sheridan St., Charlevoix, Mich., was graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Classes include instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire-fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

Alumni Defeat Petoskey

The Charlevoix Alumni came through with an 84-73 victory over the Petoskey Alumni in the first annual Thanksgiving weekend event played for the benefit of the basketball programs at the two schools.

The game netted approximately $150 to be divided between the two schools, Dave Moyer, Charlevoix coach, said.

Behind the scoring of Stewart Coleman and Dennis Crain who had 16 points each, Charlevoix took an early lead and were ahead 19-14, 41-30 and 66-47 by quarters.

Bruce Meggisdon had 15, Kevin Swanson, 13, and Danny McKenzie, 10 for Charlevoix.

Dave Kalchik and Chris Weston came through with 16 each and Mike Davies 10 for Petoskey.

NED HENLEY, a 6-3, 194-pound senior from Charlevoix, is expected to see plenty of action for Ferris State College's basketball team when it opens its season November 28-29 at the Shrine Classic in Savannah, Georgia. Henley is beginning his third year of varsity competition for FSC. He appeared in all but one of Ferris' 27 games last season when the Bulldogs captured the NAIA District 23 championship. Ferris will lip-off its home season December 3 against Shaw College.

DECEMBER BIRTHSTONE: ZIRCON

John Reusch

Zircons come from the Thailand, Cambodia area of the world. The stones in their natural state are rather dull and their sparkling bluish-green color is only brought out after a heat treatment is applied. Actually, Zircon comes in blue, orange, brown, red, green, yellow and colorless; but the blue is by far the most popular.

Zircon is the only colored stone that is cut to exact specifications like diamonds. Other colored stones are cut in as near a style to the original rough shape as possible. Zircons, however, are cut to specific shapes and this has helped maintain their popularity by bringing forth the maximum brilliance from the stone.

For Zircon jewelry, see Reusch Jewelry.

Housing Commission Stalls Decision

The Charlevoix Housing Commission is going to "let things cool off u bit" before deciding whether or not to continue its association with Samuelson Community Services Company of Traverse City in developing a senior citizen housing project for Charlevoix.

Ralph Shapton of the Housing Commission made this statement to the Courier, saying the Commission had planned to meet next week to decide to wait a "couple of weeks" because of a number of questions which have arisen.

The question of the reliability of William Mateer, one of Samuelsnn's associates, arose a few weeks ago when it was charged that Residential Developers of Lansing, with whom Mateer was then associated, had abandoned a project in East Jordan without paying several thousands of dollars owed to subcontractors. Mateer was project director for the East Jordan development.

The East Jordan project is now being completed and Mateer has denied the allegations.

Think Snow

By PEG OHLE

Some older people wonder where they come from all of a sudden. Many younger people consider them an integral part of winter.

But, for all ages, snowmobiles have opened Michigan's winter wonderland to thousands of outdoor enthusiasts. Whether it be for a ride to enjoy the winter landscape or a longer trip for a picnic, cookout or overnight camping, a whole new realm of outdoor entertainment and exercise has come into being.

A recent study shows that in April, 1974 there were 387,668 registered snowmobiles in the state of Michigan. These are being used not only on the open farm lands but on the six and one-half million acres of state and federal forest lands available for snowmobiling.

There are many makes and types of snowmobiles, as well as many dealers. What kind of machine to buy and from whom is a matter of personal choice, but, us well dealer points out, several things should be taken into consideration when making u purchase.

First, is it going to be used for short rides around home or for longer trips and racing? How large is your family? Are you going to tow children in a cutter or camping gear in a sled?

Obviously, towing and racing require a higher horsepower machine than a spin through the fields by one or two people.

Snowmobile Costs

The average snowmobile costs about $1,000. It needs to be taken care of and serviced regularly. Is the dealer you are talking business with equipped to give this service and furnish parts when necessary?

Due to the keen competition in the snowmobile industry, niany manufacturers have gone out of business in the last two or three years. Many of their machines are still available but parts and service will become increasingly difficult to obtain as time goes by.

There are many rules and regulations concerning the operation of snowmnbiles, copies of which may be obtained from the locol Sheriff's department. However, these dealing with operation by children is especially pertinent at this time.

A young person who is at leost 12 but less than 16 years of age may operate a snowmobile only if: (a) he is under the direct supervision of a person who is 18 years of age or older; or if (b) he has in his Immediate possession a snowmobile safety certificate; or (c) he is on land owned or under the control of his parent or legal guardian.

In order to qualify for o safety certificate, a young person must take a course of instruction and pass a test administered by the Sheriff's department. The class and test will be available to Charlevoix area students some time after the 10th of December in the Charlevoix Middle school. All students will be advised of the exact time.

Safety Code

The basic snowmobile safety code covers everything from keeping the machine in topnotch mechanical condition to the wearing of proper clothing to withstand varying weather conditions.

Warmth and comfort are key words in snowmobile clothing. The snowmobiler should dress according to the anticipated wind-chill factor, not just the temperature. That's because the combination of wind and temperature when traveling at 30 to 40 miles an hour results in actual chilling much greater than the thermometer indicates.

The snowmobiler should wear multiple layers of clothing, rather than one thick layer. This allows air to be trapped inside clothing, forming insulation from the cold. It also allows him to remove a layer at a time should the temperature rise.

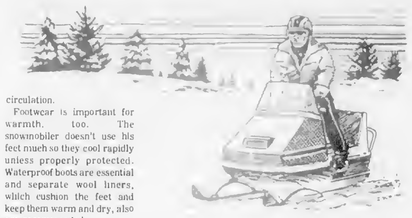
Tight outer or under clothing that cuts circulation should be avoided, as should scarves, loose bells or bulky pant legs that could be snagged by moving machine parts or tree limbs.

Proper handwear is also important. Mittens are warmer than gloves, though some people prefer the full use of their fingers provided by gloves. An in-between two-finger mitt is an alternate choice. Regardless of style, handwear should be loose enough for warmth, but tight enough to allow the driver to close his hands over the controls without restricting circulation.

Footwear is important for warmth, too. The snowmobiler doesn't use his feet much so they cool rapidly unless properly protected. Waterproof boots are essential and separate wool liners, which cushion the feet and keep them warm and dry, also are recommended.

Approved helmet are a "must" to protect the snowmobiler from weather as well as injury. Snowmobile helmets are designed so face shields can be attached to help prevent windburn, frostbite and snowblindness, as well as to protect the eyes from injury caused by tree branches or flying debris. There are tinted shields and goggles to match conditions: yellow for cloudy days, smoke for sunny days and clear for snowmobiling at night.

With Christmas season approaching, any of the above clothing items might be appropriate gifts for the snowmobiler. There are also a number of snowmobile accessories that might be appreciated, such as back rests, covers, electric starters, side view mirrors and speedometers.



Merry Christmas to my loving_____

Live Plants Make Good Holiday Gift

Living house plants are ideal Christmas decorations.

Some can be treated like Christmas trees, decorated with small, lightweight ornaments. They not only last longer than the traditional cut evergreen but are not fire hazards, says Jesse Saylor, Michigan State University horticulturist.

Plants particularly suited for decorating purposes are parlor palms (Chamaedorea elegans), dieffenbachia (Diffenbachia picta), schefflera (Schefflera actinophylla), rubber plants (Ficus elastica) and Norfolk Island Pine (Areucaria excelsa).

These plants are favorite large-scale houseplants because they are well adapted to an indoor climate. None need special treatment. Average home temperatures and humidity are sufficient, though dieffenbachia, rubber plants and Norfolk Island pine benefit from higher humidity.

The only care problem most people experience with these plants is overwatering, Saylor observes. Schefflera and dieffenbachia should be watered only when soil surface feels dry. The others should be kept evenly moist but not soggy.

Other houseplants need not be decorated to provide holiday beauty. The blooms of the Christmas cactus, the poinsettia and the cyclamen as well as the colorful fruit of the Jerusalem cherry and Christmas pepper will add a touch of living color to any room.

Houseplants make ideal Christmas gifts, especially for friends and relatives who live out of town, since they can be ordered through local florists who telegraph or telephone orders to place of destination.

County Aging Commission Plans Meeting on Nutrition Program

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging will meet today to discuss how it wants to handle its Nutrition Program.

Up to now, the county has been working with Antrim, Emmet and Kalkaska counties with a single project director under the Northwest Area Agency on Aging in Traverse City.

However, differences with the project director, Wes Payne of Kalkaska, resulted in his firing.

Now, the Commission on Aging is considering three alternatives. County Commissioner Martin Paul reports that one of the alternatives is for the county to administer its own program, receiving its funds direct from the State Commission on Aging.

Whether or not this is permissible under federal and state guidelines for disbursements of funds is not certain. However, State Director Ron Kivi told the Courier that this is "a remote possibility". Under such a plan the county would have to pay the salary of a full-time director. The County Commission on Aging now has a director, Art Saworski, who devotes part of his time to the Nutrition Program and part to the Bus Transportation Program. However, he is employed under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and his job is funded only through June, 1976.

If more CETA funds are not forthcoming and if the county designates Snworski the Nutrition Program project director, his salary would have to come from county funds.

Another possibility reportedly under consideration is for Charlevoix County to join with Emmet and Antrim counties, hiring Luedle Kaner of the Antrim County Social Services Department to direct the Nutrition Program for all three counties, temporarily. If this were to be done, Kalkaska County would operate separately.

Still another possibility would be for the three counties to merge with Northwest Michigan Human Services of Traverse City, who administer the Nutrition Program in six other Northwestern Michigan counties. Clyde Scott of this orgonization has been invited to attend this week's County Commission on Aging meeting.

Approximately 4,000 senior citizens in the four-county aren have been participating in the Nutrition Program. In Charlevnix County twn meals a week are served in Charlevoix and Boyne City and one day a week in East Jordan. It is anticipated that the East Jordan program will soon be extended to two meals a week.

REA Gets Loan

The Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc., which serves Charlevoix and 16 other counties in the northern lower peninsula, has been granted a loan of $8,400,000.

These federal loan funds will be used in financing extensive new transmission lines, nine new substations plus increased capacity of existing substations, a new 400 kilowatt standby plant on Beaver Island and general improvements to transmission and generation facilities.

Announcement of the grant was made last week by Congressman Philip Ruppe.

Jean Belfy Honored By NMU

Jean Belfy of Route 1, Charlevoix, is one of 74 Northern Michigan Universlty students who will be honored by the university for their outstanding scholastic achievements at a dinner this Thursday evening.

Miss Belfy is a senior music education major.

Shop in Charlevoix for Christmas Bargains

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix stores are full of Christmas gift items and there is something for everybody!

This year, instead of wandering aimlessly up and down the streets, why not make a shopping list of gift possibilities by categories?

For instance, consider sportsmen. If you're looking for something for a skier, snowmobiler, fisherman, boater or hunter, there's a wide range of selections in all price brackets. Go to the sports shops, gift shops and hardware stores. This is sports country and the proprietors of local stores know what is newest and most popular.

Clothing is always an appreciated gift and with proper thought you can find the right article for anyone on your list. Charlevoix stores have a good supply of clothes for men, women and children, everything from dress-up to everyday garments. A trip along Bridge Street from one end to the other reveals windows full nf fashionable and practical clothing.

Gifts for the home are too numerous to mention. They range from furniture and home furnishings and accessories to electrical appliances, large and small, to sewing machines and house plants. Many types of merchandise have been on the market for years and others are new enough to excite the most modern homemaker. At least a dozen stores in Charlevoix handle something in this category.

Toys are standard gifts for children and grown-ops alike. There are cuddly animals and dolls for the youngest ones and bicycles for the older ones. There are games and handicrafts and educational objects. No Christmas tree is complete without an array of toys under it, and Charlevoix merchants have the toys.

For personal gifts with an extra touch of luxury or niceness local stores have a fine selection of jewelry and watches, even furs. Less expensive items of this type such as perfumes and toilet goods are available in drug stores and gift shops.

Hobbyists like gifts that can be used in pursuit of their pastimes. Whether it be the person who sews, embroiders, knits, crochets, paints, does woodworking or works with citizen's band radios, there are materials, patterns, kits and tools.

The business mon or woman will like something he or she can use in the office or at home. Local stores have desk supplies, pens, typewriters, calculators, record-keeping equipment and many other items to make running o business more efficient.

For the music-lover, gift suggestions include records, tapes and tape recorders, stereo and hi-fi sets, and all kinds of accessories to go with them.

Most people like to read, and the book selection is better than ever. Paperback and hardcover titles include fiction to stir the imagination and non-fiction on all kinds of practical subjects, including money-handling and cooking. Special "art" books on nature subjects add a touch of beauty to any coffee table or book shelf.

Obviously, the above suggestions are just samples of the many gift items available in Charlevoix. A little browsing here and there will reveal many more.

Oh, yes, when buying Christmas decorations for your own use you might find something someone on your list would like - a special tree ornament, a wreath, a wall hanging or knicknack by which you'll be remembered for Christmascs to come.

Students Given Shots

Students in the 9th grade of Charlevoix High School will be offered booster shots for diptheria and tetanus next Monday morning at the school.

The shots will be given by the nursing staff of the District Health Department.

Members of the 9th grade class have received forms for parents' signatures so they may receive the shots.

Government Spending Up in Charlevoix County

The financial predicament in which New York finds itself and the repercussions that it is having in many directions has led to second looks being taken at the spending patterns in Charlevoix County and elsewhere.

Are local residents paying a high or a low price for the conduct of their government? How much does it cost them per capita in state and local taxes compared with what the cost is in other communities of its size?

Size appears to be an important factor in the cost of governmental operations, both for counties and for municipalities, according to recent reports by the Department of Commerce and others.

"Surprisingly," states Robert Brown, director of the Tax Foundation, "the figures covering 1973 show that the smaller cities are the most economical with the taxpayers' funds.

"Cities under 50,000 population spend an average of $158 per year per capita for services. But in cities over a million the average is $682 per capita."

Among counties, also, local expenditures vory widely, ranging from $421 per capita for those under 25,000 to $680 for those over 250,000.

In Charlevoix County, based upon the latest figures, general expenditures for local services amount to approximately $525 per capita.

By way of comparison, the average in other counties of its size in the United States, 10,000 to 25,000 population, is $407 per capita. The overall national average for all counties, irrespective of size, is $575 and, in the State of Michigan, $610.

In most counties, the services covered by these expenditures include education, highways, public welfare, health, fire and police protection, sanitation and urban renewal among others.

The high rates in certain communities are attributed to special local condition, such as unusually large welfare costs, housing problems and the like.

As for the revenue to finance these outlays, close to $368 per capita was collected in Charlevoix County in local taxes and charges, the rest coming from Federal and state payments.

Band Trip Brings Good Feelings

EDITOR'S NOTE: Charlevoix High School Senior Jim Berlage was among the Charlevoix Marching Band members who played in Green Bay last weekend. The following is his account.

By JIM BERLAGE

The friendship of two 1964 Charlevoix High School graduates has kindled a warm relationship between two high schools nearly 300 miles apart.

Both 1969 graduates of Northern Michigan University

Jim Berlage

(NMU), high school band teachers Gary Stutzman of Charlevoix and Bruce Kroken of Peshtigo, Wisconsin are passing down their friendship to their band students.

The two bands from Charlevoix and Peshtigo are 300 miles apart and both be in different states. Yet over the past two years, a sense of comradery has developed.

The past two summers Charlevoix has hosted the Pehstigo Bulldogs for a week-long marching band camp under the leadership of Tim Lautzenheiser of the University of Wisconsin. Each camp focused on marching skills as well as preparation for two outstanding feature shows written by "Mr. L." and performed by the sister bands together as one marching unit.

Last year the Rayders and Bulldogs performed a postgame feature at NMU in Marquette. In May, looking towards bigger and better things, inquiries and letters were sent regarding a second Peshtigo / Charlevoix performance--this time at a NFL pro game. In August all arrangements were finalized and the performance was scheduled for the November 30 NFL football game between the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears.

As the big day approached, 60 game tickets finally came through last Wednesday, and many band fans from Peshtigo, Charlevoix and Petoskey were among the 45,000 present at Sunday's game.

The Rayders left Charlevoix on Friday morning after Thanksgiving and arrived at Peshtigo at 3 p.m. Wisconsin time. Rehearsal outside was dampened somewhat by a very dismal day, rain and a very muddy and water-soaked football field. However due to the generosity of a local bank, rehearsal went on as planned--in the bank parking lot and side street in downtown Peshtigo.

The final day of truth dawned, and Sunday morning the bands applied the finishing touches to the performance on an astroturf practice field adjacent to the stadium. Just prior to game time the temperature at Lambeau Field was 29 degrees. Winds of 25 MPH brought the chill factor down to a bitter -10 degrees.

Before an audience of 45,000 football fans the show went on under near blizzard conditions. The bands performed a dynamic and varied show of patriotism and nostalgia.

The end has come--the long-awaited performance thus brought to the close over 200 hours of rehearsals. It was hot and cold, rain and snow, morning, noon and night. Rehearsals and ideas became reality and the final performance.

A new chapter in Charlevoix's history is complete. Never before has a Charlevoix band performed at a pro game. Never before has Lambeau Field in Green Bay seen a halftime show performed together by two bands, stunted 300 miles apart.

Many goals were accomplished, many friendships were formed, and many experiences became true and real. Never before are so many "thank you's" to be said to the many people who made it all possible. I say a big "thank you" to all who made the past two marching band years in Peshtigo and Charlevoix so great and memorable.

State Highway Head to Visit Charlevoix

Michigan Highway Commission Chairman Peter B. Fletcher will be making a one-day whirlwind visit through Charlevoix Monday.

County Clerk Clarence Raback says the Ypsilanti resident will be meeting with a half dozen groups during his visit.

One of Michigan's leading Republicans, Fletcher is personally a national committeeman for Michigan and chairman of the Michigan Committee to re-elect President Ford.

A life-long resident of Ypsilanti, Fletcher is President of the Ypsilanti Credit Bureau, Inc. and a director of the National Bank of Ypsilanti.

While in Charlevoix, Fletcher plans to meet with Charlevoix High School government students, Charlevoix County Road Commissioners and the Charlevoix County Planning Commission.

He will also speak at a Charlevoix Kiwanis dinner meeting and talk to members of the Charlevoix County Republican Party at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse.

Fletcher was appointed for a four-year term to the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation Commission on September 13, 1972 and was named chairman of the commission last July by Governor William G. Milliken.

The 43-year-old state official graduated from the University of Michigan in 1954 with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

He formerly served as director of the Ypsilanti Area Industrial Development Corporation, Peoples Community Hospital Authority and the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce.

As a Republican, he was chairman of the Ypsilanti City Republican Committee, Washtenaw County Republican Committee, Second Congressional District Republican Party and served as chairman of the Michigan Republican State Convention in 1968.

Local Coast Guardsman Retires after 22 Years

At a formal ceremony and personnel inspection held Friday aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, Senior Chief Machinist Technician James R. Morris was retired after 22 years in the service.

Chief Morris, who had served aboard the CGC Sundew since November 1972, will move to South Hill, Fla., to make his home. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Morris.

Mr. Morris enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve at Traverse City in June 1953 and, after two years, went on active status. He has served at Two Rivers; at the Rawley Point, Wis., light station; Poverty Island, Mich., light station; CG Station at Milwaukee; aboard the USCGC Hollyhock in Milwaukee and CGC Mesquite in Sturgeon Bay, Wis. In October 1962 he was assigned to the CGC Balsam at Ketchikan, Alaska, and after two years went to the CGC Clover, also in Alaska for a year before returning to the CGS Station at Port Washington, Wis. in July, 1965. In April 1969 he was assigned to the CGC Courier at Rhodes, Greece, where he served until October, 1972. During this period he received a temporary assignment to take the CGC Chincoteague to Vietnam. From the CGC Courier, he came to the CGC Sundew here in Nov. 1972.

Chief Morris has received five CG Good Conduct medals, the last two on April 30, 1969, and April 29, 1973; two CG Unit Commendation Awards, both while attached to the CGC Courier, and the National Defense Service Medal in October 1967.

At the retirement ceremony at which Lt. CMDR Roger R. Roznoski officiated, Chief Morris received plaques and a gift from the officers and crew of the ship.

Obituary

Funeral services for Dan A. McSawhy, 83, who died Wednesday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where he had been a patient since May, 1970, were held Saturday at St. Mary's church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. McSawhy was born in Charlevoix May 10, 1892, attended the Charlevoix high school and, at the age of 20 years, became a letter carrier with the Charlevoix postoffice, a position he held until his retirement in 1940. He was said to have been the first American Indian to fill such a position in the U.S. Post Office Department. He was a member of St. Mary's church. His wife, Delia, preceded him in death.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Mary Washegesic of Charlevoix; three sons, Alex and Louis of Charlevoix and Fred of Hanes City, Fla. 13 grandchildren; 17 great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Walter Howe of Charlevoix.

The rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Friday evening.

Alvin John

Funeral services for Alvin W. "Junior" John, 39, who died Thursday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where he had been a patient for a month, were held Saturday at St. Mary's church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

The rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Friday evening.

Born in Charlevoix June 28, 1936, Mr. John had always resided here. He never married. He was a member of St. Mary's church.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs John (Shirley) Morales of Chicago, and Mrs. Walter (Mary Lou) Cook of Charlevoix and a brother, Richard L. John, also of Charlevoix.

Youth Demand Hearing on Kidnapping

Two Muskegon area youths demanded examination Monday when they appeared before District Judge David W. Fershee on charges of kidnapping and unarmed robbery.

They are David W. Lowder, 18, Muskegon who was apprehended by Muskegon police and returned here by Sheriff Philo E. Sumner Thursday and Patriek L. Benigan, 18, North Muskegon, who turned himself in to the Sheriff's Department Friday.

They are charged with kidnapping Mark R. lusk, 18, from his Pine Point home on Nov. 17 and forcing him to collect his paycheck at a Petoskey factory and to ask for refunds he had made on a car at the Charlevoix Oil Co. here and on car insurance at Elzinga Insurance and taking the money which totaled $129. Lusk was returned safely before the pair fled from the area.

The original bonds of $10,000 each set Friday by Magistrate Howard Talboys were reduced to $5,000 each with $500 cash deposit and $4,500 signed security by Judge Fershee.

Lowder was released Monday afternoon after furnishing bond.

No date has been set for the examinations.

ubout it," said acting administrator Robert Wexstaff.

Council indicated they would rather see only basic improvements made, such as repair of steps to the beach and parking.

City officials said they would meet with the club next week to discuss the proposed project future.

In other action, council:

--Agreed to sell industrial park property along Wool Street across from Charlevoix Chemical Company to Dynamic Wood Products for the construction of a new plant to manufacture wooden door frames. Purchase price was $12,500.

--Agreed to earmark $17,897.25 from General Revenue Sharing Money to the newly formed Charlevoix Shade Tree Commisslon for purchase of trees and necessary maintenance of existing trees.

--Increased the base rate for emergency ambulance service from $15 to $20.

--Learned that heat had been turned back on at LaCroft Condominiums after the city received $5,316.31 for past due electrical service charges.

--Heard a report from Mayor Ed Hansen that he met with Clarence Samuelson of Traverse City and that Charlevoix's chance of getting a grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for senior citizen housing look favorable.

--Agreed to hire Hill Woodcock and Distel as new city auditors.

will be able to get him into an art program being taught in New Mexico for Indians. In the meantime, he hopes to find a local sign painter who might want to hire him.

"My buddy saw one guy, who said he didn't want to hire a jail bird," Miron said.

"That's the kind of thing you face when you've got a record."

Ski Resorts

nearby motels available.

"We look to the best seasnn ever," Petritz says. "Bookings are up 28 percent and season ticket sales have jumped up 34 percent."

Reservations at Schuss Mountain are up 12 percent, according to Sally Hebdon, spokesperson, who says that the biggest improvement is in the midweek family vacations. Rooms are about three-quarters reserved for the holidays she says.

Such places as the Weathervane Inn and the Lodge in Charlevoix, the Holiday Inn in Petoskey and the Park Place Motor Inn in Traverse City all reflect this prosperous outlook as do area Chambers of Commerce.

James Johnson, Innkeeper, says the Petoskey Holiday Inn's 147 rooms are sold out for the holiday season and for every weekend through January and February.

"To be sold out this early is great," Johnson enthuses. "From the looks of it we're going to do as well if not better this ski season as we did last year and that was our best."

TO ALL CREDITORS OF THE EMERGENCY UNIT SERVICE (Ambulance) OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

Please be advised that all Emergency Unit Service (Ambulance) billings must be paid at once or the City of Charlevoix will be forced to turn these accounts over to a Collection Agency.
Please drop your check in the mail so that no further action will be necessary.

Lyle S. King, City Clerk.

FAITH SEES PROMISE IN THE WHITE WORLD OF WINTER

When Winter's sun with slanting rays of light
Reveals a world arrayed in glistening white,
Where barren trees and snow-clad peaks beyond
Are mirrored in an ice-encrusted pond,
Some see it only as the year grown old
The earth devoid of life, so dead and cold.
A dormant land where nothing seems to grow
And future hopes lie buried in the snow
But those of faith see beauty in this scene:
Through Church they know that one day it will mean
A miracle that God will always bring
The new rebirth of life that's known as Spring.

— Gloria Nowak

"While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."
— Genesis 8:22

ALICE'S CHEESE SNACKS
½ lb. mild cheddar cheese (shredded)
¼ lb. butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon red pepper (powdered)
1 cup flour
¾ cup chopped pecans

Let all ingredients sit for one hour at room temperature. When soft, mix well and shape into logs. Wrap in wax paper and chill for two hours. Slice thin and then bake at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes. Store in air-tight container. A spicy appetizer!

BEEF 'N WINE SAUCE

1 to 2 lbs. boneless sirloin steak (cubed)
2 tablespoons oil
1 envelope Mushroom Gravy mix (¾ oz. size)
¾ cup water
¼ cup port wine
2 tablespoons orange marmalade
1 can whole onions (1 lb. size)
White rice (cooked)

Brown steak in oil in large skillet. Blend in gravy mix right from envelope. Stir in water, wine and marmalade and onions. Cook 10 minutes over medium heat. Serve on rice. Goes well with crisp, green tossed salad! Serves 6-8 persons.

THREE-LAYER GELATIN SALAD

1st Layer: 1 pkg. Raspberry jello (3 oz. size)
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
1 can whole cranberry sauce
Mix and let set.

2nd Layer: 1 pkg. Orange jello (3 oz. size)
1 cup hot water
1 cup orange juice
1 pkg. (3 oz.) creamed cheese (whipped soft)
1 pkg. Dream whip (whipped)

Mix and let set.

3rd Layer:
1 pkg. Lime jello (3 oz. size)
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 cup diced celery
1 cup white grapes (canned)
Mix and let set.
Use a large bowl, as this serves many.

2-4 oz. dates
1½ slices candied pineapple
½ pound red candied cherries
½ pound pecans
½ pound citrus fruit

Sift together and over the fruit:
1½ cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix fruit and dry ingredients, coating each piece. Beat three eggs until frothy, and then add ¾ cup sugar and beat well. Add to the fruit mixture. Sprinkle mixture with cinnamon, allspice, cloves and nutmeg. Stir well.

Pour into loaf pan, (8½ x 4½ x 2½), which has been greased and lined with greased brown paper.

Bake 1½ hours at 275 degrees. Cool at room temperature. Wrap and store in foil.

Jane Fiedler Suggests her Christmas Salad

By Jane Fiedler
Charlevoix

Walnut Christmas Tree Salad

Make a favorite green gelatin salad, like with lime jello and cream cheese or cottage cheese and pineapple, and a few nuts.

BUT cool ungreased pie pan.

Chill WELL, till firm enough to cut.

Cut in 6 or 8 wedges; nest on lettuce.

Cut a square of cranberry sauce (plain) for a base at large end of wedge. Top it with a whole wainut half meat.

Trim three with few halves of red cherries and strips of green to look like few branches.

Cereal Christmas Trees

Cook ¼ cup butter

½ pound (about 2-½ dozen) marshmallows over boiling water until syrupy, stirring frequently.

Measure 5 cups Rice Krispies into a large bowl that has been butteed.

Pour marshmallow mixture on cereal, stirring briskly to mix.

Pack lightly into cone shaped drinking cups or ice cream cups, which you have buttered inside.

Insert a wooded skewer or small candy cane in center to form a trunk of tree.

When cool, gently remove paper cups; roll trees in confetti candies or colored sugar. Push end of skewer or candy cane into a gum drop or half of a small apple.

Makes 9 Christmas trees.

Cranberry Fruit Bread

Combine:

Juice of one orange, and 1 tablespoon grated rind, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, and enough water to make ¾ cup juice; then stir in 1 beaten egg.

Sift 2 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 1-½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 tsp salt.

Pour juice mixture into dry mixture, mixing just enough to dampen well.

Fold in 2 cups Fresh cranberries, cut in ½ or a can of whole cranberry sauce, and ½ cup chopped nuts.

Spoon into greased oaf pan (9x5x3) spread well Into corners and around edges.

Bake in moderate oven (350) 50 to 60 minutes. Cool. Remove from pan. Store overnight for easy slicing.

Keeps moist for days. Freezes well, too.

Cranberry Festival Cake

Cream ½ cup shortening and 1 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add 1 egg.

Sift 2 cups sifted all purpose flour

2 teaspoons baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

Stir 1 teaspoon vanilla into ¾ cup milk

Add dry ingredients to other mixtures.

Fold in 1 cup Fresh cranberries or 1 cup whole canned cranberries.

Pour into greased 8 by 8 square pan or similar size. Sprinkle with sugar and bake in 350 degree oven 45 to 50 minutes.

Prune Ring

A holiday dessert

Mix like an ordinary cake.

¾ cup sugar

¼ cup shortening

1 egg

Sift 1-½ cup flour

½ teaspoon soda

½ teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon cinnamon

Add with ½ cup prune juice

Then 1 cup cooked prunes, chopped

½ cup chopped nuts

If one cares for it, add ¼ cup chopped crystalized lemon peel

Bake in a loaf or tube pan 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve with jelly sauce or hard sauce.

Jelly sauce

Combine in top of double boiler, ¾ cup jelly, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoon hutter oleo, to melt jelly. Blend thoroughly. Serve hot over prune ring. (Good cold too).

PARFAIT

Dissolve one pkg. jello in one cup boiling water

Add 2 ice cubes and dissolve

Add 1 cup ice cream or sherbert

SHAKE and let set for five minutes

Walker Miles Has A Cookie Recipe For Holiday Delight

By Walker A. Miles
Charlevoix

On my iast call at the Courier office, it was mentioned that I should give you and the public, my recipe for making cookies. It is the most simple and yet, versatile, of any I have tried as it is actually made up of the best of hundreds of recipes.

First is the BASE;

1 C shortening (I use margarine and let it soften at room temp.)

1 C white sugar

1 C brown sugar

2 eggs

2 C flour

1 t soda

½ t baking powder

½ t salt

1 t flavoring (any you like best)

Heat oven at 375. Place the above in the mixer and beat at low and medium speeds until thoroughly combined (this is so the flour won't fly) and I use a rubber spatula to keep the mixture to the center of the mixer. Then for a couple minutes I mix it at high speed.

After the above is smooth, I take the bowl to the table and fold in the remaining ingredients, which may, as follows;

1 C chopped nuts. (Any type you may have on hand, or prefer) (or coconut)

4 C any dry cereal (Rice Krispies, Cheerios, Corn Flakes, Wheaties, Instant Oats, etc.)

From ½ to 1 C of Peanut butter may be added to the first mix, if desired.

The base, is the important part. All the rest is to suit your personal taste.

Drop on ungreased sheets, by rounded teaspoonfuls 2" apart and bake 10-12 minutes, or until browned to your taste. Take from oven, let stand 3-5 minutes before removing from sheet.

Many of the good cooks in Charlevoix will probably want to shoot me for telling you all this, as part of the recipe they use may appear above, and I give them the credit, they gave me the idea.

Mrs. Rose Anderson Suggests Breads

This is a very good recipe, especially for this holiday season. It freezes good, in fact, freezing even brings out the flavor. It keeps well, if you can keep your family away from it! This came from an old friend.

Pumpkin Bread

Oven 350 degrees

1 2/3 c sifted flour

¼ t baking powder

1 t soda

¾ t salt

½ t cinnamon

½ t nutmeg

1/3 cup shortening

1 2/3 c sugar

½ t vanilla

2 eggs

1 c canned mashed pumpkin

1/3 c water

½ c chopped wainuts or pecans

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla until light.

Add eggs one at a time, heating thoroughly after each addition; stir in pumpkin.

Stir in dry ingredients in 4 portions alternately with water, just until smooth.

Do not over beat. Fold in nuts.

Turn batter into a greased 9 x 5 x 3 loaf pan and bake in 350 degree oven 45-55 minutes or until tester comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack. Turn right side up and cool thoroughly.

LAZY DAY STEW

Carrots and potatoes to personal taste

1½ lb. stew meat

1 large can tomatoes

5 medium-sliced onions

seasoning (wine if you want)

2 tablespoon tapioca

Place in a tightly covered dish at 250 degrees F. for 3 hours stew meat, tomatoes, onions, seasoning and tapioca. Add cut up potatoes and carrots. Cover and cook 1 hour more. This is great for those of you with a "crock pot".

Apple Roll

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 cup flour
2 tsp. Baking Powder
½ tsp. salt
about 1/3 cup milk
2 tsp. shortening
2 cups peeled and chopped apples
1/3 cup sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon

Boil sugar and water 5 minutes. Pour into 9 in. large cake pan. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt three times. Cut shortening into dry ingredients until mixture is the consistency of coarse corn meal. Add milk all at once and stir until soft dough is formed. Put dough on slightly floured board. Knead lightly, then pat it until it is about 4 in. in thickness. Cover dough with apples and sprinkle sugar and cinnamon over top. Roll dough like jelly roll and then cut roll into six slices. Put slices in syrup in pan. Bake preheat oven 425 degrees about 25 minutes.

Second Day Turkey Can Be Pretty Good

Second day turkey dishes can be as delicious in their own way as the holiday bird itself. The right flavor accents and a good cream sauce work the gourmet magic. Thicken the sauce with cornstarch to be sure of smooth consistency.

TURKEY CASSEROLE

5 tablespoons margarine
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
½ green pepper, sliced
2 tablespoons Argo cornstarch
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teospoon salt
2 cups milk
3 cups cooked cubed turkey
¼ cup sliced olives
2 tablespoons white wine, optional
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Melt 3 tablespoons of the margarine in skillet. Add mushrooms and green pepper. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender. Remove from heat and place in a 2-quart casserole. In a saucepan, mix together cornstarch, paprika, pepper and salt. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, comes to a boil and boils 1 minute. Remove from heat. Add turkey, olives and wine, if desired. Mix well. Pour over vegetables in casserole. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons margarine and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle over turkey mixture. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Offers Array of Color

Deck Your Holiday Table with Appetizers

Deck your holiday table with an array of colorful appetizers. The spectacular is a Tuna Christmas Tree-a nippy combination of cream cheese, tuna, lemon juice, capers, walnuts and spices. A garland of parsley leaves and pimento circles decorate the tree.

TUNA CHRISTMAS TREE

2 pkgs. (8 oz. each) cream cheese, at room temperature
3 cans (6 ½ to 7 oz. ea.) tuna in vegetable oil
4 t. lemon juice
4 t. grated onion
2 T. drained capers
¼ cup finely chopped ripe olives
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
¼ t. salt
⅛ t. pepper
1½ t. dry mustard
½ t. dried leaf thyme parsley leaves pimento cut into tiny circles pimento star

In large mixing bowl soften cream cheese. Drain tuna very well and mix with cream cheese. Stir in lemon juice, onion, capers, olives, walnuts, salt, pepper, dry mustard and thyme. Mold in the shape of a Christmas tree about 6 inches high and 4 inches in diameter at the base. Chill. Transfer to small serving plate. Decorate with a garland of small parsley leaves inserted into the tuna mixture and add pimento circles as ornaments. Place pimento star on top. Serve with bread rounds, melba toast or plain crackers. Makes 24 appetizer servings.

Drain fruit cocktail; save syrup. Combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and cloves. Add syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add drained fruit cocktail, lemon juice and orange rind; heat. serve over duckling.

Wash, drain and dry duckling. Sprinkle ½ t. salt over neck and body cavities. Cook onion and celery slowly in butter until tender but not brown. Pour vegetable mixture over bread cubes. Add egg and hot water; mix gently. Add remainlng ½ t. salt, poultry seasoning and pepper; mix well. Fill neck and body cavities loosely with stuffing. Skewer neck skin to back. Cover opening of body cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake at 325 degree oven until drumstick is very tender, about 2½ to 3 hours, Serve

Pronounced Saw-see-shew-broches

Saucijzenbrookjes--A New Dinner Dish

SAUCIJZENBROOKJES
(pronounced: Saw-see-shen-broches)
3 eggs (2 if large)
2 lbs. of sausage meat
¾ c. of rush or bread crumbs
1 t. salt
Enough milk to make mixture soft

Dough for Rolls:
4 c. flour (sifted)
2 T. baking powder
1 c. of Crisco
1 T. salt
1½ c. milk

Dough must be soft. Roll not too thick–but not too paper thin. Cut in squares, about 2½ in. Put in each square a roll of the sausage mixture using a good tablespoonful to make roll. Pinch edges together. Brush over with milk. This makes them brown more evenly. Cook in hot oven, about 400 degrees for one-half hour or until sausage is done and rolls a golden brown. Makes about 35. (Terrific for cocktail parties...and can be used as a dinner dish)

Some More Dishes

GUACAMOLE BEEF ROLLS

Try Anise Orange Bread

ANISE ORANGE BREAD

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup milk
½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
¼ cup sugar
1½ T. orange rind
1 T. anise seed, crushed
½ t. salt
⅛ t. mace
⅛ t. nutmeg
1 egg, beaten
2½ to 3 cups all-purpose flour

Sprinkle yeast over warm water. In a saucepan scald milk; pour into mixing bowl. Add butter, sugar, orange rind, anise seed, salt, mace and nutmeg. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in dissolved yeast and egg. Add 1½ cups flour; beat well (an electric mixer can be used up to this point). Gradually add enough remaining flour to form a soft dough. On floured surface knead dough until smooth and satiny. Place in buttered bowl; brush with melted butter. Cover and allow to stand in warm place until doubled. Punch down. Divide dough in thirds. On lightly floured surface, shape each piece into rope 18 inches long; braide. Tuck ends under; place in a buttered 9x5x2 ¾ inch loaf pan. Cover and allow to stand in warm place until doubled. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until loaf sounds hollow when tapped. Turn out of pan onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf. While still slightly warm, drizzle with your favorite icing.

Or Maybe Frozen Fruitcake

FROZEN FRUITCAKE

1¼ cups walnuts
1 cup milk
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 T. cornstarch
⅛ t. salt
1 egg, beaten
¼ t. cinnamon
¼ t. allspice
⅛ t. cloves
1 t. vanilla
1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
¾ cup diced mixed candied fruits
¼ cup quartered candied cherries
¾ cup walnuts
¾ cup whipping cream
½ cup walnuts
Candied cherries for decoration

Chop walnuts medium fine; set aside. Scald milk. Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir into hot milk; cook over moderate heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir slowly into egg.

Return to very low heat; cook a minute longer, stirring briskly. Remove from heat; stir in spices and vanilla. Cool. Stir in wafer crumbs, candied fruits and ¾ cup walnuts. Whip cream and fold in. Turn into 1 quart mold. Freeze until firm. Unmold; sprinkle with remaining ½ cup walnuts. Decorate with candied cherries. Cut into slices to serve. Makes 8 servings.

Jiffy Doughnuts

Stretch & flatten slightly each biscuit from one tube refrigerate biscuits. Punch whole in center. Fry in deep hot fat 375 degrees F. about 2 minutes, turn once. Drain on paper towels. Roll in mixture of cinnamon and sugar or plain sugar. Serve warm. Makes 10 doughnuts.

Evaluation Knocks Charlevoix For Overcrowded High School

By Fran Martin

Charlevoix High School needs to eliminate its overcrowded conditions as soon as possible, according to a University of Michigan evaluation.

The recent report of accreditation evaluation received high priority on the list of items discussed at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix board of education Monday night.

The report advised that the staff and community take a hard look at themselves and their school's program and the available school facilities.

This recommendation was made at the conclusion of the report which included commendations, as well as violations and suggestions.

It was suggested that steps be taken as soon as possible by the Board of Education to alleviate the crowded conditions and to provide the needed instructional spaces as promptly as possible.

Other recommendations include written goals and objectives for instructional areas receive top priority rating; that the school board policy manual be updated and that a codified manual be distributed strategically throughout the school system and that fundamentals of automotive emission control systems be included in the mechanics course to study.

Violations listed by the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services stated that available school facilities ineuding classroom, teaching stations, service areas, special instructional areas and library are not adequate to meet the needs of the high schools. The school has originally designed for 475 students and now houses 611 students with an estimated enrollment for the next school year set at 650. Art classes are housed in a temporary classroom without adequate ventilation; while auto mechanics classes are held in a recently acquired building several miles from the high school and the library-media center is small and crowded, lacking adequate shelving, storage and listening stations, officials say.

The school system was commended for upgrading its curriculum and instructional program since the last ac-

Charlevoix Welcomes Christmas Holidays

Christmas activities will officially begin in Charlevoix this Thursday evening.

At 6 o'clock, children from the elementary school will begin decorating the big, live Christmas tree in East Park. They will be lifted to the uppermost limbs of the tree by the city's bucket truck, clutching fragile ornaments all the way.

The high school band will furnish music to add to the gala occasion and every one in town is invited to watch the children and listen to the music.

Friday evening is "Women's Night" in local stores, an opportunity for women of the community to shop and buy with special attention.

Next Friday evening is "Stag Night", when the tables are turned in favor of men shoppers.

Merchants will have slips for customers to register for gift certificates and other prizes which will be drawn by Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

Santa will arrive in town on Saturday, December 20, at 1 p.m. With the help of the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department, Santa will greet youngsters in the parking lot of the First State Bank.

Nice Lights

Unlike our new yellow lights, the Christmas lights now up along Bridge Street are beautiful. I want to thank the city crews who braved the cold weather last week to put them up. They truely give the feeling of Christmas in Charlevoix.

Shop Charlevoix

As a merchant, I want to thank the Courier for its promotion of Shop Charlevoix First that appeared on the top of your front page last week. I hope people do just as you said. Charlevoix can only keep its nice downtown district if people support through the purchase of items in our stores.

Humane Soelety

I was at our new animal shelter recently and couldn't believe how nice it is. I hope people in Charlevoix get a chance to stop by and see it. I think the Humane Society should be congratulated for its efforts. It sure beats the old days when dogs were left to almost starve in that old building in Boyne City. Now, through the efforts of the Society, we are even trying to find new homes for stray animals. Job Well done.

Woman's Club Plans to Continue With Project

By PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix Woman's Club is proceeding with plans for its Bicentennial project, restoration and renovation of the Lake Michigan beach area and the Park Avenue park.

Last week some discouraging words about the project were spoken ot the city council meeting. Councilmen Ivon Whitley and George Plumm both spoke of the high cost of the project and the strings attached to any state or federal funds that would be used for the project.

However, Mrs. John Cross, Jr., project chairman, points out that the project was not on the council agenda and that no decision was made about it.

"We are exploring every step of cost sharing to see what can be worked out," Mrs. Cross says.

"We are doing the paper work, filling out forms applying for grants, but the rest is up to the city."

According to Mrs. Cross, the Woman's Club has been assured enough money to complete the first phase, a general renovation of the beach area. However they are seeking funds to take preventative measures against wind and water erosion, construct a bath house to meet specifications

Horton Bay Becomes Historic Site

Horton Bay, the one-store community on the north side of Lake Charlevoix between Charlevoix and Boyne City, has just been listed in the State Register of Historic Sites.

This announcement was made last week by the Michigan Historical Commission. In explaining the significance, the Commission says that State Registration indleates the Commission has judged the site to be of significant historic interest. Such registration also enables the purchase and display of an official marker, approved by the Commission.

Horton Bay is an old lumbering community which is now in its centennial year. The old store building, as well as that of the Red Fox Inn, the Town Hall and many of the houses date back to the lumbering era.

An inventory of the old buildings and information about them were reviewed by the Historical Commission before making the designation.

It is expected that the marker will be erected next summer, probably on the Fourth of July.

Few Christmas Trees Raised Locally

By TOM DAMMANN

Most of the so-called Christmas trees planted in Charlevoix County were for reforestation and windbrake purposes, according to Bill Grimm, U.S. District Soil Conservationist in Boyne City (Walter Romanik said Snokist leases 200 acres in the Boyne Falls area).

Grimm guesses a ballpark figure of 800 privately owned acres are involved, planted largely with Red Pine.

"When they planted Red Pine, a thousand to the acre, they figured about 20 to 30 percent would be harvested for Christmas Trees," Grimm added. "The balance would go for pulp and timber. But we don't know how many have passed the Christmas tree stage."

James Everest, of Boyne City, a physical education teacher in the Twin Valley School System, is typical of the Charlevoix County grower. He had 30 acres planted in Australian and Scotch Pine.

"But I'm out of business now, for the time being at least," he said. "I've quit shaping them."

Clayton A. Smith, of Smith's Little Acre, has about 15,000 Colorado and Red Pine and Red Spruce planted out near Barnard and a few Spruce around his home on US 31 south of town.

Curiously, he didn't plant these for Christmas sale, but chiefly for reforestation and decorative purposes.

But he does sell Christmas trees – trees which he buys from the Hager Company in Kalkaska.

The number he buys depends on what others buy.

"The market is good for about 700 to 1000 trees," Smith explained to the COURIER. "Quite often some people like the Boy Scouts go into the business to earn some money, so I wait and see how many they get.

"This year and last, its the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Charlevoix County. They have about 500 Scotch Pine, so I guess I'll get about 200 Spruce."

The Big Brothers, Big Sisters are the principle sellers in the County this year, with a yard at Uhrick's Mini Golf Course here and the Tennis Courts in Boyne City.

According to Janet Mancinelli, Coordinator and Acting Director of the program, the trees were cut by Big Brothers with their little brothers at the tree farm near Mancelona in Mid-November.

Richard J. Farmer gave his time and chain saw.

Miss Mancinelli said the trees were purchased for $2.00 each and will be sold at "Pick of the lot for $5., which is tax deductable. Proceeds will be used to finance various activities throughout the year."

The lots are open from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Abandoned Railroads May Hit Another Industry

Christmas Tree Industry Looks Bleak

By TOM DAMMANN

Michigan's multi-million dollar Christmas Tree Industry may well be another victim of the federal government's proposed abandonment of hundreds of miles of railway trackage.

This is because most of the trackage slated for the junk pile is in the top portion of the Lower Peninsula, where the largest Christmas Tree plantations exist.

As of now Michigan is the largest producer of plantation-raised Christmas Trees.

Last year Michigan growers harvested some four million trees and appear to be repeating the process again this year. Of the total, three quarters were shipped and are being shipped out of state, mostly to Florida, Texas, Arizona and Southern California.

Value of last year's crop was between $15 and $16 million, it is estimated by Dr. Melvin Koelling of the Forestry Department at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

"The total production has declined by 15 to 20 percent in the past five years," Prof. Koelling said in a telephone interview. "Part of the decline is due to the fact that not enough trees have been planted to meet the demand Michigan producers have created for themselves."

Another reason, he suggested is that many small producers have moved out of the business in the face of increasing costs and the competition with others who have converted their original small businesses into large year round enterprises.

The area west of Grand Rapids, in Muskegon and Oceana Counties, is a large producer of Douglar Fir, but plantation owners there seldom harvest more than 40 or 50 thousand trees.

Wexford County

"The Cadillac area, Wexford County North is the home of the largest growers," Dr. Koelling said. "Producers like Emerald Tree of Cadillac, the Washington State-based Kirk Tree Co., and Snoktst of Cheboygan, who each harvest 100 to 200 thousand trees annually are the big ones.

"They happen to be in the region for which rail abandonment is being proposed by the government. That is certain to discourage some producers because trucking is so much more expensive," Dr. Koelling concluded.

Don Hager, President of the Hager Tree Co., a family enterprise headquartered in Williamsburg and Kalkaska, echo's that suggestion.

He owns some 400 acres and leases another 800 acres, from which he harvests approximately 150,000 trees annually, which he ships to Los Angeles, Phoenix and Corpus Christie, Texas.

Hager said he prefers to ship by rail because it is cheaper and more certain.

"But it's getting hard," he said. "The railroads don't seem to know what they want, can't seem to get the cars to us. It takes the Penn Central 10 days to get a car to California.

"But the truck drivers drive me crazy," Hager continued. "They come in here, two, three, four of them, at a time and want to get loaded yesterday. Or they call you up and say they'll be here at noon and then they don't get here 'til dark and you've got a crew standing around doing nothing. You can't send them home because then you'd have nobody to load when the trucks show up."

J.A. Northcut and his son Larry have changed over to trucks completely to ship their trees grown near Pellston down to their nursery, J.A. Northcut and Sons, in Miami, Fla.

"The railroads don't seem to want our business," Larry said standing by a truck being loaded next to Penn Central Railroad's Pellston freight siding. Ironically, locouotives were pulling three empty curs away.

"Snokist ordered them, but they got here too late, so the railroad is hauling them away empty," Larry explained.

"We used to ship only by railroad. Now we use just trucks. These senites will be in Minmi in two duys. The railroad can't get them there for two or three weeks."

The Northcuts own ur lease 500 acres in the Pellston-Cross Village area and across the Straits of Mackinac in the Upper Peninsula.

WORKMAN IN Pellston load trucks with trees that will eventually end up in Florida.

Penn Central Plans to Drop Trackage

Penn Central Railroad wasted no time this week announcing its efforts to abandon service under the federal government's Conrail plan.

Trustees of the Penn Central Transportation Company published notices this week in newspapers that it plans to terminate all rail service between Cadillac and Mackinaw city.

Conrail, a quasi-public agency taking over seven bankrupt rail lines in 17 states, sent out "discontinuance notices" Tuesday formally stating its intention to abandon the freight lines in 60 days.

Although offieial announcement to abandou the 128 miles of trackage came as no surprise to Northern Michigan officials, many fear it spells only disaster for economic growth in the North.

Of the two lines that serve Northwest Lower Michigan, economic planners feel the Penn Central line is the most crucial.

"The Penn Central runs through the area that has the most potential for industrial development, where the Chessie System runs through the recreational resort area," says Richard Beagle of the Northwest Michigan Planning and Economic Development Commission.

Beagle, assistant director for the commission, says that unless the state subsidizes the trackage or someone buys the line in 60 days, the line will be abandoned.

Tuesday was the deadline for Michigan to submit a state rail plan to the federal government spelling out which lines it hopes to save and how it would operate them.

Thomas Trimbach, manager of the state transportation department's rail planning office, says that the Penn Central line is among the services Michigan hopes to maintain with federal subsidies. Trimbach said the state should have an answer by the middle of January.

Robert Jones of Cadillac, a director for the Northern Michigan Rail Users Association, says his group of 30 industries and businesses hopes the state will maintain the trackage instead of private carriers.

Jones said three private companies are interested in purchasing the trackage. They include Michigan Northern, a group of Lansing investors; Great Lakes Employees Association, railroad union employees; and Bob Berkoltz, a Grand Rapids petroleum distributor.

High School Plans Christmas Concert

The newly-organized Charlevoix High School Mixed Chorus of 26 voices will join with the Charlevoix High School Symphony Band to present the Christmas concert presented annually by the Charlevoix High School Music Department.

The event is scheduled for 8 a.m. Monday at the high school gymnasium with the chorus appearing under the direction of Steven Stargardt, who is in charge of vocal music in the Middle and High schools and the band under the direction of Gary Stutzman, head of the department.

Stargardt, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music who is teaching for his seventh year, said the chorus would present two sacred numbers "Praise Ye, the Lord" by Schwartz and Shaw's "With a Voice of Singing" and a number of carols in the lighter vein including "Do You Hear What I Hear?" by Simone, the traditional "Carol of the Bells" and "We Need a Little Love at Christmas", A.D.S.

Pamela Boss and Stargardt will play the piano accompaniment.

Stutzman, who has been associated with the Music Department in the Charlevoix Schools for several years and who now heads the department, said the Symphony Band would include in its program traditional Christmas band selections and a medley of Christmas carols. He added that the band will now concentrate on the concert phase of the program after concluding a highly successful marching season climaxed last week with the appearance of the Charlevoix and Peshtigo Marching Bands at the Chicago Bears-Green Bay Packers pro football game at Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 30.

"The concert will be the music department's Christmas gift to the public. We hope that the people of the community will be present to accept our gift" the directors said in announcing the concert.

CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL students met with County Sheriff Philo Sumner to organize a law enforcement explorer post.

Exploring Gets Off Ground Locally

When you think of Explorers, perhaps an expedition to the South Pole comes to mind.

Or, most recently...a trip to the moon.

But some 20 Charlevoix High School students learned Wednesday night that Exploring has another meaning. It's a name – the name of a national high schuol, young adult, coed program.

It's not a gimmick. The name "Exploring" implies that young adults are looking for something." Perhaps a new rond; a better way of life.

For precisely this reason, the Exploring program is managed by the Boy Scouts of America–to help young people as they make the transition to adulthood.

What do Explorers do? They Explore careers and lifestyles. That's what the program is all about--opportunities for young adults to look for and locnte a career, a vocation or profession.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Phil Sumner met last week to organize one of Charlevoix's first Exploring posts.

Explorer posts are organized around career and hobby interests. They are sponsored by corporations, institutions and organizations that relate directly to young people's interests.

In this particular case, those meeting with Sheriff Sumner are interested in a career of luw enforcement.

Once underwny, the law enforcement group will be joining over 28,000 posts now operating across the United States.

In other parts of the state and country there are Exploring posts for just about every career interest, ranging from aviation to medicine.

Those involved in these types of programs get an early opportunity to discover what they like to do best, by being exposed to several potential careers and by meeting the leaders of the professions.

With law enforcement, high school-aged youngsters will get an opportunity to see what type of training is involved in becoming a law enforcement officer, as well as learning the other facets of the job.

But Exploring is more than career exploration. Most posts plan social events such as ski and snowmobiling outings, sailing weekends and other activities depending upon the season to help round out the program.

Scouting officials from the Scenic Trails Boy Scout Council in Traverse City indicate that they will be starting other posts similar to the law enforcement group in Charlevoix in the near future.

Council Wisely Supports Shade Tree Commission

Too often Charlevoix City Council comes under fire for one reason or another and never gets recognition for something well done.

We would like to commend the City Council for their immediate action taken on the newly formed Charlevoix Shade Tree Commission's request for funding.

Council agreed recently to earmark some $17,897 for the Commission's projects during the next year.

Although the total amount may seem like a lot of money, the benefit derived from the work the Commission plans to do will be invaluable in years to come.

Besides planting trees up and down Bridge Street this spring, the Commission hopes to develop a tree nursery that will become a source to replace trees throughout the entire city.

In addition to the present planting and nursery programs, the commission will be using the allocated funds to hire a private tree company to work with and train city crews to maintain shade trees in the community.

Shade Commission members have been quick to point out that our trees are in sorry shape and that if something isn't done quickly we will be losing them.

Under the proposed programs, Charlevoix will be able to replace dying trees, as well as maintain the ones that are in direct need of care.

Charlevoix Counellmen have demonstrated to us that they understand the importance of the program with their quick action in allocating the funds to carry out the Commission's mission.

We appreciate the Council's interest. It is an interest that city residents will be able to realize in years to come.

Both the Council and Charlevoix's Shade Tree Commission deserve all the support we can offer in protecting one of this city's most valuable assets-trees.

Don't Forget Our Seniors

Corrects Mistake

December 1, 1975

To All Recipients of the Northwest Regional Transportation Study Status Report, November, 1975.

SORRY, WE GOOFED!

In our haste to complete and distribute the Status Report on schedule, two very important questions were inadvertently omitted from the questionnaire which appears on page 105 of the report. These two questions were to form parts "d" and "e" of question No. 2.

Another questionnaire, containing the two missing questions, has been printed. Copies of the new questionnaire can be obtained at the same locations the reports were made available or by writing to our Lansing Office. Only the new questionnaires containing the two additional questions will be evaluated.

We regret any inconvenience this may have caused. We feel, however, that the importance of including these two questions is of a magnitude which extends beyond the additional efforts required — even beyond our embarrassment over the omission.

Grandvue Says Thanks

Mrs. Peg Ohle
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Mrs. Ohle:

Enclosed is a list of patients here at Grandvue and their home towns as of November 28, 1975.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Courier for its coverage this past year on articles pertaining to Grandvue and also to the Grandvue Auxiliary. Thanks, too, for the extra copies of the Courier which you have sent this past year. With so many Charlevoix people, the papers really get passed around, and extra copies are very welcome.

Best wishes for a Happy Holiday season.

Yours truly,
Hilda Watkins, R.N.

Congratulates Band

While attending the Green Bay Packer - Chicago Bear football game this past weekend, I was quite surprised to find that the band performing at halftime was none other than Charlevoix's High School Band. As a former resident of Charlevoix, I would like to extend my congratulations to Gary Stutzman and Bruce Kroken and to all of the band members for the tremendous job they did under the most adverse weather conditions imaginable. I think that the people of Charlevoix have reason to be very proud of their High School Band.

Sincerely,
Frank Curtis

Another Sick American

I am a sick American and it doesn't help to vomit.

Retentive students of journalism might remember the first "sick American" from about 15 years ago. He was a western editor who was sick of everyone pointing at Uncle Sam's warts. So he wrote a stinging editorial suggesting all the protesting hippies and disecontented intellectuals should wake up and appreciate the beauty of the 2-party system and the Grand Canyon. Either that or move to Russia.

It was the brand of philosophy that always goes over big in a nation that believes the ultimate truths are stuck on bumpers. The western editor's declaration of disgust was reprinted in newspapers all over the country and he became so famous I can almost remember his name.

Of course, the ordinary reader should probably be cautioned about reprinted editorials. When you see a New York newspaper reprinting something from a Colorado newspaper, you naturally think it must be pretty important stuff. Otherwise, the New York editor would not find space for it. After all, there are a lot of important things happening daily in New York, all worthy of editorial comment which surely had to be shunted aside to make room for this incredible wisdom from Colorndo.

Wrong. Most editors reprint editorials because they are too lazy to write their own. They usually reprint stuff from far away to lessen the chance of the original writer finding out his material has been swiped. And the smart editor is careful not to reprint anything controversial because it is always awkward to defend an editorial policy which was borrowed for one day only.

Therefore most reprinted editorials take strong stands against child beating and diarrhea commercials. The western editor's "sick American" piece was a natural. He only put into prose what Kate Smith has been singing for 40 years. Instant success.

All of which I mention only to help you understand how Zerox newspupers help cruddy ideas gain wide acceptance in a nation eager to believe there are nail holes in Spiro Agnew's palms. Also, understanding the reprint mentality will help you understand why there will be few reprints of the reasons why I am a sick American.

The recent revelations about the CIA and the FBI are what finally sent me running to the john. The illness has been seeping into my system for some time Vietnam, Cambodia, Kent State, Attica, Watergate, Pentagon and Mayaquez. Selling arms to both sides in every neighborhood war while bleating about peace. Amnesty for big-shot crooks Nixon and Agnew, but not for men brave enough not to fight. And on and on....

Now we learn the FBI has been hounding countless Americans who did nothing worse than disagree. That's why we fought Hitler, remember?

And we learn the CIA plotted to assassinate the leaders of several nations. That's murder, the same as killing John Kennedy and Martin Luther King was murder. And my nation, Oh Beautiful for Spacious Skies, plotted the killings. My tax money paid the plotters' salaries.

So what will happen to the plotters who so obviously broke the law? Nothing. Many of them continue today in plush government jobs. They are guilty of terrible crimes against an entire civilization. But they won't even be charged with conspiracy, the blanket indictment used so freely by the breast-beaters to drag kids into court to face charges of conspiring to grow long hair.

You bet I'm sick. Every American should be sick. The fact that we're not all vomiting at our government is the sickest thing of all.

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

I see by the papers that unless Detroit can conjur up another $45 million, the city faces hard times in 1976.

That $45 million is sort of a middle of the road figure. The deficit at the end of the fiscal year ending June 30 could run anywhere from $35 to $55 million.

And, under its charter, the city is required to pay off deficits incurred in one fiscal year in the next fiscal year.

This means that unless Detroit receives additional hand-outs from Washington or Lansing, the city must either:

—Attempt to raise $45 million by a healthy increase in the city income tax, or —Fire 3,000 city employes, in addition to the 2,000 given their walking papers this year — reducing such critical services as police and fire protection and garbage pickup.

Although Mayor Coleman Young is hoping for an increase in the income tax to solve his growing dilemma, there are rumblings from Lansing that the state Legislature doesn't want to tamper with the city income tax. And Lansing must say "yes" before the tax is raised.

Under Mayor Young's plan, Detroiters would be socked three percent instead of two percent. Non residents who work in Detroit would be assessed 1.5 percent, instead of one-half percent.

It goes without saying that the income tax proposal isn't sitting very well in Detroit's posh bedroom communities north of Eight Mile Road. The residents of Birmingham, Royal Oak, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, and a dozen other communities feel they already are doing more than their share to support the city of Detroit. And they are reluctant to give another dime.

And residents of the city itself aren't all that red hot about a one percent increase in the city income tax, although the city's 20 representatives in Lansing are canny enough to know that a tax hike is the only way out of the city's current predicament, without sacrificing city jobs.

The legislature, realizing it has a tiger by the tail, has postponed discussion of the question until it reconvenes in mid-February. After all, why ruin the Christmas season talking about layoffs and tax increases?

Of course, Detroit is not alone in its money problems. New York went through the fiscal wringer this fall until good old Jerry Ford went back on his word to the country and put billions of dollars in federal monies at the disposal of Mayor Abraham Beame.

San Francisco surely is going to be up against the wall in the near future after Mayor Alioto agreed to a union contract calling for an expenditure of $29,000 a year for every policeman and fireman on the payroll. Cities simply cannot pay such large salaries to great numbers of people without going broke.

It may not be written in the stars, but it must be written in an arithmetic primer somewhere.

Even Charlevoix and Petoskey are up against serious financial problems before the decade is over if the cost of eleetrical power continues to climb.

The years ahead certainly are going to be interesting on the municipal front.

I hope the balance of the Christmas season turns out to be as pleasant as the hour-long "Charlevoix Community Christmas Carol Sing" Sunday afternoon at the United Methodist Church. I can't think of a nicer way to start the holidays.

The program was sponsored by the Minsterial Association and members of all faiths showed up to hear the adult Community Choir and singing groups made up of elementary, middle school and high school students.

The program concluded with copgregational singing of Christmas Carols and a presentation of the "Hallelujah Chorus" by the Community Choir, aided and abetted by the entire congregation who somehow found themselves with copies of the score.

I have heard the "Hallelujah Chorus" sung many times by different groups in a variety of auditoriums and concert halls. But I have never heard it sung more enthusiastically and it has never sounded better than it did Sunday.

I never cease to be amazed at people who elevate animals to the heights of will and intellect.

You know the ones I mean . . . the owners who clothe their dogs in raincoats and boots, have their teeth capped, bed them down in a four-poster bed, send them to spas, and fight their bad breath.

The latest entry in this cult is a story out of Miami where two poodles, Zsa Zsa and Rori, were united in holy wedlock by a notary public in Zsa Zsa's back yard. The bride's owner drew the line at planning a honeymoon as she could not bear to be separated from the bride for any length of time. The bride had no comment.

I consider our dog a pet. Nothing more. As far as I'm concerned, I have never attributed human qualities to him. Granted he understands every word I say and sings in key with the guitar, but he's just a dog.

Oh sure, he has his own seat by the car window when we go bye-bye and we have to spell s-h-o-t-s in front of him to get him to the vet, and we don't dare turn off the Gravy Train commercials when he's watching, but he's just a domestic animal and we don't forget that.

"Can you imagine marrying Harry off?" asked my husband.

I nearly fell off the chair laughing. "That's dumb. Really dumb. I mean, I never saw a girl good enough for him."

"What about Bernice . . . that terrier in the cul-de-sac?"

"Get serious. That little tramp?"

"Or Sally, the little poodle?"

"She's too short and dumpy. That dog has just let herself go to pot."

"Come to think of it, he has been seeing a lot of Flossie."

"But who is she? I mean really? Can you believe she actually wore a flea collar to Harry's birthday party?"

"There's always that little dog he took a liking to on our vacation. What was her name? Pepper!"

"And marry out of the church! That would only be a marriage of sexual attraction."

"Lucky we're sensible people," said my husband. "And consider Harry just another D-O-G."

Meet Charlevoix

. . . Mikal Bonello

Mikal Bonello is the new coach of the Charlevoix High School ski team. This week the Courier talks with him about the ski team and his own skiing background.

COURIER: How many students are out for skiing this year?

BONELLO: We have 28 or 30 boys and girls. They're an enthusiastic bunch and practice almost every day.

COURIER: Do you have separate teams for boys and girls?

BONELLO: Yes, we will have both "A" and "B" teams for each group. The "A" teams will be racing teams and the "B" teams will be for fundamentals and some basic racing.

COURIER: Where do you practice?

BONELLO: At Mt. McSauba. Later on we hope to use Boyne Mountain and Schuss Mountain. A lot of kids in Charlevoix are "Mt. McSauba skiers" and when they get on a big hill they can't handle it. Before we had snow, we worked out on the football field and in the gym. We did skiing exercises, stretching, toning muscles, hurdling bleachers, etc. We will also use the golf course.

COURIER: How many persons are there on a ski team?

BONELLO: Six racers are permitted on a team. High school ski racing is different from other sports because it is a team effort. They take the four best times of the six racers. So we will strive for consistency instead of individual standouts.

COURIER: Do you belong to a conference?

BONELLO: We belong to the Huron Shores conference. Our first game is January 14 against Petoskey. Last year, the team won the conference with Bill Murray as coach. But we've lost some good skiers to graduation.

COURIER: Do you have any one helping you?

BONELLO: Yes, I'm fortunate in having good assistants. Chris Begrow, C.T. Martin and Dick Georgi are all willing to lend their experience. Scheduling matters are handled by Dale Burge, the athletic director. I've talked with Chuck Meier, general manager of Mt. McSauba, and we're going to get together to see what we can do to improve it. If there's not room on the big hill for everyone, we'll put some on the smaller one. Mt. Sauba has possibilities.

COURIER: Do you do anything with cross-country skiing?

BONELLO: Yes, I teach it. We used to have cross-country in high school in the Upper Peninsula and I think in a couple of years it will be back in competition. It's hard work, a good conditioner, even though most kids prefer downhill.

COURIER: What about teaching younger skiers?

BONELLO: Eventually I hope to start a middle school intra-mural racing program. We have to get kids interested early in developing their skiing techniques.

COURIER: Does the high school furnish transportation to the meets? What about equipment?

BONELLO: The school furnishes transportation. Team members have to buy their own equipment because it is so expensive and so individual.

COURIER: How long have you been skiing?

BONELLO: About 20 years. I grew up in the Upper Peninsula, in Wakefield, and started early. I went to Ferris College and raced there, I worked in the ski shop, bought equipment and ran a ski school at Tyrolean Hills, near Gaylord. This is my first experience as a coach. I'm going to be certified soon.

COURIER: You have another job, too, haven't you?

BONELLO: I'm an anesthetist at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. I had my training at Hurley Medical Center. I'm also a graduate of the University of Michigan Flint campus.

COURIER: How did you become the high school ski coach?

BONELLO: When I came to town I wanted to become involved. Someone asked me what I liked to do and I said "ski". Then I found out they were looking for a ski coach.

March of Dimes Begins Campaign

January 22 has been set aside for the "Mothers' March of Dimes."

All that day and evening, local women will be ringing doorbells to collect dimes and other monies to support The National March of Dimes Foundation.

Local captains for the "Mother's March" met last week at the home of the Charlevoix chairman, Mrs. Donald R. Voisin, to make their plans for the drive, the money from which goes to fight birth defects.

The captains are Esther Blaha, Marilyn Aull, Jean Seymour, Lois McCandless, Elaine Westenbroek, Sherry Hoffman, Susie Wise, Elaine Drury, Joan Buday, Anna Landon, Joni Olach, Sandy Beaudoin and Nancy Porter.

The National March of Dimes Foundation undertook the fight against birth defects after the conquest of polio. Figures show that birth defects are u far more serious childhood health menace than polio ever was. They are also the second greatest destroyer of life. Approximately 560,000 unborn babies and over 60,000 children and adults die from them each year. Every year, approximately 250,000 American babies are born with birth defects.

District 3 Applies for Grant

District 3 Health Department has applied for u grant to administer a Women's, Infants' and Children's Supplemental Food program.

If the grant is received, the Health Department will be able to prescribe food of nutritional value to supplement the diets of low income pregnant or breast feeding women, infants and children under the age of four who are shown to be in nutritional need.

Besides prescribing food to individuals, the project would include an intensive nutritional education program to patients and a study of health factors such as height and weight and blood level hematocrit.

Gerald Chase, local health department administrator, says that this area has been designated one of 20 potential sites in Michigan for expansion of the program. The need for the project has been shown by statistical facts which indieate that the area experiences a higher fetal death rate, higher infant death rate and a higher low-weight birth rate than the statewide average.

Channel 6 on the Air

Television station WCMU-TV (Channel 6) is now broadcasting. A member of the Public Broadcasting Service network, the station went on the air after many months of planning, construction and fund-raising activities.

Funds for the station are being raised through a $250,000 public subscription drive, which has now reached 94 percent of its goal. Thousands of dollars have been raised locally toward support of the station. Persons previously not contacted for a donation may make one by sending a check to WCMU-TV, Anspach Hall, Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Michigan 48859.

Programs are relayed from the station in Mt. Pleasant via a 1,349-foot tower in Montmorency County near Atlanta. The signal covers an 80-mile radius from the tower and provides public television to a 19,000 square mile area in northern lower Michigan.

Comments about quality of reception are invited by WCMU-TV at the Mt. Pleasant address.

Placement Offered

Expanded job placement services for high school graduates have been started in 13 northern lower Michigan counties, including Charlevoix.

Counselors and other school personnel in the 34 local school districts will be supplied information and assistance for job placement of high school graduates. They will have the tools, materials and skills to aid students in locating jobs in their chosen fields the same as they have had in the past for assisting college-bound students.

The first year of the project will be directed toward placing some 1,700 vocational graduates and later expansion will make the service available to all graduates.

Employers who are interested in hiring vocational education graduates for job openings now or in the future should contact Mrs. Leslie Critchfield, placement coordinator, at (616) 238-9354.

Need Help

Charlevoix's Community Chest is still looking for would-be donors to help out.

Contributions to drive support everything from local Boy and Girl Scout programs to Camp Daggett.

Donations may be sent to Post Office Box 132 in Charlevoix.

Senior Citizen Center Opens

Charlevoix County senior citizens now have a social center in which they may socialize over a cup of coffee or undertake any of several educational projects.

The center is located in East Jordan, on Main Street in what formerly was called the "Community Center". Funds to operate and develop the center were donated by the State Department of Social Services and the City of East Jordan. The Charlevoix Commission on Aging is the sponsoring agency.

Mrs. Dorothy Pelton has been appointed director of the Center. She has been active with senior citizen activities for the last five years. Previous to taking her present position, Mrs. Pelton was the site coordinator in Boyne City for the Nutrition Program. She was the first director of the Friendship Center in Petoskey and was involved on state and local levels with the White House Conference on Aging in 1971.

About the new center, Mrs. Pelton says, "In order for the Senior Center to be successful, it must be used by the seniors, and it must be supported by the community. We will need the cooperation of everyone in the county.

Mrs. Pelton plans to start a crafts program, a telephone lifeline and a glaucoma clinic at the center. Currently there is a blood pressure clinic and the Nutrition Program for lunches.

Transportation to the Senior Center will be furnished by reservation with the Commission on Aging buses. Reservations may be made by calling 536-9221. The center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

EAST JORDAN'S white elephant has now found a new use. The community center is now the home for Charlevoix County Senior citizens.

Nutrition Program Continues in Charlevoix

Nearly 4,000 elderly persons in four Northern Michigan counties can still expect to get state-supported nutrition program meals despite bureaucratic bungling and political infighting.

All four counties – Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim and Kalkaska – have decided to go their own ways after being unable to work with a single project director under the Northwest Area Agency on Aging in Traverse City.

Differences with the project director, Wes Payne of Kalkaska, resulted in his firing along with the threat of state intervention by the Michigan Director for the Office of Services to the Aging.

In a meeting held Wednesday in East Jordan, Charlevoix County's Commission on Aging decided to merge with Northwest Michigan Human Services of Traverse City, who administer the Nutrition Program in six other North western Michigan counties.

Under the agreement, Charlevoix County will continue to administer its present program, but share a project director with Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Benzie, Leelanau and Grand Traverse Counties.

In Charlevoix County two meals a week are served in Charlevoix and Boyne City and one day a week in East Jordan.

Charlevoix County Commissioner Martin Paul said that although his county will not be administering its own program, he was confident this regional arrangement would work better than the one they had before.

"We should still have our autonomy if the contractual agreement with Human Services is written properly," he said.

Ruth Behrens of Boyne City, chairman of the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, said the Human Services merger should work out better than the program administered under the Northwest Area Agency on Aging.

"I would like to feel we have made some progress," she continued.

"We've been battling this out for some time and I think we are going the right way."

While Charlevoix County will be joining Human Services in Traverse City, Antrim and Emmet Counties have decided to run their programs jointly. They have hired Lucille Kaner of the Antrim County Social Services Department to direct their program.

Kalkaska County will continue to operate separately under its old federal grant, initiated two years ago, under the direction of Wes Payne.

Word has been received of the death of Nelle S. Maddaugh on Saturday, November 22nd at the Clio Convalescent Home where she had lived several years. Funeral services were held Tuesday and cremation was at the Flint Memorial Park Cemetery.

She taught school at the Ferndale High School and Clio before retiring and was also a teacher in our local school in the early 1900's and will be remembered by many of her local students and friends.

Contributions may be made in her memory to the Presbyterian Church in East Jordan.

Winter has arrived with nearly nine inches of snow and temperatures of near 30 degrees. There was a thin layer of ice by the bridge in East Jordan Monday and two swans were still braving the cold wind and water by Elm Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury have been spending several days in Montrose.

The well drivers are again busy driving a well in a new location for Russell Snyder on Washington Street hoping to have better luck this time.

Mary Carol Nielsen spent several days of the Thanksgiving holiday from her school in Kalamazoo with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nielsen.

Mrs. Joanne Zinn returned home Monday after spending a week over Thanksgiving with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Keyerleber and small son Mathuew in Rehoboth, Mass.

Mrs. Marian Podskalney and two children, Nancy and Darin spent the Thanksgiving weekend with her parents in Plymouth.

Lawrence Myner of Sault Ste. Marie spent the last days of the hunting season with his brother, Philip Myner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Doub have built a redwood canopy over the entire front of their Jiffy Market on M 66. Looks nice.

Diane Alexander returned to Grand Valley in Allendale Sunday morning after spending Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander.

Our Ladies Fellowship are entertaining the local Trainable School children with a luncheon in the church dining room this Friday noon.

Varsity Squad Downs Grayling Vikings

The Charlevoix Rayders, in a great team effort Friday night, raeked up a solid 74-59 victory over the Grayling Vikings.

Charlevoix and the Vikings played to a 10-10 first period tie before the Rayders outscored the visitors 19-17 for a two-point 29-27 halftime lead.

As the second half got underway, the Rayders forged to a 47-40 advantage as they poured in 18 quick points including seven field goals. Taking a seven point lead into the final eight minutes, the Rayders dumped in 27 points including 11 field goals.

Matt Doan had 26 points for the game on 11 field goals and four of eight free throws. Bud Kloster added 21 points on nine field goals and three of nine charity shots. Nine assists and three steals by Bob Alger, Rayder floor general who also scored six points contributed to their totals.

Others who scored were Scott Boss with nine points, Brian Williams with four and Pat Schaefer, Dave Tollas, Steve Michael and Tom Fowler with two points each to give the Rayders 31 field goals. They hit only on 40 percent of their free throws or 12 of 30. Charlevoix had 23 personal fouls called. John Greene, Steve Berlage and Wally Drenth also saw action.

Grayling, paced by Craig Hinkle with 25 points, had 22 field goals; 15 of 26 free throws and 24 personal fouls.

After leading the Cheboygan Chiefs until the 2½ minute mark Tuesday night, the Charlevoix Rayders were downed by a score of 67-61 by a more experienced Cheboygan five.

A red hot fourth quarter when they outseored the Rayders 22-11 spelled victory for the Chiefs who had trailed 20-14 at the quarter; 33-30 at halftime; 50-46 at the three-quarter mark and 60-54 with 2½ minutes remaining. .

Courier Sports

THE 1976 Volleyball season will not open until Jan. 14 for the Charlevoix high school girls team but practice sessions will begin following the close of the '75 girls basketball season this month. Candidates who responded to the initial call for players made by Coach Marie Osterberg are front row (l to r): Connie Left, Barb White, Carol Streeter, Kay Currey, Maureen Cudd, Terry Novofny, Chris Lehman, Sherrie Selissen, Kathy Sladek. Back row; Sandra Hogem Fran Peters, Laura Dzedzic, Shellee Jammisen, Jan Egler, Becky Juillerel, Carole Osterberg, Tina Klama, Debbie Leonard, Heidi Dove. Mrs. Osterberg said several other players including veterans were out of town for the holiday and were not present for the photo.

Charlevoix Matmen Take First in Local Tourney

The Charlevoix Freshmen and Sophomores successfully defended their title by winning the Second Annual Freshman-Sophomore Wrestling tournament held here Saturday.

A total of 104 wrestlers from nine area schools participated in 215 matches on three mats during the day. Coach Norm Probert, tournament host reported.

Walt Peterman of Onaway, in the 112 pound class, was named outstanding wrestler of the tournament for the second year.

Finishing behind Charlevoix which captured the tournament with 20 wrestlers who racked up 230 points were Rogers City with 166 points; Onaway, 163; Boyne City, 82; Mancelona, 72; Elk Rapids, 68; Kalkaska, 67, and Hillman, 62. Rogers City had 18 entries; Onaway, 19; Boyne City, 16; Mancelono, six; Elk Rapids, five; Kalkaska, 11 and Hillman, nine. One of the features of this meet is that a school may enter as many us it wants in any weight category.

Charlevoix had six first place winners, two second place, one third place and three fourth place winners.

Charlevoix's place winners follow:

98 pound class: 1. Mark Byard; 3. Dave Golovitch; 6. Gary Charbeneau.

105 pound class: 1. Ron Hilton; 4. Lee DeMitchell.

112 pound class: 5. Mike Kitely.

119 pound class: 7. Gene Morrison.

126 pound class: 1. Craig Golovitch; 4. Norbert Scharenbroeck.

132 pound class: 7. Rich Borths; 8. Swain Smith.

138 pound class: 4. Brian Wimmer.

145 pound class: 1. Dan Bruce; 5. Brad Snizik.

155 pound class: 1. Ande Keller.

167 pound class: 1. Dennis Whitley.

185 pound class: 2. Greg Loper.

Heavyweight: 2. Barry Potter.

Curt Dixon in the 132 pound class and Don Trost in the 112 pound class rounded out Charlevoix's 20 entries in the meet.

Charlevoix will host the third annual Holiday Invitational tournament on Dec. 20.

Girls Lose in Regionals

After capturing the Class C District title at Onaway recently, the Charlevoix Girl's Basketball team lost to a strong Harrison squad by a score of 62-52 as they made their first appearance in the Class C regional meet at Harrison Thursday.

Charlevoix got off to a fast start and led 9-8 at the quarter but they were soon in foul trouble. This and numerous turnovers as the Harrison quintet pressed throughout the game found them trailing 24-18 at halftime and 41-36 at the three quarter mark. They trimmed the Harrison lead to four points at one time in the final period before Harrison pulled away for the 16-point victory.

Vicki Cobb paeed the game with 25 points and was outstanding on the board as wel as she paeed her team to a win and into the finals scheduled for Saturday. Twenty of her 25 points were scored in the second half.

Kay Currey with 11 points paced Charlevoix which had 22 field goals; eight out of 19 free throw attempts and 19 personal fouls. Heidi Dove and Maureen Cudd had 10 points each; Denise Boss eight; Kathy Sladek and Sandra Hodge four each; Terry Hufford three and Camille Malpeli two points.

Harrison had 24 field goals, 13 of 23 free throws and 20 personal fouls.

Following the game Coach Toni Felter said the early foul trouble and repeated turnovers, 28 in the first half and 45 for the game, were contributing factors in the loss.

Only seniors on this year's team who will be lost by graduation are Heidi Dove, Denise Boss and Barb Meadows.

In the Freedman-AlRay Cottages game, Freedman's had enjoyed a 19-10; 37-38 and 50-38 quarter leads before the Cottagers got hot and outscored Freedman's 17-9 to cut the victory margin to four points. Terry Blissett poured in 24 points and Bernie DeVries 17 for the victors. Carl Swanson had 16 for AlRays.

After trailing Wojan Aluminum 12-5 at the first quarter, Credit Union, behind the scoring of Gary Novotny who had 22 points, caught fire and went ahead 25-18 at halftime and 40-27 going into the final period. Frank Hackett contributed 14 points and Tim Elenbaas 12 for the victors. Don Blalock had 12 and Stan Martin 10 for Wojan's.

Klooster John Deere took an early lead and paced the game 16-12; 27-23 and 48-39 by quarters as they edged Medusa by a 10-point margin. Connie Klooster had 17 points, Dave Moyer 14 and Hal Evans 12 for the winners. Beano Archey had 17 for Medusa.

LaBlance Insurance dumped a strong Russell Shell quintet 67-60 after leading by slim quarter margins 11-10; 32-26 and 53-38. Joe Beaudoin with 21 points, Jim Gels with 19 and Sam Supernaw with 18 paced the victory. Larry Brock had 24 points, Dave Norton 18 and LeRoy Buchanan 15 for Russell Shell.

County State Bank posted an easy 72-55 win over First State Bank after playing to a 28-28 halftime tie. Steve Martinus had 23 points, Larry Skippergosh 18 and Denny LaCroix 12 for County State. Rob Castelein had 15 and Larry Roth 10 for First State.

Jack Danbert poured in 29 points for Kenney Excavation as they romped over Village Milkhouse 14-4; 32-11 and 55-27 by quarters. Joining in the scoring spree were Rich VanStedum with 14 and Paul Stanfield and Lindy Wieland with 10 points each for Kenney's. Bill Gengle had 25 for the Milkhouse.

J.V. Defeats Grayling

The Charlevoix JV squad, by a score of 63-44, posted its second victory in league play, this time over Grayling on Friday.

The young Rayders were in control of the game all the way as they jumped to a 14-8 first period lead including three field goals by Kip Cinnamon, two by Jim Elzinga and one each by Joe Left and Niel Dziedzic.

The young Vikings came back in the second period to trim the Rayder lead to 27-21 at halftime before the Rayders romped to a 42-29 advantage going into the final period.

Charlevoix Kiwanis Club Holds Special Birthday Dinner Party

The strains of "Happy Birthday" were heard recently as the members of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club and their Kiwani-Queens gathered at Leotheuser's to celebrate the club's forty-first birthday anniversary.

The Club was organized Dec. 4, 1934, with the late Oscar P. North as the first president. It has been an active club that has dedicated its efforts to the youth of the community.

Guests at the dinner meeting were James Gibson of Petoskey, Lieutenant Governor of Division 20, Kiwanis clubs of Michigan, and Mrs. Gibson. Mr. Gibson commended the members for their efforts in behalf of the community and its youth and presented Legion of Honor awards to three members with a combined membership of 85 years. They are J. Lawrence Feindt and Fred Willis who each have records of 30 years membership and E.D. 'Pat' Hawley who has a record of 25 years membership.

Musical entertainment included ragtime selections by Dr. John Lignell at the piano and group singing by the members and their guests.

Among the club's charter members are Harry E. Bingham who is still active in the club and Fenton R. Bulow and William F. Meyer who are honorary members.

Present officers of the club are Glenn Kenney, president; Robert C. Burns, immediate vice president; Richard Krueger, president-elect; Frank Schoch, vice president and Ralph S. Hamilton, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Board of Directors are Roy Fortin, Clarence A. Odmark, Clarence F. Rabach, Edward K. Shanahan, Raymond Giffin, Holger Andersen and James McCallom.

Women Plan Concert

The Bicentennial project of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs will be a concert at Interlochen on July 11, 1976.

This announcement was made last week to members of the Charlevoix Woman's Club by Mrs. Robert van Blaricom, project chairman for the State Federation.

Speaking before the local group, Mrs. van Blaricom also told of the many women of the past who became liberated and thereby helped women of today obtain the social and economical standards they enjoy.

The meeting was a potluck dinner which was preceeded by a cocktail party for club officers and Mrs. van Blaricom at the home of Mrs. Julia Lceedy Baer. The speaker was an overnight guest at the home of Mrs. George Duke.

KIWANIS LEGION of Honor Award recipients, whose years of membership in the Charlevoix Kiwanis club total 85 years, are pictured with the Kiwanis flag displayed at all Kiwanis events. They are (l to r) J. Lawrence Feindt and Fred Willis with 30 year membership and E.D. 'Pat' Hawley with 25 years to his credit.

Becky Browe Marries Daniel Lester

St. Mary's church was the scene recently of the wedding of Becky Browe and Daniel Lester, U.S. Air Force.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Browe, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lester of Elkins, W. Va.

The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of more than 75 guests on Saturday, Nov. 29. Arrangements of yellow mums decorated the altar for the occasion. Mrs. David Sluyter of Boyne City, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a full length white knit gown fashioned with long sleeves and a hood for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of pink and bloe mums.

Mary Browe assisted her sister as maid of honor and Ann Peterson was, bridesmaid. Miss Browe wore a powder bloe floral print gown and carried a single blue standard mum. Miss Peterson's gown was of pink floral print. She carried a single pink standard mum.

Melissa Browe, daughter of the bride, was flower girl and John Paul Browe, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

James Adair of Charleston, Ill., attended the groom as best man. Kerry Balm of Fort Dodge, Iowa, was groomsman. Thomas Browe and Theodore Browe, Jr., brothers of the bride, segted the guests.

Mrs. Browe selected a long beige knit gown and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Lester, mother of the groom, also wore a beige gown and matching accessories.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the V.F.W. Post Home.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the coopie will be at home at 703½ Bridge st.

The bridegroom is stationed at Bay Shore with the U.S. Air Force.

Wedding guests were present from Ohio, West Virginia and several Michigan cities.

A rehearsal dinner at Bourke's Steak and Stein restaurant was hosted by the groom's parents on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Gallagher left for the winter months. They will spend some time in Sault Ste. Marie with their son, A.J. and family and then go to Grand Haven with their daughters, Mrs. Mary Heileg, Dan Green from Chicago visited them before they left.

Mrs. Nellie O'Donnell left to spent the winter months with her family, her daughters and son, Mrs. Beverly Walgos of Lakeview, Carol O'Donnell and Richie O'Donnell were here for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McCafferty had their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Donna) Kubis of Chicago and Eugene Mooney of Detroit.

Paddy Wojan and a friend and Mrs. Audrey Fester and son, Jaso visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wojon for the holiday

Scandanavia Christmas Lasts All Year

Christmas lasts a month in Scandinavia!

It begins on the 13th of December, Saint Lucia's Day, and continues through the 13th of January, Saint Knut's Day.

Christmas customs vary in different districts, bot common to all is a thorough house clean, much cooking and baking and, in Finland, a visit to a Finnish steam bath preceding Christmas eve.

Saint Lucia's Day opens the season with a colorful festival. Lucia was a Christian maiden martyred during the time of Emperor Diocletian. The story of her death was carried to Sweden, where the Christianized Vikings heard of her. They imagined her shining figure, crowned by a halo of light.

Since her saint's day fell on December 13, when daylight would soon increase after the dark winter months, she became even more of a favorite of the people of the north.

Today, the Day of Saint Lucia is celebrated all over Sweden, even in factories and offices, but primarily it is a family observance.

Early in the dark morning, the members of the family are awakened by the young daughter of the house, who serves them coffee and newly backed Lucia buns and cakes in bed. She is attired in a white, flowing gown and on her head she wears a wreath of greenery in which are stuck lighted candles. The song she sings, "Santa Lucia," is an old Italian melody that still lingers in the north.

The original Bulova Accutron is orbiting the earth in the Explorer VII satellite. This first Accutron cost the U.S. government $20,000. Today's improved models sell for as little as $95. Why do so many people buy Accutrons? Three reasons: accuracy, quality, and trouble-free operation.

The Bulova Accutron is guaranteed to 99.997 percent accurate, guaranteed not to gain or lose one minute per month in normal use for one full year. This accuracy was possible by replacing the mechanical balance assembly with a tuning fork which electronically oscillates at the rate of 21,000 times a minute.

As for quality, the Accutron uses only high quality parts with very close and precise tolerances. At every step of the manufacturing process, the watch is inspected and tested to guarantee the high quality standards of the Accutron.

A direct result of the quality control engineering is trouble-free operation. With such precise tolerances, with only 12 moving parts (2a in a conventional watch), with power provided by a special energy cell instead of daily winding, with a tuning fork rather than a hairspring and balance, your Accutron purchase will give you years of trouble-free operation.

Hear the hum of an Accutron; see the effortless sweep of the second hand. Stop in at Reusch Jewelry, where we have an authorized Bulova Accutron watch repairman.

for handicapped persons, and 8 paved parking lot for 104 vehicles, among other things.

Mrs. Cross further points out that the project might well take more than a year to complete and that some of the work, such as the erosion part, will have to be done eventually no matter what happens.

Sheriff Closes Hardware

Padlocks have been placed on the doors of the business known locally as Harbor Hardware by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department following a judgment granted Dec. 4 by Circuit Judge Martin Breighner.

The initial action against the business owned by Glenn D. and Patricia Harris was taken by Morley Bros., Inc., hardware wholesaler of Saginaw whose claim was for $12,624. However, since then the amount has grown to more than $97,000 as others bring suit against the business located in the Masonic building at 403 Bridge St.

Following the Morley Bros, Inc., action, the Charlevoix County State Bank brought stit against the Harrises and the Signet Realty and Investment Co. for a loan in the amount of $73,423 made earlier against the store's inventory.

The City of Charlevoix then got into the act with its claim for $1,123, owned by the business in personal property tax.

On Monday, the State of Michigan and the Internal Revenue Service added a second padlock with tax liens totaling approximately $5,000 to each of the agencies which have priorities over all other claims, according to Under Sheriff James McCallum.

McCallum said that when judgement was handed down by Judge Breighner in favor of Morley Brothers, the company's personnel offered to inventory and pack the stock which would then be stored at the Sheriff's Department until a sale could be held to satisfy the company's claim. However, with the intervention of state and federal agencies, the stock will remain in the building owned by Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A.,M. until further decisions are made by the courts ur the agencies which have priority.

The Harrises purchased the business in the fall of 1973 from Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Kimble, Jr.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS GIVES US FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

Largely unheralded in the excitement of the approaching holiday season is the Bill of Rights Day; an event set aside to commemorate the ten most vital provisions in our insurance policy of freedom known as the Constitution. One of them contains among other things the guarantee of our right to express ourselves freely, without fear of reprisal; through speech, the press, in the company of others, and in accordance with a primary purpose of the foundimg of this great nation, in our right to worship God as we see fit. Take advantage of this priceless freedom by attending the Church of your choice on Sunday.

"Blessed be the God... who hath sent his angel, and delivered his servants that trusted in him, and have changed the king's word... that they might not serve any god, except their own God."
--Daniel 3:28

Excellent opportunity to own your own profitable paint and wallpaper distributorship. This decorating center is known throughout the greater part of Northwestern Michigan--carrying only the finest line of merchandise and presently outstepping the predictions for income $65,000 - cash.

Scattered birch & pine trees abound on this larger than an acre parcel of land which also features a new (less than a year old) chalet constructed with quality materials for comfort and beauty, only $34,900 - located 6½ miles South of Charlevoix.

Excellent opportunity to secure a conveniently located homesite for resort or year-round living between two of Northern Michigan's most bustling communities - Charlevoix and Petoskey. Only $4,950 with good terms.

28½ acres off Behling Road, excellent building site for chalets, approximately 10 miles from Boyne Mt.

GREAT LOCATION - some woods, access to beautiful Lake Michigan - mostly new homes in the area only 6½ miles south of Charlevoix. SEEING IT IS BUYING IT! Only $3,900 cash.

A Christmas Story

By Kea Wioter

A lonely older woman sat hunched over a restuarant table quietly sipping on a cup of steaming black coffee.

Only several tables away two small youngsters bundled in red snowmobile suits were tuggling at each other's scarves while their mother tried to quiet them down.

It was only several days before Christmas and the blonde-haired boy and girl had just visited Santa to turn over their list of a dozen or so toys they wanted to get on that special holiday.

The young mother had stopped in the coffee shop to get out of the biting cold and rest her weary arms that had been carrying bundles of wrapped gifts.

The lonely woman watched the mother and her children out of a corner of her eye as she continued to drink her coffee.

As the children continued to tease each other, the young mother attempted to coax them into drinking the rest of their hot chocolate so they could go home and greet father from work.

The lonely woman just sat and watched the children play--right up until the young mother scurried them out of the cafe.

A red ribbon had apparently fallen off one of the young mother's packages and was left behind on the table where she and her children had been. The older woman got up from her table and went over to pick up the ribbon.

She clutched the ribbon in

One-Way

I live on East Dixon and I think it's a shame that these one-way signs are on the street. Because, every day, year round, almost as many cars go the wrong as the right way. I think that either the signs should come down or else they should be ticketed for going the wrong way. Today, I counted at least six cars on the street going the wrong way.

Sick American

In regard to your article "The Sick American" by Jim Fitzgerald: To me it is the most disgustingly nauseating I have ever read. You must have a 'sick' mind to compose, little own print it. If you put as much mental energy in finding the good in the principles of our gov't. and the integrity of its elected officials you should be able to let lie all the sleeping political smear you have listed remembering that the good that men do lives after them, the evil soon forgotten, or ot least, not paraded publicly at every whim. Mr. Fitzgerald are you perfect. I do not care if this is printed or not but trust Mr. Fitzgerold reads it.

Christmas

There were about ninety cubs that gathered in the St. Marys cofcteria for a Christmas Party December 9. After decoroting a tree with differcnt ornaments made by eoch troop, the boys enjoyed coke, ice cream and donuts. They all sung carols accompanied by Fran Tollis at the piano. Santa made a surprise appearance and passed out gifts and candy canes to everyone. Special thonks is extended by all the troop leaders to Coca-cola of Petoskey, The Village Milk House for the ice crenm, The County Seat General Store for candy canes and Wayne Oliver for the donuts.

County Argues over Judges' Salaries

By PEG OHLE

A disagreement among members of the Charlevoix County Commissioner's personnel committee came to light last week over supplements paid to local judges.

Committee members Clyde Cunningham, Iru L. Davis and Lee Moerland disagree over how much the county should supplement salaries for Circuit Judge Martin B. Breighner, Probate Judge John T. Murphy and District Judge David W. Fershee.

Cannigham and Davis presented a resolution setting the supplements at $1,200 for each judge. Moerland countered with a substitute resolution asking that the supplements be $3,000 for Judge Breighner, $2,500 for Judge Murphy and $2,500 for Judge Fershee.

When asked why he was proposing the larger supplements, Moerland told the commissioners:

"I feel that the courts are n serious function of local government and, after being familior with them for some time, I think we should take an active part in financing them. The support I recommend is reasonable and shows we are taking that active port. It is hard to find good pcople to serve – they make less than they would in private practice. I'm concerned that the judicial function will get away from the county level and go to the state. I'm trying to stay this."

Voting on Moerland's substitute resolution was held first and resulted in a 7 to 7 tie, with one commissioner absent. "Yes" votes were cast by Commissioners Richardson, Griffin, Paul, Fulkerson, Meggison and Moerland.

Base salaries ure paid to the judges by the state. They are $28,500 annually for circuit judges, $26,000 for probate judges and $21,500 for district judges.

It is common practice throughout the state for counties to supplement these salaries.

Judge Breighner's Circuit Court serves Emmet and Mackinac Counties ns well as Charlevoix County. Presently, Emmet County is supplementing his salory in the amount of $4,400 and Mackinac County in the amount of $4,000.

Judge Murphy's Probate Court serves both Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. Emmet County supplements his salary to the extent of $2,600.

Judge Fershee's District Court also serves Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. At the present time, Emmet County is not paying him a supplement but plans on doing so, according to Moerland.

Charlevoix County supplements to the three judges for 1975 were $1,200 for Judge Breighner, $600 for Judge Murphy and $600 for Judge Fershee.

City Council Upset with Elevator Requirement

Charlevoix's newly adopted BOCA Building Code came under sharp criticism Monday when city councilmen learned that either an elevator or wheel chair lift must be installed in second story buildings.

The controversial requirement came to light when Charlevoix Building Inspector Arthur Ranger told both First Congregotional Church and Hufford Industries that the lift must be installed to have a barrier-free design.

The church plans to remodel an existing two-story parsonage into a counseling center, while Hufford expects to create a second story on an existing office building.

"I believe that especially in these two instances the strict requirements of the BOCA Code are both unreasonable and unjustified," Ranger wrote in a letter to council.

"I thereby recommend that these two projects be approved by the City of Charlevoix to proceed without the requirement for the installation of either an elevator or a chair lift to the second level."

Several city councilmen indicated that the BOCA requirement did seem out of line in these particular instances.

City Attorney Don Berlage said he would research the code and see if the city council could amend the code.

In other action Monday, the council:

--Agreed to create an emergency checking account with $1,000 limit for emergency purchases needed to be made between council meetings.

--Referred to Committee a request to raise the present utility shutoff charge for utilities in arrears from $3 to $5 or $10.

--Agreed to meet in committee on whether or not the city would partially pay for utilities and streets in the Westport Subdivision being built by Richard Way. The city did agree to pay $6,550 for water lincs being installed in the 48-lot site located on Charlevoix's west sidc.

--Authorized the mayor and clerk to finalize the sale of city property to Dynamics Wood Products for $12,500. The property is located on Martin Road.

Lions Club Plans To Help Needy

Charlevoix Lion's Club will be brightening Christmas for local needy families with a basket of food.

Clnh nembers will be at Edward's IGA and Oleson's Food Store Fridny and Saturdoy to take canned and boxed food donations from local residents to be used in food boxes they are preparing for distribution.

The local club will then distribute the food to local families with the assistance of the Charlevoix County Social Services Department.

Youngsters can also contribute to the cause by attending the Lion's Club third annual Christmas movie at the Cinema III at 11 a.m. on Saturday, December 20.

Admission to the show is the donotion of o can or box of food.

The movie, "Puff n' Snuff," will end in time for youngsters to meet Santa Claus in the parking lot of the First State Bank of Charlevoix.

Santn will nrrive in town on Saturday at 1 p.m. Charlevoix's Volunteer Fire Department will be on hand to help Snnta greet his mnny expected well-wishers.

Prosecutor Requests Youth Bound Over to Circuit Court

Charlevoix County Prosecutor and the Charlevoix Sheriff's Department have petitioned Probate Judge John T. Murphy to waive the 15-year-old Ellsworth juvenile to circuit court. He is now being held on a homicide charge in the shooting death of Mrs. Vera Shooks, 21, on Nov. 28 in to circuit court.

Hearing on the request is scheduled for late Junuory.

Judge Murphy had earlier issued a 10-day dentention order after the youth had appeared in probate court.

The juvenile was apprehended after a tracking dog brought in by the Michigan State Police of the Petoskey post led them to him.

Funeral services for the former Vera Somerville who was found shot through the head as she sat in the living room of her trailer home were held at the Hastings Funeral Home on Nov. 30. Burial was in Southern cemetery at Central Lake.

Commission Rejects DNR Request to Close Bell's Bay Road

BOYNE CITY--The Charlevoix County Road Commission decided Monday not to turn over Lake Shore Drive in the former Bell's Bay State Forest to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The commission decided the controversial issue in less than 10 minutes with only Robert Mousseau abstaining from the vote. William G. Korthase, Jr. and Donnld Grnhnm supported the denial.

Mousseau owns property near Bell's Bay which will probably be incorporated in the park sometime in the future. He bought the property in 1971 and said it would be best to abstain from the vote to insure there would be no conflict of interest.

Appearing at the meeting were Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township supervisor, Oscar Ward, Charlevoix County commissioner, Korl Waldner, Boyne City resident, and Williinn Mittig, DNR area forester. Ward and Waldner were against the DNR gaining control of the road and Mittig said he was at the meeting as an interested citizen and not as a representative of the DNR.

About 60 people appeared ot the public henring on the question late last month and urged the road commission to retain control of the road and not turn it over to the DNR.

Most of those people appearing ot the original public hearing were Chnrlevoix residents who use the Bell's Bay area for recreation purposes.

This area is now part of the Fisherman's Island State Park and DNR representatives said they need control of the roads in the former Bell's Bay State Forest so they could better police the area. Jim Andrus, DNR district parks supervisor, told the crowd at the meeting, the DNR had no intention of closing the road off to public use, but would control day use traffic between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Those testifying nt the public hearing said they didn't believe the rondS" would remain open under DNR control despite assurance from Andrus they would be.

At Monday's road commission meeting, Ward and Waldner urged the commission to turn down the DNR's request in brief nrguments.

Stroud said his concern was with who was going to enforce the law in this nrea. He said he's the one who gets phone calls from township residents concerning law enforcement problems and he wants to know if he can rely on the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department to enforce the law and pass out tickets to violators.

Petoskey Bank Sues Reibel

The State Bank and Trust Company of Petoskey has filed suit here against former Charlevoix District Court Judge Arthur Reibel.

The complaint, filed October 9, 1975, claims damages in the amount of $6,348 from Reibel on a promissory note he allegedly signed on January 23, 1975.

The suit states that Reibel failed to repay the loan, and sold a Mercedes Benz automobile pledged to the Bank as security for the loan.

In his response to the suit, Reibel denied signing the January note and asks that the suit be dismissed.

His Answer does admit that he executed a $4,000 promissory note in favor of the State Bank and Trust Company during the month of October, 1973, with his Mercedes Benz automobile pledged as collateral, but he further states that the October note was paid during the month of July, 1974.

Reibel contends that the note due and owing to the Petoskey bank is a note executed by Beaver Island Transit, Inc.

The Transit Company figured In a multi-count formal complaint by the Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission against Reibel as one of two businesses he was operating from his Courthouse office.

Reibel resigned from office following a denial of any and all allegations of official misconduct, citing his interest in developing his new business, Castle Farms, originally part of the summer estate and dairy farm of Chicago millionaire Albert L. Loeb.

Foreclosure proceedings by the Small Business Administration against the Castle Farms property are still pending in Charlevoix County Circuit Court.

Charlevoix County Dogs Lead Somewhat A Dog's Life With New Humane Society Shelter

By PEG OBLE

If dogs could talk, they would probably say that 1975 has been a good year for their brothers and sisters in Charlevoix County.

This is the year that the county built a new animal shelter for lost, strayed and unwanted dogs to replace the cold, dark dungeon they were previously kept in.

The Charlevoix County Animal Shelter was built by the county in cooperation with the Charlevoix County Humane Society and is run by them jointly. It is a masonry building on the grounds of the Sheriff's Department, close to the County Animal Control Officer's headquarters, where there is constant surveillance of the building and where the animals can easily be cared for.

The Humane Society has offices in the building, where they take calls from persons seeking to adopt or locate strayed or lost dogs. The Society also takes carc of and places unwanted cats and kittens, but this venture is not shared by the county.

Since the shelter was opened in early fall, the Society has placed about 30 dogs in adoptive homes and taken in about 50 dogs and puppies altogether. Many were redeemed by their owners.

In addition, the Animal Control Officer has handled some adoptions and redemptions himself.

The Humane Society has also placed some 25 cats and kittens in adoptive homes.

Dogs entering the animal shelter are usually either picked up by the Animal Control Officer or brought in by owners. When picked up and the owners cannot be found, they are kept for several days before being made available for adoption.

Owners who bring dogs and puppies to the shelter are charged $5.00 for dogs and $2.00 for puppies. The charge is $3.00 for cats and $1.00 for kittens under six months of age.

Adoption costs are $5.00 for all animals, plus $8.00 for a rabies vaccination coupon for dogs and puppies.

Some animals find their way to the shelter in strange ways. Mrs. Robert McKown, one of the hardest-working volunteers at the shelter, says she found a Siamese cat and four nursing kittens in a burlap bag on her doorstep in Boyne City. Two of the kittens have been adopted but the mother and two other kittens are still available.

There are many reasons why people take animals to the shelter, Mrs. McKown says. They may be moving to a place where they cannot care for the pet; they may become allergic to them; they may have a new baby which the pet does not like; they may just not be able to handle a pet which has become a runaway, a scratcher or a biter. The reasons are all indicated on a form when the animal is brought in and its adoptability is determined from that information.

The Humane Society offices are open Monday through Friday from 1 o'clock to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. They are manned entirely by volunteer help, and they need more.

Right now, those donating time to the shelter are Angela Malpass, East Jordan; Beatrice Winjo, East Jordan; Carol Judkins, Boyne City; Mr. and Mrs. McKown; Bill and Mary Miller, Charlevoix; Carol Leonard, Charlevoix; Terry Kenifeek, Charlevoix; Lorin Corwin, Charlevoix, June Perron, Charlevoix and Joy Whitley, Charlevoix. Joy is a student who works after school.

Trusties from the Charlevoix County jail do the heavy cleaning and feed the animals. Many of these men fall in love with the animals and three of them have adopted dogs upon being released from jail. Of course, many of the volunteers have taken home animals, too!

The Humane Society will hold its second annual meeting January 14 at 8 o'clock in the Charlevoix City Hall. Five new members will be elected to its Board of Directors at that time. Nominees to date are Kelth Anncar, Todd Warner, Selma Price, Shirley Woodley and Michael Gibbons.

Because of the extru expense of setting up its offices, the Humane Society is working hard to increase its membership. Does are $5.00 a year for adults and 50 cents for juniors. The only other sources of income it has are donations und money-making projects.

Mrs. Patricia Sturm, Route 2, Horton Bay, Boync City, Is Society treasurer.

When we were in the Society offices the other day, a mother and father came in looking for a dog to give their son for his birthday. That's a good idea, and so would be a gift of a dog or cat to animal lover for Christmas.

MR. AND MRS. Robert McKowen of Boyne City and Bill Miller of Charlevoix stand in front of the Charlevoix County Humane Society animal sheller.

Charlevoix Hourly Employees Realize Average $565 Hike

★★★★★★★

Plus Fringes For 1976

The 1976 salary and compensation schedule for elected and appointed county officials and department heads was adopted by the Board of Commissioners last week. It represents a $565 annual raise for all such employees except members of the Board of Commissioners.

In addition to salaries, every county employee receives a paid vacation ranging from five working days one year of service to 20 working days after ten years of service and one extra day for each year thereafter.

County employees are paid for, but do not work on, ten legal holidays as well as all national and state general election days.

General county employees, not elected or appointed or department heads, are paid by grade and level ranging from $6,215 to $13,565 a year.

The salary and compensation schedule for county officials and department heads follows:

Richard M. Pajtas

Attorney Begins New Practice

Richard M. Pajtas announces the opening of his law office at 301 Michigan Avenue, Charlevoix, where he will be engaged in the general practice of law.

Pajtas is a native of Flushing, Michigan and for the past six years has been associated with the law firm of Shulaw & Pajtas of Owosso, Michigan.

Pajtas attended St. Procopius College in Lisle, Illinois, Michigan State University and received his Juris Doctor degree from the Detroit College of Law.

He is a member of the State Bar of Michigan; the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association; the Association of Trial Lawyers of America and the American Bar Association. He has been a member of Kiwanis, past president of the Shiawassee County Unit of the American Cancer Society and the Knights of Columbus.

Pajtas is married to the former Dann J. Goltz who along with their two children, Jason and Zachary, is presently in the process of moving to Charlevoix.

28 Violate Housing Code

Twenty-eight persons were in violation of the Charlevoix County Construction Code last month, according to a report submitted to the Board of Commissioners by Building Inspector Dick Mayhew.

As of December 4, 22 of these people were still in violation and sent second notices advising them that if they did not contact the Building Inspector's office within 10 days, their cases would be sent to the Prosecuting Attorney for further action.

Although the Construction Code went into effect November 6, 1974, many persons apparently do not know they must abide by the state law and secure building permits before starting to build any kind of structure, Mayhew says.

In fact, County Board Chairman Harry Griffin estimates that about 20 percent of the building in Charlevoix County is started without proper permits.

According to the Code, a permit is required "to construct, enlarge, alter, remove or demolish a building, or change the occupancy of a building from one use group to another requiring greater strength, exitway or sanitary provisions; or to change to a prohibited use; or to install or alter any equipment for which provision is made or the installation of which is regulated by the Basic Code."

Certain ordinary repairs are not covered by the Code, and these exceptinns will be explained by the Building Code Department.

Any questions pertaining to building permits will be answered by Mayhew's office, phone 547-4419.

County Commission Hires Cook for Jail

Inmates of the Charlevoix County jail will soon agnin be eating meals cooked in the jail kitchen.

After the first of the year, the Sheriff's Department will have a 40-hour-n-week cook Monday through Friday.

While on duty, the cook will prepare meals for week-day lonches and dinners as well as cook and freeze food for breakfasts and weekend meals.

The combination of fresh-cooked and frozen meal preparation replaces the catering of meals to inmates by Leutheuser's restaurant, which has had a contract with the Sheriff's Department for the past yenr.

In order to handle the cooking and freezing of meals, the department is buying a micro-wave oven and a walk-in freezer.

Leutheuscr's has been charging $4.20 a day for three meals, and it is expected that the new arrangement will result in n comparable cost per meal. Food cost is estimated at $1.80 for a three-meal day, and to that must be ndded the salary of the cook and cost of new equipment. As in any mass production, the more meals served per day, the lower the cost will be for each meal.

Editorials/Opinions

County Board Needs to Reconsider Decision

If action taken last week by the Charlevoix Board of Commissioners is indicative of their decision-making ability, its no wonder few people pay attention to county government.

Last week, the county board decided they would supplement the salaries of our three local judges with only $1,200--one of the lowest in the state.

Although judges receive their base salary from the state, it is common practice for counties to supplement these salaries to bring them up to a level commensurate to the position of responsibility a judge has.

Base salaries for judges are $28,500 for circuit judges, $26,000 for probate judges and $21,500 for district judges.

In addition to the base salary provided by the state, local counties are expected to provide a supplement. For example, the circuit court judge, who is responsible for three counties, receives $4,400 from Emmet County and $4,000 from Mackinac County.

Similarly, the probate judge is supplemented $2,600 by Emmet County, one of the two counties he is responsible for. The district judge, who also serves Emmet County, will be getting a supplement from Emmet shortly.

So when Charlevoix County Commissioners met last week to decide what supplements they would provide for the jointly-shared judges, it was hard to believe they could come up with only $1,200.

As you can read in this week's Courier account, Charlevoix Commissioner Lee Moerland had appropriately requested the supplements range between $2,500 and $3,000.

Although Moerland's request was not really enough, it was, in our estimation, at least a positive step toward improving local judicial salaries.

Unfortunately, the majority of Charlevoix County Commissioners didn't agree with Moerland and charged ahead with only a $1,200 supplement.

Moerland could never be more right when he said last week that the courts are a serious funetion of local government and local government should take an active part in financing them.

He added that good judges are hard to find, especially when they make less than they would in private practiee.

Perhaps the county commission has already forgotten how unhappy they have been in previous years with our local judiciary.

Now, Charlevoix County is fortunate in having three very able and willing men to serve us on our bench.

When looking at what supplements the other counties in our jointly-shared circuit, and even those in neighboring counties make, it is embarrassing to see our county contribution.

We only hope that none of the three judges decide to leave the bench for lack of financial support because we seriously doubt whether anyone else as qualified would take the position for the supplements we offer.

County Commissioners are one of the first to clamor for control of government by the county instead of by the state and federal government.

If the commission's salary supplement decision is left to stand as it now is, the Charlevoix Board of Commissioners will have no argument if the state decides to take over the local court system.

Commissioner Moerland's recommendation for a higher supplement is one that deserves scrious reconsideration by his fellow commissioners.

We urge the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to reconsider its present decision to supplement our local judicial salaries far more than the present $1,200.

Dear Ken:

Members Bob Wexstall and Jeannine Wallace join with Commission consultant John Campbell and me in expressing our sincere gratitude and appreciation for the fine support and assistance which you have given to the Shade Tree Commission program.

In no small measure, you have provided a positive contribution to the program and the finc newspaper coverage of the Commission's activities has inculcated public awareness of - and support for - our program. In doing so, you have demonstrated that you are not only a line newspaperman, but a line member of the community as well.

Again, thank you very much for your cooperation, support and assistance.

Re: INCREASE IN PUBLIC DEBT LIMIT (H.R. 10049), and paying $100 million a day as "interest" on our own money.

Dear Congressman Ruppe:

Someone oncc said that the art of taxation is to pluck the goose in a way which obtains the most leathers with the least squawk. Onc way to approach the problem is to divert the goose's attention to other matters while the plucking proceeds.

The attention of American geese is being largely diverted to such matters as the rising cost of food, housing, medical care, transportation, etc. Yet, all the while, the biggest increases are actually occurring in the field of taxation.

You, Mr. Ruppe, as our Congressman, have spent our money far beyond even the outrageous taxes you have put on us, and the above mentioned bill was an attempt to raise the DEFICIT spending to $597 billion, spending money we do not have, for programs most of us do not want and would be better off without.

As Congressman Baunian told you: "The troubles faeing New York City are only a taste of what the United States faces unless we change this fiscal insanity."

Dear sir, the Constitution places on congress the obligation to control our currency, but Congress has seen fit to give this right to a group of private bankers from whom you pretend to "Borrow" money so that there will be an exeuse to pay them interest on our own money. This, corabined with your unfruitful delicit spending, has created the monster of $100 million each day in interest alone!

America was once a mighty nation, but you are rapidly bringing her to bankruptcy, ruin, and chaos. How much longer are you going to continue this irresponsible and corrupt praetice of voting to rob your productive, hard working, taxpaying constituents?

When are you going to stop voting for more and more deficit spending, and vote to return to Congress the right to create and control our currency?

Sincerely,
Richard Friske

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

Charles Dickens' genius in combining the characters of Serooge and Bob Crutchit in "A Christmas Carol" becomes more apparent with every passing year.

I think there's a little bit of Serooge and a little bit of Bob Cratchit in all of us and the two characters strive for prominence every holiday season. At least, I can feel them contending within me as Christmas-1975 rolls around.

Serooge: We aren't going to send any Christmas cards this year. They're too expensive and the postage will break us.

Bob Cratchit: All right, we won't send any Christmas cards. We'll send Christmas letters. We'll save the cost of the cards, and work in a personal message to boot. Besides you haven't written to anyone for a year.

Solution: We are sending Christmas cards, letters and post cards to our out-of-town friends. The expense in time and money will break us.

Serooge: A big Christmas dinner is ridiculous. No one enjoys a hearty meal on such a confusing day. Besides, at today's prices, who can afford a rib roast and Yorkshire pudding?

Cratchit: After all, Christmas only comes once a year. Let's live it up. When was the last time you have a rib roast? And why don't you start off the festivities with shrimp and oysters? Why not, huh?"

Solution: Serooge and Crachit are still debating this one, but from here it looks like hamburgers and Yorkshire pudding, with tuna fish in the hors d' ecuvres table.

Serooge: Christmas is for kids, if it's for anyone at all--which I scriously doubt. No Christmas presents for adults this year, O.K.? After all, money doesn't grow on Christmas trees.

Bob Cratchit: Fine with me. I was going to get a new watch and a pair of bedroom slippers, but if you insist...

Serooge: Better knock it off, Bobby, or you'll find yourself losing your situation.

Solution: Cratchit wins. Everyone gets something, regardless of age.

Serooge: Let's not get a Christmas tree this year. They are too expensive, and there's the trouble of putting one up, keeping it watered, cleaning up the pine needles every day and putting up with the aroma of pine resin in the living room for a week or two. Besides, someone has to take it down and store the ornaments in the basement.

Bob Cratchit: Isn't it fun to see the kiddies on Christmas morning opening their presents by the light of the Christmas tree? It's almost as much fun as picking out the tree, hauling it home, setting it up in the living room and decorating it. Did you ever smell a more aromatic pine? The whole house is like a Christmas bouquet.

Solution: Cratchit wins, again. Our only concession to Serooge is that our tree won't go up until the day before Christmas. But it will probably stay up until it takes root.

Serooge: No toys for the kids this year, O.K. Just practical stuff that they can wear to school. Besides, I don't know where they'd put any more toys. If Jennifer gets another doll in her bed, she will have to sleep on the floor.

Bob Cratchit: But kids like new toys. The reason they have so many is that they take such good care of them. Can you picture Christmas without dolls and toy fire engines? But, we'll buy them socks and underwear if you insist.

Solution: They'll get socks and underwear all right. But they'll also find all the dolls, games and gimcracks they asked for, too.

Serooge: Bah, humbug!

Bob Cratchit, alias Tiny Tim: God Bless Us Everyone.

Erma Bombeck

On my 45th birthday, my family chipped in and bought me a tennis racket. I don't wish to sound ungrateful, but this is like buying the Pope a Mouseketeer Beanie.

"When are you going to use it?" the kids kept elamoring.

"When it snows and I get another racket to put on the other foot," I said.

The truth is, I have never cared for sports that take me away from the table. (Besides, I tire easily and tend to black out when I spend an evening licking green stamps.)

But these obstaeles were small compared to the prejudiee I encountered when I ventured to the tennis courts with my brand new racket.

There is no evidenee to sustain this, but I have a feeling new tennis rackets secrete an odor that is deteeted within a 50-mile radius by experienced tennis players. The moment you appear, men in whitc shorts hurry toward their cars, women in white tennis dresses sniff the air and mumble something about burning dinner, and even small children playing in their bare feet back off and say, "I think I hear my mother calling."

I found one young man trying to seale the fcnce and said, "Would you like to play a game?

"Have you ever played tennis before?" he asked.

"No," I giggled. "What gave me away?"

"Your sweat band. You don't wear it to the armpits."

"But that's where..."

"You wear it around the wrist. Listen, I gotta eut out. Some other time..."

The next night, I went down again and this time collared a 12-year-old girl who tripped and fell as the rest of the players ran from the courts to their cars.

"What am I doing wrong?" I asked.

"First, you don't get a new suit if you hit the ball over the big fence. That's baseball. Next, you don't get an extra point if you hit the drinking fountain. And take the press off your racket when you play."

During the next few weeks, I worked like a demon to shake the new racket stigma--playing with anyone I could trap.

Yesterday, I ambled onto the courts and there was a tired-looking housewife in pedal pushers and a Howard Hughes sweatshirt.

"Have you ever played tennis before?" I asked.

She shook her head. "How can you tell?"

"You don't wear the sweat band around your ankle, dear. I gotta go. I hear the timer on my stove going off..."

The World's Really Like That

Lawyers are chief among those who make it tough for a wise-guy columnist to do his thing.

What I mean is, we smartie writers often depend upon exaggeration to make your point. It's the type of writing that more erudite people might call satire or caricature or at least sarcasm.

For example, I wouldn't simply write that my baby sister is overweight. I would write that the Rand-McNally people requested her to stand still long enough for alternate routes to be mapped for motorists who want to avoid having to drive around her. Now you know she isn't really big enough to be put on a map, like an alp. But you do get the idea she must proceed sideways through canyons, which is correct. See?

The trouble comes when the satirist must deal with subjects so outrageous they can't be exaggerated. How could I stretch the truth if my sister really did weigh 10 tons?

Washington has been an awful problem in recent years. We had a Secretary of the Air Force who didn't know his planes were bombing Cambodia. We had an FBI directar who hid secret papers in his shirt drawer. We had a Pentagon that kept score of the war by counting dead bodies and having cheerleaders announce the results every hour on the hour.

For years the kidding columnists had written that most politicians were dirty crooks who should be run out of office and into jail. Then came Agnew and Nixon and the Watergate lawyers. There was no way to exaggerate about those birds short of accusing them of being Nazis or murderers. Then we learned about the FBI and CIA plots...

Things aren't much better in the smaller towns, especially when it comes to lawyers. I used to kid lawyers for charging $500 for advising a client, after a 2-year delay, to pay a $10 traffic ticket. But how can I kid the 5 lawyers who were recently shot down in Howell, Mich?

These guys worked on a Detroit Edison condemnation case and submitted a total bill of $438,000. But a probate judge ruled their work was worth only $75,000. That's an 80 percent slash!

One law firm, for instance, submitted a $148,000 bill to Edison. Judge Dwight Cheevers cut it to $22,960. And he added that the lawyer had done a lousy job, saying he "failed to read the court files and then proceeded to waste the court's time rs to a matter that had alrendy been heard."

About all 5 lawyers, the judge said: "In effect, the very number of attorneys prolonged the length of the trial yet each attorney is requesting full payment for the time spent by him and other attorneys prolonging the trial."

The whole thing sounds like something Art Buchwald might write. Whoever heard of a lawyer charging $148,000 for $22,960 worth of work? And doing a bad job? It has to be an exaggeration.

But it really happened, thus adding to the woes of the wise-guy columnists who might as well smash their distorted mirrors. The world really looks like that.

The next time you see me writing with tongue on cheek, cheek it out. It will probnbly be bubble gum.

Meet Charlevoix

Meet Jacquie Merta

Jaequie Merta was appointed executive dirretor of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commeree earlier this year. Right now she is winding up the Chamber's Christmas season activities and looking forward to Mardi Gras and other 1976 promotions. This week Jaequie tells us about some of these activities and explains the operation of the Chamber.

COURIER: It's only a week until Christmas. What's left in the way of Christmas promotions?

MERTA: Well, Friday night is stag night, the night local merchants will give men shoppers special attention and help. We've recommended that all stores say open until 9 o'clock from now through the 23rd. Also, at 9 o'clock Friday night Santa Claus and his wife will draw names for gifts donated by local merchants.

COURIER: How does a person sign up for the drawing, and who donated the gifts?

MERTA: There are boxes in which to deposit signature slips all over town. Merchants who are participating in the event are Park Place, the Treasure Chest, Literary News Center, Petoskey Floral Company, Lieberman's, Aartvurk Studio, Kit Carson Lumber Company, the Clothing Company, Haggard's Bath and Bed, Kaden's of Charlevoix and the County Seat General Store.

COURIER: Is there anything else about Christmas?

MERTA: Yes, for the very last minute shopper, we suggest a telegraphed Christmas greeting or money order. As you know, the Chamber took over the operation of the Western Union station several months ago to provide a service to the community and to raise a little money for the Chamber.

COURIER: Your next big event is Mardi Gras. Tell us something about it.

MERTA: It will take place February 27 and 28, followed by the Lion's Club Winter Outing on the 29th. The King and Queen will be crowned on the 27th in the lobby of The Market and there will be a parade complete with floats. The King and Queen will be selected by ballots which will be sold for 50 rents each for the two votes. All proceeds from the sale of ballots will go toward work on the band shell in East Park. It needs a roof, lights and loud speakers. On the 28th there will be ski races at Mt. McSauba by age groups, a snow sculpturing contest and, we hope, a band concert and cross-country ski races. We also will sell "Charlevoix Mardi Gras, 1976" buttons. The whole Mardi Gras theme will be bicentennial.

COURIER: What are some of your other activities for 1976?

MERTA: Right now, our plans call for the Annual Spring Dance, the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament on June 22 through 26, a Fourth of July plenic, a Hobbyeraft Show on July 10, the 46th Annual Venetian Festival on July 23 through 25, Sidewalk Sale Days on August 6 and 7, the 18th Annual Waterfront Art Fair on August 14 and Fall Color Cruises on October 2, 9 and 10.

COURIER: What is the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce?

MERTA: As our literature says, it is to advertise, promote and inform the public of the commercial, industrial, recreational, resort and other advantages of Charlevoix the Beautiful and its area. In order to do this, the Chamber retains a full time staff and facilitics answering thousands of inquiries about our community, its facilities, merchants, accommodations, industries and services. The many events sponsored by the Chamber add to the enjoyment of Charlevoix's residents, help promote tourism and add to the general prosperity of our area.

COURIER: How many members do you have, and what kinds of memberships are available?

MERTA: Right now we have about 175 members. There are five different membership classifications: Sustaining, Supporting, Regular, Associate (non-voting) and Non-Resident (non-voting). Each classification has its own dues schedule, and in most classifications they can be paid quarterly, semi-annually or annually. This year, those sending in their dues before January 1 will receive a ten perecnt discount. This will also enable them to vote for four directors whose terms will begin in January and will assure listing in the 1976 Chamber directory.

COURIER: Who are the candidates for directors?

MERTA: They are Lo Anne Brown, Harvey Colc, Terry Edger, Joseph Morris, Jr., Peter Paee, David Phillips, Genc Steele and Jim Thomas.

Ace Hardware Files Suit

ACE Hardware, a Deleware Corporation doing business out of Chicago with a Michigan Corporation, Harbor Hardware, Inc., has filed the most recent claim against the owners of Harbor Hardware, Glenn D. und Patricla Harris.

The judgment was handed down by the Western Federal Court in Grand Rapids according to Under Sheriff James McCallum who, as a member of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, was delegated to serve the federal warrant late Friday.

The claim is in the amount of approximately $44,000 plus costs which will bring the total to an estimated $45,000. This brings the overall total of claims against Harbor Hardware to approximately $142,000.

Action against the local firm started with a judgment granted Dec. 4 by Circuit Judge Martin Breighner in behalf of Morley Bros., Inc., of Saginaw, a hurdware wholcsale firm. The company's claim was for $12,824. This was followed by a second served by Charlevoix County State Bank against Signet Realty and Investment Co. and Harbor Hardware lor $73,423 for a loan made to the two companies, a claim for $1,123 in personal property tax filed by the City of Charlevoix and $1,123 in personal property tax filed by the City of Charlevoix and another for approximately $10,000.

An exhibit of water colors by Charlevoix artist Dan Tellas is being held throughout the month of Decembcr in the display corridor of the Petoskey News-Review building.

Open House Held for Couple

An open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. John James on the oeeasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary will be hosted by their family at the Ellsworth Community Hall Sunday, Dec. 21.

The couple, who have lived in Ellsworth since 1944, will greet relatives and friends from 2 until 5 p.m.

Mr. James and the former Betty Ballard were married at Elmira on Dec. 22, 1935. They lived in Alba and Central Lake until moving here in 1944.

From then until his retirement in 1972, Mr. James operated his own barber shop in the community. They attended the Wesleyan church. Mrs. James is also a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Mr. James was born at Byhalia, United county, Ohio, June 2, 1905. Mrs. James was born at Lakeview March 21, 1917.

Hosting the memorable oeeasion will be their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William James of Ellsworth and their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. (Betty) Martinchek of Charlevoix, Mr. and Mrs. William (Harriet) Hilden, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy (Myra) Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Marilyn) Brown, all of East Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Anton (Margaret) Kubetz of Kewaunee, Wis.

What Christmas is really all about -

Sometimes in the rush of holiday shopping and activities, we lose sight of the real meaning of Christmas. Of course, we know it's more than Santa and gifts and parties but that's easy to forget amid the festivities and preparations. Now more than ever, we need to stop and think about what Christmas is really all about.

It's a celebration -- a celebration of the birth of Jesus and the birth of hope for mankind. That hope is born anew in our hearts each Christmas, as we contemplate the Christ Child. For He is indeed the Prince of Peace, bringing peace to every heart that will admit Him. May the joy of Christmas-the real Christmas-be yours!

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO ERBER AUTO!

Monday - Dec. 22nd 5 P.M. 'til 8 P.M.

Everyone Invited

His eyes how they twinkled! His dimples, how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry, and that's exaetly how he appeared to us when we met the jolly old elf. His outfit was one of the finest we've seen with fur trimmed coat and shiny black boots, my he was an impressive fellow, and guess who else we saw? Non other than Mrs. Claus! She looked so petite in her red dress and red hat to match and her glasses sat right on the end of her nose. Santa said he wanted to visit with every good boy and girl in Charlevoix County and would be making a special stop at Erber Auto from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, Deeember 22nd. Everyone is invited.

Tom Erber has arranged to have a free photo of Santa and Mrs. Claus taken with your youngster, free of charge. Santa will also have a small gift surprise for all youngsters.

Then he picked up his sack of toys, said he would return on Monday, and was off, and you know his belly did shake like a bowl full of jelly and I did laugh, in spite of myself.

Rayders Drop Game to St. Ignace

The St. Ignace Saints served notice that they were a team to be reckoned with as they defeated the Charlevoix Rayders 86-61 Friday night as they posted their third league win of the season.

The Rayders were no match for the taller, more experienced Saints who poured in 32 buckets to 20 for Charlevoix and hit on 76 percent of their free thruw attempts or 22 of 29 while collecting 27 personal fouls.

Charlevoix, on the other hand, was successful on 55 percent or 21 of 38 free throw attempts. The Rayders has 23 personal fouls.

After a slow first half, Charlevoix scored 19 points as the second half got underway and 24 in the final period but the team was unable to overcome the 19-8 first quarter and 39-18 halftime deficits.

Bud Klooster had 14 points and Bob Alger 13 for the Rayders. Matt Doan and Dave Tollas contributed eight points each; Scott Boss and Steve Michael, six each; Brian Williams, Pat Schaefer and John Greene, two each.

Jim Bishop with 18 points was top scorer for the game with 16 points; Brian Winston 14 and Mark Olsen 11.

Charlevoix will host Benzie Central here Tuesday and travel to Boyne City on Friday to close out the first month of play.

J.V. Loses 61 to 49

"In a JV game that saw a lot of good basketball, the young Charlevoix quintet bowed to the St. Ignace Saints by a score of 61-49. It was the Rayder JV's first league loss of the season.

It was the Saints' game from the opening whistle to the final horn as they jumped to a 16-10 first period lead; more than doubled the score to 37-16 at halftime and remained ahead 48-36 at the three quarter mark as Charlevoix had its best quarter.

Charlevoix had 24 buckets and one of two free throw attempts and collected 10 personal fouls. St. Ignace had a total of 27 baskets, seven of 13 free throws and two personal fouls.

Neil Dziedzic had 16 points, Jim Elzinga 13 and Klp Cinnamon 10 followed by Jim Alger with four and Tom Left, Joe Left and Scott Swanson with two each for Charlevoix.

Kevin Latzner had 20, Mike Paquin 14 and Pete Belonga 10 for the Saints.

Wrestlers Tie Soo

Charlevoix Rayder wrestlers tied with the Soo for fourth place in the Rotary Invitational Wrestling Tournament held Saturday at Sault Ste. Marie.

Charlevoix and the Soo hnd 87 points to come in behind Alpena which won the tournament with 146 points; Petoskey with 105½ and Grayling with 92½. They were followed by Rogers City with 78; Korah with 77; Munising, 74; Rudyard, 32½ and Central Algona with 29½.

Carl Partello of Grayling was named best wrestler in the tournament. Larry Babbit of the Soo had the most pins.

Charlevoix medal winners were Ron Hilton in the 105 pound class and Gary Probert in the 167 pound class who placed second; Mark Byard who placed third in the 98 pound class; Craig Golovich (132), Mike Snizik (155) and Dane Whitley (185) who placed fourth.

In winning their respective standings, Probert and Whitley upset top-seeded contenders Coach Norm Probert said.

Rob Hilton (126) and Chris Wimmer (145) placed fifth to earn team points.

Terry Drew, (138) participating in his second meet since recovering from a football injury, and Grey Loper, heavyweight, rounded out Charlevoix's 10-man team.

Charlevoix will host its third annual Holiday Invitational Tournament here on Saturday with 15 schools participating.

On Thursday Boyne City will clash with Charlevoix on the Rayder mat in a meet scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Frosh Win

The Charlevoix Freshmen racked up a 62-40 win over the St. Ignace Freshmen in a game played here Thursday.

Pat Schmidt with 16 points and Kevin Kratt and Barney Way with 12 points each paced the win as Charlevoix led the young Saints 17-14; 34-25 and 41-33 by quarters.

Mark LaTour had 15 and Mike LaCount 13 for the visitors.

Charlevoix will close out their pre-holiday schedule at Boyne City on Thursday.

J. V. Loses

The Charlevoix JV's continued their winning ways last week with a hard fought 49-45 win over the young Rogers City second squad.

It was a seesaw game all the way with the young Rayders trailing by four points at halftime. However, as the game went on Charlevoix battled back to outscore Rogers City in the third period for a three point advantage going into the final period.

Charlevoix trailed 12-6 at the quarter and 19-15 at the half before going ahead 36-32 at the three-quarter mark.

AT THE BRIDGE, CHARLEVOIX

City Sponsors Hockey Program

Plans for a hockey program sponsored by the City Recrention Department have been announced by Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

Site of the public skating rink and the hockey rink will be at the Ferry Beach parking lot this season, Boss said, adding that this is the first season Charlevoix will have a fall-size hockey rink which will be utilized by both adults and youngsters. He went on to say that it is not economically feasible to build rinks in more than one location. He said farther that because of the size of a hockey rink, this is the only site at this time where one can be built.

Clearing the Ice of snow is another problem. In a large area such as the Ferry Beach site, this can be done with the use of snowplows.

There are heated restrooms at the site.

Present plans call for the organization of three leagues for the youngsters, the Squirts (8-10 years); PeeWees (11-12) and Bantams (13-14).

Youngsters interested in playing are asked to call Wayne Boss at 547-2872 to sign up. Prospective players are reminded that they must have a mouth gaard, helmet, gloves, shin guards and hockey skates.

Boss said that the local teams will be playing teams from Petoskey and Harbor Springs daring the winter. Prior to opening the season, the youngsters will receive a full course of instruction tu prepare them for competition, Boss said.

Equipment can be purchased locally. Anything that can't be purchased in town may be ordered by the Recreation Department Uniforms will be furnished by the Charlevoix Recreatior Department.

Varsity Loses to Rogers City

The Charlevoix Rayders oatscored Rogers City 24 to 22 from the floor bat the Hurons took advantage of trips to the free throw line to defeat the Rayders 64-58 in action here Tuesday.

The Harons jumped to a 15-7 first period lead and remained ahead 34 to 23 at halftime.

However, as the second period opened, the Rayders caught fire to oatscore Rogers City 18-8 to trim the visitors margin to 42-21 going into the final eight minutes.

Charlevoix forged to a lead midway in the final period bat as the quarter drew to a close the Hurons came back and, at the final horn, had scored 22 points to 17 for Rayders for the win.

Charlevoix scored on 10 of 20 free throw attempts and had 21 personal fouls. Rogers City made ap its field goal defielt connecting on an amazing 80 percent of its free throws, 20 of 24 attempts, for the winning margin.

Matt Doan and Bad Klooster with 12 points each paced the Rayders. They were followed by Scott Boss with 10 points, Bob Alger with seven, Brian Williams with five and Dave Tollas with four.

Randy Peltz led the Haron scoring with 17 points followed by Mark Belusar wth 14 and Ken Gorlewski with 11.

Chuck Faust Honored

Chuck Faust, a Charlevoix High School gradaate now residing in Delton, was among the select students receiving college athletic letters during the annual fall sports banquet held recently at the school.

Faust was the only freshman awarded the honor following a season of Adrian golf. The team finished the year with a 2-4 record and placed fourth in MIAA standings.

The first-year athlete is an Adrian pre-engineering student. His academic abilities have afforded him two scholarships for 1975-76, college and Michigan competitive awards.

Faust was one of the top ten students in the 1975 graduating class at Charlevoix High School and a sports letterman, participating in golf, track and basketball. In 1974, and again the next year, he was a member of the school traek team named all-Michigan Huron Shores conferenee. He was also with the one-mile relay team ranked second in state class C championships in 1975.

When asked which high school educator he deemed most influential in his schooling, Faust seleeted Barry Anderson, Charlevoix coaeh.

Independent League Has A Lot of Action

Action in the Independent Basketball League has become more exciting as teams jockey for position in league standings. Last week saw several close games and a coaple upsets as the season goes into its sixth week.

Following this week's games, action will be halted for two weeks as players take time oat for the Christmas holidays.

Game results for the past week follow: LaBlance Insurance over Medusa 63-45; Kennes Excavating over First State Bank 67-62; Russell Shell over Village Milkhouse 59-37; Wojan Aluminum over Bay Shore Steel 68-48; Klooster John Deere over Alray Cottages 57-55 in an overtime, the first of the season; Credit Union over County State Bank 54-40.

Beano Archey scored 28 points but his efforts were not enough as Medusa bowed to LaBlance 63-45 after trailing 13-6; 25-16 and 46-22 by quarters. Joe Beaudoin with 20 points, Dave Novotny with 16 and Sam Supernaw with 15 fearheaded the winning effort.

Kenney Excavating found themselves facing a determined opponent in First State Bank as the stubborn Bankers held the Diggers to a 14-14 first period tie and to a slim 27-26 halftime and 41-39 third period leads. The winning effort was led by Bernie DeVries with 23 points and Jack Danbert with 12. Roger Gowell had 20 points, Larry Roth 16 and Gary Stutzman 12 for the Bankers.

Russell Shell added another victory to its growing list as the Pumpers led Village Milkhouse 21-16 at halftime after trailing 8-7 at the quarter. Shell went ahead 45-28 at the three-quarter mark before coasting to an easy victory. Dave Norton dumped in 19 points, Leroy Buehanan 14 and Mike Crain 10 for the victors. Bill Gengle and Dick Patman shared scoring honors for the losers with 12 points each.

The highlight of the action on Thursday was the overtime victory of Klooster John Deere who trailed Alray Cottages 9-8; 36-19 and 43-31 by quarters before knotting the score 51-all at the final horn. Klooster's outscored the Cottagers 6-4 in the overtime for the victory. Connie Klooster had 25 points and Hal Evans 10 for the last-minute winners while Guy Swanson had 15, Bob Holtzman 13, Scott Blanchard 11 and Stan Towsley 10 for Alray Cottages.

After trailing Bay Shore Steel 15-13 at the first quarter, Wojan Aluminum went ahead 29-23 and 40-29 by quarters for the win paced by Kurt Currey with 32 points. Stan Martin had 15, Richard Wojan with 16 points, Frank Holcomb with 15 and Charles Borths with 11 were top scorers for the Steelers.

The Credit Union pulled an upset when they defeated County State Bank 54-40 in a game which saw the victors come from behind to outscore the Bankers 21-5 in the last period for the win after trailing 10-7; 20-18 and 35-33 by quarters. Gary Novotny with 16 and Frank Haekett with 15 paced the win. Larry Skippergosh had 18 for County State.

Watching Jack the Watch Repairman

The best of a watch, the tick tick sound, is produced by the pallet fork hitting the escape wheel. In many mechanical watches, the pallet fork beats against the escape wheel close to 760,000 times a day. This amounts to over 25½ million times a year! Obviously, this is the greatest point of wear in a watch. To protect this point, most manufacturers have put jewels, made of synthetic sapphire or ruby, on the pallet fork. Being much harder than the metal of the escape wheel, they do not wear down, thus giving much longer life expectancy of the watch. These jewels also give better value for the money in the long run.

However, you, as the customer, must be careful. Just because a watch is jeweled, does not mean it has jewels in the pallet fork escape wheel junction. It may simply have jewels at other points to wear. For quality watches in popular price ranges, shop Reusch Jewelry

Planner Unveils Health Plans

John Garcia, planner for the 258 Board of the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board, presented an outline of steps and procedures to be utilized in gathering, analyzing and applying information relating to the needs of the developmentally disabled people in the four county area served by the board.

The outline was presented at the reecnt meeting of the board held at the Administrator's office.

Garcia suggested that weighing overall needs of the developmentally disabled against present capabilities for meeting these needs must be considered prior to preparing short as well as long range plans of program action. Programs mandated by law must naturally pre-empt other desired or suggested planning, he pointed out. Priorities for future funding requests will be developed against the base of information gathered by the Garcia Study and the avnilability of fundiug for particular service needs.

A discussion as to the in-service training sessions of this board followed. It was determined that in-service training sessions will be held during the regular board meetings for an hour either prior to or following regular meetings.

The board passed a resolution to July 1, 1975, until such time as the current fiscal situation of the State of Michigan is resolved.

The next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for Jan. 8, a week later than usual, because of the New Year holiday. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Administrator's office. The public is invited.

THE CHARLEVOIX Middle School Band performed for youngsters Thursday night in East Park before decorations were hung on the city's Christmas tree.

Kent and Chris

Kent and Chris Seymour, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Seymour of Charlevoix, both have December birthdays.

Chris was four years old on December 9 and Kent will be seven on December 20.

Grandparents are Mrs. Versal Seymour of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Callender of Eastport.

Homes Cause Deficit

The cost of children put in foster homes and in state institutions by the Probate Court is going up.

At last week's Board of Commissioners meeting, Commissioner Lee Moerland pointed out that the County Child Care Fund is almost $17,000 in the red for 1975.

Children who are judged delinquent or abused and neglected come under the jurisdiction of the Probate Court.

Moerland presented figures showing how child care costs have increased since 1971. That year it was $12,000 for care in county foster homes and $10,000 for care in state institutions.

In 1972, the figures rose to $13,000 and $12,000; in 1973, to $24,000 and $20,000; in 1974, to $32,000 and $21,000; and up to October 1, 1975, $29,000 in both categories.

Arnold Hudson Gets Appointed

Arnold Hudson, Walloon Lake resort owner and building contractor, was appointed to the Charlevoix County Planning Commission last week by the Board of Commissioners.

Hudson succeeds John Buick, also of Walloon Lake, who resigned beeause of press of other activities.

The Planning Commission is composed of 10 county residents who work with County Planner Bill Mercer on the many problems pertaining to local quality of life, now and in the future.

A newly formed 4-H Club held its first meeting last Nov. 19th at the Ellsworth Community School. Mrs. James Rubingh was in charge. Burt Stanley, County Extension Agent from Bellaire talked to the club about the awards they could receive. Maudi Ritt also of Bellaire, showed slides of previous 4-H activities. The following officers were chosen, President Janna Rubingh, vice president Jennifer Nelson, Secretary-treasurer, Joan Rubingh. It was decided to have a Christmas party December 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rubingh. Leaders for this year are Jan Veenstra, Louise Baseom and Pat Veenstra from Atwood. From Ellsworth, Kathy Buis, Irene Shooks, Pat Nelson, Mary Taylor, Natalie Postmus, Doris Wieland, Virginia Rubingh and Gertrude Rubingh.

Another club that meets every Wednesday evening in the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. are the Calvinists Cadet Boys: From 30 to 35 uniformed boys attend. It is broken into smaller groups, called cadres with an adult counselor in charge. The first hour is spent in Bible study after which the group reassembles to talk over projects, play games and work on merit badges. The group is presently selling light bulbs to finance the purchase of study materials and work meteriol. In this way the club is self-sufficient financially. The object of the club is to help them grow mentally, physically, socially and spiritually.

Mrs. Anna Petter Grundy, arrived by plane from India to spend the winter months in America with friends and relatives. Her sisters from Ellsworth, Fonnie Koster and Dena Otte went to Grand Rapids Friday to meet her and spend a few days with her at the home of another sister Miss Jane Petter. Also meeting her mother in Grand Rapids will be Miss Betty Petter, now attending Mississippi University this term, (originally from India) one of Mrs. Grundy's adopted Indian children.

The mother of Mrs. Neal Troutman passed away last week in Escanaba. The funeral was Thursday. The Troutmans spent all last week in Escannba.

Petitions Now Out

Deadline for filing nominating petitions for the February 18 City Primary Election will be 4 p.m. Monday, December 29.

City officials whose terms will expire in April and who must file petitions if they plan to become candidates for re-election are: mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, and one alderman in each of the city's three wards.

Expired terms include: Edward P. Hansen, mayor; Lyle King, clerk, who was appointed earlier this year to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Ida Heise in August and who will now be seeking election to office for the first time; Annabelle Cunningham, treasurer; aldermen: first ward, Ralph McRae; second ward, Robert N. Timms, and third ward, Gerald Selph.

On Monday, Mr. Hansen said he was undecided whether or not he would be a candidate.

"There are many things that I will have to consider before I make my decision", he said, regarding his candidacy.

King and Miss Cunningham are definitely candidates they said last week.

McRae said Monday night it was too early to make a decision regarding his candidacy, while Timms said earlier he thought he would seek another term. Selph, who has served four years, said that four years was enough.

"It's time someone else served our ward," Selph said.

Nominating petitions may be obtained at the office of the City Clerk or at the office of the County Clerk.

Obituary

Carl E. Shearer

Funeral services for Carl E. Shearer, 83, who died Wednesday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where he had been a patient for a week, were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Shearer was born at East Jordan Oct. 3, 1892. During World War I, he served in the U.S. Army. He returned to live in Chicago where he was employed as a mail carrier by the U.S. Post Office Department. Following his retirement, he returned to Charlevoix in 1955 to live. In 1956 he was married to the former Geraldine McCafferty.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters by a former marriage, Mrs. Jack (Mary) Casey of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. James (Caroline) Dunwoody of Chicago; five grandchildren; four great grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Potter and Mrs. Jerry Haggerty both of Charlevoix.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor Mr. Shearer's memory contribute in his name to the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

MRS. WAYNE OLIVER

Funeral services for Mrs. Wayne (Phyils) Oliver, 49, who died Wednesday as the result of injuries received in a two-car accident two miles north of Vanderbilt on US 27 near Dunham Road, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Saturday. The Rev. Raymond Giffin offielated. Interment was in Corwith Township cemetery at Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Oliver was a passenger in a 1968 Ford Pickup driven by her husband, Wayne, 49, traveling north on US 27. The second car, heading south, was a 1975 Chevrolet driven by Edward Palm, 31, of Grosse Pointe. Otsego county Sheriff's officials who investigated said the highway was "extremely slippery" and that it was snowing at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Oliver was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's hospital in Saginaw where she was being taken for treatment of severe head injuries after first being treated at Otsego Memorial Hospital in Gaylord. Mr. Oliver and Palm were also treated at the Gaylord hospital and released later in the day. The accident happened at 4:40 p.m.

Mrs. Oliver, the former Phyllis Henry, was born in Tuscola county Feb., 13, 1926. She was married to Mr. Oliver at Vanderbilt in June, 1946. They lived in Traverse City prior to coming to Charlevoix in 1962. He has been a driver for the Oven-Fresh Bukery Co. in Grand Rapids for 29 years. She had been employed at the Charlevoix County Register of Deeds office since 1965.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Drew (Pauline) Young and Mrs. Michael (Geraldine) Moore, both of Charlevoix and Mrs. Thomas (Sally) Charest of Traverse City; six grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Theron Henry of Pontiac; a sister, Mrs. Thomos Marchisano of Brooklyn, N.Y., and a brother, Richard Henry of Pontiae.

headed out the front door of the cafe.

She could hardly get home quick enough to call a few other older people she knew to ask them if they wanted to share a Christmas dinner.

Maybe they could go over to Grandvue Medical Care Facility in East Jordan and help a few of the patients open their Christmas gifts, she thought as she whisked through the sloushy, snow-covered sidewalks.

As the woman walked closer toward her small wooden-framed white house, she remembered meeting a store clerk who said that she and her husband didn't have anyone to spend Christmas Day with.

Maybe they would want to come over and share some of the turkey dinner, too, she thought to herself.

her tired, feeble hands and stared at it like it was a rare and precious gem. In a way, the bright red ribbon did hold a certain value.

The ribbon, the woman so carefully held in her hand would be the only reminder of Christmas she would have this year.

The Christmases she had so long grown accustomed to had turned into nothing more than waking up to an empty house.

The woman's husband had died several years ago and her children had grown and moved to another part of the country. It seemed useless to put up any decorations or buy a Christmas tree. There was no one but herself to enjoy them, anyway.

After several minutes of standing in the restaurant with the ribbon in her hands, the lonely woman mumbled under her breath and threw the red ribbon back on the table.

She wasn't going to go through another lonely Christmas. The woman swung her old stove-gray coat over her shoulder and put on her black velvet hat, as she

The woman approached her front door steps and became more determined that her idea would work. No more lonely Christmases.

Everyone she could think of would be invited to her home for Christmas dinner, she smiled to herself.

When the woman finally reached her front door, she noticed a brown package wedged between the storm and front doors. She grabbed the package and quickly went inside to unwrap it.

After shedding the brown wrapping, the woman discovered a box wrapped in Christmas paper with a large ribbon and bow tied around it. Dangling from a ribbon on a string was a small card that read:

"Merry Christmas, Mom. We could never forget you."

Tourney Starts Saturday

Charlevoix's third annual Holiday Invitational Wrestling Tournament, to be held here Saturday under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix City Police, has attracted 15 schools which will be represented by a minimum of 192 young prep school athletes Charlevoix Coach, Norm Probert, has announced.

The tentative schedule for the tourney calls for weigh-ins to begin at 7 a.m. and continue until 9 a.m. A seeding adjustment meet will follow in the band room with matches scheduled to begin on five mats at 11 a.m.

Matches to determine place winners from eighth to first place will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Medals and trophies will be presented by Chief of Pollee Jack R. Mol and Ms. Toni Felter, assistant athletic director, at the close of the tournament.

Teams entered in the meet and their coaches will include Boyne City coached by Bob McCullough; Elk Rapids, John Boals; Frankfort, Jim Buzzell; Gaylord, Tom Higgins; Glen Lake, Perry Jones; Grayling, Don Ferguson, Dave Ferguson and Larry Schlaak; Hillman, Darrell Spragg; Kalkaska, Stafford Woods; Mancelono, Mark Nixon; Marion, Wayne Partica; Onaway, John Connell; Pine River, Mark Rodak; Rogers City, Bill Barrett; Rudyard, Dale Horrom; Whittemore-Prescott, Ron Sterling and Charlevoix, Coach Probert.

In listing the participants, Coach Probert said that many district and regional as well as state medalists will be taking part in Saturday's tournament which should make the event one of the best in the area during the current season.

"This will be an opportunity to see wrestling at its best. I hope everyone who can will attend the tournament and support not only the Charlevoix team but the event" Coach Probert and Chief Mol said.

In a way, it's like giving a whale store far Christmas, and you don't have to warry if they'll like it!

Faith will restore the true meaning of Christmas.

Amid all the colored lights and tinsel excitement of the holiday preparations, let us keep in mind the purpose of this joyful occasion and give some thought to the One whose birthday we are preparing to celebrate. Remember that although He lived a very short life span, in an obscure manner, in a sparsely populated area. He did more than all the great rulers of the world combined to change the course of its history. Honor the birthday of the Son of God by attending Christmas services at the Church of your choice; and learn to follow His teachings there every Sunday.

"Tis not the weight at jewel ar plate,
Or the tangle at silk and lur;
'Tis the spirit in which the gift is rich,
As the gifts of the wise men were;
And we are not told whase gift was gold
Or whase was the gift ot myrrh.

Hansen and McRae Run for Mayor

McRae

It looks like Charlevoix can expect a repeat performance with this year's mayoral race—buth Mayor Ed Hansen and Councilmen Ralph McRae are running.

Just last year, the incumbent mayor slid by the city councilman by only 13 votes after McRae had earlier defeated Hansen in the primary by 44-vote margin.

McRae, who operates his construction firm, is a comparative new comer to the Charlevoix political arena.

He was elected to a two-year term as first ward alderman in April, 1974.

Hansen, a Charlevoix businessman, is seeking his fifth term as mayor and has served on the council between 1957 and 1963.

The incumbent mayor, who earlier last week said he had not decided whether or not he would seek re-election, confirmed reports Saturday that he has taken out petitions to run.

"I'm not running against anyone," McRae told the Courier after his announcement to run for mayor. "I just think we need some new ideas and better ways of doing things."

McRae said neither Hansen or previous mayors have received the credit for many hard hours put into their jobs, but at the same time he said there must be some changes.

"We need a more open and informative type of government in our little City of Charlevoix," the city councilman continued.

McRae said he will have a list of 10 items that he will present to the public during the next few weeks.

"At this time, I would like to mention that I am very interested in the new charter and will do everything possible to assist and promote it," he continued.

McRae said he was concerned about the election board and wants to change the board so that there are more "agreeable and refreshing people" to serve the voters.

The city councilman said the list of registered voters should also be revised and brought up to date.

"It is my personal opinion that at least 10 percent of the names should be removed."

City Plans Two Hearings on Improvement Projects

Charlevoix city officials will be holding two public hearings within the next two weeks on proposed improvement projects totalling some $300,000 in federal funds.

City Administrator Robert Wexstaff says the hearings, set for Dec. 30 and Jan. 6, are a part of grant application requirements to receive funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Charlevoix is applying for some $150,000 to acquire land and improve utilities for a low rent and income housing development.

Another $75,000 is being sought to construct a two-story addition to city hall to provide for a permanent ambulance shelter and second story office space.

Lastly, the city is asking for $75,000 to replace remaining mercury and incandescent street lights with high pressure sodium fixtures, as well as remove and replace dead and dying shade trees throughout the city.

Hearings on the proposed project will be held at 8 p.m. in Charlevoix City Hall.

Charlevoix is applying for HUD Community Development Block grants that have been set aside for use in non-metropolitan areas in rural Michigan.

Some $5.3 million has been set aside for neighborhood improvements, water and sewage facilities and housing rehabilitation.

Cities, such as Charlevoix, can request funds up to $300,000.

Last year, there was a total of $4 million available for non-metropolitan areas in Michigan with 10 communities in Northwest Michigan receiving $760,000 in Community Development aid.

Milliken to Speak in Charlevoix County

Michigan Governor William Milliken will be making a special visit to Charlevoix County early February to honor Lincoln's birthday.

The Michigan Republican leader has accepted an invitation to appear as guest of honor at the first "Tip of the Mitt" Lincoln Day Celebration, Thursday, February 5.

Organized by Charlevoix County Republicans, Gov. Milliken will appear in Boyne City for two events being attended by Northern Michigan Republicans.

The Governor will be attending a reception and cocktail party at 5 p.m. at Anthony's Inn in Boyne, which will then be followed by a dinner at 7 p.m. at the Boyne City High School gym.

During the dinner, the Governor will give the first of three Lincoln Day addresses he will be making around the state during the coming year.

Milliken became governor January 22, 1969 and has been elected to the top state post twice since then.

Previous to becoming governor, Milliken was elected lieutenant governor in 1964 and 1966. He was elected to the state senate in 1960 and 1962, and became majority floor leader in 1963.

Born and raised in Traverse City, the 53-year-old governor is a graduate of Yale University. He and his wife, Helen, have two children.

He is past president of J.W. Milliken, Inc., with department stores in Traverse City, Cadillac and Manistee.

Grey Gables Takes First Place

Grey Gables of Charlevoix took top honors for the second year in a row in the Chamber of Commerce's Commercial Christmas Decoration Contest.

Bogg's Pastry earned second place, while Charlevoix County State Bank's M-66 Branch swept up third.

Judging this year's competition were Mary Beth Wallick, Georgia Hufford and Julia Baer.

Last Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus drew names of local residents participating in Charlevoix's Stag and Women Nites.

Those participating in the drawing received gifts and gift certificates from local merchants.

Those receiving prizes in the women's drawings included Sue Westenbroek, Park Place; Pat Brock, Treasurer Chest; Nancy LaPointe, Literary News Center; Joann Yardley, Petoskey Floral; Mrs. W. Couture, Liebermans; Karen Parsel, Aardvark Studios; Gerry Brady, Clothing Company; Mrs. Ken Cohen, Kit Carson Lumber; Betty Bergmann, Neff's Bird House; and Marilyn Leymon, Cadillac and Manistee.

Glory to God In the Highest

Editor's Note: Both of these stories are true. The names of the cities in the modern-day story have been omitted because it could have happened anywhere.

"Now it Came to Pass in those Days that a Decree went Forth from Caesar Augustus that a Census of the Whole World should be Taken. And All were Going, Each to his Own Town to Register."

Rev. Joseph Dean, a Glenmary priest of 30 years, was summoned a week before Christmas by a caller who asked, "Do you help people who are not members of your church?" Father Dean was taken to an abandoned shack in the country where he found an old man lying on the ground in the cold.

"And Joseph also went from Galilee Out of the Town of Nazareth into Judea to the Town of David, which is Called Bethlehem together with his Espoused Wife who was with Child."

Father Dean loaded the black man who was sick from malnutrition and exposure and took him to the hospital, but they would not keep him more than one night without pnyment.

"Mary and Joseph Knocked on the Door of the Inn but were Refused Admittance and Told, 'We have no Room. But there is a Stable behind the Inn.'"

The priest contacted one parishoner after another in his dominantly white parish and were told by all, "We have no room." Then one evening a young black man appeared at the rectory seeking work. Although no job was available, Father Dean told him of the plight of the slck mnn. He willingly offered lodgings in his run-down two-room house which also held eight children and a wife with child.

"And it Came to Pass while they were there, that the Days for Her to be Delivered was Fulfilled. And She brought Forth Her Firstborn Son, and Wrapped Him in Swaddling Clothes, and Laid Him in a Manger."

On Christmas eve, the wife of the man who opened his home and heart to the stranger gave birth—to a son. Soon after, a Sister of Mercy nun located relatives for the old gentleman where he found a home. Her name was Sister Noel.

His benefactor on that Christmas eve became involved in racial strifes, lost his job, and became active in trying to get a black man elected to a political office. He was shot to death a year or so later.

"And Suddenly there was with the Angel a Multitude of the Heavenly Host Praising God and Saying, 'Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace among Men of Good Will'."

Caroling

Last year we were new to Chnrlevoix from Detroit and we enjoyed the Christmas caroling in East Park. Except...we thnught we were practicing Christnas songs so we could carol around town and some side streets. Caroling is a wonderful way to remember the "good ole days" of Christmas tradition.

Also, we attended the Christmas tree hanging of ornaments in East Park for elementary school children. I expected a larger turnout of children to decorate their tree. I grew up in a small town and when I married we settled in Detroit. After eight years in the "big city" we moved to Charlevoix and all the thrills of a small town were renewed again. So, people of Charlevoix who have young children, please keep up these beautiful traditions and customs that are so dear to our town, so they will not be forgotten. You can take a drive through town and your children can say, "that's my decoration up there!" You can smile and know that your childrens' memories of that night will live forever.

Agree with Salaries

My name is George Baldwin nnd I agree with Lee Moreland on his decision to pay the existing judges more money. We don't want any more crooks.

Jar Lids Anyone?

Early last fall, when most of us would have given our eye teeth for a few dozen canning jar lids, we decided they would be a great Christmas gift for canning-minded friends.

Surely, by Christmas time, we thought, the great manufacturing companies would be caught up on the backlog of orders.

Forget it! There aren't a dozen canning jar lids for sale in Charlevoix, although Edwards IGA has some jars complete with lids.

We'll keep the idea in back of our mind for Easter. Maybe there will be some then to hide among the Easter eggs.

Who are Charlevoix Bosses?

Sharon Olson

Pips Hackett

Donna Smith

Jackie Carey

There ure bosses and then there ure "bosses."

When the boss is out playing golf Thuraday afternoons in the summer or sneaking away to do a little Wednesday afternoon skiing in the winter, who's watching the offlee? The "boss," af course.

The "boss" is the one who answers the telephone and stieks it out from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., day in and day out.

If you're a newspaper reporter or a salesman, yoo get to knaw the "boss" fairly quickly if you plan on getting in the front door of an office.

Although the boss shouldn't be confused with the "boss, the "boss" ean be a big help.

Sharon Olson is a "boss." She's been working for her bosses, attorneys John Michael and Don Berlage, for almost six years.

"I enjoy the work," she said while sitting behind a desk full of legal books and papers.

"There are some things I don't like to do, but there are things you just have to do even though you don't want to."

The legal secretary says that she enjoys working with real estate the most.

As far as her bosses are concerned, Sharon says they are very fair people.

"I wouldn't have been here this long if they weren't."

A "boss" who has a lot of action in her job and is always in the thick of things is Jackie Carey. Her "boss" is City Administrator Robert Wexstaff.

Although she's new an the job, Jackie finds it doesn't take too long to be known.

She's the one who gets all the complaints when the streets aren't plowed or electricity isn't running or has to decide who needs to talk to who to get their problems solved.

She also handles the city building permit paperwork, in case you want to build a new house or add a garage.

And sandwiched in between the paperwork and telephone calls, Jackie also has to track down a city administrator who's always out on one project or another.

"I think it's the most interesting work I've had since I've come to Charlevoix," she continues.

"There's a great variety of things to do."

Working for public officials is never easy because you can never please everyone, but Jackie says her boss and all the others at city hall are easy to work with.

Sometimes Charlevoix's sunny industries are forgotten about because they're places most Charlevoix residents don't have contact with, but industrial "bosses" say there are a lot of visitors.

Pips Hackett is Lexalite's industrial "boss." Her boss is Norm Works, vice president and general manager of the plastics industry.

Involved with a dozen or so projects, Pips says it's almost impossible to describe her job.

"There are so many things, I'm supposed to do...I should make a list sometime," she continued.

As at many of Charlevoix's industries, Pips greets visitors from across the state and natinn who stop in to visit the operation.

A plant located in Charlevoix the Beautiful on Lake Michigan makes a visit from downtown even more enticing.

Lexalite even finds itself getting a few curiosity seekers, who want to know just what the company does. Pips says she likes her boss because he always has a sense of humor.

"I enjoy meeting the people," she said.

"A "boss" who always meets a lot of different people during the day is Donna Smith. She works for Don Fuller at Ski and Shore Properties.

"I'm sort of the chief cook and bottle washer," she said about her job.

"My primary function is to greet customers and do correspondence."

Like many other "bosses", Donna enjoys working with people. She even has a Charlevoix High Schaal student come in for an hour a day to learn office procedures from her.

"You have to have a few bad jobs to appreciate the good ones," she continued.

"In this job, I'm not doing the same things every day."

As far as her boss goes, Donna says he's great to work for.

"Boss" Carrie Piehl of Char-Em Intermediate School District's Service Center has three bosses to contend with. She works for Superintendent Jim Shephard, Assistant Superintendent Charles Fraser and Vocational Education Direetor Sue Shepherd.

"I love the variety of work, it ehanges from season to season," she said about her job.

She said her bosses are all great.

County Food Consumption Up Despite Tight Economic Times

Residents of Charlevoix County have healthy appetites, it seems. During the course of a year they dispose of an impressive amount of food.

Notwithstanding the general tendency to cut back to adjust to the rising cost of living, food consumption in the area continued at a high level in the past year, judging from the amount of money spent in that direction.

During 1974, the figures indicated, local residents consumed some 28 pounds of groceries a week per person.

Although food prices shot up by about 30 percent throughout the country since 1972, according to the Department of Labor, there was no significant decline in the period in the amount of eating that was done. Such adjustments as were made were in kinds of food rather than in quantity.

The figures show that whereas the average household in the United States, consisting of 2.9 persons, was spending $30.32 for food in the latter part of 1972, it outlay rose to $40.05 last year, exclusive of alcoholic beverages.

The facts and figures are based upon data compiled by the Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of Labor Statistics and other agencies.

They show that the average American consumed, in the course of the year, 186 pounds of meat, 65 pounds of fish and poultry, 283 eggs, 123 pounds of potatoes, 247 pounds of milk and cream, 85 pounds of processed fruits and vegetables and 107 pounds of wheat flour, among other things.

As to cost, the figures for Charlevoix indicated that its food bill averaged $2,640 per household in 1974. This includes eating at home and away from home. Families with big incomes spent more than this and those with low-average incomes and those living on farms, somewhat less.

Throughout the nation as a whole, the average amount spent was $2,080 per household.

Because of the higher prices, many families have made drastic ehanges in their buying and cooking habits. For one thing, they have cut down on the use of convenience foods and on dining out.

As for meals at home, they are less elaborate than they used to be. There is more emphasis on soups, stews and casseroles.

School Library Needs Pocketbooks

There's a red stocking hanging in the Middle School library, and the boys and girls are hoping Santa Claus will stop by and pick up the messages there for him.

They have been dropping in their suggestions of books they would like to find in the library when they come back from Christmas vacation.

This fall a new paperback collection was set up in the magazine reading room that has been very popuinr with the students.

The books were purchased through a federally funded program designed to encourage all readers, but especially to whet the appetite of the reluctant reader.

Consequently special attention should be paid to the choices of the children themselves. The original grant of funds was accompanied by the recommendation that the local community pick up the task of replacing and expanding the supply. Many of our books are already worn out.

Listed belnw are the books the boys and girls would like. Some of them are already in the library hut are so popular more than one copy is needed.

If you care to purchase one or more of these books, or any others you believe are suitable, they will be gladly received at the school, or the librarian will come to your home and piek them up if you call 1.17-6746.

Bell Predicts One Million Telephone Calls

Michigan Bell is predicting that state residents will make more thnn one million long distance eatls on Christmas Day.

Because...Christmas is traditionally one of the busiest ealling holidays of the year, the telephone company is advising customers to schedule their ealls during the less busy hours.

On Christmas Day itself, early morning or afternoon calls have a better chanee of going right through. "This menns you will be better off phoning before 8 a.m. or between 1 and 5 p.m. in the time zone of the family or friends you are ealling," according to Lei G. Johnson, local Michigan Bell manager.

Editorials/Opinions

Competition Needed

It comes as no surprise that Charlevoix's primary races are still undecided with only a few days left before nominating petitions have to be filed.

However, when the December 29 deadline does roll around next week, we hope there are a few more choices than exist now.

No less than six positions open up for the February 16 city primary election and at this point, there is only one contest.

Traditionally, potential contenders for a ballot slot wait until the last fleeting minutes to file petitions to become a candidate. Hopefully then, we will see more names just before Monday night.

City officials whose terms will expire and who must file petitions if they plan to become candidates for re-election include the mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and one alderman from each of the city's three wards.

Mayor Edward P. Hansen has not yet decided whether or not he plans to run again for another term. If Hansen does seek re-election, he appears to be the only contender for the seat.

Although we do not want to endorse any candidates this early, we do hope Hansen does not run unopposed. Charlevoix residents deserve to at least have a choice of who they want to sit at the helm.

In all fairness, Mayor Hansen has spent many unnoticed and unappreciated hours working on city business this year. Hansen has attended countless public hearings and work sessions representing the city. No one could argue that the mayor has spent many more hours on city business than one would expect from a part-time official.

But at the same time, we feel competition for any political seat is healthy.

Residents have now had several years to observe how the incumbent mayor operates and have a right to decide whether they want the present administration to continue or not.

After City Clerk Ida Heise's retirement in August, Lyle King stepped into the position after being appointed to fill the vacancy by the city council.

Because King has only been in such a short time, it is almost impossible to evaluate any type of job performance. The responsibilities are complex and need several years of experience to gain a full understanding of the position.

Similarly, Charlevoix Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham holds a position that requires more than the usual amount of experience to keep the city's financial books.

In the three aldermen positions that open up this spring, only Second Ward Alderman Robert N. Timms has indicated that he will seek re-election.

Alderman Ralph McRae, from the city's first ward, says he will run for mayor again.

And Alderman Gerald Selph of the third ward has indicated he will seek re-election.

Charlevoix desperately needs aldermen who are willing to spend the time required to bring this city back into proper order. Like any business that expects to survive, the city needs people who have the necessary background to create proper present policy, but can look again and plan for 20 years ahead.

One way the city can organize their goals and objectives is to have people who can establish them.

Residents have been quick to complain that they do not like the way the city has been operated for one reason or another.

But rather than being a back seat driver, as many have been in the past, we suggest they look at the vacancies that are open on the council.

Good government is only as good as the people who serve it.

Merry Christmas

Amid all the colored lights and tinsel excitement of the holiday, let us keep in mind the purpose of this joyful occasion and give some thought to the One whose birthday we are celebrating.

Let us also be ever mindful of the reasons we have to celebrate.

Christmas is a time of joy and giving.

For all of us at the Courier, Christmas is a time to be thankful for all the support you have given us throughout the year.

This year, the Courier has received no less than five national honors, as well as four state awards for excellence in journalism.

In part, these recognitions can only come from a community standing behind its newspaper.

We have appreciated the support you have given us this year.

May you and your families have a Merry Christmas.

An American Christmas

Letters to the editor

Appreciates Band

Pa Ba Shan Lane
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720
December 17, 1975

Mr. Ken Winters, Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Ken:

We were among the privileged folks from Charlevoix who attended the Packer-Bear football game and were thrilled by the performance of the Charlevoix and Pestigo bands.

To all the members of the marching bands, you did a beautiful job. We have never been more proud of our young people. You not only are talented and dedicated, you are tough. Never have we been at a football game where the weather was that miserable.

To Mr. Stutzman, thank you for all your time and hard work. Even if the trip to Green Bay never happened, everybody would have been rewarded by your efforts.

To the band parents who raised the money to help with the expenses, chaperoned, and had Pestigo students in their homes in August, thank you.

To the people of Charlevoix, our high school marching band represented you in the most beautiful way and you should express your appreciation when you have the opportunity.

We hope that those who complained some time ago that the band practices were "noisy" now realize that everyone, to some degree, benefits when young people are encouraged to reach a lofty goal, especially those who are our hope of the future.

Sincerely,
Dick and Kathy Krueger

THE LOST CHRISTMAS

There is nothing sadder in this world than to awake Christmas morning and not be a child.

Not to feel the cold on your bare feet as you rush to the Christmas tree in the living room. Not to have your eyes sparkle at the wonderment of discovery. Not to rip the ribbons off the shiny boxes with such abandon.

What happened?

When did the cold, bare feet give way to reason and a pair of sensible bedroom slippers? When did the sparkle and the wonderment give way to depression of a long day? When did a box with a shiny ribbon mean an item on the "charge"?

A child of Christmas doesn't have to be a toddler or a teen. A child of Christmas is anyone who believes that Kings have birthdays.

The Christmases you loved so well are gone. What happened?

Maybe they diminished the year you decided to have your Christmas cards printed to send to 1,500 of your "closest friends and dearest obligations." You got too busy to sign your own name.

Maybe it was the year you discovered the traditional Christmas tree was a fire hazard and the needles had to be vacuumed every three hours and you traded its holiday aroma for a silver one that revolved, changed colors, played "Silent Night" and snowed on itself.

Or the year it got to be too much trouble to sit around the table and put popcorn and cranberries on a string. Possibly you lost your childhood the year you solved your gift problems neatly and coldly with a checkbook.

Think about it. It might have been the year you were too rushed to bake and resorted to slice-and-bake with no nonsense. Who needs a bowl to clean—or lick?

Most likely it was the year you were so efficient in paying back all your party obligations. A wonderful little caterer did it for you for $3 per person.

Children of Christmas are givers. That's what the day is for. They give thanks, love, gratitude, joy and themselves to one another.

It doesn't necessarily mean you have to have children around a tree. It's rather like lighting a candle you've been saving, caroling when your feet are cold, building a fire in a clean grate, grinding tinsel deep into the rug, licking frosting off a beater, giving something you made yourself.

It's laughter, being with people you like, and at some time falling to your knees and saying, "Thank You for coming to my birthday party."

How sad indeed to awake on Christmas and not be a child.

Time, self-pity, apathy, bitterness and exhaustion can take the Christmas out of the child, but you cannot take the child out of Christmas.

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

The political analysts are beginning to concede that Jerry Ford is in deep trouble in his bid for the GOP nomination for the presidency next year. In fact, all the polls show Jerry running second to Ronald Reagan as the favored GOP candidate in the 1976 election.

All of which is a pretty horrible situation for Jerry. You would think that mere occupancy in the White House would count for something and that an incumbent president would have one foot in the door, so to speak, particularly when his only opponent has spent most of his adult life as a court jester on the silver screen.

But I can see why President Ford's friends have fallen away. Take New York City, for example.

When the President said loud and clear that he would not rush federal monies to the aid of New York, I was one of his boosters around the country who hailed him for courage above and beyond the call of duty. I believed that pumping money into New York would only prolong the agony of setting the city's financial structure to rights.

A good, clean, honest bankruptcy – tinged with an aura of martyrdom – seemed to be the best course for New York, followed by a siege of Spartan belt-tightening, a reduction of the number of city employes and a further reduction in the infinted salaries of those remaining.

I could see Mayor Abraham Beame telling the bankers that the city would pay no more than three percent interest on its loans from them, and I could see the bankers lined up to get in on some of the action.

I going I saw New York emerging from slough of fiscal irresponsibility as a latter-day vestal virgin, too pure and too proud and too honest to even consider accepting the money of the federal spenders.

But poor New York never had a chance to prove herself. Before she slipped into the Gulf of Bankruptcy, Congress with the approval of Jerry Ford had pulled her into the federal vault. The situation actually is worse than it might have been. Originally, New York only asked for loan guarantees from the federal government. But under the new Ford turnabout plan, the city gets outright loans, which he says have to be repaid.

It is going to be interesting to see what happens when the loans are not repaid on schedule.

Believe it or not, the New York situation has cost Ford dearly around the country. His original insistence that New York was beyond federal help, followed by his capitulation, was tremendously embarrassing to his Republican colleagues in Congress. They had a hard time explaining the big switcheroo to the folks back home, particularly after they had made public statements supporting the President.

Ford may have regained some of his lost ground over the weekend, when he jammed a tax ceiling down Congress' throat in exchange for the extension of income tax reductions during the early months of 1976. But it is too early to tell.

I am afraid that in the excitement of the holiday season, many voters will remember only that Ford vetoed the tax cut extension, losing track of Friday evening's activities in the hallowed halls of Congress when the President won a major battle against uncontrolled federal spending.

I believe the President's political philosophy is finally becoming abundantly clear: "That government is best which governs least."

Ford served in Congress for 25 years and never introduced a major piece of legislation. In the brief 17 months he has served as President, Ford has vetoed more legislation than any other president in history.

He has said repeatedly that he would like to reduce the scope of government. He wants government out of business. He wants a return to laissez-faire economics. Government regulation and control of the business sector are anathema to him.

And I like Ford's ideas. But Americans by and large are so comfortable with big government in control that Ford's policies and pronouncements have left them with a feeling of insecurity.

And if the pollsters are correct, Ford's chances of survival are growing slimmer with every passing day both at the GOP convention next summer and at the polls next November, if he lasts that long.

Paid Enough

To the Editor:

In the December 17 edition of the Courier your editorial strongly advocates supplementing judges salaries. A salary of between $20,000 and $30,000 a year is more than adequate.

Your principle argument seems to be the political cliche that high salaries in government attract competence. That is one of a number of political illusions that need to be reexamined.

The steady increase of salaries for government employees is one of the reasons for the fiscal crisis in many branches of government. Government salaries are often more attractive than those in the private sector.

Perhaps a correlation between salaries of government employees and performance in government would reveal that high salaries in government attracts more greed than competence.

Sincerely,
Ray E. Peltz

It's not Charlie the Tuna

The answers to life's most perplexing questions can often be found in the Spirit of Christmas, if we would only look. And so it is that this Christmas I am searching for the true meaning of those perfume commercials on TV.

Some viewers react frivolously to the tube but I take it seriously. For instance, the man keeps saying "Flick your Bic, flick your Bic..." and no one is properly outraged. Except me.

When a Bic is flicked, 99 percent of the time its flame is used to light a cigaret. The Surgeon General, who outranks even Marcus Welby, long ago proved cigarets cause cancer and other physical calamities. Therefore it is against the law to advertise cigarets on TV.

But it is legal to advertise Bics.

The brain who made this decision will probably next turn his talents to the problem of TV violence. He will decree that no longer can bullets be shown on TV. Just guns.

Tobacco wouldn't be dangerous if it couldn't be burned. The real danger to health is fire. So certainly the world should not be encouraged via TV to flick its Bics. Unless, of course, the purpose is to roast its Ronsons.

But enough. I started to talk about a more important question: Can man be turned on by a smell alone? Sexy girls on TV keep saying yes, yes, oh lord, yes.

There's a commercial for a perfume called Charlie. It stars a skinny snip in mechanic's overalls who enters a plush saloon with all the grace of a truckload of turkeys. She pats the doorman on the fanny and swirls with a barfly and generally acts as if she might be the demented cousin of the Gabor sisters.

But all the men obviously love her. Even Bobby Short at the piano bar, the best singer of Cole Porter songs in the world, is reduced to singing incredible gibberish about the marvelous charms of Charlie the girl, thanks to Charlie the odor, certainly not Charlie the Tuna.

What does it all mean? Can a smell really drive men bananas over any broad who seeps it?

The way I see it, smells trigger a memory mechanism. If the odor reminds you of a past event which was pleasant, you react favorably. You like the smell of a new car because that was before the transmission went out and the tires shredded. You like the smell of bread baking because it reminds you of those wonderful days before Sara Lee replaced grandmothers.

So a guy will tumble for Charlie if the fragrance reminds him of a previous relationship in which his partner said yes, yes, oh lord, yes...

But what if today's Charlie smells like Mabel who, back in the 11th grade, screamed and made you take her home and later told your mother you were a sex fiend? Goodbye, Charlie.

Obviously, there is no way the Charlie and Chanel people can successfully predict which fragrances will trigger pleasant memories in which men. They are simply guessing and hoping, just as the women who buy the smells are guising and hoping. Life is a gamble, expecially love. And that's what those perfume commercials really mean.

Wouldn't that flick your Bic?

Meet Charlevoix
Don Schorsch

The Reverend Mr. Don Schorsch, pastor of Charlevoix's Assembly of God Church, is president of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association. This week the Courier talks with him about Christmas from the Christian church's point of view.

COURIER: Where in the Bible is the Christmas story best told?

SCHORSCH: It is recorded in Luke, Chapter 2, in which the Angels sing, "For unto you is born this day in the City of David a savior which is Christ the Lord."

COURIER: What does it mean to Christians?

SCHORSCH: It really means that a Messiah was born, one who will accept them as they are because God loves them.

COURIER: Do you think people have changed much since the birth of Christ?

SCHORSCH: No, they are experiencing much the same thing. Some have received the message of Christ's birth and for them Christmas is His coming to make them as savior. To others, the coming is a threat to their life style. There is probably more violence in the world today and many men's hearts have been wrenched away from God.

COURIER: What else does Christmas mean?

SCHORSCH: It also means the strengthening of family ties. We phone and write to friends and relatives we haven't communicated with all year.

COURIER: What is your personal Christmas message?

SCHORSCH: I suggest that people take a serious look at who this Christ is, and get their information from the Bible. Also why He came – not just as a philosopher or someone to overthrow the government, but someone sent by God the Father to be the savior of mankind. He, himself, made the statement that the real reason He came was so that He might die on the cross for us, on our behalf. This Christmas season don't ask what you are doing, where you are going or what you are getting, but what you will do with this Christ.

COURIER: We know that the various churches in town have their own Christmas services, does the Ministerial Association have a joint service?

SCHORSCH: Yes, we had a community Christmas sing at the Methodist Church a few weeks ago. We also had a community Thanksgiving service, Good Friday services, and throughout the year we have had hymn sings. It is a way of getting people together, to know each other.

COURIER: What else does the Ministerial Association do?

SCHORSCH: We provide a communion among pastors. We meet once a month, which helps us get a feeling of some of the burdens and concerns we all share about the lives of people within the community.

COURIER: How long have you been president of the Ministerial Association, and who are the other officers?

SCHORSCH: I have just been re-elected for the second year. Ray Giffin of the United Church of Christ (Congregational) is the secretary and Hugh Cowan of the First Baptist Church is treasurer.

COURIER: How long have you been pastor of the Assembly of God Church?

SCHORSCH: I first served here in 1966 to 1969. Then I moved to our headquarters in Springfield, Missouri where I was with the National Youth Department working with military chaplains. We moved back here three years ago.

COURIER: Where were you before you came to Charlevoix?

SCHORSCH: I grew up in North Dakota and attended Trinity Bible Institute there. I also pastored two churches in North Dakota, in Rugby and Grafton.

COURIER: Do you and Mrs. Schorsch have a family?

SCHORSCH: Yes, we have three girls. Laurie is in the ninth grade, Michelle in the seventh grade and Christy in the fourth grade.

Christmas Eve Service

The First Congregational Church of Charlevoix will host its traditional Christmas Eve worship and candle-lighting service at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to hear the adult choir sing several numbers, interspersed with scripture readings and carols sung by the congregation.

A special fellowship time will be held in the church fellowship hall after the morning worship on December 28 to honor young people home from college and visitors up for the Christmas season.

Ironton

Mr. and Mrs. William Vanderwall will be spending Christmas with their children in Ann Arbor.

Michael Zinn who is a student at Arizona State University in Tempe is spending her Christmas recess with his mother, Mrs. Joanne Zinn.

The annual Sunday School Christmas Program will be Sunday evening, December 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison are spending the holidays with relatives in Detruit.

At the family night supper Sunday evening, Mr. Kruse drew the lucky number for the afghan quilt that was made by the Ladies Fellowship and Mrs. Ross Alexander was the winner.

We wish all our friends and neighbors a Merry Christmas and the best of everything in the New Year.

John Birch Builds Membership

Ted Browe

If anyone ever thought there was a deep dark secret about belonging to the John Birch Society, Ted Browe of Charlevoix doesn't show it.

The 42-year-old Charlevoix electrician blames Communism for any bad public image they may have.

Browe is the local chapter leader for the Charlevoix Area Chapter that includes Charlevoix, Ellsworth, East Jordan and Boyne City. His membership includes some 75 people in the area.

"The society is mainly geared for education – to tell people how our rights are being lost," he says about the organization.

"We've been trying to go to homes and show people filmstrips."

Browe says his membership meets the third Tuesday of every month in Charlevoix in the community room of the First State Bank of Charlevoix.

During those meetings, he says they discuss and relate experiences that need their attention.

Most recently he says his group has been concerned about gun control legislation because the Birch Society feels people should be able to keep arms without any restrictions.

He says the group attempts to support as much local control of government as possible.

"We are interested in local units having control of their own welfare and projects," he continued.

"Townships, for example, know their own needs better than the federal government."

Browe says they try to encourage their members to write to their Congressmen as much as possible–particularly on issues they oppose.

Memberships in the organization cost only $2 for men and $1 for women. Browe couldn't explain why it was less for women other than they are usually the second person to join within a family.

The chapter leader says his group is about to launch a massive reerultment program in the area to get more membership.

"We will be going door to door with a survey folder we hope people will answer," he said.

At that time, Browe said he hopes to encourage more people to join his group.

In Charlevoix, he says the Birch group is particularly interested in the city charter commission and the charter they will be developing.

Charlevoix Cafeteria Serves Over 600 People Daily

By PEG OHLE

Did you know that there are two cafeterias in Charlevoix that serve an average of over 600 meals a day between them at a nominal cost per meal?

There are, but the hitch is you have to be a student or an employee of the Charlevoix School District to be eligible for these meals.

Vince Olach, business manager for the school district, reports that through the end of November, daily school lunches served at the elementary and middle schools averaged 497 and at the high school, 109.

These lunches cost students in the elementary grades 45 cents, in the middle grades, 55 cents, and in the high school, 65 cents. Teachers and other employees in the lower grades paid 70 cents a meal, and in the high school, 80 cents a meal.

They're all nutritionally balanced and tasty meals, too, and the school system makes a profit of about two cents a meal after paying for food, cafeteria employees' salaries and service costs.

From this profit the cafeterias buy their equipment, including such items as utensils, pots and pans, meat slicers and blenders, etc.

Of course, these meal prices are only possible because the schools receive state subsidies, including approximately one-cent on each half-pint of milk, and surplus foods.

The state also subsidizes in whole or part meals served to students from low-income families. For instance, a student from a family of five with an annual income of $7,190 may receive free meals, and one from a similar family with an income of $7,190 to $10,160, may pay ten cents a meal.

Milk is a big part of school lunches. It is served with every meal in the elementary and middle schools, and the students in all schools who bring their own lunches may buy milk for five cents a half-pint.

Many students buy extra milk; an average of 400 extra cartons are consumed each day.

Mrs. Verna Swanson is in charge of the lunch program for the elementary school kitchen and carried in hot containers to the middle school. She has four assistants in the elementary school and three in the middle school.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meadows is the high school cafeteria superintendent. She has one assistant and is also helped by students in the Food Service Vocational Program.

Both Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Meadows are members of the Michigan School Food Service Association and attend periodic meetings for which they receive points to keep their accreditations current. The cafeterias must comply with state standards for cleanliness and are inspected regularly by the District Health Department.

"We are proud of our lunch program," Olach says.

"The superintendents and their assistants go out of their way to serve attractive and nutritional meals. They even provide little special treats for the various holidays."

Students are now on Christmas vacation, but before it started they were served a lunch of sliced turkey, mashed potatoes, buttered corn, cranberry sauce and Christmas cake.

Many menus are more popular than others, with pizza and hamburgers topping the list. Each week the Courier prints the lunch menu for the elementary and middle schools so that students who do not buy a meal ticket for each day's lunch may decide whether or not they want to eat at the cafeteria.

By the way, when meal tickets are bought by the week, the student (or his parents) save the cost of one meal.

CHARLEVOIX ELEMENTARY cafeteria cooks Sandy Smith and Ellen Copeland prepare for the Christmas holidays.

The Charlevoix Holiday Invitational tournament is the largest Class C-D tournament in the state Coach Norm Probert said in announcing the results of the meet that attracted 180 prep school grapplers.

The meet is sponsored by the Charlevoix City Police and the Charlevoix Wrestling Club.

Coach Probert expressed his gratitude to all those who joined in making the 1975 tournament the most successful yet. He especially thanked Dr. Harry Custer for his services in behalf of the young athletes.

Boyne Ramblers Win 75 to 56

In a game scarred with 60 personal fouls including 31 on the Charlevoix Rayders and 29 on the Boyne City Ramblers, the Ramblers came through with a 75-56 win.

Boyne City scored 29 field goals and was successful on 17 of 39 free throw attempts while the Rayders had 21 from the floor and 14 of 30 free throws.

Charlevoix jumped to a 12-11 first period advantage only to see Boyne City score 23 points in the second and third periods for a 34-23 lead at halftime and 57-38 going into the final period.

Matt Dean and Pat Schaefer scored 11 points each and Steve Michael 10 to pace the Rayders. Bob Alger had eight points, Wally Drenth five, Scott Boss and Dave Tollas four each, Steve Berlage, two and Pat Klooster, one. Brian Williams and Dave Fowler also played, Alger and Schaefer were lost midway in the final period via the foul route.

Tim Beyer had 20 points, Tim Hardy 19 and Ken Gahn 14 for the Ramblers.

Charlevoix will return to the hardwoods against Petoskey on the Northmen's floor Friday, Jan. 2.

Three Teams Tied for First Place

County State Bank, LaBlance Insurance and Russell Shell, with records of five wins and one loss each, are leading the Independent Basketball League as the teams of the league suspend action during the Christmas holidays.

In action last week Freedman's defeated Klooster John Deere 75-68; County State Bank snowed under Bay Shore Steel by a score of 112-19; LaBlance Insurance defeated Alray Cottages 68-41; Kenney Excavating edged Credit Union 47-45; Medusa won over Village Milkhouse 59-41 and Russell Shell downed First State Bank 64-53.

In one of the closest games played last week, Freedman's struggled to remain ahead of Klooster's by slim margins after playing to a 19-19 first period tie. Freedman's went ahead 38-36 at halftime and held on 57-54 going into the final period before winning by a seven point margin. Bernie DeVries paced the win with 25 points followed by Terry Blissett with 17. Connie Klooster had 25 points, Butch Wagner 24 and Condit Drury 11 for John Deere.

County State Bank won by the largest score of the season when the team swamped Bay Shore Steel 112-19. Steve Martinus with 21 points, and Larry Skippergosh and Kelvin Johnecheck with 18 points each led the Bankers to margins of 28-0; 61-2 and 83-13 over the Steelers. Bob Borths had eight points for the losers.

With four players in double figures, LaBlance Insurance led Alray Cottages 24-5; 43-14 and 53-30 by quarters. Jim Gels had 17; Sam Supernaw 16; Joe Beaudoin 14 and Dave Novotny 12 for the victors. Bob Holtzman with 11 and Guy Swanson with 10 were top scorers for the Cottagers.

In a game that saw the lead change several times, Kenney Excavating pulled a close one out by a 47-45 score over Credit Union. Kenney's led 14-11 at the quarter and 27-19 at the half only to fall behind 36-34 at the three-quarter mark. However, the Duggers outscored Credit Union 13-9 to snatch the victory. Rick VanStedum with 18 points, Max Bolser with 13 and Jack Danbert with 11 saved the victory. Frank Hackett had 14 points, Dean Ginther 14 and Joe Renner 11 for Credit Union.

After trailing for three periods, Medusa poured in a red hot 26 points to defeat Village Milkhouse after trailing 34-11; 27-19 and 34-33 by quarters. Beano Archey accounted for 24 points and Stan Johnson 11 for the winners. Dick Putman and Roger Putman had 12 points each for the Villagers.

Russell Shell posted an easy win over First State bank after playing the team to a 10-10 first period tie. At halftime Shell went ahead 28-22 and at the third quarter mark had a 42-33 lead. Dave Norton poured in 24 points; Mike Crain 17 and Ed Holm 10 for Shell. Larry Roth with 16 points, Roger Gowell with 12 and Rob Castelein with 10 led the Bankers scoring attack.

J.V. Defeats Boyne City

The Charlevoix JV's got back on the victory trail against Boyne City Friday night, posting a 54-49 win.

An early 18-6 lead by the young Rayders resulted in the win after they had led Boyne City 29-24 at halftime and 45-35 at the three-quarter mark.

Jim Alger had 15 points and Kip Cinnamon 12 for Charlevoix followed by Joe Left with nine, Neil Dziedzic with eight, Jim Elzinga and Tom Left with four each, and Chuck Towsley with two.

Dear Children:
Thank you so very much for visiting me at the Charlevoix County State Bank, Friday December 12th. I have enjoyed talking with and having my picture taken with you for the last six years and it is gratifying to me to see how you have grown and changed during this time.
I only regret that I didn't have more time to spend with each of you, but, during the 2 hour period I was there, we took more than 260 pictures. I hope that next year I will have more time to spend with each of you.
I will do my best to see that you get what you asked for and I wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Rayders Down Boyne City

The Charlevoix mat men posted a decisive 57-11 win over the Boyne City Ramblers Thursday night.

In winning, the Rayders came through with 11 pins while losing two matches by decisions to the Kruzel brothers, Jeff and Randy.

The results follow: 98 pound class: Mark Byard in a pin in :57 over Steve Stouffer. 105 pounds: Ron Hilton in a pin in 3:07 over Casey Fortune. 112 Gene Morrison lost to Jeff Druzel in a pin in 1:53. 119 pounds: Tim DeYoung won in a 9-8 decision over Dave Kline. 126 pounds: Rob Hilton in a pin in 2:23 over Tim Poullet. 132 pounds: Craig Golovich in a pin in 4:54 over Jeff Eaton. 138 pounds: Terry Drew in a pin in 3:46 over Steve Mettig. 145 pounds: Chris Wimmer in a pin in 1:28 over Tim Follette. 155 pounds: Mike Snizik in a pin in 2:23 over Brian Sarasin. 167 pounds: Gary Probert lost to Randy Kruzel by an 18-2 decision. 185 pounds Dane Whitley in a pin in 4:48 over Tim Kenney.

Heavyweight: Tom Jones in a pin in :46 over Kevin Shalker.

The meet saw the return of Tim DeYoung for the first time this season and the addition of two sophomores, Morrison and Jones, to the line-up. All three came through with wins.

The Rayders JV's came through with a 21-6 win with Don Trost, Dennis Whitley and Barry Potter winning on pins in their respective classes and Greg Loper by a 6-0 decision in the 185 pound class.

Charlevoix wrestlers will take a holiday breather and return to the mats for a full schedule early in January. The Rayders will travel to Petoskey Jan. 5 and host Gaylord here Jan. 8.

Frosh Lose by 3

The Charlevoix freshman cage team dropped a close game to Boyne City last week by a score of 63-60.

The young Rayders had jumped to a 16-12 first period lead and were ahead 37-28 at halftime and 45-40 going into the final period before being outscored by Boyne City 23-15 to give the Ramblers the winning margin.

Pat Schmidt paced the game with 22 points and Kevin Kratt had 18 for Charlevoix.

Bill Hartwick had 20, John Powers 12 and Pat Anzell 11 for Boyne City.

Benzie Dumps Rayders

The Charlevoix Rayders fell victim to a strong Benzie Central quintet in a non-conference game here Tuesday when the visitors defeated the Rayders 81-54.

Barney Geetings, B.J. Lathwell and Fred Blacklock ganged up to scored 21, 20 and 16 points, respectively, as the visitors rolled over Charlevoix 22-11; 51-29 and 67-46 by quarters.

Both teams had 17 personal fouls. Charlevoix connected on 10 of 14 free throws attempts; Benzie Central on 15 of 23 while scoring 33 field goals. Charlevoix had 22 field goals.

Matt Doan scored 19 points and Bud Klooster 16 to top the Rayder scoring. Pat Schaefer added seven, Bob Alger six, and Scott Boss, Dave Tollas and Tom Fowler, two points each.

JV Lose Tuesday

The Charlevoix JV's ended up on the short end of an 82-36 score last Tuesday when they clashed with the Benzie Central five.

Charlevoix trailed 19-5; 44-20 and 63-28 by quarters as Kip Cinnamon led the scoring with 14 points. Tom Left had six points; Neil Dziedzic and Jim Alger five each; Joe Left, Chuck Towsley and Scott Swanson, two each.

Dan Moore had 24 points for the young Huskies.

ART TEACHER Marti Mathers helps students make last minute gifts.

STUDENTS IN Mrs. Carolyn DeMoor's first class have been drawing Christmas pictures.

KIM LOUISELLE, Kim Novotny, Mary Ellen Civic and Mary Hamlin make Christmas gifts.

Merry Christmas Teacher

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house not a creature was stirring--not even a mouse.

But, the week before Christmas every thing was stirring-especially young-sters at Charlevoix Elementary School.

It was Christmas walk through time and hardly a youngster could sit still as their parents and grand-parents came to see how the school had been decorated for the holidays.

Art teacher Marty Mathers was busily helping fifth graders to put the finishing touches on home-made Christmas gifts for Mom and Dad.

The elementary art room was jammed full of paintings, ceramics and other creations all being readied for the spot under the Christmas tree.

Fifth grader Mike Wolf said he was making something his 10th grader sister claimed she couldn't do.

As he was busy working on the gift, which he asked be kept a secret to surprise his mother, Mike said it was a challenge to outdo his older sister.

"It's fun because my parents surprise me as much as I surprise them," he said about Christmas giving.

While the students were busy in the art class, Marina LaBlance's music students were in the hall singing Christmas carols to the visitors wandering through the halls.

In the library, students were busy checking out and reading Christmas books to get the Christmas spirit.

Some children like Nancy Louiselle and Hope Nau sat in bean bag chairs with their heads buried in good Christmas reading.

Hope said Christmas is a time when you get a lot of presents.

The nine-year-old said she could hardly wait for Christmas.

Up and down the halls, parents poked their heads into classrooms to see their children busy making gifts.

First graders in Carolyn DeMoor's room were drawing pictures of Christmas scenes.

Other students in several of the older grades had made Christmas trees out of old furnace filters.

Then there were those in the Charlevoix Elementary gym who were doing a Christmas play for the kindergarten students who would miss out in the all-school Christmas assembly being later in the week.

First grnders Laura Reibel, Kun Hand and Dana Henderson were probably more excited than the kindergarteners because they were angels in the play.

And while the students were all busy with Christmas preparations, the school cooks were in the kitchen trying to get their special turkey lunch ready for the next day.

Meanwhile, the rest of Charlevoix Elementary's teaching staff was waiting for the biggest Christmas gift of all--two weeks vacation of solitude.

DENNIS THEMM holds a Christmas gift he made.

CHARLEVOIX ELEMENTARY students sang to accordion music last Friday during their Christmas assembly.

Circuit Judge Denies Airport Injunction

The city's efforts to keep Welke Aviation, Inc., based on Beaver Island, from using the facilities at the Charlevoix airport ran into a roadblock Friday when Circuit Judge Martin Breighner denied the city's request for a preliminary injunction against the Beaver Island firm.

The city has brought suit against the company which operates a passenger and freight service between its own CAA-approved airport and various airports on the mainland including the Charlevoix airport.

A hearing on the suit has been scheduled for January by Judge Breighner. However, at this time he has not set a date.

The city, in bringing suit against Welke Aviation headed by William Welke, contends that the company is violating a city ordinance that regulates landing fees and other requirements regarding the use of the airport.

Robert Wexstaff, acting city administrator, said that Welke has not fulfilled the requirements named in the ordinance.

The city is being represented by Donald Berlage. Arthur Reibel is representing the Welke interests.

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows

Arrangements of white mums and red bows decorated the altar of St. Mary's church Saturday for the wedding of Laurdella L. Trowbridge and Roger C. Moses.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James B. Trowbridge RR2, East Jordan, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moses of Charlevoix.

The Rev. R. Dale Magoon, pastor of St. Mary's church, and the Rev. Joseph Lima, pastor of St. Joseph's church, East Jordan, officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more than 200 guests. Mrs. C. D. Gelken, at the organ, played a program of traditional music, "We've Only Just Begun", "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" and the wedding march.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a gown of Chantilace that featured wide tiers of scalloped Chantilace, worn over a hoop skirt, sweeping into a chapel length train. The ruffle around the scooped neckline and at the cuffs of the long sheer sleeves was of Chantilace. A fingertip veil of bridal illusion edged with Chantilace fell from the Juliet cap. She carried a bridal bouquet of red and white carnations and baby's breath.

Mr. Mark Koontz as matron of honor and Mrs. Robert Landis of Hastings and Mrs. Gari Huward of Boyne City as bridesmaids wore identical princess gowns of red polyester fluched in white with white eyelet bibs and long red sleeves. Their white picture hat had matching red streamers. Each carried a single red carnation tied with white streamers.

Shannon Peebles of East Jordan, niece of the bridegroom, and Candy Howard of Boyne City were flower girls. They wore gowns similar to the attendants and carried baskets of red tinted carnations.

Anthony Moses assisted his brother as best man. Robert Landis of Hastings and Dennis Carey were groomsmen. Wayne Peebles of East Jordan, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Michael Trowbridge of East Jordan, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Trowbridge chose a floor length gown of rust knit crepe with long sleeves and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Moses, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light green sheath dress with matching jacket and black accessories. Their corsages were of yellow and white carnations.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the American Legion post home in Ellsworth. Mrs. Peebles was in charge of the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Charlevoix served cake, coffee and punch.

After a wedding trip to southern Michigan, the couple will reside at RR 2, Ellsworth. The bridegroom is employed by the Charlevoix county Sheriff's Department.

Wedding guests were present from Florida, Idaho, Texas, California, Illinois and several Michigan cities.

Happy Birthday

Mrs. Harry (Alice) Gebeau was honored recently on the occasion of her eighty-first birthday anniversary with a surprise party hosted by Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Larry Fink.

Ten guests gathered at the Gebeau home for the event. The group enjoyed games and refreshments which included a birthday cake with one large candle. She received many lovely gifts.

Obituary

Mrs. Alfred Brooks

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Mrs. Alfred (Marion) Brooks, 82, retired teacher who died Wednesday at Little Traverse Hospital following a long illness, were held Saturday at the Hastings Funeral Home. The Rev. Daniel Miner of the East Jordan United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in the Atwood cemetery.

The former Marion Gardner was born at Bellaire Oct. 30, 1893, and became a teacher in the rural schools of Antrim county. Later she taught in the East Jordan Elementary School for 20 years prior to her retirement in 1960. She was married to Alfred Brooks. They always made their home near Atwood.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Walter (Betty) Hoffman of Charlevoix; a son, William Brooks of East Jordan and three grandchildren.

The Lord is come - may the wonders of His love become a reality for you this joyous Christmas Season

Faith will restore the true meaning of Christmas.

Amid all the colored lights and tinsel excitement of the holiday preparations, let us keep in mind the purpose of this joytul occasion and give some thought to the One whose birthday we are preparing to celebrate. Remember that although He lived a very short life span, in an obscure manner, in a sparsely populated area. He did more than all the great rulers of the world combined to change the course of its history. Honor the birthday of the Son of God by attending Christmas services at the Church of your choice; and learn to follow His teachings there every Sunday.

'Tis not the weight of jewel or plate,
Or the bestow of silk and furs;
'Tis the spirit in which the gift is rich,
As the gifts of the wise ones were.
And we are not told whose gift was gold
Or whose was the gift of myrrh.
- Edmund Vance Cooke

Charlevoix Endures Joys and Sorrows of New Year

Old man time left his mark on Charlevoix for another year with the joys and sorrows of past events now only memories.

Many of the events that took place in Charlevoix never made national recognition, but they did play a vital role in the life of this Northern Michigan community.

Last January, Charlevoix retailers joined hundreds of others across the state in learning to live with Michigan's repeal of a food and drug tax. All of a sudden grocers found themselves with new cumputerized cash register.

January was also a milestone in the history of the Community Church of God, who dedicated its newly expanded facilities. And while there was celebration, there was quite a lot of remorse in learning that this area might lose its railroads.

The end of January brought another aftermath when residents learned that PBB, a toxic fire retardant accidently mixed cattle feed, was appearing in meat and milk being sold across store counters.

Both January and February found residents focusing their attention on whether or not they wanted a Charter Commission to revise the city's governmental structure.

Neff Retires

Bob Neff, long-time Charlevoix grocer, ended his 25-year career in February when he retired from his business, Neff Brothers.

While many residents were braving cold winds to celebrate Charlevoix's Mardi Gras, Doug and Marti Jo Warner were toughing out their own battle. The Norwood couple became Michigan's first residents to be publicly identified with the toxic PBB fire retardant PBB in their blood.

Councilman Ralph McRae will remember February because that was the time he defeated incumbent Mayor Ed Hansen for the city's top spot. Mayor Hansen later unseated McRae in a write-in campaign.

March winds brought ice fishing and sailing on ice fur many of Charlevoix's outdoor enthusiasts. Charlevoix school officials began expressing concerns over where they were going to house students and proposed several bund issues for the public to consider.

The month of March had special significance for Charlevoix Area Hospital because it received a $2,000 check from the hospital's guild to purchase a fetal monitor.

In April, Mayor Ed Hansen found himself holding down his job for another year, while Ivan Whitley became n new city alderman in the city's spring election.

Attorney David Fershee should remember April well, he became District Judge for Charlevoix and Emmet Counties after the resignation of Arthur Reibel, who left the bench beeause of pressing interests demanding more of his time.

Approve Millage

Although residents in Charlevoix Public School District turned down two building proposals to expand the high school and renovate the Middle school, they did approve a 2.75 null operational levy.

In May, Charlevoix Reereation Department found itself without a director after the city decided to hire only a part-time director.

The month of blooming flowers became a time of mourning as Charlevoix lost several of its outstanding comunnity leaders. Minister and artist Harold Kohn, and architect nnd realtor Earl Young died.

Charlevoix County Proscecutor Ihrvey Varnum announced he was leaving office to devote mure time to private practice, while Charlevoix band teacher Clarence Odmark retired after 29 years in public school edueation.

New Board

Charlevoix continued to luse its prominent citizens with the death of Gordon Freeman of Freedman Artcraft in June.

And while Charlevoix's June graduates were preparing to venture in different directions, Robert Cook and Charles Elzinga found themselves preparing to plan a new course for future graduates. Both were elected to the school board in the June election.

June marked a setback for those looking for more cooperation between Charlevoix and neighboring Charlevoix Township when

Two Contests Develop for City Election

A city-wide contest for the office uf mayor and one for first ward alderman developed Monday as the deadline for filing nominating petitions passed at 4 p.m.

Incumbent mayor, Edward P. Hansen, who is seeking his fourth term, and Ralph A. McRae, first ward alderman whose term expires and who is opposing Hansen for the second time will be vieing for the office of mayor.

In the third ward, two new arrivals on the political scene, Joseph G. Morris III and F. Earl Mumn will be seeking the nomination for the seat being vacated by Gerald Selph whn is not a candidate for re-election.

Candidates for the other aldermnnic posts are Susan J.Erber, also a newcomer to the political scene, who is unopposed for the seat being vacated by Mr. McRae and Jeannine Wallace who is seeking the nomination for the seat being vacated by Robert N. Timms who is not seeking re-election.

Candidates for the other offices on the ballot are Lyle S. King who is seeking the nomination as city clerk after being appointed to the office in August following the

Mayor Hansen Refutes Councilman McRae's Story

Incumbent Mayor Edward Hansen took exception to his political opponent's statements about Charlevoix's Election Board not being "agreeable and refreshing people."

Mayor Hansen asked Councilman Ralph McRae to specify the charges he has against the city's election board in an interview with the Courier this week.

Councilman McRae is challenging Hansen for the mayoral seat for the second year in a row in the city's February primary. McRae lost by a narrow margin last year.

In a story appearing in last week's Courier, McRae said he was concerned about the city's electinn board and wanted to see its members changes.

Under the Fourth Class Cities Act, Charlevoix City Council is suppose to appoint a board of three election commissioners at least 10 days before the election to supervise the election. No more than two can belong to the same political party.

Last year, McRae filed secret affidavits containing what he believed were election process wrongdoings to the county prosecutor.

However, County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum told the Courier this week that he at that time could not find anything that warrnnted action and dropped the matter.

Mayor Hansen said he would respond to McRae's charges regarding the election board in writing at a future date after he has a chance to review his notes and records.

"At this time, I will only say that the unsupported charges made against the election board last year, which have not been answered, are strictly hanging as a cloud over the City of Charlevoix," Hansen said.

"And the response to request Mr. McRae to specify the charges is diameterically opposed to the statement in the Courier that we need a more open and informative type of government."

Hansen said it was unfair to accuse a small group of people, who have been dedicated and long serving, on the city's election board of wrong doing and illegal acts without specifying what they were.

"These people have not been granted their basic unalienable right to know what they are accused of and to face their accuser."

The mayor said that as far as 10 percent of the registered voters not being eligible, Hansen said he can't figure out where McRae got the percentage.

McRae had claimed in last week's Courier story that at least 10 percent of the people on the city's registration rolls were nut eligible to vote.

In announcing his own campaign interests, Hansen said it takes at least five years to change a direction in government and establish a new philosophy.

"In the City of Charlevoix, this means cautious, careful and prudent operation of city affairs," he continued.

"In this past year, without raising the rate of taxes, we have completed several major projects that have been needed for a long time."

Some of the projects being considered in the 1976-77 budget include replacement of long worn out underground cable for street lights nn Dixon Avenue and other areas of the city, Hansen said.

The mayor also cited the waterfront improvements and phase one parking between Clinton and the sewage pumping station as other projects nearly finished.

Hansen added major street repair and repaving started last summer will continue next year as more money becomes available without having to raise the tax burden.

Dog Warden

I think the citizens of Charlevoix should consider the faet that the position of Dog Warden needs some looking into, because, no matter when you call him for assistance, there is always some excuse why he can't come immediately, which is when you need him. I have had one Siamese ent destroyed and now another stray that I have been taking care of injured to the point where it is under care at the vet's. I say the Sheriff's Dept. should get the bill on injured pets when the dog warden won't come to assist us when dogs running loose attack our pets and cause injuries that need professional care. This is my solution if they are not going to get someone in that job that will do what he's required to do.

Charlevoix the Beautiful

My husband and I spend the past weekend in Charlevoix. We found the cuntryside and the lake side very lovely. It seems as if it gets into your blood and you can't get it out.

While I was down by the beach one night, these thoughts came tu mind and I wrote them down. I am sending them on to you, to let you know just how much I enjoyed Charlevoix and how nuch it impressed me.

Sincerely,

Charlevoix

The red soft flush of the setting sun etched its glow across the twilight sky. The gentle breeze of the night softly caresses the white beach sand and rustles the towering trees edging the shore line. Tenderly the breeze urges the waves toward shore, rippling with mellowness then breaking on shore with a surging spinsh, bathing each stone in its path. This sound, which can never be disremembered, once it has fallen on human ears. A small white light flashes on and off on the far horizon, like a neon sign in a lonely city. The bright red light of the channel beacon slithers its pattern across the water reaching its long arm out to touch the shore. The Medusa cenient plant, shining with dozens of lights, looks like a giant ship silently awniting day hreak to set sail. Mmmmm, this is contentment, this is pence, this is Charlevoix!!!

Hayes Now Top Law Enforcer

Prosecutor Prepares for New Job

You would think being a prosecuting attorney in one of Michigan's longest court trials would be enough for anyone in one year.

Not for 35-year-old Roy Hayes.

He had to move his family and all their belongings from Detroit to Charlevoix the day before Christmas to add to an already hectic year.

His family's move to Charlevoix adds only another chapter in an already thick book of experiences that would make any good size Webster's dictionary look small.

Roy Hayes is Charlevoix's new prosecuting attorney and how the motor city attorney ended up north is almost as interesting as what he plans to do.

A life-long resident of Detroit and Notre Dame graduate, Hayes didn't practice law until he first tried a few other things.

After he earned a law degree at the University of Detroit in 1965, he became a newspaperman. And even then, Hayes didn't start as a lowly cub reporter pounding some obscure news beat hoping to work himself into bigger and better things.

One-Time Editor

Hayes became editor and publisher of the Detroit Lawyer Magazine after his father had suffered from a heart attack.

"I also became public relations counsel to the State Bar of Michigan and the Detroit Bar Association," he recalled about his early career.

"I also headed an advertising agency, which was all one operation."

The former Detroit publisher ran his family's business successfully for a little over a year. Even though he did well, Hayes said he didn't think he really fitted the mold of being an advertising or publishing executive.

"I was making good money in the advertising business, but I wasn't getting the feeling it was really meant for me," he continued.

"I worked well with people, but I don't think my ideas in the advertising business were as new and novel as perhaps they ought to have been."

Wearing a light camel colored overcoat, Hayes sat back in his chair and brushed back his light brown hair with his hand. He then leaned forward and related how he began to pursue his law career.

He was driving home from work one night and was listening to a Detroit radio talk show with Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan.

Challenge

"He was talking about how challenging it was to work in the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and that you had more trials and more trial work and combat experience than most legal positions," he said.

"I heard that and never met Bill, but decided I wanted to go into that."

Hayes took the job for $6,700 – a drastic cut from what he had been earning from his father's business as chief executive. And to add to the financial pinch, he decided to get married.

Hayes joined the Wayne County Prosecutor's staff just before the 1967 Detroit riots and ended up trying cases 12 hours a day.

The former Detroit lawyer stayed in the prosecutor's office for nearly 2½-years, when he was offered a chance to work with the American Bar Association on a crime control project that was trying to find a new answer to crime control problems.

"With that job, I traveled around the country trying to trouble-shoot criminal justice programs in medium-sized towns," he said.

But, Hayes said he got a little restless being in the academic side of criminal law and decided to go back and become more actively engaged in it.

Hayes had met Calalan at a conference and learned about a federal grant Detroit was going to receive to start a new program to fight crime through the cooperate efforts of both the prosecutor's office and law enforcement agencies.

Task Force

He then headed up the task force for four years and attempted to break up everything from arson fraud to political corruption by securing indictments and convictions.

However, after four years, Hayes said he had to decide what his long range ambitions were going to be.

"I think it was time for me and for them that there was a change," he said.

"I've always wanted to be a lawyer in a small community."

Hayes says he sees no problem making a switch from big city crime fighting to small town country prosecuting. He looks at his background as only a plus when taking on his new job.

"I have a lot to learn about being prosecutor of this county," he said.

"But, I think I have learned a lot about the problems concerning law enforcement."

New Challenge

The new county prosecutor sees his job as a challenge.

Hayes said he would first have to analyze his office and community before defining what direction the prosecutor's office would take.

When asked about plea-bargaining, Hayes said it was a real necessity in a place like Wayne County.

"If you attempted to try all the cases down there you would have more judges than you do citizens in most other communities," he said.

"I think when you are talking about a smaller community that is not weighed with some of those problems, I think you are talking in a different manner."

Hayes says plea-bargaining is not a good thing in general and that it shouldn't be engaged in on a wholesale basis.

The county prosecutor says he hopes to expand his job to meet the needs the community needs the most.

"I think one of the assets I bring to this position is that I have worked closer to investigators than probably any other attorney in this state," he said.

Hayes says he looks at his job as also keeping the law enforcement officers posted on current enforcement proceedures.

MRS. ROBERT HOFFMANN was the lucky winner of the Charlevoix Courier-WVOY Christmas Carol-in Christmas card drawing last Monday in East Park. Tim Moore of WVOY presented Mrs. Hoffmann with a gift certificate for a grill and $75 worth of steaks. Over 150 residents gathered for the Christmas Carol-in led by Mrs. Marina LaBlance.

Charlevoix Residents Live Longer

Residents of Charlevoix County, taken as a whole, were given an added lense on life in 1974. According to the latest statistics, their chances of living to a ripe old age became greater than ever.

That conclusion is based upon data compiled by the National Center for Health Statistics, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and others. Their figures show that the span of life of Americans increased by a full six months during the past year.

As a result, life expectancy is now at an all-time high of 71.9 years. It compares with 71.3 years in 1973.

This was the largest annual increase in the past 20 years. It was due in large part, it is explained, to the drop in coronary heart disease and other cardiovascular-renal diseases, which accounted for half the decrease in deaths from all causes. Down, also, were deaths from motor vehicle accidents, pneumonia and influenza.

The average change applied to the local area, means that a child born in Charlevoix County at the present time has a life expectancy that is 12½ years greater than its grandparents had in 1929 or so, when they were born. The life span at that time was only 59 years.

The chances of a person surviving from birth to age 65 is also at an all-time high of 72 percent.

Because of the added longevity there has been a steady increase in the proportion of older people.

Locally, 11.4 percent of the population is now 65 or more. Some 2,010 men and women are at that age level. And, having reached 65, a man has the likelihood today of living to 78 or over and a woman to at least 82. That is what the latest figures on life expectancy show.

For a man, the period of maximum financial responsibility begins when he marries and it continues for the next 30 years or so. His survival over that span, when there are likely to be dependent children at home, is of great social and economic importance. The odds are now 89 out of 100 in his favor.

As for the future, if heart disease could be eliminated it would add 8 to 10 years to the average lifetime in this country, it is estimated. And, if cancer were also done away with, there would be a further extension of about 2½ years.

Parents Can Improve

In case you thought you knew everything about child rearing, you might try a new class being offered by the Char-Em Intermediate School District.

Or even if you want a few new pointers, Char-Em's "I Care" parent group might be the answer.

Beginning January 12, the district is offering four Monday night classes aimed at improving and enriching parental skills working with children.

"Parenting is a very involved and demanding job," says Gerry Brindell, a Char-Em social worker.

"I think there's a time when a parent needs some support, as well as different techniques."

The four 2-hour evening sessions will include everything from video-tape demonstrations to improvement of listening skills.

The classes will be held on Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m., Jan. 12 to Feb. 2, at the Char-Em Intermediate Service Center in Charlevoix on Mercer Blvd.

Cost of the program is $12 per couple or $10 per person.

For registration or further information contact the Char-Em Intermediate School District at 547-9947.

Editorials/Opinions

Open Meeting Act Is Not so Open

The Senate's gutting of what was supposed to be an "open meetings" bill is a classic example on how the people are often better off on an issue with no legislative action at all.

The bill's sponsors hoped to put more teeth into freedom-of-information laws and open up more meetings of government bodies to the public. But as the measure now reads after preliminary approval by the Senate, units of government would have more specific legal reasons to hold secret sessions.

A major amendment to the original bill allows public bodies to meet secretly for an "information session" at which there would be no actual deliberations on an issue.

Also allowed under cover would be a "social gathering" neither planned nor intended for the major purpose of deliberating toward or acting upon a matter over which the public body has jurisdiction or advisory powers."

Another amendment would permit a citizen to request a closed meeting with a governmental body for a "personal or financial problem."

The intent of that amendment was to give snme privacy to persons who wanted, for example, to ask for a waiver on property taxes because of poverty. But as Sen. David A. Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, the chief sponsor of the bill noted, the amendment "could be interpreted to cover virtually any type of circumstance that comes before a public body."

Other provisions would allow closed meetings to discuss collective bargaining, personnel matters, advice of legal counsel, or to discuss threats to the public peace during an emergency.

The bill is in position for final debate by the Senate when the Legislature reconvenes next month.

The premise of considering any of those provisions is that something new is needed, but a review of the current situation shows the public has a stronger right to learn what's going on through a present law, court decisions and an attorney general's opinion. All of that isn't contained in nne tidy document, but it is there.

For starters, a 1968 law simply states flatly: "Every public meeting of a board shall be open to the public." And the term "public meeting" was broadly defined to include any meeting nf a public board at which a vote or other official action was taken on public business.

That law was silent on whether an informal meeting at which no formal action was taken could be secret. That point was tackled, though, in a suit in which the editor of The Flint Journal, Glen A. Boissonneault, and Booth Newspapers, Inc., sought to stop the Flint City Commission from holding informal sessions at which the press and public were barred.

After a series of actions through the State Supreme Court and back down to the circuit court level, the parties finally agreed last year that the city body wouldn't hold private meetings to make decisions or hold deliberations except in certain specified cases. Those exceptions are generally the same ones provided in the current Senate bill, except that the "informational" and private or personal business amendments would close the public door on many other meetings.

In fact, the Senate bill also would wipe out attempts by some local bodies which are trying to set up strong open-meetings requirements by stating the legislation supersedes all local charter provisions, ordinances or resolutions on the matter.

Also largely erased by the bill would be series of opinions from Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley dating back to 1962 which have specifically told governing bodies of local governments and state universities that they must open up their meetings.

The problem of changing the open-meetings law without making it worse was acted by the Freedom of Information Committee of the Michigan Press Association in making recommendations on the legislation.

"We said it's commendable that legislators are interested in open meetings," said Editor Raymond L. Glover of the Saginaw News, chairman of the MPA committee, "and we feel improvements are needed.

"At the same time, we believe the present law has served well, and that if there are proposals to put certain matters behind closed doors the Legislature has the duty to tell the public why any exclusions should be allowed."

Whatever changes are made, the MPA's executive secretary, Elmer E. White, acted what is probably the best way to open up public meetings.

"Whatever the law," White said, "if the people in a community want a meeting open they can usually bring the pressure to bear to achieve it. That's the strongest insurance."

Defense of Police

"A policeman is a composite of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity.

Culled statistics wave the fan over the stinkers, underscure instances of dishonesty and brutality because they are news but what that really means is that they are exceptional, unusual, not commonplace.

Buried under the froth is the fact: Less than one half of one percent of policemen misfit the uniform. That's a better average than you'd find among clergymen.

What is a policeman made of? He, of all men, is at once the most needed and the most unwanted.

He's a strangely nameless creature who is "sir" to his face and "pig" behind his back.

He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he wun.

But...

If the policeman is neat, he's conceited, if he's careless, he's a bum.

If he's pleasant, he's a flirt; if he's not, he's a grouch.

He must make it an instant decision which would require months for a lawyer.

But...

If he hurries, he's careless, if he's deliberate, he's lazy.

He must be first to an accident and infallible with a diagnosis.

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints and, above all, be sure the victim goes home without a limp.

Or expect to he sued.

The police officer must know every gun, draw on the run, and hit where it doesn't hurt.

He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being "brutal."

If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully.

A policeman must know everything-and not tell.

He must know where all the sin is-and not partake.

The policeman must, from a single human hair, be able to describe the crime, the weapon and the criminal-and tell you where the criminal is hiding.

But...

If he catches the criminal, he's lucky, if he doesn't, he's a dullard.

The policeman must chase burn leads to a dead end, stake out 10 nights to tag one witness who say it happen-but refuses to remember.

He runs files and writes records until his eyes ache to build a case against one felon who'll get dealed out by a shameless shamus or an "honorable" judge who isn't.

The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, n tough guy, and a gentleman.

And of course he'll have to be a genious...

For he'll have to feed a family on a policemans salary."

Non-Christians Not Welcome

Jesus Christ!

No, I'm not taking his name in vain during the holy season. And this isn't going to be another explanation of why I don't go to church. Who cares whether the clown goes to church?

I just wanted to get the attention of all you good Christians. I have a question for you:

Do you have any objections to the International Scoeity for Krishna Consciousness starting a school in your town?

You know the Krishnas. They shave their heads and wear long gowns and preach in the streets. They often hang around bus terminals and airports, looking as if they fell off an old-fashioned Christmas card.

It is strange to see the Krishnas as jets roar overhead. They look like they should be in Bethlehem, maybe in a manger. (Pay attention now, you Christians. I am getting meaningful.)

The Krishnas recently tried to buy an abandoned military academy in the small farming community of Aledo, Ill. They wanted to use it for a school. But the good Christians of Aledo didn't want anything to do with the Krishnas.

"The academy definitely suited our needs, but the townspeople obviously did not want us there," said the Krishna business manager. "The prevailing attitude was such that we were concerned about the welfare of the children should we move there."

The Krishna leaders were shouted down when they tried to plead their case at the public meeting. Mrs. Glen Stancliff, who led the Aledo drive against the Krishnas, explained there was no room for the sect or its children because Aledo is a Christian community and the Krishnas aren't Christian, they are Hindu.

"Toleration? Our country was founded on that, but remember everyone that came to our country accepted the Lord, Jesus Christ as their savior," Mrs. Stancliff said. "We're trying to protect our own religion is what we are trying to do."

The Jews must have been stowaways on the Mayflower. They probably snuck ashore while the good Christians were ripping off the Indians.

The sad truth is that there are millions of Christians who agree with Mrs. Stancliff. They think theirs is the only path and everyone else must either be saved by the missionaries or kept out of town. They are small people who can't see over their Bibles and they cannot possibly pray hard enough on Sunday to make up for the hypocritical poison they ooze all week. The Jesus Christ who was born in Bethlehem would be ashamed to listen to them.

No room in Aledo, Mrs. Stancliff said. No room in the inn.

Clockwise

Although my first trip to northern Michigan's ski slopes took place 20 years ago this winter, it seems like that disasterous weekend occurred only yesterday.

I was newly employed in the Industrial Information offiees of the Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn and soon fell in with u number of young bachelors and bachelorettes who belonged to the Ford Ski Club. The group held wonderful meetings every Thursday night at the Checker Inn in Dearborn to plan exhilerating ski weekends over beer and pretzels.

I attended several meetings before I actually signed up for a ski weekend at the Au Sable Lodge near Gaylord. Although I didn't own a stick of skiing equipment, I was assured that the proprietors of the lodge would be happy to rent me what I needed for a nominal fee.

The club was making the trip via chartered bus, which was a far more reliable means of reaching northern Michigan in those days than by private automobile. Remember, this was in the days before high-speed expressways stretched their noisy tentacles into the unsullied north woods.

Furthermore, skiers knew that it was u lot more fun traveling in large groups on a big, roomy bus rather than cramped in a little automobile. The main advantage, of course, was that the skiers could imbibe the fruit of the grape going and coming, without the danger of the driver becoming intoxicated.

There are parts of that first weekend "up north" that remain as much of a blur today as they were 20 years ago. I do recall that there were no ski instructors at Au Sable that weekend and it was every man for himself. I taught myself to use the rope tow and by Sunday afternoon I was sehussing beautifully.

But I never learned to even slow down, much less stop. That part of my technique included a huge brush pile at the foot of the run which I slammed into every time I reached the bottom of the hill. It wasn't the easiest way to stop, and I was bruised and scratched from stem to stern by the time the bus headed back to Dearborn.

All in all, however, I was one of the lucky ones. An ambulance shuttled all weekend long between the lodge and the hospital in Gaylord, ferrying fracture victims. I don't think the engine was ever shut off while the slopes were open.

Despite my painful injuries, the weekend was a success so far as I was concerned. I had never enjoyed any sport tso much and before another weekend arrived I had purchased my own ski equipment, ineluding a pair of Japanese-made hickory skis, black and red ski boots (lace type) and shiny ski poles with red handles. I also bought a pair of stretch pants, a stocking cap, a wool sweater, a nylon sheil and a pair of tow mitts.

So began my career as a skier, which lasted roughly until Judy, Katie and I moved to Charlevoix 10 years ago and could no longer afford the high cost of America's most extravagant mass sport.

The pattern never changed during my skiing years. Skiers would convene either at the Checker Inn or McAvoys on Northwestern Highway on Thursday night during the winter to decide whether to head north that weekend. This usually involved u lung-distance telephone call to Don Sheets, owner of the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City, who had a reputation of being more reliable than the ski lodges themselves when it came to reporting ski conditions. If Don said it was raining, it probably was raining. And if Don said conditions were perfect, they usually were perfect plus.

The nicest part of skiing in the old days was that it didn't break you. A single fellow could head north with a $20 bill in his pocket, pay for transportation, lodging, meals, tow fees for two days and all he could drink and still head home with a handful of spending money.

A double room in the back section of the Perry-Davis Hotel in Petoskey rented for as little as $6 a night, which was about the median for lodging. You could get cheaper accomodations in unheated attics in Boyne City. Or you could spend more at one of the flashy new motels in Boyne Falls.

And if you expected to come north over New Years, you were advised to get reservations well in advance. But few did. Instead, the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce set up a room allocation service in the lobby of the Dilworth Hotel and skiers were assigned to every available bed in Charlevoix County. The lobby was usually carpeted wall-to-wall with people that night, but no one really minded. We were in Boyne City where the action was, and that was all that nattered.

Erma Bombeck

The first week after my son went away to college last summer, I used to walk in his room and visit it like a shrine.

Everything was intact, just as he left it. I fondled the sherbet glass with the petrified pudding under his bed . . . ran my fingers lovingly over his drum set that leaked oil on the carpet . . . and cried softly as I tiptoed around the mounds of dirty underwear that didn't fit him anymore.

I made plans to preserve the room as a living memorial where I could go in the hent of the day and be by myself and reflect on the past.

Then one day as I meditated, I noticed he had an entire wall with nothing on it, so I moved the pump organ from the hallway into his bedroom. Noting the light was pretty good in his room, I also discovered by moving out his drums and storing them I could put my sewing machine in the corner with a table for cutting.

As we were making the change, my husband observed there was nn entire closet free, so why shouldn't he move his clothes into the closet. By discarding five years of Sports Illustrated my son had saved, we found room for the Christmas decorations and the carton of cancelled checks.

More and more of the family began to visit the "Temple." It became a haven for camping gear, pictures, that needed framing, storage for summer lawn furniture and newspapers awaiting recycling.

The shelf of tennis trophies gave way to a supply of bleach bottles to be used by the women of the church for a project, the chest was moved out of the room to create space for my bicycle exerciser, and the bed was stored to make way for a rocker and a TV set.

Naturally, the walls were too masculine for the room, so we painted them yellow and slipcovered the rocker in a bright pink and orange.

Just before Christmas, there was a knock on the door. It was our son home for the holidays.

"Hey, long time, no see," said my husband. "Son of a gun. How long can you stay? Terrific. We've still got the old sofa bed in the den and you're welcome to it as long as you like."

This morning, my husband said, "How long is your relative going to stay?"

"MY relative!" I shrugged. "I thought he was YOURS!"

Meet Charlevoix

Meet Marge Davenport

Morge Daveaport is the nurse for Charlevoix schools, including St. Mary's. This week she tells the Courier about her duties and responsibilities la that capacity.

COURIER: Since you are only a part-time employee, how much time do you spend in each school during the week?

DAVENPORT: I spend the greatest number of hours, about 11, in the elementary school because that is where we have the most problems. Then I spend tive or six hours in the middle school, about three hours in the high school and one hour at St. Mary's.

COURIER: What kind of health problems do you encounter most in the lower grades?

DAVENPORT: Mostly minor injuries and illnesses such as colds, fever, flu bugs and stomach troubles. Control of communicable diseases such as impetigo, scabies and head lice is also a big job. If we find such a case we go through the room and examine all the other children and tell the teacher what to look for. This way we can keep good control. We don't have much trouble with other communicable diseases, such as measles, any more because of the immunization programs.

COURIER: What do you do about a child who comes to your office not feeling well and when do you think he should be sent home?

DAVENPORT: We check child's temperature and if it is elevated we call his mother or father and ask that they come and get him. If we can't reach the parents, we call one of the numes on the child's "emergency" eards. Usually we can reach somebody. We cannot administer any medication in school without a form signed by a parent and doctor. When we think it is necessary, we recommend a physical exam.

COURIER: You're also in charge of the immunization programs, aren't you?

DAVENPORT: Yes. We organize all the various programs that the Health Department offers the schools, including vision and hearing screenings and immunizations.

COURIER: Are these programs set up by grades?

DAVENPORT: Yes, hearing screenings are given in the second, fourth and sixth grades. This year they are set up for January. On the 5th we will be at St. Mary's, on the 6th and 7th at the elementary school and on the 8th at the middle school. We will also test any kindergarteners we missed in the spring and any referrals from other grades where the teachers think there might be a problem. The vision screenings will be given on Janoory 26 through 30th to all children in the first, 3rd, fifth, seventh, ninth and eleventh grades, as well those missed in kindergarten and those referred. In all cases, those who do not pass the first screening are rescreened and if they fail again, they are referred for diagnosis and treatment. It is our job to follow up on all these cases.

COURIER: What kind of immunizations?

DAVENPORT: Our busiest time is the spring of the year. By law, all children entering kindergarten, and all others entering the school system for the first time from out of state must be checked to see that their immunizations are up to date for diptheria, tetanus, whooping eough, polio, measles and rubella. Also, those who huve not had negative TB tests within the last year must be re-checked. In the ninth grade we immunize all students for diptheria and tetanus again with pernission slips from parents. In all cases where parents are unable to pay for immunizations, or for glasses or for other needed physical aids, we refer them to the Health Department or other organizations which have means for supplying them.

COURIER: Are teachers required to take any kind of tests?

DAVENPORT: For TB, yes. Every spring we set up TB tests for teachers and follow up on them.

COURIER: What other nursing experiences have you had?

DAVENPORT: I came here, after receiving nurses' training at Bronson Hospital in Kalamazoo, to work at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, where I was on general duty. Later on, I did private duty work, was a social worker, and served as office nurse for Doctors Saltonstall and Grate. This is my fifth year as school nurse but I served in the same capaeity for six years onee before.

COURIER: Although you're not a native of Charlevoix, you've been here a long time. Tell us about your family.

DAVENPORT: My late husband, Dean Davenport, was a councilmun and mayor of Charlevoix. He was also secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and organized the Lion's Club, serving aa president for the first two years. My son Dean is associate professor and athletic coordinator as well as assistant basketball coach at Ferris State College. He has three children. My daughter, Mona Goshen, lives in Sunnyvale, California with her husband and two boys. My other grandchildren, children of my late daughter, live in Petoskey.

COURIER: Do you have any other interests?

DAVENPORT: I run u craft shop downtown, part time in the winter and full time in the summer. My husband and I started it before he died.

Michigan Park Funds Look Good

Charlevoix is one of nine Northwest Michigan communities that have been given the go ahead to submit final applications for federal matching funds for local recreation projects.

The Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission of Traverse City said Charlevoix is eligible to apply for $5,800 for a picnic area and restrooms.

City Administrator Robert Wexstaff said if the city's application is approved, the funds would go towards improving Lake Michigan beach area.

East Jordan has also asked for and may get $8,000 for a bath house and picnic area.

The preliminary applications from both communities have been approved by the Department of Natural Resources for the matching funds that come from the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

The federal funds are administered by the state and are available for acquisition of needed land and water areas and development of facilities for public outdoor recreation. Major emphasis is placed on land acquisition projects.

Larrie G. Tuomela, 72, Charlevoix, improper right turn, $15.

Thomas C. Ayns, 26, Traverse City, speeding, $22.

The following cases were heard recently in District Court by District Judge David Fershec:

James Magill, 21, Boync City, charged with reckless use of firearms, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail beginning Dec. 26 placed on probation for one year, referred to the Tri-County Substance Abuse Agency, ordered to refrain from entering bars and the Probation Department was ordered to confiscate all dischargable weapons belonging to subject for duration of probation.

David G. Matthews, 20, Boyne City, intentionally aiming a firearm without intent to harm or injure, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to five days probation, assessed $244 fine and costs and ordered to make restitution of $50 to injured party.

Edward P. Kudla, 32, Boyne Falls, charged with driving while license was suspended and having no insurance, pleaded guilty to both charges and was sentenced to five days in the county jail with credit for five days served. Fine and costs totaling $158 was suspended.

John Jaglowski, Boyne Falls, allowing a vehicle to be operated without insurance, pleaded guilty and was assessed $34 fine and cost.

Night Broadcast Delayed

Charlevoix radio station WVOY will be extending its broadcast day from sunset until midnight, but it mny be delayed until spring.

Station President and General Manager Terry Edger blamed the delay on several factors.

"The station had hoped to be operational at night this winter, but it probably won't be because of delivery delays from equipment manufacturers and because of winter weather hindering construction.

The 5,000-watt Charlevoix-based A.M. station now broadcasts on a 1270 frequency from 6 a.m. until sundown.

The Federal Communications Communition (FCC) has granted the local station a construction permit to erect two additional towers on its transmitter site for night time operation.

Mrs. Milliken Tells About China Trip

Mrs. Helen Milliken, Michigan's first lady, will be in Northern Michigan Friday, Jan. 9, to talk about her recent trip to China.

Sponsored by the Antrim County Republican Women, Mrs. Milliken's visit comes after her recent visit to Red China on a State Department sponsored-trip.

The luncheon talk will be given at the Shanty Creek Lodge In Bellaire. A reception preceeds the luneh at 11:30 p.m. in East Jordan.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Alvin Grace (536-7222), Elleen Rouse (582-6564) in Boyne City, Madeline Taylor (588-2249) in Ellsworth or Mrs. Larry Martin (547-4221) in Charlevoix.

Cost of the luncheon is $4.

Hangover Cures (or Beating the Boozy Blahs)

There's always a chance (however small) that some of our readers may welcome the new yeor with too much enthusiasm.

In the interest of lending aid tu the potentially unwell, we are printing several helpful hints to the ailing boozer. If you're planning to feel indisposed tomorrow morning, you might consider the varied collection of possibilities we're offering.

These "cures" may be used singly or in combination, depending on how rapidly you feel the Grim Reaper is approaching.

We'll skim lightly over aspirin, the amateur's standby. Those who have long experience in overindulgence use more exotic cures.

In the "kill-or-cure" category is o concoction called the "Prairie Oyster."

1 jigger of brandy
2 or 3 dashes of vinegar
2 or 3 dashes Worchestershire
1 dash Tabasco
pinch of salt
1 egg yolk

Mix everything exeept the egg yolk. Float the egg yolk whole and drink without flinching.

If the Prairie Oyster sounds worse than you already feel, a local pharmacist offers a more palatable remedy. He claims that large doses of vitamins do wonders for hangover.

"Four to six vitamin B-1 pills (250 milligrams) will do the trick," he says, recommending his own waren. A drinker with good foresight will take the same dosage of vitamin C pills before the festivities, he adds.

Anather before-the-fact possibility involved stuffing yourself with mashed pototoes and milk. However, since this preventive is not guaranteed, it may only add overweight to your hangover problem.

If foresight is not your strong suit, consider the advice of one doctor. "The first thing to do is quit smoking so you can get more oxygen in your system," he says. "And for a hangover, an oxygen tank is the best cure."

On the chanee you don't have access to an oxygen tank, the good doctor suggests three teaspoons of sugar in a cup of water and orange juice.

A locol nurse makes the recipe more exact:

10 ounces water
5 ounces orange juice
2 tablespoons sugor
¼ teaspoon salt

"I think this really help relieve the stomach," she says. "You begin in smoll proportions, but if you're vomiting, you double them every 15 minutes."

A reporter who does his part to uphold the drinking reputation of newsmen says guzzling a bottle of Coke as fast as possible is the only worthwhile hangover cure.

Other professional drinkers disagree. The following remedy sounds appealing if you can manage a fire and hangover at the same time.

Place a cube of sugar in a saucer ond pour 1 / 3 jigger of brondy over it. Ignite the brandy and let it flame until it goes out. Drink the remaining liquid and eat the rest of the sugar as hot as possible.

Taking a firm grasp of the obvious, our youngest staffer offers o piece of wisdom beyond her years: Don't drink.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES
DECEMBER 1, 1975
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, Timms and Selph. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the November 17, 1975 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded on the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was made by Alderman Selph and supported by Alderman Timms to adopt the following resolution to sell a parcel of city owned land.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it is to the best interest of the city of Charlevoix to promote industrial development, that the City sell to Dynamic Wood Products Inc., a parcel of City owned land located in section 24, Township 34 North, Range 8 West, on Martin Road, this parcel is 277 feet fronting Martin Road and running 436.8 feet west in depth, for the sum of $12,500.00, a complete land description will appear on the deed prepared by the City Attorney.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, Timms and Selph. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman McRae, that the City earmark General Revenue Sharing monies and do appropriate $17,897.23 to be pulled out of General Revenue Sharing Funds for the Shade Tree Commission program, for the purchasing of trees, trimming and tree removal within the City of Charlevoix.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, Timms and Selph. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Selph and supported by Alderman Plumm to adopt the following resolution on Emergency Service Rates.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the City of Charlevoix to increase the present base rate for Emergency Unit Service in order to cover the cost of attendants.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix increase the base rate for ambulance service from $15.00 to $20.00 effective immediately.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Timms and Selph. Nays: Alderman Whitley. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Aldermon Plumm and supported by Alderman McRae, that the City of Charlevoix hire the firm of Hill, Woodcock and Distel of Petoskey as City Auditors for the upcoming year subject to their proposal.

Motion was ndopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley, Timms and Selph. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Alderman McRae offered the following questions and requested that they be part of the Council Minutes of this meeting.

1. Does the City have a well planned program for upgrading the electrical system?
2. Can a map be presented showing what has been completed and what will be done over the period of the program remaining?
3. Can the public be told the amount of money spent so far this budget year?
4. A large sum of money has been spent, the council should insist on bids for any purchnse over $1500.00. Not necessarily to have the council award the bids as long as proper procedures and specifications of bidding are followed.

Mayor Hansen stated that the city does have a program for upgrading our city electrical system, we are working on our emergency backup power service and we are looking at a used cooler for our power system, and that a map will be prepared showing work done, work in progress, and work remaining to be done, and that the city has spent $104,092.33 this fiscal year to date on maintenance of line within the city.

Mayor Hansen reduced the fuel cost adjustment from 1.15 cents per kilowatt hours to 1.00 cents effective immediately to all city electrical customers.

The Finance Committee have examined bills totaling $57,772.82 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Selph that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Plumm, McRae, Wood, Whitley and Selph. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council Adjourned.

Charles Duerr Offers His Own Holiday Message

It's Time for The Bicentennial

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

The Charles Duerr's epic Christmas-New Year's verse, a whimsical mix of reverence and irreverence, begins forming in Chuck Duerr's mind around Thanksgiving.

Chuck ponders and composes. Margaret waits and wonders.

"He won't even let me see it until its completed."

The theme's have included, this year's Bicentennial, U.F.O.s, and even a salute to bard Shakespeare.

"Usually its rather apparent what the theme might be. This year's Bicentennial was rather obvious. One year there had been numerous UFO sightings, and so on," Chuck says.

There's the creative satisfaction for the Duerrs, and as Margaret laughs:

"Sonic people even feel inspired to respond or retaliate in rhyme."

As a rhymester, Chuek's goal is triplets. "I try for couplets with internal rhyme in the first half of the line."

As for his off-the-wall characters and unusual information about our forefathers, or 'forepersons', as he updates the term.

"When it comes to names, I jot a lot down. I use the World Book, then I try to think of words that rhyme.

"It requires that I just let my mind go loose," Chuck points out. "To get such as 'Thomas Jefferson and Bahama Zephrs.' "

As Margaret says, "Total reverence is not his thing."

Chuck acknowledges, "I hope it has the effect of putting people in perspective, after all, they were all human."

"But, I don't want people to think I'm personally involved with all these people," Chuck cautions modestly, pulling out a stack of reference books.

He explains his sources for such not-so-well-known 'patriotic ghosts' as Harman Blennerhassett and General Israel Putnam.

Some recipients of the Duerrs' poem, call, demanding explanations for such obscure characters, others find it a challenge to point out they actually know their history so well.

Chuck, challenged by this reporter had to recheck the World Book, himself, on Israel Putnam. Putnam was a General in the French and Indian Wars. Blennerhassett, as readers of the recent best seller "Burr" may recall, was involved in Aaron Burr's plot to take over Mexico.

In his job as Field Director and Research Director for United Way of Michigan, Chuek travels about 20,000 miles a year around the state. Twenty thousand miles of highway driving may provide some explanation for his muses.

The Duerr's Christmas epics began in the late 'fifties, when their children grew out of the Christmas card photo stage.

Sitting behind his typewriter on a coffee table, papers piled high, Chuck's eyes dance with amusement as he mulls the sources for his couplets. He ducks any comparisons with Ogden Nash, quickly pointing out metric and stylistic differences.

"A Challenge," he says. "It's just fun. I get a good bit of satisfaction."

Spirits of '76

As the bells ring out and the people shout for our country's bicentennial,
'Midst gay celebration and giddy libation, we've paused to wonder how many'll
Fashion a toast to the passionate ghost of some fervent founding forefather
Or fertile foremother (foreperson ... or other?) - so, to save everybody the bother,
We'll whack off a few that we'll pack off to you, so you and your friends can drink up
To patriot ghosts with readymade toasts that you won't have to stop and think up ...

He was First in War ... and First in Peace ... but Second with the widow Custis -
Let's drink to George, who had her for years ... the mostes', if not the fustes'.

Let's toss off a beer for Paul Revere, who went clippety-clop on Dobbin -
May his days be dreamy, his Revere Were gleamy, and his saddle sores stop throbbin'.

May Robert Fulton ride a tide of blessedness that floods, 'n'
Steer his stinkin' steamboat straight - up some celestial Hudson.

Let's roll out the barrel for Charles Carroll, and promptly drain what's in it
In honor of Light-Horse Harry Lee ... Tom Paine ... and Button Gwinnett.

May Amelia Bloomer, with genial humor, pursue her cause in britches,
And the acrobatics of Crispus Attucks keep Betsy Ross in stitches.

On isles grandish may Myles Standish yield to mild Bahama zephyrs, 'n'
Take his ease 'n' shoot the breeze ... beguiled by Thomas Jefferson.

A wee doch-an-dorris for Gouverneur Morris (or a whopper, if you'd rather);
A super-duper for Fenimore Cooper ... and a drop for Cotton Mather.

Let's begin a hooray for Henry Clay ... and shrilly, then, continue it
For Dan'l Boone and John Calhoun ... Willie Penn ... and Peter Minuit.

May the Union Jack bunch drink Applejack Punch with Ben Franklin, that old gadabout, (Enough of the stuff and Anthony Wayne'll forget what he was mad about).

May Virginia Dare and her derriere hold Gilbert Stuart enthralled, 'n'
May James Monroe find his frame's aglow for Priscilla Mullins Alden.

Let's up and stir a stirrup cup - and hurry then to pass it
For Jim and Dolly Madison ... and Harman Blennerhassett.

May Molly Pitcher - that jolly bewitcheri - pursue with charms and water
Again, her yen for Minutemen ... and arms she hadn't oughter.

Who's more deserving than Washington Irving? ... let's tender a fitting oblation,
And salute that old fox, Colonel Henry Knox, once again - with a sitting ovation.

May maidens below the mistletoe stand patiently puckered whenever it Pleases the males, like those chauvinist Hales (Nathan and Edward Everett).

May Ollie Perry be jolly and merry ... and every joy that's fit
Bless Samuel Chase, and gently embrace Dame Clinton's boy, DeWitt.

Fine figures of the past we hail, and thank their shades for cuttin' 'em -
The Adamses (John and Abigail) ... and General Israel Putnam.

Our toasts are said ... these honored dead live on in song and story;
Our rhymes scarce heeded in our times ... their deeds so long in glory!
Rugged were some, and harsh and stern ... some gentle ... bawdy ... mild,
And some were loved by fellowmen ... some lauded ... some reviled -
But there was greatness in their souls ... and loftiness ... and vision,
And steadfast cleaving to ideals ... and firmness ...and decision
That made of wilderness a land of might and right and plenty -
Such was the Spirit of '76! Alas! The Spirit of San Clemente
Still stalks our halls and courts and shrines, on track of souls who'd trade
For tawdry, sordid, grubby gain ... or empty accolade.

Oh, Father, we pray, this Christmas Day, that all upon the earth
May find in heart and soul and mind a glorious rebirth ...
And may our Nation rise once more - and chastened, purged, renewed,
Stand once again before all men, with grace and courage imbued.

To You and the U.S.A. today - Two Hundred Years of Joy!

That's the Bicentennial Wish for You resignation of Mrs. Ida Heise und incumbent treasurer, Annabelle Cunningham.

Hansen and McRae, it will be remembered, squared off against each other in the 1975 Primary Electinn with McRae emerging the victor. However, in the General Election, Hansen opposed McRae as a sticker candidate and won by a slim margin nf 13 votes.

Morris, 54, who is seeking the third ward councilman post is no newcomer to Charlevoix. He has been a permanent resident for the past 2½ years and a summer resident since 1922. He is self-employed as a business consultant.

His opponent. Mumn, is co-owner with his brother of Muma Sunoco. He is a veteran of 15 years in the U.S. Air Force and is presently an Air Force Reservist. He has been in business here for 5 years. He is married and has three children, two sons and u daughter.

Only candidate for the aldermanic post being vacated by McRae is Susan J. Erber, 33, wife of Thomas K. Erber, who classifies herself as u housewife and mother. She has four children. She is a graduate of the City College of San Francisco. She said she decided to seek office because no one else seemed interested enough to run.

Mrs. Wallace is seeking the nomination for the seat being left vacant by Timms who is not seeking re-election. Mrs. Wallace is no newcomer to the scene, having served two years in the post before being defeated in 1975 by F. Ivan Whitley.

The primary election in which all will be candidates is scheduled for Feb. 16. Those winning the nomination will be candidates in the General Election in April.

ORDINANCE NO. 358

AN ORDINANCE TO GOVERN THE CHARGING, AND ALLOCATING PRO-RATA SHARE OF EXPENSES ENTAILED IN THE EXTENSION OF ANY CITY UTILITY INTO AN AREA NOT PRESENTLY SERVED.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

THAT the following procedures are hereby established for charging and allocating the pro-rata share to benefited property owners of all cost and expenses for extending any and all utility services into any area where said city owned and operated utilities are not present.

a. In certain instances the City of Charlevoix, by majority vote of its Common Council, may elect to extend utility services at initial city expense. The charge to be assessed each property owner benefited and served shall be calculated on the basis of the actual cost per effective front foot, which shall be determined by dividing total project cost by effective front footage. Effective front footage is defined as being determined by modifying actual front footage by a depth factor as set forth in the State of Michigan State Tax Commission Assessing Manual, depth factor schedule, such manual incorporated in and made part of this ordinance. The charge to each benefited property owner shall be assessed at the time of project completion and shall be paid no later than the time actual service connections are made to the particular parcel or parcels of land served, which said charge shall bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum, compounded annually, accruing from the date of project completion to date of payment.

b. In certain other instances the City of Charlevoix, by majority vote of the Common Council, may consent to a third party extending said utility services, provided all applicable local and state laws and regulations are complied with, at said third party's initial expense. Other benefited property owners may, at any time, elect to make service connections to the extended utility service, provided, however, that before such connection is made said property owner or owners pays to the City of Charlevoix in full the amount of the assessed charge as to the particular parcel or parcels of land benefited, the amount of which said assessed charge is calculated on the basis of the formulo set forth in Clause a. above, except that there shall be no interest charge as set forth in said Clause a. All monies received by the City of Charlevoix from benefited property owners as a condition of their making service connections to the utility services shall be paid over to the third party or parties, his or their heirs and assigns, who initially bore the cost and expense of the project, by way of reimbursement, except in cases where utility services are extended into area outside the corporate limits of the city all monies received by the city from benefited property owners shall be retained by the city and placed in the appropriate utility fund.

This Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Wood, Whitley, Timms, Selph and Plumm.
Nays: None.
Absent: Alderman McRae.

This Ordinance shall take effect immediately.

the township announced it was dropping out of the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

July brought hundreds of Charlevoix's familiar summer visitors flocking to the area to enjoy the water and sun. One of the most prominent visitors was President Ford who travelled to both Traverse City and Mackinac Island.

Charlevoix's City Clerk Ida Heise announced she would be retiring from her post after being the city scribe for 10 years.

Marge Carey became Charlevoix's Venetian Queen for 1975 as she highlighted a weekend of fun activities that attracted hundreds to Charlevoix.

A shortage of jar lids caused a panic for home gardeners in August, who were wondering how they would preserve their crops. Shortage also came in the way of electricity, when REA announced its rates would go up to utility users.

Midwest Expaods

In September, one of Charlevoix's newest industries, Midwest North, announced it would be expanding its operation with a 15,000 sq. ft. addition.

Senator Robert Davis kicked off the month of October with an announcement that he would be launching a state-wide effort to curb welfare abuse. Sue Kane also became Charlevoix's 1975 homecoming queen.

For the folks at Beaver Island Company, October marked the month when their new boat dock facilities and building were finished. Beaver Island remained in the news several weeks later with the dedication of a lighthouse to the Charlevoix Public School System on outdoor education.

In November, football coach Don Carey was honored by the community for 20 years of dedicated work with Charlevoix High School athletes.

Work by Charlevoix's newly formed Shade Commission officially got underway with a survey of the city's trees and donation of trees from the Charlevoix Lion's Club.

Charlevoix High School girls ended the month by picking up their second district basketball championship.

December marked the opening of Charlevoix County's first senior citizens center in East Jordan.

Horton Bay

Horton Bay, the one-store community on the north side of Lake Charlevoix, was named to the State Register of Historic Sites.

Councilman McRae ended the year announcing he was going to again challenge Mayor Hansen for his seat.

Acting City Administrator

Keith Mohan Marries Catherine Baldwin

St. Mary's church was the scene Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Catherine Lue Baldwin and W. Keith Mohan of Grand Blanc.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Baldwin of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Mohan of Lambertville, Michigan, former residents of Grand Blanc.

Arrangements of red and white poinsettia, carnations and roses against a background of balsam and white pine with the Nativity scene and tree formed a setting for the ceremony. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated at the double ring service. Mrs. Brendan LaBlance was the organist and soloist.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of ivory silk that had been brought from Germany by her father following World War II. It was originally designed and worn by her mother. Fashioned with a low, round neckline outlined with a double row of homemade rose point lace, the gown featured long sleeves trimmed with the same lace at the cuffs and u draped full skirt that fell to a chapel train. A band of lace with clusters of fresh stephanotis and baby's breath secured her full length veil of ivory illusion. She carried a Colonial bouquet of ivory roses, stephanotis and baby's breath accented with fresh holly.

Beth Marie Baldwin of Fort Wayne, Ind., assisted her sister as maid of honor. Laura Ann Baldwin, sister of the bride, and Laurie Wilson of Charlevoix and Marquette were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of Original Nina Ricci design of red challis and knit styled with stand-up collars, cap sleeves and semi-fitted blousons and flared skirts. Their Colonial bouquets were of white carnations and variegated holly and berries and baby's breath.

Cathy Mohan of Margquette, sister of the bridegronn, served as usherette. Her gown was identical to the attendants in green crepe. Her corsage was of white carnations, holly and berries.

Bradley Jeffrey of East Lansing assisted his brother-in-law as best man. Tim Shields of Fort Wayne, Ind., and George Baldwin III, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Baldwin chose a smoky blue floor length gown fashioned with a silk knit bodice gathered at the waist to a taffeta skirt overlayed with varigated chiffon and delicately accented with rhinestones for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage of pale pink cymbidium orchids complimented her gown. Mrs. Mohan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of rose, turquoise and gray print surah crepe blend designed with a draped neckline and matching jacket. Her corsage was of rose tinted cymnidium orchids.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed at the Perry-Davis Hotel in Petoskey. During the evening, a banquet dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents for out-of-town guests.

After a wedding trip through the south, the couple will return to Grand Blanc to make their home for several months. Mr. Mohan, a graduate of the University of Michigan, teaches U.S. History in Junior High School.

Wedding guests were present from Florida, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Indiana, Ohio, California, Colorado, Illinois, Wisconsin and several Michigan cities as well as Ontario and British Columbia, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Mohan hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Grey Gables Inn on Friday evening.

Council Supports Museum Site Lease

Charlevoix City Council indicated Monday it will go along with a proposed 20-year lease on the city's Park Avenue property adjacent to the water tower fnr an historical museum.

Although council took no formal action, the Charlevoix Historical Society made the request in insure its proposed museum building would have some long-term protection.

Society President Ed Beutner said his group needed some assurance that when donations are made to the historical collection there will be some place to protect them permanently.

Beutner said the society hopes to raise funds for the project this year and begin construction next year.

Council is expected to lease property to the society once final lease details are worked out.

In other action, council:

--Indicuted Economic Development Group of Saginaw must sign a restrictive deed covenant for their low rent housing development before a mcupancy permit will be issued.

--Amended the city ordinance 358 to provide for prorata sharing of utility and street extensions of subdivisions within the city.

Obituary

Dr. Joseph E. Witters

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph E. Witters, 60, who died Thursday evening at his home at Torpon Springs, Fla., were held at All Saints Episcopal Church in Tarpon Springs Munday. The body will be returned here.

Dr. Witters was a graduate of Albion College and Rush Medical School in Chicago. RESOLVE TO START THE NEW YEAR WITH FAITH

The New Year for many of us usually brings an occasion of festivity, followed by a well-meaning but generally short-lived list of drastic personal reforms. However, one resolution is ali you'll ever need, if you will let faith strengthen your determination to become a better person. Let the first page of the new calendar represent that new leaf you are furning over, and if you will resoive to attend the Church of your choice regularly throughout the coming year, all the other items on your list will undoubtedly take care of themseives.
